ASCENSION DAY'S OBSERVANCE HERE

Follow Prescribed Services in the Local Roman Catholic and Episcopal Churches.

ANCIENT CEREMONIES

Trinity Commandery, Knights Templar, to Attend Service at Heavenly Rest Church When Brooklyn Rector Will Preach Sermon.

Ascension Day services were held in the Episcopal and Roman Catholic churches this morning and in some of the churches there will be special services tonight. At Grace church at 9 o'clock this morning Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, the rector, was in charge of the celebration of the Holy Communion. A similar service was held at Holy Cross, in charge of Rev. W. S. McCoy, the rector, and at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, of which Rev. C. H. Mallery is rector, and at St. Stephen's church, in charge of Rev. W. E. L. Ward, rector. Services will be held at Grace church this evening, in charge of the rector.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., will attend the service at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, tonight, when Rev. Robert T. Walker, of Brooklyn, will preach the sermon. Mr. Mallery will make an address and there will be an elaborate program of music in charge of Wendell C. Glover, organist, assisted by Arthur Mosher, violinist. There will also be anthems by the vested choir.

The services at St. Mary's R. C. church this morning included five masses. Father Vincent Sciola was in charge of the one at 5:30, Father Bernard M. Bogan the one at 7 o'clock, while Father Daniel Hogan had charge of the 8 and 9 o'clock masses. This evening there will be May devotions at the church.

There were three masses at St. Joseph's R. C. church, those at 5:30 ad 7:30 being in charge of Father Foley, the curate, and the one at 8:30 was conducted by Father W. H. Miller.

GAS RATE LOWER.

Ninety cent gas goes into effect in parts of Union county today following the order for a general reduction made by the Public Utilities Commission sometime ago, and in ten other counties as well including Essex, Bergen, Hudson, Somerset, Mercer, Burlington, Passaic, Middlesex, Camden, Gloucester and Morris. In Plainfield the present charge of $1.10 per 1,000 cubic feet, with a discount of ten cents per 1,000 for payment within a set period, is reduced to ninety cents flat with no reduction provisions for discounts. This change in rates will affect the bills rendered June 1 in this city, the new charges being levied on this month's gas usage.

ANOTHER WAR?

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Athens, Greece, May 1.—A new war in the Balkans is eminent, without Albania as the prize, according to information received by the Greek government today. A wireless despatch from Corfu stated that a heavy Turkish force under Djavid Pasha,, who is supporting Essa Pasha's plan in the soverignity of Albania, has taken possession of Avalona, driving out the Albanian army of Independents. This action if directly reported adds a new complication to the Balkan situation and may make it necessary for Europe to intervene to carry out its decision as to the boundaries of Albania.

CHANGES AT CITY MARKET.

Several changes are in contemplation at the City Market building, the plans for which are not yet definitely decided. Frank M. Wagner, the newsdealer, will remove from his present small place to the store on the opposite side of the entrance to the market, 121 North avenue, where alterations are now being made. It is understood that alterations will be made to that part now occupied by Mr. Wagner.

GRAFT STORY TOLD.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, May 1.—The wife of ex-Captain Walsh took the stand in the graft exposure case and corroborated her husband's story of visits to her home during his illness and the raising of funds for purposes of bribery in the graft case. Reports were current today that the prosecution may rest its case late today and have several witnesses to use in rebuttal.

TURKEY'S DEMAND.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Constantinople, May 1.—A joint note of the powers was delivered to the Sublime Porte today demanding the immediate sesation of hostilities in the Balkans. The appointment of Ottoman peace delegates and the announcement of Turkish choice for the city for the negotiations.

BOYS' CLUB NETTED $60 FOR BALL TEAM

Holy Cross Athletes Held Sale in Parish House Yesterday Afternoon and Evening.

As the result of a fair held under the auspices of the boys' club of the Holy Cross Episcopal church, in the Parish House last evening, the baseball team of that organization will net about sixty dollars which will be used in the purchase of pharaphernalia for the team. The house was appropriately decorated with American flags, college pennants and a profuse display of apple blossoms, the trimming being the work of the junior athletes and their lady friends. A preliminary fair for the younger set was given in the afternoon under the auspices of Miss Ruth Burt, assisted by a corps of feminine assistants and the sale of ice cream, candy and cake netted a tidy sum.

In the evening William Little, the club director, and Jack Hebert, the president, together with all of the club members, held the main sale and many unique ways of disposing of various eatables were originated by the youthful merchants much to the amusement of the large crowd that attended the affair. Following the disposition of all salable articles the Parish House floor was cleared of tables and chairs and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Those in charge of the various departments of the fair were as follows: African Dodgers, Ronald Conroy and Robert Hebert; grab bags, William Clawson and Daniel Denny; candy and cake, the Misses Marsh, and lemonade, Miss Lydion Hebert. A large umber of home-made cakes contributed to the club by the mothers and sisters of the members were auctioned off by Jack Hebert.

SPECIAL SCENERY FOR "HER LORD AND MASTER"

Rehearsals every night by the members of the cast of "Her Lord and Master," which will be presented by the Park Comedy Club at the Plainfield theatre next Thursday and Friday nights, are rounding into shape what is confidently expected will be the most finished performance ever given by that organization. Eugene M. Sanger, of New York, who coaches the Princeton Triangle Club, and a number of other similar college organizations, is directing the rehearsals.

The play is one which has never before been attempted by amateurs. It was first produced about ten years ago, and in the New York cast, who presented it for about one year, were a number of well-known actors and actresses. There are great opportunities for forceful acting on the part of the local amateurs, as well as many comedy lines, and the excellent cast chosen are said by those who have seen the rehearsals to excel their splendid successes in previous comedy club efforts.

Special scenery is being prepared for the play, that for the first act, the interior of a western bungalow, being most elaborate. The other three acts all take place in the reception room in the home of a titled English family.

Upon Mrs. Maxwell E. Perkins and Brown Rolston will fall the more serious parts of the dialogue, their assistants in carrying out the plot, as has already been announced, being Misses Blanche Buttfield, Elsie Goddard and Edna Hopkins, Mrs. Alston M. Abbott, Alston M. Abbott, William T. Pelletier, Roy Cox, Henry C. White, John Valiant and Leslie R. Fort.

Tickets for the performance will be placed on sale at the Plainfield theatre on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and there will be a large number of choice seats left for general sale, after the members of th club have been supplied.

TO EASE SITUATION.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, D. C., May 1.—It is believed to be the desire of the administration to ease up the financial situation according to its own views of easement, and if possible to avert financial stringency which might outgrow business disturbances, consequent upon tariff changes. It is hinted that still further steps may be taken in this direction. Secretary McAdoo will deposit more government funds in the National banks if necessary.

AS TO MONTENEGRO.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

London, England, May 1.—At the ambassador's conference today it will be suggested that Antivari, Montenegro and Dulcigno, the Montenegrian seaport, be occupied by Austrian, Italian and Bulgarian troops.

—Neuman Bros. will offer for tomorrow's trade, fancy Jersey asparagus, peas, green and wax beans, spinach, beets, egg-plant, tomatoes and delicious strawberries. ***

SCUDDER PRES'T OF COUNTY TAX BOARD

Organization of Union's Body Effected and Connolly is Again Secretary.

Elizabeth, May 1.—The Union County Board of Taxation met here this morning and organized for the coming year by electing Mulford M. Scudder, of Westfield, chairman. He was nominated by Lloyd B. Thompson, of Westfield, the new Republican member, who succeeded C. C. Pollard, of Elizabeth. John R. Connolly was re-elected secretary. The board adopted last year's rules for its work this year. Calvin E. Brodhead, of Plainfield, the other member of the board, was also present.

A letter was received from the State Board of Taxation stating that in accordance with a decision of the Supreme Court appeals which have not previously been before the county boards will not be received by the State Board. Heretofore complaining taxpayers have been accustomed to appealing direct to the State Board, rather than first go to the county board. Accordingly the assessors throughout the county will be notified of the recent decision.

AMUSING PLAYLET PRESENTED BY BAPTIST MISSIONARY CLUB

A playlet in three parts, entitled "The Slave and the School Girl," was presented last night in the lecture room of the First Baptist church under the auspices of the church missionary, Miss L. E. Rising, and entertained a large number of interested witnesses with its many amusing situations. The trials of a love-lorn slave were admirably acted by Miss Lucy Douglas, taking the part of "Yio Glo," the son of "Lion Glo," a wealthy merchant, and all of the other characters took their respective parts to perfection.

The various intricate incidents in which Miss Douglas, (who is an ardent suffragist in every day life), taking the male role, found herself while persuing the love of the noble son of "Lion Glo" were well brought out and her personal acting made the play an interesting one to witness. Those who took part were Miss Edith Genung, as "Ding," the bookseller; Miss Mabel Cronce, as the wife of "Ding;" Howard Glover, as "Lion Glo;" Miss Anna Sherwin, as "Koi Ying;" Miss Dorothy Lee, as "Yu Tom;" Miss Marjorie Cubberly, as a teacher in the Missionary School; and Miss Lucy Douglas, as "Yio Glo."

ENDEAVORERS PROVIDE A FINE ENTERTAINMENT

Under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church an entertainment and social was held at the church last night. The affair was arranged by the entertainment committee, of which Mrs. Charles F. Neagle is the chairman.

The program, an excellent one, was thoroughly enjoyed by those present, there being piano, vocal and cornet selections and readings, as follows: Piano duet, the Misses Cecelia and Beatrice Cottrell; tenor solo, George Davis; cornet solo, George Bennett; reading, "One, Two, Three," Mrs. Edward Shaw; soprano solo, Miss Elizabeth Kellogg, with Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard at the piano, instrumental trio, "Ave Maria," flute, piano and organ, C. W. Spicer, Mrs. R. M. Davis and Mrs. William C. Hubbard; vocal duet, Miss Cecelia Cottrell and John B. Cottrell, Jr., with Miss Beatrice Cottrell at the piano; cornet solo, "The Holy City," George Bennett, with Miss Beatrice Cottrell at the piano; reading, R. M. Davis; organ selection, Arthur L. Titsworth.

During the social hour, refreshments were served by the refreshment committee, of which Miss Mildred Greene is the chairman. There was also a sale of candy by the Misses Mary Hunting and Dorothy P. Hubbard.

PARK CLUB ANNUAL.

The annual meeting of the Park Club will be held Tuesday night, May 6, at the club, when officers for the year will be elected and reports presented. William H. Williams, Alexander Milne and Albert D. Beers have been nominated for members of the Board of Governors for three years. The nominating committee for 1914 comprises Samuel Towensend, chairman; Henry D. Hibbard and Donald A. McGee.

DONATION TEA PATRY.

The public generally is invited to attend the donation tea party to be held tomorrow afternoon under the auspices of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society at the informal opening of its Open Air School at Muhlenberg place. The hours for the reception are from 3 to 5 o'clock.

ANTICIPATE BUSY TERM FOR COURT

Many Important Cases Are Slated for the Grand Jury of Union County.

BEGINS ON TUESDAY

Thirty-seven Cases in Supreme Court and Thirteen in the Circuit Court Are Already Listed.

The May term of court in Union county will open on Tuesday at Elizabeth, and from present indications gives promise of being the busiest for several years. This is shown in the number and importance of the complaints to be considered by the grand jury and the suits listed for trial in the Supreme and Circuit Court branches. While the term opens next week, Judge Vail will not be able to sit for the trial of civil suits until the following Monday, May 12, as he will be engaged in Somerset county.

The list of cases on hand include thirty-seven in the Supreme Court and thirteen in the Circuit Court. It is expected that nearly a dozen more will be added before the opening day. In the Court of Common Pleas there will be about a dozen applications for license renewals and several new applications.

In the list of complaints to be brought to the attention of the grand jurors is one charging murder, a stabbing case from this city in which a negro was slain by an Italian.

The charges against Joseph Geanoluse and Philip Costiglio for writing a threatening letter to Joseph Capitillo, of Westfield, will be closely watched as the men were doing private detective work for the town of Westfield at the time of their arrest. They had previously caused the arrest of two Italian residents there for violations of the excise laws.

In addition to these important complaints there are the many charges of the usual kind cropping out of fights and drunken brawls. As a number of them occurred on Sundays, the Grand Inquest will probably probe excise conditions.

Prosecutor Stein will have to conduct the trial of a number of indictments remaining untried when he succeeded former Prosecutor Swift. Among these is the Summit finger-print case, and the indictment against George Shuppe, a wealthy lumber dealer, of Newark. He was indicted on the complaint of Miss Mabel Jones, also of Newark, as the result of his actions while on an automobile ride with the young woman through Lyons Farms last August.

In the finger-print case the defendant, Vincenzo DeGeralmo, is under $2,000 bail awaiting trial. He was tried during the May term last year, was found guilty and sentenced to State prison for seven years by Judge Atwater. An appeal was taken on a writ of error. The writ was sustained and a new trial ordered. The prisoner's counsel former Prosecutor Wilson, succeeded in having the bail reduced to $2,000 in July and De Geralmo was released from jail where he had been held since July, 1911. The case would have been retried by Mr. Swift during his term, but for the fact that the complaining witness, a French governess in the home of W. F. Adam, in Edgewood road, Summit, was out of the country.

FOUR NEW MEMBERS.

Four new members were added to the Congregational church at a meeting held last night, and they will be formally received at a communion service to be held Sunday morning. At last night's meeting the usual services preparatory to communion Sunday were held. The pastor, Rev. C. L. Goodrich, delivered an inspiring address on "Glorying in the Cross of Christ." In response to invitations from the Bound Brook Congregational church, it was decided to send the pastor, and Sidney Dunning, to the reception to be tendered Friday night, May 9, to Rev. W. L. Boult, the new minister there. Mr. Boult comes from White Plains, N. Y.

"CHAINS OF AN OATH."

"Chains of an Oath," a special feature motion picture in two reels, produced by the Kinetogram Company, will be shown at the Plainfield theatre, tonight. This picture is said to be one of the best yet shown, and has been a strong attraction.

FOR YOUNG FRIENDS.

A meeting of the Young Friends' Association will be held tomorrow night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stryker, of West Front street. Henry M. Haviland, of Brooklyn, will read a paper on "Ministry."

DR. STRONG TO SPEAK.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, will be the speaker at the Rescue Mission tonight at 8 o'clock.

MARTINE IS SURE OF BRYAN IN 1916

New Jersey Senator Picks the Commoner for Next President.

St. Louis, May 1.—If William J. Bryan is a candidate for the Presidency in 1916 nothing can prevent his election, according to Senator James E. Martine, of New Jersey, who is here to attend the dedication of the Jefferson memorial. Mr. Martine said the one-term plank in the Democratic platform would prevent President Wilson's renomination.

"Bryan will be the logical candidate," he said. "People have come to know and to understand him better. People think that he has become more stable in his views, struck an equilibrium, as it were. The fact is, that Mr. Bryan is just as radical today as he was twenty years ago, but the people have grown up to him."

He also said the tariff fight would keep Congress in session all Summer.

GRIESEL BEQUEATHED $1,000 TO A SERVANT

By his will, John H. Griesel, who died at the home of his brother-in-law, Wilbur H. Rogers, on Central avenue, Sunday morning, directs that his membership in the New York Stock Exchange be sold and the proceeds added to his estate. After leaving $1,000 to a servant, Emilia Eliasson, of 225 West 133d street, New York, the residue is left to Mr. Griesel's widow, Mrs. Nellie H. Griesel, of 205 West Seventieth street, New York.

Mr. Griesel was a partner of the firm of Griesel & Rogers, stock brokers, Wilbur H. Rogers being the junior member of the firm. Mr. Rogers and Mrs. Griesel are made executors of the will. At the time that Mr. Griesel died he and his wife were visiting at the Rogers home, having come to Plainfield on Saturday for a short stay. He was taking a bath when he suffered an attack of heart trouble and died before a physician arrived.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL TO THOMAS B. BROWN

Thomas B. Brown, aged about 70 years, a resident of Plainfield many years ago, and widely known throughout this section, died at his home in Chicago, April 12, following injuries received three days before when he was struck by a large auto truck while crossing the street. Information concerning the fatal accident came to Postmaster E. H. Bird today in a letter written by Mr. Brown's son, Thomas M. Brown, of Baltimore.

Mr. Brown will be remembered by some of the older residents as a member of the quartet choir of Trinity Reformed church, where he sang for several years. The other members of the quartet were Mrs. S. L. Stewart, the late Mrs. Elias H. Bird and Elmer E. Runyon. Later Mr. Brown's son, who was also well-known here, sang at Trinity church. At the time of Mr. Brown's death he was superintendent of Hyde Park, Chicago. Beside a son and daughter, he leaves a wife by a second marriage.

PARENTS OF TRUANTS REPRIMANDED BY COURT

Michael Austin Frank Pitinelli and Nicholas Dura, of Cottage place; Mrs. Lina Jackson, colored, of West Second street, and Mrs. Addie Lowrey, of West Fourth street, were arraigned before City Judge De Meza this morning, and charged with violating the school laws by not sending their children to school. The children were not in court but were, according to the parents, attending school.

Judge De Meza severely lectured the parents for their offense and told them that if they did not send their children to school in the future he would have them rearrested and would inflict penalties to the full extent of the law. All were let go on suspended sentences.

FRANK FLETCHER, JR., TO WED.

Miss Ethel Thoms, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thoms, of Brooklyn, and Frank Fletcher, Jr., son of Rev. and Mrs. Frank Fletcher, of this city, will be married this evening at the home of the bride-elect's parents on Herkimer street, Brooklyn. Mr. Fletcher's father will officiate, but owing to illness, Mrs. Fletcher will be unable to see her son married. The couple will leave on a trip immediately following the ceremony.

SHE RETURNS HOME TO FIND A BURGLAR

When Mrs. Ulrich Appears Strange Man Jumps Through Window.

Mrs. John Ulrich, of 819 College place, while passing through the kitchen of her home last night shortly after 9 o'clock, was frightened by a man who dodged from behind a door and jumped head first through a pane of window glass. Partially recovered from her fright, Mrs. Ulrich telephoned the police. Detective-Sergeant J. J. Flynn went to the Ulrich home and made a careful search, but could get no clew. An investigation disclosed the fact that several articles of jewelry had been taken.

Earlier in the evening Mrs. Ulrich attended prayer-meeting and upon returning home discovered a window open and things scattered about the rooms indicating that someone had been in the house. When she went to the kitchen she learned that the intruder had been hiding behind a door. Mrs. Ulrich obtained a poor description of the man.

MAYOR HAS NOT PICKED ASSESSMENT SPECIALISTS

Mayor Percy H. Stewart is not yet ready to announce the names of the advisory committee which will assist the Board of Assessors in making a revision of the tax assessments in the city. He desires to pick five of the best men obtainable to serve on the committee, men who are thoroughly familiar with property values and for that reason is taking plenty of time for the consideration of names.

The Common Council in authorizing the Mayor to appoint such a committee particularly desired that there should be a proper and careful revision of assessments, recognizing the fact that there are perhaps many cases of inequalities in tax assessment, especially in the business section.

AUSTRIA'S ATTITUDE.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

London, May 1.—"Healthful," was a term used to describe the European situation this afternoon, following the adjournment of the ambassadorial conference, which had met in the foreign office to take active steps to avoid a clash between Austria and Montenegro. The reply of Montnegro to the demand of Europe for the evacuation of Scutari has been received by the Powers. It is non-committal in character anc keeps the door open for further negotiations.

RAILROAD STRIKE?

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, May 1.—Trainmen and conductors have withdrawn from their conference with the railroad managers at the Broadway-Central, where they will consider the ultimatum of the railroad managers. They will meet the managers again this afternoon or tomorrow morning to give their reply. It is probable that the next move will be a strike vote.

EXEMPTS UNIONS.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, May 1.—The House has passed and the Senate has reported the sundry civil appropriation bill containing clause exempting labor organizations and farmers' unions from prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust law. The Senate has agreed to take up the bill next Monday.

SOME SWEET TALK.

Washington, May 1.—Two hours' debate will occur on the sugar schedule. The Democratic leadership refuses to even yield five minutes to Louisiana sugar Democrats for debate and they had to get five minutes from Republicans. All sugar amendments will be voted down.

TRANSIT CO. INCORPORATES.

The Plainfield Transit Company has filed incorporation papers with Secretary of State Crater, at Trenton. The capital is $20,000. The directors will meet at the Queen City Hotel tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 to choose officers.

LACE STORE BANKRUPT.

Trenton, May 1.—Max Perlstein, dealer in ladies' specialities, in Plainfield, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States Court here today. He claimed liabilities of $5,000 and assets of $3,000.

HOME RULE BILL.

London, May 1.—The home rule for Ireland bill is to be introduced next week in the precise form in which it left the House of Commons last session.

LEONARD CLAIMS HE'S THREATENED

Union County Assemblyman Says He is "Bulldozed" Because of His Stand.

FAVORS JURY REFORM

McLoughlin Alleges There is no Sentiment for Wilson-Fielder Measure in This County—How Griffin Stands on Question.

"I have been bulldozed and threatened, and told that my bills would be strangled, if I persisted in voting for jury reform." This is the sensational statement made by Assemblyman Leonard, of Union county, in a letter to a friend, written to correct a misleading statement on his jury reform attitude appearing in a Newark newspaper.

There has never been any doubt whatever in Union county that Mr. Leonard's sympathies were entirely with the Wilson-Fielder forces in the jury reform and other fights of the winter, and his communication shows that he will again be enthusiastic for the administration at the special session of the Legislature.

"I was one of the few Democrats," he writes further, "who voted for Senator Reaw's bill, introduced in the House by Mr. Kates as a substitute for Mr. McDermott's bill on the night that the Martin-Salus episode took place.

"I want to say that I have supported every mesaure advocated by the Democratic platform of last year. I want to repeat what I have already written, that I have been in favor of jury reform as outlined by Governor Fielder and President Wilson, and have been since I was elected last November."

Mr. Leonard will attend the conference in Jersey City Friday afternoon upon invitation of President Wilson. The recognized Progressive Democratic leaders of the State will also be present, together with most of the legislators.

Assemblyman Griffin will participate in the conference also upon the President's invitation. He voted for the McDermott bill at the regular session, but also declared several times that his mind was open upon the subject.

Mr. Griffin said when questioned today that he could make no prediction upon the fate of the McDermott bill at the special session until the Democratic conference had been held.

While Assemblyman McLoughlin's jury reform views remain unchanged upon the eve of President Wilson's visit to Newark, he indignantly denied reports today that his attitude resulted from having cast his political fortunes with the Smith-Nugent forces. Mr. McLoughlin declared that besides always enjoying a speech by a good orator, he would attend the mass meeting tomorrow night through respect for the President of the United States.

Mr. McLoughlin reiterated recent statements that he has seen no sentiment for jury reform in Union county. He had received two letters upon the proposition, he said, one coming from Newark and the other from Summit. One favored the Wilson-Fielder bill and the other opposed it.

SALE OF BROWNING RELICS.

London, May 1.—Numerous collectors and agents of collectors in all parts of the world were gathered today at Sotheby's auction rooms to attend the opening of the sale of Browning relics included in the estate of the late Robert Wiedermann Barrett Browning, the artist. R. W. B. Browning was the son of the poet Robert Browning and his estate includes a remarkable collection of manuscripts, pictures, autographs, books and personal relics of Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 67 degrees; 11 a. m., 71 degrees; 1 p. m., 79 degrees.

Dr. and Mrs. Rolland D. Tomlinson, of 2064 Fifth avenue, New York, are parents of a girl born to them yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Tomlinson was formerly Miss Mary Jahn, of Scotch Plains, and Dr. Tomlinson is the son of Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, of East Seventh street.

Captain A. S. Hewitt, formerly in charge of the local corps of the Salvation Army, but now in charge of a Newark corps, was in town yesterday calling on friends. He is conducting a special ten-day campaign in Newark.

JERSEY FEDERAL JOBS OPEN WITHOUT "EXAMS"

Washington, May 1.—"Positions in the United States service which are not required to be filled through examination under the civil service law" is the verbose title of a pamphlet just issued by the federal government that will bring joy to the hearts of many "patriots" who are willing to serve their country, but who have run up against the civil service regulations.

The pamphlet, compiled by the Civil Service Commission, at the request of the House of Representatives, indicate the jobs, State by State and city by city. In New Jersey, with five exceptions, the jobs pay on the average between $600 and $800, and are for unskilled labor.

The best position in the Jersey list, comprising in all thirty-seven chances to work without having passed the "exams," is that of two assistant United States attorneys, salary $2,200. One has been parceled out already. Both of these positions come under the Department of Justice, and are at the disposal of the United States District Attorney, subject to the advice and consent of the federal authorities here.

In Newark is the third best job, that of confidential clerk in the postoffice, paying $1,300. It won't be available until Postmaster Bock's term expires. Other Newark positions are: Six laborers under the custodian of postoffice, $600; one laborer, postoffice department, at $650 and four at $720; two contract station clerks at $600.

In Trenton is the job of United States deputy marshal, paying $1,000; one clerk, at $840; and three laborers, at $600. There is also the new deputy marshal at Newark.

Paterson has but one job, and a poor one at that—$600 for a laborer. In Plainfield, also a one-job town, is a similar job, but at a slightly higher rate—$650.

Jersey City has one deputy marshal, at $1,200; two laborers for the postoffice, at $650, and two contract station clerks, one at $600, and the other at $700.

In Elizabeth, one laborer to work in the postoffice for $650 is the allotment; and two similar jobs at $600 are free of examinations under the treasury service. Other jobs scattered over the State are as follows:

Asbury Park, one laborer, treasury department, $600; Athenia, agent for agricultural department, $900; Atlantic City, two laborers, treasury department, $600 each; two laborers, postoffice department, at $720 each, and one contract station clerk at $600; Beverly, superintendent national cemetery, $720; Bridgeton, laborer, treasury department, $600; Camden, laborer, treasury department, $600; laborer, postoffice department, $650; Dover, Picatinny arsenal, one stableman, $600; eight teamsters, $600; eleven laborers, $2 per day, one at $720 per year, two at $2.16 per day, and one at $2.24 per day; Finns Point, superintendent national cemetery, $720; Gloucester City, laborer, immigration service, $660; Sandy Hook, sixteen laborers for proving ground work at $2 per day, and one laborer, at $720 per year.

THE FORUM.

AN ANSWER TO HOFFMASTER.

The following communication has been received in response to the publication of Manager Hoffmaster's article concerning the Netherwood A. C.-Shamrock baseball game of which a box score was printed in this paper Monday morning. Manager Hoffmaster, of the Netherwood team, took exception to certain parts of the score which are explained below by the Shamrock officials.

Sporting Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

In yesterday's issue of your paper, F. Hoffmaster, manager of the Netherwoods, claimed that Luthman and himself were not credited with two hits, which he claims they made. Now the Netherwood scorer had a record of only one hit for each of these players and it was from him that the Shamrocks received their score. Mr. Hoffmaster also claims that our extra base hits were not of A-1 class but were due to errors. Doyle, who is the "Ty Cobb" of the Shamrocks, hit one to left-center in the third inning that was not caught by a fielder until Doyle was on second base and still he is not allowed the credit due him. Out of five times at bat, Darling garnered three singles and a double. No fear, huh? Schinkle pitched good ball, but he only struck out eight men and not fifteen. Pardon me, Mr. Hoffmaster, but I hope you do not doubt our veracity. Would like to arrange for a return game on your own diamond on some Sunday during May so that we can prove conclusively that we have a little edge on your team.

Thanking the editor for his kindness and consideration for publishing our tale of woe, I remain.

J. A. KENNEDY, Acting Mgr.
J. A. KANE, Captain.

CALIFORNIA'S ANTI-JAPANESE AGITATION HAS REACHED A CLIMAX

What California proposes to do now, according to Governor Hiram Johnson and the dominant political leaders of the State, is to pass laws which will prevent Japanese from owning land in the State. They do not care how this is brought about, how the legislation is disguised to meet the objections of opponents, so long as the result is achieved.

The original bills drawn were aimed solely at the Japanese. Objections by the rest of the country resulted in the bills being made apparently general in character, while still in effect being aimed at the Japanese. Since then the bills have been moulded and remoulded to meet the protests of the administration and of influential men right in California who are opposed to any legislation which might bring on war with Japan or which in any way violates Japan's rights under the treaty made with this country in 1911.

There is general satisfaction in Japan over the decision of President Wilson to send Mr. Bryan, Secretary of State, to California to consult with the legislators there on the question of the proposed alien land ownership legislation.

AMERICA'S PEACE CONGRESS CONVENES

Notable Body of Men Gather at St. Louis in International Arbitration's Interest.

St. Louis, Mo., May 1.—The fourth American Peace Congress, a gathering of peace advocates from every section of the country, assembled here today and will continue in session until next Monday. Few events in the history of St. Louis have ever brought together so many representatives of such different belief, birth and breeding. Farmers and financiers, statesmen and artisans, college presidents, diplomats, clergymen and representatives of many other professions and trades—all are here to lend a hand in promoting the general movement for a permanent basis of arbitration among the natoins of the world.

Congressman Richard Bartholdt, president of the congress, called the initial session to order in the Odeon theatre at 9 o'clock this morning. The proceedings opened with an invocation by Bishop Tuttle. Governor Major and Mayor Kiel delivered addresses of welcome and United States Senator Theodore E. Burton, president of the American Peace Society, responded for the visitors. Senator Burton was followed by Andrew Carnegie, whose address on the meaning and progress of the movement for international peace was the principal feature of the opening session.

Sectional conferences, each of which was addressed by men and women of national prominence, were held this afternoon. John Barrett, director of the Pan-American Union, and Senor Don Ignacio Calderon, the Bolivian minister to the United States, were the chief speakers before the meeting to consider inter-American relations.

President Hill, of the University of Missouri, occupied the chair at the sectional meeting devoted to the discussion of the universities and the peace movement. The speakers at this meeting included President Thwing, of Western Reserve University; President Hutchins, of the University of Michigan; President McVey, of the University of North Dakota; President Mitchell, of the University of South Carolina; Chancellor Kirkland, of Vanderbilt University, and Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews, secretary of the American School Peace League.

Another of the meetings of the afternoon was devoted to a symposium discussion on the subject of Disarmament. President David Starr Jordan, of Leland Stanford University, presided and among the noted participants were Andrew Carnegie and Dr. Jenkin Lloyd Jones, of Chicago.

Many other noted men and women, in addition to those already named, are to be heard at the subsequent sessions of the congress. At the great mass meeting to be held Saturday night the speakers will include Secretary of State William J. Bryan and Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Other of the evening sessions will be addressed by Charles W. Fairbanks, former Vice President of the United States, and Booker T. Washington, of Tuskegee Institute.

The general session tomorrow morning will be devoted to a consideration of "The Problems of The Hague Conference." James Brown Scott, secretary of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, will be the presiding officer. The leading speakers and their topics will be: "The Acative Promotion of International Peace as a Primary Policy of the United States," Prof. Paul S. Reinsch, of the University of Wisconcin; "The Hague Tribunal, Its Present Meaning and Future Promise," Prof. William I. Hull, of Swarthmore College, and "The Pan-Teutonic Pledge of Peace," Edwin D Mead, director of the World Peace Foundation.

Former Vice President Fairbanks will preside at the general session tomorrow night, when the principal speakers will be Dean Shailer Matthews, of the University of Chicago, and Dr. E. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education.

One of the most interesting sessions of the congress will be that on Saturday morning, when eminent representatives of the United States and Canada will meet to discuss plans for the celebration in 1914-15 of the 100th anniversary of peace among English-speaking peoples. The Canadian speakers will include Justice B. Russell, of Halifax; Justice William R. Riddell, of the Supreme Court of Ontario, and John Lewis, editor of the Toronto Star.

The sectional meetings to be held Saturday afternoon will be devoted to the discussion of "Scientists and International Peace, "International Peace Through International Law," and "The Relations of Business and International Peace."

TEST YOUR BAROMETER.

It Is a Tricky Instrument and Must Be Treated With Respect.

Don't expect a barometer to tell you the truth about the weather until you have tested it thoroughly. Two common causes for unreliability are air and water mixed with the mercury in the tube. These can be expelled by boiling the mercury.

In order to test a barometer let it hang for a time in the proper position, then gently and with care incline it so that the mercury may strike against the glass tube. If there is no air within you will hear a sharp metallic click, but if the sound is dull and muffled it indicates the presence of both air and moisture. The presence of air alone is shown by minute bubbles.

If at any time the mercury seems to adhere to the tube even in the slightest degree and the convex surface assumes a more flattened form it is safe to conclude that either air or moisture is present. In any of these cases the instrument should be put into expert hands for rectification.

There are several kinds of barometers. The ordinary "weather glass" in common use is more or less unreliable and is easily made more so by careless handling. In fact, any barometer must be treated with great respect in order to retain its usefulness.—Harper's Weekly.

CHURCHES IN CHILE.

They Are Always More or Less In an Uncompleted Condition.

When walking through the streets in any large town in Chile one is immediately struck by the fact that church buildings are always undergoing repairs.

One day you will pass a church which for weeks has had about six ladders resting against the walls. Then another day you will find that they have been changed to the other side. This constant changing of ladders goes on year in and year out, but no use ever seems to be made of the ladders, though, perhaps, a new brick or a bit of plaster will occasionally be added to the building.

There would seem, however, to be a very real reason for the presence of these ladders. The Chilean government, in fact, levies a tax upon church buildings, but only when they have been completed. In order to evade this tax, therefore, no church ever has been completed.

The Law surely might be altered, then, for the eternal presence of these ladders—certainly an ingenious idea—can add to the appearance of the churches or to the comfort of pedestrians in the streets.—London Answers.

King Robert Bruce's Watch.

In Dalzell's "Fragments of Scottish History" is the following: "The oldest known English watch was made, it is said, in the sixteenth century. There exists a watch which, antiquarians allow, belonged to King Robert Bruce."

In tracing this subject further was found a letter in the Gentleman's Magazine dated Forfar, Aug. 20, 1785, and signed J. Jamieson, who therein states that the watch was offered for sale to him by a goldsmith hawker of Glasgow, who afterward sold it for 2 guineas, and it was next sold for 5. The letter does not trace the curiosity further, but we find in a little work by Adam Thompson, entitled "Time and Timekeepers," that it subsequently found its way into the collection of King George III.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The London Policeman.

London goes to the rural districts for its policemen largely, and the result is often amusing, not to say exasperating. The London Chronicle tells of one encounter with an inexperienced policeman who was asked the whereabouts of a famous firm in the neighborhood, to which query the new bobby replied gayly:

"Bless ye, I know no more than yourself, sir. I only came up from Dorset yesterday."

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The business meeting of the Young People's Society of the First Baptist church, which was to have been held tomorrow night, has been postponed. The announcement of another date will be made later.

There will be a musical service at the Netherwood Reformed church Sunday night, preceded by a fifteen minute organ recital by Miss Iona Wood, with Ralph Martin at the piano. Special selections will be given during the service, in charge of H. J. Martin, Sr., precentor.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will deliver the annual address at the State convention of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society at Trenton, tonight.

Rev. Thomas Francis, of Jersey City, will give his usual Bible lesson at the German Reformed church at Craig place and Duer street on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. He will also speak at 7:45 o'clock.

Rev. Dr. W. T. Stackhouse, who is recognized as one of the foremost platform speakers in the country, will give one of his remarkable lectures at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The public is invited.

The local Christian Endeavor Union Congress will meet Monday evening in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A., when plans for the May rally and annual election of officers will be completed.

SPENCER TO HOLD ON TO HIS JOB

Civil Service Commission Decides Secretary of Tax Board Can't Be Ousted.

POLITICS NO CAUSE

William A. Coddington Wins Big Victory—His Client a Faithful Servant and Only Objection Was His Political Affiliations.

Trenton, May 1.—The New Jersey Civil Service Commission at the State House Tuesday rendered a decision in the matter of the dismissal of William A. Spencer, secretary of the Middlesex County Board of Taxation, in favor of Mr. Spencer, who was reinstated. This case was the outgrowth of a change in the political complexion of the Middlesex County Tax Board. Mr. Spencer who had served as secretary of the Board for about six years, under a Republican administration, was, when the Board became Democratic, dismissed without any valid reasons, as far as he could learn.

Spencer retained William A. Coddington, of Plainfield, New Jersey, to represent him in the matter and proceedings were instituted before the New Jersey Civil Service Commission, and after quite a lengthy trial, which took place in the Court House in New Brunswick, the Commission took the evidence and reserved decision in the matter until Tuesday.

Mr. Coddington, in his contention on behalf of his client, claimed that Mr. Spencer was appointed secretary of the Board before the act of 1908 was passed and after the said act was passed was re-appointed; that the County Tax Board is a continuous body and that it is not necessary to appoint a new secretary annually, that the office of secretary of the Board is exempt under the Civil Service act, and that the secretary could not be discharged for political or religious reasons. Mr. Coddington showed in his argument before the Commission that nowhere did it appear in the testimony taken in the case that Mr. Spencer was discharged for inefficiency or inattention to the duties of his office, and that from the admission made on the stand by two of the members of the Tax Board it did appear that Mr. Spencer's removal was urged by the Democratic leaders of the county.

The verdict of the Board to re-instate Mr. Spencer was unanimously acquiesced in by the entire Board and the victory for Mr. Spencer is largely due to the skillful way in which his lawyer handled the case.

At the State House, Tuesday, Mr. Coddington was congratulated by many upon winning out for his client. The other side of the case was represented by William R. Wilson, of Elizabeth.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The Boys' Athletic Association cleared about $80 on the play that was given at the Park Club last Friday night.

The Junior Class will give the Seniors their annual banquet next Friday evening in the manual training rooms. The class will provide everything. There will be about sixty guests.

Miss Myra Emmons, who was pianist for the High School last year, visited school yesterday morning and played the piano for the morning exercises. She also visited the kindergarten, where she was an assistant last year.

The botany class, under the direction of Miss Roxana Love, went to Raritan yesterday afternoon on a specimen trip. They spent all afternoon in the woods and returned home about supper time.

The baseball team was idle yesterday afternoon because the Bernardsville High School team cancelled the date at the last minute. The team from over the mountains is noted for cancelling games at the last minute, as this same thing happened in one of the basketball dates.

The freshmen basketball team have not as yet received their medals for winning the interclass basketball series. The committee in charge consists of Duclos VanMater, Newton Spencer and Frank Dunning.

COUSIN OF FORMER FRENCH AMBASSADOR TO BE ENTERTAINED IN WASHINGTON

Lieutenant C. Raymond P. Rodgers, U. S. N., and his bride, who was Miss Alys Appleton Meyer, a great niece of Mr. Pinkney White, onetime Governor of Maryland, and a cousin of Mr. Henry White, onetime Ambassador to France, whose marriage took place in Washington, have succeeded in carrying out their scheme to keep the destination of their wedding journey a secret from all save the immediate members of their families.

Very little entertaining preceded the wedding, consequently their return to Washington about May 15 will be followed by a series of fêtes.

THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT.

To aid in the battle for jury reform, President Wilson returns tonight to the State that honored him with the Governorship and he honored by putting it in the front rank of progressive states. His action in appearing on the public platform in behalf of one of his favorite measures is courageous to say the least, though there appears to be a division of sentiment as to the wisdom of his course.

Concerning his visit the New York Press says: "There isn't much chance of placid, rocking-chair comfort nowadays for people that worry about precedents and traditions. These are 'viewing with alarm' the invasion of New Jersey this week by Woodrow Wilson in an effort to arouse public sentiment to the point where it can force the Legislature to pass the jury reform legislation. But the public is more interested in the measure than in the manner. That bill ought to pass. Its defeat is inexcusable. The old Jersey method of jury drawing makes the jury system a mockery. If President Wilson can force passage of such a measure by intruding his national prestige into New Jersey, power to his elbow. May he do a lot of elbowing anywhere and everywhere in behalf of good causes!"

The President purposes to make three speeches in strongholds of the opposition to the measure. Tonight he will be heard at Newark and Elizabeth and tomorrow night at Jersey City. The address at Elizabeth will be at 9 o'clock and it will be well worth the while for Plainfielders interested in the welfare of their State to make a trip to the county seat to hear what he will have to say.

A SERIOUS MENACE.

The Elizabeth Board of Trade is a "live wire." Just at present it is conducting a community clean-up campaign and proposes to have its house in order by Saturday night. Now that is something practical and we commend the plan to the local Board of Trade. The condition of some of the yards in our business section is not only a disgrace to the city, but constitutes both a health and a fire menace. Only recently we had occasion to call the attention of the fire chief and building inspector to the condition of things in a yard near this newspaper's plant for we considered it a fire menace. He informed us that the matter was up to the health department. Then we had a health inspector take a glance at it and he calmly informed us that it was not within his power to correct such an evil for he said it was the duty of the fire chief to remedy it. So there you are; "what's everybody's business is nobody's business." Some one of these days a serious fire will be caused by a situation just such as this and then after a heavy loss to some, we may suppose that the authorities will get busy and order a clean-up. But possibly not until then.

GO AND HEAR HIM.

Many Plainfielders cherish pleasant recollections of Bishop John H. Vincent when he was pastor of the First M. E. church and many remember his son, George E. Vincent, when he attended the Plainfield High School. That was a good many years ago. The son is now president of the University of Minnesota and is a recognized authority on sociology. Dr. Vincent comes here on Saturday night to address the graduates of the Plainfield High School at the auditorium of that institution. His subject will be "Playing the Game," and undoubtedly he will be greeted by a large audience.

REPORT PROGRESS.

Commission government met with defeat in New Brunswick when submitted this week for the second time in two years, but great gains were shown for then it was lost by some 1,200 and now by the narrow margin of fifty-seven votes. While the result is a great disappointment, no doubt, to the advocates of the plan, the figures demonstrate that gradually the people there are getting to understand the system and appreciate its advantages and in due course of time will likely adopt it.

We suggest that all who can do so should attend the informal opening of the Plainfield Anti-Tuberculosis Society's Open Air School, in Muhlenberg place, tomorrow afternoon. A donation party is to be held and it will afford an opportunity to see just what that very worthy organization is doing in one field of activity at least. The fight against the great white plague'e ravages is one of the greatest campaigns of the age and in it every man and woman should play a part.

From St. Louis comes a dispatch in which it is stated that United States Senator James E. Martine declares that Bryan will win the Presidency in 1916. If ever there was an optimist in the Democratic party "the farmer-orator" is the one, but we all know that as a political forecaster he is not of the best.

The contributing for Saturday's issue, a prominent local educator, will discuss a topic of more than usual interest.

METUCHEN MAYOR QUITS; WILL MOVE TO MAINE

Metuchen, N. J., May 1.—At a special meeting of the Common Council, called by him, Mayor Samuel H. Clarke tendered his resignation, announcing that he would soon move to a small town near Augusta, Me.

Daniel B. La Farge, president of the Council, will become acting Mayor. Under the Clarke administration Metuchen contemplated a number of improvements, including street grading, sewers and the laying of twenty miles of sidewalks. The councilmen declare these improvements will be carried out.

PRICE OF ICE SOARING.

New York, May 1.—The new schedule by which the price of natural and artificial ice to consumers in Greater New York was raised from $3.50, the price charged a month ago, to $6 a ton, went into effect today to the dismay of large and small consumers alike. So far as natural ice is concerned the advance in price is explained by the alleged scarcity of the supply due to the unusually mild winter, but no explanation has been given to account for the advance in the price of artificial ice the manufacture of which is in no way influenced by meteorological and climatic conditions.

Father of "W. G." Tells Stories at Banquet Given by His Distinguished Son.

The inception of the upbuilding of steam transportation in the great middle West was forcibly recalled through a luncheon given by Vice President and General Manager W. G. Besler, of the New Jersey Central, who resides in this city, at the Railroad Club in New York, in honor of the eightieth birthday of his father, former General Superintendent J. D. Besler, of the Burlington system.

Many railroad presidents and other officials of high executive rank, gathered to do honor to this rugged pioneer, who nothwithstanding his advanced years, retains to a remarkable degree the mental and physical qualifications which for so many years characterized his active career in railroad service, wherein he rose from section hand to general superintendent of a great system.

Mr. Besler's career as a railroad man, says the Wall Street Journal, occurred under peculiar circumstances. When a young man he was a German shoemaker who spent so much time over his last that his health was seriously impaired. The doctor told him he must work out in the open air. The cobbler applied for a job to one of his customers, who happened to be a section foreman on the Burlington. The foreman gave him a job as a section hand. That was the start of his railroad career. The finish was as general superintendent of, one of the most prosperous and busy railroads in the West.

Mr. Besler's success was due to close application to the matter in hand, a trait acquired and developed at the cobbler's bench, and over all to the fact that he was somewhat of a philosopher. At one time when general superintendent of the Burlington the management appointed a new division superintendent upon what was known as the kindergarten division where new superintendents were always given their first tryout.

When the new official came in to report for duty Mr. Besler gave him the following bit of advice: "We don't pay much attention to your division and we don't know much about it except that we do know it has been running and is still running. When you get out there be careful you don't stop it before you are sure you know how to start it up again."

Mr. Besler is one of the few men at present living who can recall the middle west as it really was half a century and more ago. He relates a story of a farmer from Sussex county, New Jersey, who together with his family had emigrated to Illinois in the early days when the Burlington was in course of construction, taking up a section of land in one of the fertile river bottoms in Illinois. Unaccustomed to the climate, the entire family contracted malaria, which brought with it a bad attack of home sickness. One day, the former Jerseyman approached Mr. Besler, who was engaged in track work near the farm, and offered to deed him the entire outfit including land, buildings and farming equipment, if he would provide transportation for the return of the family East. He was finally persuaded to "hang on" and a number of years later, when Mr. Besler had became an official of the road, he met a prospecous appearing farmer at Galesburg, who introduced himself as the man who had been so desirous of returning East. He was at that time the owner of many additional fertile acres, to those he had been only a few years previous so anxious to barter for transportation "back home."

Probably no one living is so thoroughly qualified to tell the story of the early railroads of Illinois as is Mr. Besler, and a recital of these long forgotten events would not only prove of absorbing interest, but undoubted historical value to the future student of American transportation affairs and problems.

21 POUNDS OF PETITION AGAINST P. O. CLOSING

Washington, May 1.—Postmaster General Burleson received a petition today from tens of thousands of "the transient population of the United States," protesting against Sunday closing of postoffices. It was the largest petition ever received at the department—so large it could not be sent in the mails—and it came by express. It was bound in book form and weighed 21½ pounds. On every page of the book appeared a resolution reciting that the order canceling the delivery of Sunday mail to transients "has been a distinct hardship on travelers who do much of their business through the mails," and asking the Postmaster General "to issue an order to all Postmasters to continue the delivery of all mail on Sunday both to hotels and theatres, and that all employes of the Postoffice Department be granted compensatory time off for any duty performed on Sunday."

The Postmaster General cannot change the regulation in question without the consent of Congress. It is believed he will refer the petition to that body.

CHILD DIES OF RABIES IN ITS FATHER'S ARMS

New Brunswick, May 1.—Mary Saclette, seven years old, died Tuesday of hydrophobia in the arms of her father, who had to restrain her in her dilirium from injuring other children in the family. The child was on her way home from school, a month ago, when she was attacked by a dog, which lacerated her face. She was hurried to the Pasteur Institute in New York, where she remained for eighteen days. Her case could not be accurately diagnosed because the dog that bit her escaped and examination for proof of rabies was therefore impossible.

Following her return from the institution the child attended school for three days, when she suffered a relapse and was again taken to New York. The institute physicians notified her father Tuesday that death was imminent. Mr. Saclette hastened to New York, carried his daughter to the train, and on the way home had the greatest difficulty in preventing the little sufferer from injuring other passengers or herself. Mr. Saclette, who is caretaker of St. Peter's cemetery, was almost exhausted when he reached home, but he had to continue his ministrations for half an hour before death mercifully ended the child's sufferings.

A dispute between New Brunswick and North Brunswick as to which municipality should pay the expenses of the child's treatment in New York was settled yesterday by Mgr. O'Grady, of St. Peter's church, who assumed the obligation.

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT TO SPEAK HERE

George E. Vincent, Ph.D. LL.D.,
Who speaks at the High School Auditorium on Saturday Night.

Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the University of Minnesota, at Minneapolis, who will speak at the Plainfield High School, Saturday evening under the auspices of the alumni association, is the only son of Bishop John H. Vincent. He was born in Rockford, Ill., March 21, 1864, when his father was pastor there. He came to Plainfield when a boy and was educated in the public schools here and was graduated from the high school.

Dr. Vincent was graduated from Yale in 1885, received his bachelor's degree with the scholarship honors of Phi Beta Kappa and the social distinction of the Scroll and Key senior society, earned his doctorate in philosophy in 1896 by graduate study in the University of Chicago. His specialty was sociology and he has taught that subject in the University of Chicago, rising to an associate professorship. In 1900 he was made dean of the Junior Colleges and in 1907 was made dean of all the faculties. He accepted his present position in 1910. Dr. Vincent is considered one of the strongest platform speakers in the country and will doubtless be heard here by a large audience.

MAY DAY PARADE.

New York, May 1. May Day was observed in the metropolis today by the customary parade of the Socialist organizations and various East Side trades unions. The parade started from Rutgers Square in the early afternoon and proceeded through Broadway and several other of the prominent downtown thoroughfares. Many of the trades were represented by men wearing distinctive uniforms. A feature of the bakers' division that attracted much attention was a wagon bearing a loaf of bread baked from three barrels of flour and a cake of like dimensions.

The National Pure Food Company is planning to erect a two-story addition to its main plant at Lincoln and a 150 foot "wing" on the southern side of the present buildings. The cost of the work is estimated at $60,000.

The first quarterly conference of the Methodist church will be held tonight in the lecture room of that edifice.

Mrs. J. L. Manning represented the local W. C. T. U. at the recent county meeting held in Cranford.

The next meeting of the local Parent-Teacher Association is scheduled for the last Tuesday in May.

Practically all efforts to locate Charles H. Berkheiser, the missing ex-councilman who mysteriously vanished from his home in Dunellen several weeks ago, have been abandoned.

The Crescent Tennis Club, which is well known to local people because of its popular presentation of the comedy "A Regiment of Two," scored another hit before a New York audience recently, appearing at the Alhambra Hall, 126th street, for the benefit of a charity organization.

The Board of Trustees of the First Presbyterian church, elected to serve for the ensuing year, is composed of Edward Pennock, Blanchard Gardner, Harry Swackhamer, Fowler Vail, H. D. Williams and Louis Schneider.

GUBBERIMUMPS.

Since the successfuul run of "A Good Little Devil" began at the Republic theatre, New York, three months ago, David Belasco has been besieged with letters for the exact wording of the "Incantation" of old Mother Mac Miche. She is the cruel aunt who beats the "good little devil," her nephew, and makes him sleep n the garret with the rats. But she faces a powerful opposition in the fairies, who befriend young Charles and undo all her evil designs. She chooses an auspicious moment and brews a broth which she predicts will do the work.

"Now for the talisman, and to rid this house forever of the mysterious friends of that pauper brat.

"It's Friday the 13th. This is very dangerous work. First to describe the awful circle of Soloman—a circle within a square! 'Googari, Boomseri-bo! Menelyx-in-styx! Gloom, dole and gubberimumps!'

"First—disnwater,—so! A heel of my wedding slipper. Some castor-oil, and the beard of a rhinoceros. Rattle-snake's milk. Three pieces of glue. An addled egg. And a horse-shoe for luck.

"Soon a fiery bird will be born of this mixture, fly out of the pot, and I shall have absolute power to drive his fiends from my house.

"'Googarie, Boomseri-Bo! Menelyx-in-styx! Gloom, dole and gubberimumps!'"

Can you imagine what that rare comedian, William Norris, who plays the orgress aunt, can do, with such a speech as this? And don't you feel the chills chase up and down your spine as he says "Gubberimumps?"

START BUILDING OF NEW NEW BRUNSWICK SCHOOL

New Brunswick, May 1.—The $20,000 addition to St. Peter's School was started Tuesday, the first brick being laid by Monsignor John A. O'Grady. The wing is being built to Columbia Hall on the side nearest to St. Peter's Hospital.

In the basement there will be a gymnasium, while the first floor will be devoted to a lecture hall and the second floor used as class rooms for the high school branch of work. The third floor will be annex to the hall where many of the city's big dances are held.

The commencement of St. Peter's School will be held June 16, and will be attended by Bishop James McFaul. This will be the first commencement the bishop has attended here in some time.

Rev. Royal A. Stout, of the Netherwood Reformed church, will preach Sunday morning on the subject of "The Message of Habakkuk," and in the evening his theme will be "The Holy Catholic Church."

Washington, D. C., May 1.—Today is the fifteenth anniversary of the momentous battle of Manila Bay, that brilliant victory of the American fleet under Admiral, then only Commodore Dewey, which led to such far-reaching changes in the policy of the United States. It was at the beginning of the conflict between Spain and the United States, following the destruction of the battleship Maine in the harbor of Havana. When war was declared the American fleet under Commodore Dewey, which had been ordered away from Hong Kong by the British authorities, made a quick dash across the South China sea and headed straight for Manila, the most important port of the Philippine Islands. On the morning of May 1, 1898, just before dawn, the American fleet, under cover of the darkness and regardless of the mines in the channel, steamed into the inner harbor and at sunrise opened fire upon the Spanish fleet, completely destroying every one of the enemy's ships, without the loss of a single man on the American side. The Spanish fleet suffered a loss of more than 400 officers and men killed or wounded.

Children's Play Clothes.

There are so many attractive, yet imple and comfortable, clothes which an be made for children that there s no excuse in dressing them in unomfortable and elaborate clothes hile they are playing. For the small oy, Russian blouse suits, of cotton aaterial which launders easily, can e made. For the very small boy. ingham rompers solve every probem of play clothes. For the older oy, khaki trousers and wash shirtraists are easily kept clean, and are iot cumbersome.

Rompers are worn also by very little girls, and nothing could be an improvement on this simple sort of costame. There is a pattern for one-piece rompers which is very easily carried out. These rompers are made with a skirt, sewed up at the bottom, but with an opening left for each leg and they can be worn over a short dress. They are finished with a turnback collar, narrow band cuffs and a small pocket. Gingham, galatea or seersucker are all durable, easily laundered and easily handled in the making.

Aprons and One-Piece Frocks.

For the little girl who has outgrown the age of rompers, aprons are useful to protect the frock during play-time. Some of the most attractive play aprons shown now in the shops have a big pocket in the front, at the waist-line. These aprons can be made of crash or linen, in tan, and the pocket, neck and sleeves can be bordered with a cross-stitch design worked in colors. This design is easily worked. Patterns come for rabbits, chickens, trees, which suggest those in a Noah's ark, and other designs interesting to childhood. Outlined designs of other motifs that appeal to children can also be worked on play aprons, and patterns for such designs are sold by the leading pattern makers.

The one-piece play dress is for the little girl who does not wear an apron. A very serviceable model is made without shoulder seams, with sleeves gathered into bands, and waistline outlined with a belt applied over a line of gathering which shapes the dress. This applied belt, of course, can be left off, and straps, through which a leather belt can be run, can be sewed on. The belt or straps, the cuffs and the collar, which can be either a turnback collar or an applied band, should be made of material contrasting to that of the frock. A blue and white striped gingham, with collar, cuffs and belt of plain blue linen, or of white pique, feather-stitched with blue, would be attractive.

This one-piece play dress is easily laundered and easily slipped on and off, and will save much laundering of more elaborate clothes, if it is systematically worn for play.

Some Cookery Suggestions

TOOTHSOME SCONES.

THE eyes of every Scotchman or Scotchwoman will brighten when you mention scones. Scones are one of the foods which he or she has been brought up on. Scones really are worthy of all praise, and the English serve them with their afternoon tea. It to know scones at their best have Scotch woman make them.

Mixed With Sour Cream.

There are various ways of mixing and baking scones, as follows:

Sour Cream Scones.—Take two eggs beat them to a froth and then beat in half a pint of sour cream. Then take a pound of flour, mix with it a very little salt and a dessertspoonful of baking powder. Sift well and rub in two ounces of butter, make a hole in the center and stir in the eggs and cream gradually.

Turn the mixture on a well floured board and knead until light and smooth. With a rolling pin roll to a paste half an inch thick, divide with a pastry cutter and place the scones on a greased baking pan in the oven. Bake, then split open, butter and serve.

Tempting Tea Cakes.

Scotch Scones.—Mix while dry one quart of sifted flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Then rub into it a tablespoonful of cold butter and a teaspoonful of salt. The butter should be well worked in. Add sweet milk to make a paste. Roll the paste about a quarter of an inch thick, using plenty of flour on the board and rolling thin. Cut into triangular pieces with each side about four inches long. Flour the sides and bottom of the baking pan and place the pieces on it. Bake immediately in a quick oven. When done brush over with sweet milk.

Made With Raisins.

English Tea Scones.—Take one cupful of flour, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar, one-half teaspoonful of soda, one-half teaspoonful of salt, four tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one-half cupful of raisins, one-eighth cupful of milk and one egg slightly beaten. Mix and sift ingredients and chop in butter, add raisins, egg and milk. Divide in two pieces. Pat each in the shape of a ball and flatten to the size of a plate. Cut into eighths. Lay on a buttered baking sheet and moisten tops. Bake quickly ten or fifteen minutes. These are also delicious toasted.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Tom Sawyer And His Fence.

Tom Was Whitewashing the Fence

JACK had been naughty one day—oh, very, very naughty! He had sulked and pouted when mother had wanted him to do something for her. So daddy to punish him wanted to tell the bedtime story to Evelyn alone. But Evelyn pleaded for him. So daddy said Jack might hear the story.

Daddy said: "Jack, you remind me of my old friend, Tom Sawyer. Did you ever hear of Tom Sawyer? No? Well, I'll tell you about him.

"Tom Sawyer is a boy in a book, one of the best books ever written for boys and for girls and grownup folks too. It was written by a man named Mark Twain, who was one of the most popular of American writers. 'Tom Sawyer' is one of his best known books.

"One Saturday morning, when the boys in Tom Sawyer's town generally went fishing, he wanted to go too. But his aunt, with whom he lived, had other plans. There was a fence which needed whitewashing. So she told Tom he could not go until the fence was done. But it was a long, big job for a boy, and Tom knew that if he whitewashed that old fence he'd never go fishing that day. And, of course, fishing is lots more fun than whitewashing a fence. He didn't dare to run away and go fishing, anyway, because if he did his aunt would whip him.

"But Tom thought of a fine scheme. When his chum came along with a fishing pole over his shoulder to ask Tom to go fishing he found Tom very busy whitewashing the fence—so busy that he paid no attention to his friend. He would put on a little of the whitewash and then stand off and look at his work very carefully and critically.

"'Want to go fishing, Tom?' said his friend.

"'Oh, no!' said Tom. 'This fence has to be done, and only a very, very careful person is allowed to do it. Aunt wouldn't trust everybody to do this fence.' And he went on whitewashing very busily.

"'Let me try it, Tom,' said his friend, forgetting all about fishing.

"'Oh, no,' said Tom; 'I couldn't! My aunt would be very angry if I let any one else touch this fence.' But his friend kept on begging and begging to be allowed to do some of the work, and at last Tom agreed to let him try. The other boy gave Tom his best fishhook for a chance at the fence.

"Well, by and by other boys came, and when they heard how carefully the fence had to be done they all begged for chances at it. They gave Tom their tops and their marbles and their fishhooks and everything else of which boys are fond just for chances to do Tom's work for him.

"And Tom just sat there in the shade and bossed the job. That fence got the best whitewashing it ever had—about half a dozen coats, I think—and Tom became rich. And when his aunt came out and saw how fine the fence looked she gave Tom some extra fine dainties for his luncheon."

SPRING CLEANING

Beds Should Be Taken Down and Thoroughly Washed and Aired.

WASH BLANKETS THIS WAY.

Be Careful Not to Wring Them Tight and Rinse Free From Soap—When Dry Do Not Hang Blankets Too Near the Fire, as They Shrink.

The beds should be taken to pieces and the frames or woodwork washed and carefully wiped. All the "comfortables" should be hung out of doors to be well aired. To wash the blankets first shake them well and then let them soak in warm water, if new add ing ammonia or a handful of borax previously dissolved to draw out the grease. Let them remain about fifteen minutes, then wring out and proceed with the washing.

Prepare water with soap jelly—the water must not be too hot, just comfortable for the hand to rest in—and there should be enough melted soap to make a good lather. Put the blankets in, one or two at a time, move them up and down, squeezing and pressing them; then put them in a second tub of the same kind of water to repeat the process.

Rinse well till free from soap and then wring. On no account wring tightly, or it will flatten the pile, and if the wringer is used let the rollers be as loose as possible. Shake the blankets well before hanging up to dry and hang them quite straight and singly on the clothes rope in a gentle wind. See that they are fastened securely and well raised above the ground.

When dry take them down, stretch them well and hang them near a fire for some time, as it is most important to have them dry.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

This is a very smart waist with tunic attachment. The overblouse is worn over a plain blouse, in which sleeves are inserted. In the illustration one material is used throughout, but something more of a guimpe effect can be obtained by making the sleeves of net or other thin material.

If the round neck is liked the little chemisette can be omitted and the sleeves made shorter, though long ones are smart. The blouse is closed at the front, the overwaist slightly at the left and the tunic at the left side seam.

For the medium size five yards of material twenty-seven inches wide will be required, with three-eighths yard of eighteen inch fabric for the chemisette.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7801, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send 4c additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

A "Different" Bathroom.

It was a pleasant surprise recently to find, instead of the conventional blue or green bathroom, a cozy room in yellow and brown. The woodwork was buff, and on the floor was a rich brown linoleum, covered with a brown and yellow rag carpet rug. The curtains were of ecru scrim and the bath mat a pretty yellow.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

Mother to Child.

Is there no way my life can save thine
from pain?
Is the love of a mother no possible gain?
No labor of Hercules, search for the Grail
No way for this wonderful love to avail;
God in Heaven, oh teach me.

My prayer has been answered. The pain thou must bear,
Is the pain of the world's life, which thy life must share.
Thou art one with the world, though
I love thee the best
And to save thee from pain I must save all the rest;
Well, with God's help, I'll do it!

Thou art one with the rest: I must love thee in them.
Thou wilt sin with the rest and thy mother must stem,
The world's sin. Thou wilt weep and thy mother must dry
The tears of the world, lest her darling should cry,
I will do it—God helping.

And I stand not alone. I will gather a band,
Of all loving mothers from land unto land,
Our children are part of the world.
Do ye hear?
They are one with the world. We must hold them all dear;
Love all for the child's sake,

For the sake of my child, I must hasten to save,
All the children of earth, from the birth to the grave;
For so and so only; I lighten the share;
Of the pain of the world that my darling must bear;
Even so and so only.

Irving-Jefferson Ass'n.

The Irving-Jefferson Association can show that it is in a flourishing condition, holding either a business or social meeting each month through the school year. A stereopticon purchased during the year has helped not only the teachers in illustrating their special subjects, but also providing entertainment for many evening meetings. Audubon societies have been established in several classes and now the social centre question is being discussed, also the lunch counter, both possibilities for the coming year.

April Aftermath.

The Plainfield Mothers' Association met at the home of the president, Mrs. G. S. Munro, on April 4, at 3:30 to listen to an address by H. C. Krebs on "The Needs of Rural Schools in Somerset County."

The High School Parent-Teacher Association met on the evening of April 3 to discuss with Principal L. M. Best "The Daily Program of the High School Pupil."

The annual meeting of the Bryant-Lincoln Parent-Teacher Association was held April 3 at 3:30, to elect officers for the coming year. Refreshments were served at the reception which followed. The Franklin-Stillman-Whittier Parent-Teacher Association met on April 10, at 3 p. m., to hear Miss Emily Gilbert, director of Social Centres in Elizabeth, on "Open School Houses."

The annual meeting of the Irving-Jefferson Parent-Teacher Association was held on April 10 at 3 p. m. Officers were elected and committees appointed for the ensuing year. A program of vocal and instrumental music followed.

Feebleindedness.

Professor E. R. Johnstone, of the State Training School of Vineland, spoke recently on "Institutions for the Feebleminded." He said in part: "Many years ago it was believed that the feebleminded could be so trained that they would become competent workers of society. At this time there is a gradual awakening to the fact that a very large percentage of the children now in special classes are not backward but actually feebleminded. It is difficult for parents and teachers to realize the true state of affairs because the child learns many new things. He is acquiring a larger number of facts but they are all on the same mental level. A feebleminded child of fourteen having the mental age of a normal child of six acquire nearly all of the mental activities of all six-year-old children, but he will never be able to do those things which a normal child of seven, eight or nine does. We must use the measuring scale, learn all we can of the possibilities of each mental age and train in such things as may be understood and used in later years. Our tests must be developed to make them more and more accurate and the activities of childhood must be recorded, translated and interpreted."

Very recently in Plainfield a girl of eighteen who has been in one of our institutions for sixteen years has been committed to Vineland Home for Feebleminded. After six months away from institutional care, a sad misfortune brought the necessary test which for her own sake and that of the community should have been made years ago. She should never have been allowed to face the world.

Child Welfare in Other Lands.

The Department of State, Washington, D. C., advises the Secretary of National Congress of Mothers that the department has received a dispatch from the American Minister in which he reports that the Guatemalan Minister for Foreign Affairs accepts the invitation to send delegates to the Child Welfare Conference of the Mothers Congress to be held in Boston in May, 1913, and will name them in due time.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

Quite the most impotant theatrical event of the week concerns the opening of H. H. Frazee's Longacre theatre, in Forty-eighth street, just west of Broadway, on Thusday evening, May 1, with "Are You a Crook?" a new farce in three acts by William J. Hurlbut and Frances Whitehouse. In "Are You a Crook?" Mr. Frazee has selected a genuinely funny farce, typifying in satire the many crook plays now current in New York and elsewhere. In spite of its title, however, there is not a crook, thief or dishonest person to be found in any one of the dozen characters created by the authors to tell their unique story. There is a detective, to be sure, and two policemen who figure slightly in one act, but beyond these the people in the play are drawn from types of smart society men and women. The cast itself is distinguished in comprising such well known players as Marguerite Clark, Elita Proctor Otis, Harry Barfoot and Malcolm Lang.

POSTMASTER A BRITON.

Madison, May 1.—Thomas Rawsthorne, of Green Village, near here, served four years as a postmaster there while he was a British subject. The fact became known yesterday when Rawsthorne got his final citizenship papers. He had thought he enjoyed citizenship after the first application.

MICHIGAN COACH HAS NEW METHOD

Players Wear Handcuffs While Practising Bunting —Does not Find Favor.

Handcuff baseball is the latest wrinkle that Coach Rickey has introduced into the training camp of the Michigan ball players. Strangely enough, the new game isn't finding favor with any one except the coach.

The game is played in the ordinary way, except the man at bat is handcuffed by tying two ropes on his wrists and attaching them to his belt. Then the coach tells him to bunt the ball, and woe betide him if the heave is high and he attempts to put the bat up into it. The ball simply whizzes by and the batter has his wrists properly jerked.

Rickey has been laboring with some of the squad all spring to keep them from bunting at high ones. He talked, cautioned and scolded with no success until he finally grew desperate. Way back in his kid days he had some remembrances of oil of cloves being applied to childish fingers at the nail-biting period, and he figured out the "handcuff" game on the same principle.

The coach says it will be sure to fix the boys and he allows that it is justifiable when a man can't seem to understand the English language and simply won't force himself to pass the high throws. The players think differently about it. While they admit that it is likely to cure them, the idea of being fettered like infants doesn't appeal to them. Several stood outside the cage recently and watched Rickey put the braceelts on one man. They didn't say much, but rather smiled and then sympathized with the offender. Finally one broke the silence:

"I'd hate to have my hands tied," he said, "I want to be free to duck."

ATHLETES IN KINEMACOLOR.

Kinemacolor photographed the annual Athletic Games of the University of Pennsylvania at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, and secured some splendid motion pictures in natural colors of the various events, including W. Moore, of DeWitt Clinton High School, winning the one-mile High School championship relay race, with the Erasmus Hall High School of Brooklyn, finishing second. Russell L. Beatty, of Columbia, is shown clinching his Intercollegiate championship with a shot-put only two feet behind his 1912 record, while A. Richards, of Brigham Young University, winner of the Olympic championship last year, does a six foot running high jump on the film. A panorama of the field, with Pennsylvania students singing, gives a real collegiate scene-setting to the pictures.

KERSHAW RECOVERS AND WHIFFS 14 MEN

Somerville Twirler Holds Leals to Two Hits—Final Score Was 12 to 4.

Kershaw's twirling after a shaky initial frame, was the direct cause of the Leal School baseball team's humiliation on Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon, the local private school lads losing out by a tally card of twelve runs against four. Erratic fielding on the part of both teams was largely responsible for the frequent scoring, especially on the part of the visitors, who registered twelve times, the runs coming in bunches in the second, third, fourth and fifth innings. Shepherd, who succeeded Voorhees on the mound in the sixth session, did a pretty piece of twirling during his regime before the footlights, holding the Somerset county sluggers hitless for four rounds.

During Voorhees' stay on the hill he was touched up frequently and collectively, the eleven hits garnered from his offerings resulting in an even dozen tallies. Ten errors were made behind the Leal moundsmen, however, and these to some extent were the cause of the one-sided decision. Kershaw twirled masterful ball after the stormy reception he received when the private school boys went to the bat for the first time and came back with a trio of counters, and during the remaining eight innings he held the opposing batsmen hitless and but one run was pushed across the rubber. The only way that the locals could get a berth on the cushions was through Kershaw's free passes and he issued ten of these with apparent good judgment.

After the first inning the whole visiting contingent pulled together better and the result was a tight contest from then on, the Somervillians rapidly decreasing the lead that the Plainfielders had gained and then flashed to the lead never to be headed. Little "Peanut" Stewart and Dale were the only two Leal players to chalk up hits, while Shomp, Norton and Hamilton proved to be wizards along that line for the visitors. Besides holding the shoots of Kershaw to perfection for nine innings, Shomp annexed three hits, two of them two baggers, and also contributed four errors by way of variety. Dickerson, Lyon and Voorhees put up erratic games for the home nine, and some of their misplays were the direct result of over-anxiousness and entirely inexcusable.

CLABBY AND McGOORTY.

Denver, Col., May 1.—Jimmy Clabby and Eddie McGoorty have completed their work of preparation and are ready for the gong to start them on their ten-round contest tomorrow night. The fight which will go a long way towards determining the dispute over the middleweight championship, has excited the keenest possible interest among the Denver sporting fraternity and a record-breaking crowd is expected to be at the ringside. Reports issued from their respective training quarters today indicate that both of the fighters are in excellent physical condition. According to the articles of agreement the men will tip the scales at 158 pounds at 6 o'clock tomorrow night.

KILBANE AND DUNDEE AT REQUIRED WEIGHT

JOHN DUNDEE

Never were two boxers in better condition for a championship fight than "Johnny" Kilbane, the featherweigh champion, and "Johnny" Dundee, from New York. According to the announcements made at the different training quarters there is not the slightest doubt that Kilbane and Dundee are at the required weight of 122 pounds.

TOMMY MULLIN WITH NEW LEAGUE IN OPENING GAME

Following his release to the Brunswick, Georgia, baseball team, Tommy Mullin, the local shortstop who was trying out with the Winston-Salem aggregation of the Carolina League, will start the season at short for the Brunswick combination today when the new league's schedule, of which that team is a member, opens up. Brunswick is listed as one of the six cities of southern Georgia in the new Empire State League and will start its first pennant race going today.

The other cities in the league are Thomasville, Americus, Valdosta, Waycross and Cordele, and the schedule calls for a season of ninety games, with August 12 as the closing date. Mullin has been selected as the regular man for the shortfield berth by the Brunswick papers, and it is more than likely that he will be used in the initial game today.

THREE TEAMS WITHDRAW FROM CENTRAL LEAGUE

Manager Joe Alberts, of the Scotch Plains baseball team, has announced that his aggregation will not be one of the contenders for the Central New Jersey League championship this season because of the fact that it is practically impossible for him to gather together a team of representative strength in Scotch Plains, as most of the players in that town work Saturday afternoons and could therefore only play Sunday ball.

Les Dodge's Elizabeth delegation has returned an unsigned contract, while New Brunswick announced its withdrawal through Manager J. F. Nee. The Central New Jersey League will now be continued as a four team organization.

INTERSTATE LEAGUE OPENS.

Columbus, O., May 1.—This was the opening day of the season in the Interstate Baseball League, a practically new organization in the territory formerly occupied by the eastern end of the Central League. The circuit comprises six of the old Central League cities, namely, Akron, Zanesville, Youngstown, Canton, Erie and Wheeling. The addition of Columbus and Steubenville gives the organization an eight-hole course. The Columbus team will play on the American Association grounds when the A. A. team is away from home, which will give this city continuous baseball through the season. The managers engaged to pilot the Interstate clubs are: Akron, John Siegel, formerly of the Cincinnati Reds; Zanesville, Marty Hogan; Youngstown, Charley Blout; Canton, Bade Meyers; Erie, Larry Quinlan; Wheeling, J. Robinson; Columbus, Lee Fohl and Steubenville, Roy Montgomery. Several of the cities in the league were hard hit by the recent floods, but despite this fact all of the club owners believe that the outlook is bright for a successful season and an interesting race for the pennant. The season will close September 16.

N. P. H. S. PRACTISE GAME.

Manager Newton Spencer, of the North Plainfield High School baseball team, signed up a practise game with the Watchung A. C., this morning and the contest is being played on Hyde Oval this afternoon. Owing to the cancellation by Bernardsville yesterday afternoon, Spencer thought it advisable to book another attraction in preparation for the interscholastic clash with Plainfield next Saturday afternoon at Hyde Oval.

CRANFORDITES LET OFF ON SHORT TERM

Visitors Return to Home Bushes After Providing Locals With Curvology.

Although Manager Joe Sattels, of the Plainfield High School baseball team, had a ball team scheduled to show on Parker Field yesterday afternoon, the nine players who put in appearance were novices at the diamond game, playing aces in every inning with the exception of the sixth and the seventh, the dying rallies. A total of twenty-four runs romped across the platter during the sessions the Plainfield boys held the willow, while the results of strenuous efforts put forth by the visitors netted them two tallies. The whole affair transpired out of the greenness of the Cranford High School products, who made a manifesto to the effect that they had been robbed of seven of the eight ball players the school has had enrolled during the decade, through graduation, which is considerable of a nuisance to a school as far as athletics are concerned.

Plainfield's playing did not produce any budding symptoms of championship stuff and the local celebrities will have to put up a vastly different game against N. P. H. S. Saturday afternoon in order to have even a look-in. While the "Devil's Ball" part of the contest was played by the Cranford comedians, the locals did their share of beating the pellet and but for the morose condition of the visiting contingent would not have been so far in the wake at the completion of the seven innings of play. Thanks to the "excuse me but this will be the last time" politeness of Morris, the Cranford backstop, the P. H. S. rubber throwers did a Paul Revere around the bases and had force not been curtailed in the stretch stanza they might have even duplicated the famous historical character's feat of "Reverening" around the cushions in the darkness of the night.

While Sminck's knowledge of curvology was sufficient to pull him through the trap unscathed he stood in his chucks on several different occasions and but for the mean way in which the Plainfielders took advantage of the kindergarten baseball exhibited by the visitors might have lent a tinge of closeness to the battle.

While Sminck's south-paw bone was erratic enough to hold the visitors to a minus quantity of bingles, at times it was also erratic and seven men reached the first station via the fourth ball route. Once on base, however, they were easily disposed of by the P. H. S. infielders and most of the batters popped easy flies or short grounders.

Many substitutes were given an opportunity to shine in debutes in the one-sided contest and for a most part the second string men exhibited a favorable brand of the National pastime. Rosenson and Peacock did the best clouting for the winners, each fattening up his batting average to the extent of a quartet of the safe kind.

PITCHES 41 INNINGS AT COST OF ONE RUN

Walter, the Wizard, surnamed Johnson, of the tribe of Griffith, is making a wonderful record on the peak this season. His shutout of the Athletics yesterday was the third time in succession that he has gone through nine innings without being scored on. He blanked the New Yorks, then the Bostons, then the Athletics. The only run made off him was made by the New Yorks in the first inning of the opening game in Washington, and he has pitched thirty-five consecutive innings without a single opponent reaching the plate. He pitched five innings against the Giants on April 7, so that in his forty-one innings of smoke disbursement this year he has permitted only a solitary tally.

OUTFIELDER MILLER GOES TO LEAGUE COMBINATION

"Katz" Miller, the well-known ball player of this city, yesterday received an offer from the Danbury Club of the recently organized New York and New Jersey Interstate baseball league, to play an outfield position on the league aggregation. Miller will accept the offer and will report to the club May 10.

Although Miller's baseball career has been an unusually varied one, he is considered to be one of the best outfielders in this vicinity and is also a twirler of no mean ability. During the last few years he has played with the Plainfield A. C., the West End A. C., Scotch Plains and other teams of like strength in this section. This year he has been trying out for a berth on the Plainfield nine of the Central New Jersey League and was considered a sure member of the local combination.

UMPIRES TO BE DECORATED.

In addition to white uniforms which it has been announced umpires in the American League are to wear on gala occasions, such as the presence of the President of the United States at a game, President B. B. Johnson said last night that he had planned further decorations for his arbiters. The latest decorative effect will serve a double purpose of ornament and showing spectators how long the umpires have been in the service of the league. Thus one braid on the sleeve will mean that he has been in service for one year; two braids, two years, and so on until five years are reached, when a gold star will replace the five braids. Braids will be added to the star until ten years are reached, when two stars will be the insignia. Tom Connolly will be entitled to wear two stars and two braids, indicating that he has been an umpire since 1901, a year after the league was organized.

MISS RAMONA BORDEN TO LEAVE SOON FOR SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., WITH MOTHER TAKES BLAME FOR MYSTERIOUS FLIGHT

RAMONA BORDEN

Miss Ramona Borden, the seventeen-year-old daughter of Gail Borden, the condensed milk manufacturer, who ran away from Dr. Adams' sanitarium at Pompton Lakes, N. J., last week, and was finally found in Boston by her father, is to leave next Saturday for San Francisco, Cal., to remain there indefinitely. Miss Borden, who is in poor health, denies emphatically that she was spirited away by Mrs. William J. White, wife of a millionnaire chewing gum manufacturer. Miss Borden takes full blame for her mysterious

THOMAS JEFFERSON MEMORIAL CEREMONY

Martine Among Those at Dedication Exercises at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., May 1.—The magnificent Jefferson memorial, erected in commemoration of Thomas Jefferson and of the acquisition of the Louisiana Territory during Jefferson's administration as president of the United States, was yesterday formally dedicated in the presence of a most distinguished company. The dedication ceremonies were most impressive and elaborate.

The international and national appreciation of the significance of the dedication of this memorial, commemorating the greatest peaceable acquisition of territory in the history of the world, was abundantly proved by the presence at the exercises as participants in the program, of a delegation of United States Senators and Representatives, members of the foreign diplomatic corps resident in Washington, the governors or their appointees from all of the States embraced in the Louisiana Purchase, and a long list of distinguished men and women who have gathered in St. Louis from all sections of the country to attend the American Peace Congress, which is to begin its sessions today.

The day's program was divided into two parts; in the early afternoon were held the actual ceremonies attending the formal dedication, when speeches were made by eminent officials and individuals. The ceremonies were initiated with the unveiling of the Thomas Jefferson statue, which occupies a conspicuous position in the rotunda of the memorial hall. Former Governor David R. Francis, as president of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company, made an address presenting the memorial to the City of St. Louis, and Henry W. Kiel, as mayor, responded. These were followed by several orations on the life and services of Thomas Jefferson and the importance of the purchase of the Louisiana Territory. United States Senator James E. Martine, of Plainfield, N. J., was among the guests.

The second part of the program consisted of an "educational" parade, which started immediately after the literary exercises were concluded. In line were troops from Jefferson Barracks, the National Guard and Naval Reserves, Boy Scouts, cadets and students from military academies and colleges throughout the middle West and delegations representing numerous patriotic societies and civic organizations. Brig. Gen. E. J. Spencer, of the National Guard of Missouri, was the grand marshal of the parade.

The memorial is in the form of a great hall, more than 300 feet in length and constructed entirely of stone and marble. It occupies a conspicuous site near the entrance to Forest Park. The building will be used to house a library and relics, interesting from an historical standpoint, of the Louisiana Purchase and of the history of the geat section of country embraced in the Louisiana Territory. The memorial was built with a fund of about $500,000, which was left from the receipts of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition held in St. Louis in 1904.

THOMAS JEFFERSON MEMORIAL DEDICATED.

THOMAS JEFFERSON MEMORIAL AT ST. LOUIS.

The Thomas Jefferson Memorial, erected on the site of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis at a cost of $450,000, was dedicated on the one hundred and tenth anniversary of the signing of the Louisiana purchase in the presence of a delegation from Congress and thousands of persons from far and near.

PLAINFIELD Y. M. H. A. TO HAVE A BALL TEAM

The local Y. M. H. A. will be represented on the baseball diamond by a strong aggregation, that decision having been made at a meeting last night at the headquarters in Grove street. Nathan Hollender was chosen to manage the aggregation, and Jacob Abrams, the heavy hitting center-fielder of the North Plainfield High School nine, was selected as captain.

The first game of the season will be played Sunday afternoon, May 11, in Somerville, their opponents to be the Y. M. H. A. ball-tossers of that place.

MONROES ISSUE CHALLENGE.

Manager Charles Cullen, of the Monroe A. C. baseball team, wants to arrange games with other teams averaging 18 years in age, and would be glad to get into communication with a local game booker having open dates to offer. This is the fifth consecutive season the Monroes have adorned local sand lots and the combination is faster and better than the previous ones. The team will be selected from the following material: Catchers, Anderson and Morley; pitchers, Healy and J. Smith; first base, Fitzgerald; second base, Dan Cregar; third base, Cullen; shortstop, McClinton and Walsh; outfielders, White, Servis McClinton and Traynor; mascots, Sullivan and Hickey. Address all communications to C. V. Cullen, manager, 1001 South Second street, or 'Phone 71-W.

SHAMROCK'S SUNDAY GAME.

On Sunday the Shamrocks will journey to Bound Brook where they will play the West Ends, of that place, the first of a series of three games. The probable lineup will be Darling or Doyle, catcher; Stites or Smith, pitcher; Taynor or Miller, first base; Trotter, second base; Dip Smith, third base; Deady, shortstop; J. Smith or Blake, left field; Crook, center field, and Kane, right field. The Shamrocks will leave for Bound Brook on the 1:30 trolley.

FOR BALL TEAM.

The Y. M. H. A. will hold a dance Sunday night, May 11, in its rooms in Grove street, for the benefit of the baseball team which was organized last night. At last night's meeting, Nathan Hollander and Jacob Abrams were elected manager and captain respectively. Seven new candidates were also initiated into membership.

NETHERWOODS WANT GAMES.

Manager Vincent Mallin, of the Netherwood Juniors, would like to arrange games with other junior teams in this city ranging in age from 15 to 18 years. Write him at his home, 183 North avenue, or 'phone 217.

MONROE AVENUE CAPTAIN.

Preparations are being made by the Monroe Avenue M. E. baseball team for the opening of the Sunday-school Baseball league and at a meeting held Tuesday night, the members of the combination selected to represent that Bible school elected Eddie Gunzelman to lead the team on the field once more this year. Gunzelman was captain of the successful 1912 aggregation.

GOLF SEASON OPENS SATURDAY.

The active golf season will be inaugurated at both the Plainfield Country Club and the Park Golf Club on Saturday. At the former club there will be a "ringer" competition, continuing throughout the season; also an opening day handicap, 18 holes, medal play event for both classes. At the Park Golf Club there will be an 18 hole competition.

RITTER HAS SORE ARM.

Fred Ritter, the husky twirler, who adorned the Plainfield baseball club's mound on several different occasions last season, who is now with the Baltimore club in the International League, will probably pitch his first game the latter part of this week. He has been suffering with a sore arm which has prevented him from doing duty before.

SPEEDY INFIELDER WANTS JOB.

One of Plainfield's fastest scholastic players, a catcher of unusual ability and speedy infielder is looking for a chance to play Saturday afternoon ball with some fast amateur or semi-professional aggregation in the vicinity of Plainfield. He is a consistent hitter and fast all around player. For further information, address, the sporting editor of this paper.

PRINTERS COST CONGRESS.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 1.—More than a thousand printers from various sections of this State, the Dakotas, Montana, Iowa, Wisconsin, Alberta and Saskatchewan are in attendance at the Cost Congress which opened here today at the Radisson Hotel under the auspices of the Minnesota organization of the Ben Franklin Club. The Congress, which will remain in session three days, was called to order today by the president, E. K. Whiting, of Ovatonna. The object of the gathering is to discuss the best methods of saving expenses and increasing the profits of the printing business.

THREE GERMAN FAIRS.

Berlin, May 1.—Three great fairs began today in which Americans have shown much interest. At Leipsic the International Building Exposition opened with a number of American booths in the exhibit. At Cologne the city exposition has attracted many tourists, while the Horticultural exposition at Breslau, in honor of the centennial of the War of Freedom, is interesting horticulturists from all parts of the world.

FROM ONE HORSE TO ONE THOUSAND

One of the great advantages of Central Station Electric Power is its flexibility.

A manufacturer does not have to add to his investment for engines and boilers every time he needs additional power. Nor does he have an investment lying idle or part of his plant non-productive when his power load drops temporarily.

With Central Station Electric Power one can have as much or as little power as he wants and have it when he wants it. There is no waste.

Last year we connected on our power lines the equivalent of 16,430 H. P. in motors.

We can also serve you satisfactorily.

GOVERNOR REFRIGERATORS
APARTMENT HOUSE STYLE.

With the Apartment House Style Refrigerators you ice them from the front instead of the top—an advantage that a great many folks like.

These particular refrigerators are those that were slightly marred in transportation, the white enameling on the outside being injured. The inside is perfect in every way; the food chambers are of seamless steel, enameled, the most sanitary kind of an interior for a refrigerator. Having the dry air circulation scheme, these refrigerators are great ice savers. Undoubtedly you will be glad to buy them at these low prices.

Fabric Cord Tyres

A Radically New Principle

A Cord Fabric Tyre with the Cords running radially to the wheel. This means across the tyre—This we accomplish by a new process. No hooks in the Bead. Each fibre insulated in rubber. No fabric friction possible. Therefore it cannot HEAT. It is RESILIENT. It is FAST. The results are remarkable in ease of riding and great mileage.

We predict that at least 50% of all tyres made next year will be built by our process. Buy one tyre and be convinced now. We have something the other fellows cannot give you.

We spent several hundred thousand dollars to develop and perfect this idea and want the public to benefit from this really great improvement in pneumatic tyres. Sooner or later you will try Fabric Cord Tyres. Why not now?

PLAN A COMBINE OF CIVIC BODIES

Chamber of Commerce Starts Movement to Unite With Various Similar Societies.

ADVERTISING AWARDS

Prize Winners in Contest to Be Announced on Monday Night—Committee on Garbage Collection is Ready to Report.

A movement was started at the regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held in the chamber's rooms last night to consolidate the numerous local civic bodies for the promotion of the city's interests in general. Ever since the organization of the West End and East End Civic Associations, the Netherwood Property Owners' Association, the Property Owners' Protective Association and various other bodies there has been an agitation for some sort of concentration whereby the influence of the individual associations may be brought to bear unitably on any question taken under consideration. Ways and means of bringing the associations under one head were discussed and it is likely that some definite steps will be taken before the next meeting of the chamber to unite the civic groups as one active organization which will probably be known as the Chamber of Commerce.

Reports received from the chairmen of the various committees of the chamber appointed to investigate the questions taken up by the organization showed activity and it is now planned to bring several important matters to the attention of the Common Council at its next meeting. Those in charge of the garbage disposal investigation reported that they had visited and collected a large amount of data from other cities in the same class as Plainfield and would present their findings, together with certain recommendations, to the city fathers.

A final meeting of the committee in charge of the advertising campaign which conducted the slogan contest here some time ago will be held Monday night and at that time the winners of the three prizes will be announced. The committee on lighting stated that it had been active since last month's meeting, visiting several cities studying the lighting methods employed, and were rapidly assuming the necessary data.

ACCEPTS CALL TO QUAKER CITY CHURCH

On Eve of Departure Rev. Mr. Currier Receives Purse of Gold.

Rev. John G. Currier, until recently curate at Grace Episcopal church, has accepted a call to the Church of the Advocate, Philadelphia, where he will be assistant to the rector, Rev. Henry M. Medary. He will assume his duties next Sunday.

In recognition of the esteem in which he is held here, a large purse of gold was presented to Rev. Mr. Currier yesterday by parisioners of Grace church. The contributions were spontaneous, no solicitation by any of his friends having been made. A handsome volume containing the list of the large number of contributors, accompanied the purse.

Rev. Mr. Currier was curate at Grace church for eighteen months, coming here from Milton, Vermont. During his stay here, the clergyman has made many warm friends not only in the parish but in the community generally. His successor here is Rev. Harris Rush, until recently at Linden, N. J.

BRIGHTSIDE CIRCLE ELECTS.

The Brightside Circle of The King's Daughters held its annual meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. C. PAID SUPERVISOR FOR RECREATION

That's the Plan of the Social and Educational Work Committee.

APPOINTMENTS MADE

Membership of General Committee is Enlarged—May Use Motion Pictures—Some Good Reports Are Received.

Plans for widening the scope of the social and educational work which has been started in the Plainfield public schools, together with a consideration of a constitution, prepared by a special committee, which was adopted and the necessity for employing a paid supervisor for this work, and engaging paid music, were among the important things discussed at a meeting of the Recreation Committee, which was recently appointed to look after this work.

G. Stuart Simons, as chairman of the general committee, presided at the meeting. Perhaps one of the most interesting features of the meeting was the report of the visiting committee, comprising Champlain L. Riley, Mrs. Francis deLacy Hyde, Mrs. Percy H. Stewart and Arthur B. Jones, which visited the public schools of New York, the Oranges, Montclair and other cities. All of the best features of the work in these schools were used for a constitution to be used for the guidance of the work in Plainfield. The constitution is very complete and covers every possible condition that might arise in connection with carrying on the social and educational work in the local schools. Already there has been inquiries from similar organizations in other cities who want to obtain a copy of the constitution.

The importance of having a paid supervisor was emphasized last night. While the members of the committee are willing to assist in every way possible they cannot devote the necessary time to the work and efforts will be made to employ someone who can. The committee desires to make use of motion pictures as a means of education and in giving the dances in the schools it is realized that some plan for hiring music must be adopted. The committee appreciates the appropriation of $500 made by the Common Council for this work, and hopes that another year a larger sum may be available.

Informal reports were received of the progress of the work at the Washington School, where dances are held on Friday night for the colored people and on Saturday night for white people. The results thus far are gratifying, according to the reports.

The general committee added to its list of members last night, Mayor Percy H. Stewart, Dr. H. M. Maxson, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, Herbert E. Parker, secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; George S. Clay, president of the Common Council; Councilman Charles C. Randolph, chairman of the finance committee, and William S. Tyler, of the Board of Education. It is planned to have as members of this committee, the Mayor, president of the Common Council, chairman of the Councilmanic finance committee and general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., whoever they may be, and the work is to be equally divided among the members of the committee.

Mr. Simons appointed these committees to serve for the coming year:

Finance, Mrs. Percy H. Stewart Mrs. Francis deLacy Hyde, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, Mrs. John G. MacLaughlin; dances and lectures, Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Champlain L. Riley, Miss Edith Mellick, Mrs. J. B. Smith, Mrs. Stephen H. Voorhees; clubs, Champlain L. Riley, Samuel Rothberg, Mrs. W. H. P. Veysey, Mrs. George O. Stevens, Mrs. H. D. Corbusier; law Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., W. M. Sandford, Jr., and Mrs. C. G. Munro. The executive committee comprises the officers: President, G. Stuart Simons; vice president, Mrs. Francis deLacy Hyde; secretary, W. H. P. Veysey; treasurer, Mrs. H. D. Corbusier, and H. W. Marshall, Mrs. Champlain L. Riley and Mrs. G. Stuart Simons. The committee on music comprises Miss Edith Mellick, S. T. Carter, Jr., and Mrs. J. E. Kimball. The next meeting of the committee will be held on Thursday night, June 12.

BOARD OF TRADE IS 'ON THE JOB'

Newly-organized Civic Society Gets Busy at its First Regular Meeting.

IT HAS 100 MEMBERS

Places Ban On Advertising That Does Not Pay—Committee On "Clean-up" Named—The May Session to Be a "Round-up" Meeting.

Active steps to compel the cleaning up of back yards and other spots in the city, an investigation of alleged improper conduct at the dances at a social centre which has been established in the Washington School, the placing of a ban on indiscriminate advertising, and the decision to hold an open meeting early in June to which similar organizations will be invited were the matters which occupied the time of the members of the rejuvenated Plainfield Board of Trade at the meeting held last night in the Sebring Building on West Front street. There was also a discussion as to the needs of public comfort stations in Plainfield the lack of such, especially on Sundays, being emphasized.

The subject of cleaning up back yards was brought up through reference to an editorial in the Plainfield Daily Press calling attention to the menacing conditions as to fire and health in several parts of the city and the attitude taken by this paper was commended by President Jeffery. It was decided to ask a committee of the board, headed by Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, to take up the matter and try to devise some effective method to bring about the cleaning up of these danger spots.

President Jeffery said that com-

LOCAL WOMEN WILL MARCH IN PARADE

Plainfielders to Participate in Suffrage Demonstration in New York Tomorrow.

The New Jersey women who plan to take part in the big suffrage parade in New York, tomorrow afternoon, will be given a prominent place in the line owing to the fact that New Jersey like New York is a campaign State. It is expected that between 600 and 700 women from New Jersey will join in the parade and among those from Plainfield will be Mrs. Edward F. Feickert, State president; Mrs. Champlain L. Riley, the local president of the equal suffrage league; Mrs. Laura Dorr, Mrs. Francis E. DuBois, Mrs. Isaac Schwed, Mrs. E. H. Mumford, Mrs. Arthur B. Jones, Miss Harriett French, Miss Thompson and Miss Katharine Ball. Miss Ball will carry the banner.

The New Jersey women will meet at Fifth avenue and West Twelfth street, where the parade will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock. They have adopted as a regalia a white dress, with yellow shoulder sash and yellow ribbon bearing the words, "Votes for Women," and white straw hats with yellow ribbon. They have engaged a large brass band and several fife and drum corps.

There will be large delegations from Montclair, Jersey City, Newark, the Oranges, Elizabeth as well as Plainfield and each one will display a fine local banner. All women who are interested in the suffrage movement are urged to join the parade whether they have a uniform or not.

TESTIMONIAL DINNER FOR HENRY RUMMEL

Henry Rummel, of Craig place, for nearly a quarter of a century a member of the Gesang and Turn Verein and who has been living for the past two years in Denver, Col., was tendered a testimonial dinner last night in Saengerbund Hall by that organization. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the association joined in the merrymaking. Following a general social time supper was served at 10 o'clock. Adolph Luthman acted as toastmaster and made appropriate remrks. Mr. Rummel responded.

Concert music was furnished by an orchestra which later supplied dance music when the scene of festivities reverted to the main auditorium. Among those who arranged last night's affair were Mr. Luthman, Frank Jellig and Adolph Barry.

WILSON PLEADS FOR JURY REFORM

President Cheered When He Holds "Jim" Nugent up to Public Scorn.

ADVISES M'LOUGHLIN

Tells Union County Assemblymen He is in Bad Company and as An Honest Man Should Support the Favored Measure.

James R. Nugent, of Essex county, close political ally of James Smith, of Newark, in what has long been known as the Smith-Nugent machine in Jersey politics, was bitterly denounced and held up to scorn by the President in his address before nearly 4,000 men and women who crowded into the Elizabeth Armory last night to hear him after his Newark speech.

The President was greeted with great applause when he asserted that he was glad to be back to fight in the cause of the people for the jury reform legislation. Then he mentioned the name of Mr. Nugent, and the cheers changed like magic to hisses, which continued until President Wilson raised his hand for silence.

"I don't know whether those hisses are for me or for Jim Nugent," he exclaimed, "but I hand them over to Jim Nugent, to whom they belong; a sinister private agent, openly and shamelessly conducting the affairs of

ROB'T I. RUNYON SAVES BABY FROM DROWNING

Attracted from his work in the Woodhull & Martin store this morning by the frantic cries of a woman in the rear of the building, Robert I. Runyon rushed from the place to find a baby boy in the waters of Greenbrook where he has been accidentally thrown from a baby carriage in which he was being wheeled by his two year old brother. Mr. Runyon waded into the stream and carried the infant to the shore.

The children are of Italian parentage and their home is in the apartments in the rear of the Y. M. C. A. The older boy takes the infant out for a carriage ride each morning and this morning while going along the banks of Greenbrook the light baby carriage struck a snag running along the edge of the water and was overturned letting the baby fall into about two feet of water. A profusion of clothes and blankets held the infant on the surface for the time being and the older child ran crying to the home of Mrs. Matthew Coon nearby, and she shouted for help.

Although terribly frightened the baby soon recovered from the shock and is now none the worse for the cold bath.

KING'S DAUGHTERS CIRCLES TO HOLD YEARLY SESSION

The annual meeting of the City Union of The King's Daughters will be held in Vincent chapel of the First M. E. church Thursday afternoon, May 8, at 3 o'clock, when officers will be elected and reports will be presented. A number of changes in the officers is expected. The union has decided to carry on its summer work for the sick children as before, arrangements having been made to care for the children at The Day Nursery, except in cases of severe illness, when other arrangements will be made.

During April 469 children were cared for at the nursery on several days there being thirty-six for the matron to look after. On a number of occasions there were from eight to ten babies under one year of age at the nursery. The diet kitchen will be maintained beginning with June.

A SMALL FIRE.

An alarm of fire turned in by Trolley Inspector Hugh Higgins from box 34, situated at Liberty and Fifth streets, brought the fire department last night to the home of Mrs. Susan Kline, colored, of 128 West Fourth street, where a slight blaze was in progress. Higgins was passing the Kline home about 7:30 o'clock when he heard cries of "fire" coming from within and hastened to the box a short way from the house. The Kline family were eating supper when a lamp in the middle of the dining-room table was accidentally overturned, setting fire to the tablecloth. The blaze was extinguished with chemicals, little damage resulting.

James F. Devine, of Fanwod, an inspector of ties for the New Jersey Central, has gone to Brunswick, Ga., on business for the company.

TEMPLARS AT CHURCH SERVICE

Trinity Commandery Observes Ascension Day at Church of the Heavenly Rest.

2 CLERGYMEN SPEAK

The Rector, Rev. Cortland H. Mallery, praises Order's Purposes—Rev. R. T. Walker Preaches the Sermon.

Ascension Day was observed last night at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, where Trinity Commandery, No. 17, Knights Templar, in full uniform, attended a service. Members of the Men's Association of the parish were also present in large numbers.

The service was opened with a violin selection, "Largo," by Handel, admirably rendered by Arthur Mosher, accompanied on the organ by Wendel C. Glover, organist of the church. The order of service included addresses by Rev. C. H. Mallery, the rector; sermon by Rev. Robert T. Walker, rector of St. Andrew's church, of Brooklyn; violin selections by Mr. Glover, "Ave Maria," by Gounod, and "The Heavens are Telling," by Handel, and a vocal duo by F. C. Wills, Jr., and J. A. Babcock.

Rev. Mr. Mallery, who welcomed the Templars to his church, spoke of the organization as one founded to defend the Christian religion against the assaults of its enemies and designed to guard the lives of pilgrims on their way to the shrines of the Holy land. He said their organization was needed today to defend and uphold the ideals of Christ in order that the great blessings of Christianity might be preserved and handed down to posterity.

HE FELL FROM BLDG. AND FELL IN LOVE

Frank H. McInerney, Jr.,'s Romance Began When He Was Taken to Hospital.

If a man who fell between the beams of a house in the course of construction was taken to a hospital and his injuries caused him to have appendicitis, and then several months afterwards told you that he was glad he had the fall, you would think he had gone suddenly mad, wouldn't you? But not so with Frank H. McInerney, Jr., of Lexon avenue, this city.

Mr. McInerney, Jr., is employed by his father in the mason contracting business and while at work on a dwelling being built on Cedar Brook Terrace last February he slipped and fell from the second story beams. He was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital where his injuries resulted in appendicitis. Miss Elizabeth Florence Duff, of Port Richmond, Staten Island, who will be graduated this month from the Nurses' Training School, connected with the local hospital, was his nurse. Today they announced their engagement. They will be married in June.

Miss Duff is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Duff, of Port Richmond, Staten Island.

FRANK FLETCHER, JR., BECOMES A BENEDICT

Miss Ethel Thoms, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Thoms, of Herkimer street, Brooklyn, and Frank Fletcher, Jr., son of Rev. and Mrs. Frank Fletcher, of this city, were married at 7 o'clock, last night, at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Mr. Fletcher officiated. An informal reception followed, after which the couple left on a wedding trip. They will reside in Brooklyn on their return.

The bride is widely-known in Brooklyn, being socially prominent. Her father is a prominent physician. Mr. Fletcher is engaged in the wholesale clothing business and travels extensively throughout the country.

ST. JOSEPH'S FESTIVAL.

Arrangements have been completed for an Irish dance program to be held in connection with the St. Joseph's festival on Friday night, May 16, in the old church, and Professor Buckley, of Bayonne, a professional entertainer, has been secured to take charge of the terpischore part of the festival. The first floor of the church will be devoted to this amusement while Suhr's orchestra will render the dance music for the dancers on the second floor.

Y. W. C. A. DINNER WELL ATTENDED

One Hundred and Sixty Members Gather for the Annual Feast.

MRS. MEAD PRESIDES

Following the Repast and Speeches, An Entertainment is Enjoyed by the Guests—It Was a "May Day" Party.

Over 160 members of the Y. W. C. A. attended its annual dinner at the institution last night and the success of the event surpassed all anticipations. It was a "May Day Banquet" and while covers were originally laid for 150 guests, a great many more announced their intention of being in attendance at the last moment and the reservations had to be increased accordingly. The parlors were profusely decorated with cut flowers and the color scheme was also to be found at the tables where there were the favors at each guest's place. In one room the junior department members banqueted. There the decorations were tulips. At the speaker's table were May bells and other early summer blossoms.

Following the dinner a program of singing, instrumental music and games was enjoyed. Each department was introduced by means of a toast, the speakers being called upon by Mrs. Frderick G. Mead, who acted as toastmaster. The following departments were represented in the speechmaking: Physical department, by "Johnny Jump Up;" domestic art department by "Pine Needles;" domestic science department, by "Butter Cups;" Bible Class and Missionary Study department, by "Lilies;" camp fire girls, by "Indian Pinks;" first aid to the injured class, by "Bleeding Hearts;" junior department, by "Morning Glory," and the Glee Club, by "Tulips."

Following each toast members of the department represented responded with a song and brought their floral contributions to the association May basket, which was filled to over-flowing at the conclusion of the exercises. As a concluding number the whole association joined in singing the Y. W. C. A. song.

MISS CARPENTER TO SPEAK ON SUFFRAGE

Miss Milholland and Colby and Ackerman Also to Urge "Votes for Women."

William L. Saunders, who has charge of the arrangements for the suffrage mass meeting to be held at the Plainfield theatre on Friday night, May 16, has secured as an additional speaker, Miss Alice Carpenter, of Boston, who will talk on "Some Objections to Woman Suffrage." Miss Carpenter is well-known here, where she has spoken on the suffrage question.

As previously announced other speakers will be Miss Inez Milholland, of New York; Ernest R. Ackerman, Everett Colby and the committee also hopes to have Theodore Roosevelt here at that time. His secretary informed Mr. Saunders that if possible the former President would come to Plainfield. The meeting here is to be under the auspices of the New Jersey Men's League for Woman Suffrage of which Mr. Saunders is the president.

DR. HALL'S LECTURE.

Dr. Thomas C. Hall, of Union Seminary, who will speak on "Woman Suffrage" at the High School auditorium tonight, cannot fail to give an interesting presentation of this subject. His life has been largely spent in the study of social problems with a view to their practical solution from the standpoint of Christian ethics. In his oratory, he adds to the force of his scholarly writing, the charm of a fine personnel, a rich voice and keen wit. Not to hear him is to lose a rare treat. Admission is free.

FROM POLICE BLOTTER.

Patsey Martino, giving his address as 618 West Third street, was arraigned before Recorder Gano in the borough court this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. The offense was alleged to have been committed in a thickly populated portion of North Plainfield and after delivering a severe lecture to the prisoner, the recorder find him $10.

JERSEY CENTRAL R. R. HITS CROSSING BILL

Road Claims New Law is Not Legal in Reply to Public Utility Commission.

Trenton, May 2.—The Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, in an answer filed with the Public Utility Commission yesterday, declares that the railroad grade crossing elimination law of 1913 is unconstitutional in that it operates to take the property of the railroad company for public use without just compensation. The company's reply is made to an application of the city of Perth Amboy for the abolition of certain grade crossings which the Utility Commission is asked to order removed for the safety of the traveling public. The railroad company contends that adequate facilities are afforded at its crossings in Perth Amboy and asks that the application be dismissed.

A hearing on the application will be given in Trenton on June 3.

SHARP'S CONDITION CRITICAL.

Howard Sharp, aged 25 years, of North Plainfield, who received serious head injuries when he fell off a wagon on Somerset street, February 11 last, and who was thought to be improving, has had a relapse and is now reported to be in a critical condition at Muhlenberg Hospital. Sharp was employed as a driver for a borough concern and in some peculiar manner he fell from his wagon, striking his head on the hard macadam.

STRICKEN AT SUPPER TABLE.

Mrs. David S. Campell, 69 years old, of Dunellen avenue, while seated at the supper table last night with her husband, Recorder Campbell, was stricken suddenly with paralysis. The Recorder hurriedly summoned Dr. Thomas H. Platt, Jr., of 165 Dunellen avenue, who said the attack was a slight one and that the victim would recover.

STRIKE MAY BE A FIZZLE.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Buffalo, N. Y., May 2.—The strike of girls and delivery wagon drivers in ten of the five and ten cent department stores seems to be rapidly approaching a fizzle. It is believed the majority of employes will return to their places shortly.

FAMOUS RACE IN ENGLAND.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Newmarket, Eng., May 2.—The one thousand Guineas Stakes was won here today by J. B. Joel's three-year-old Filly Jest, ridden by Maher. Haslett was second and Prue third. Twenty-two ran. All the starters carried 126 pounds. The distance was one mile.

Mrs. Robert Dixon, of Chicago, Ill., is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Young, of West Sixth street.

Robert F. Dow, of 12 Stone street, is slowly recovering from a serious attack of pneumonia.

FOWLER GIVES OUT LETTER OF WARNING

Discussing Banking System Says Superficial Laws Are Greatest Peril.

That former Congressman Charles N. Fowler has not lost his interest in the currency reform question is made clear by a letter sent out yesterday to men prominent in Congress and to influential publicists. Mr. Fowler is a foe to anything in the way of currency reform which savors of the so-called Aldrich plan, which he fears, evidently, is to figure prominently again in the debates of Congress. The letter says in part:

"The greatest peril of the time is not that we shall have no legislation but that we shall have superficial, half-baked piecemeal, patchwork, makeshift or fatally ignorant legislation—legislation conceived in anxiety, concocted by the special interests and absorbed by a fear of a panic inspired and organized by the same forces, or, what is even worse, if possible, legislation born of political necessity or political cowardice, the most baneful curse to all social and economic truth, and therefore to all true National progress.

"It would be better, a thousand fold, to suffer the consequences of a dozen panics, if necessary, than to commit what must prove, at this time, an irretrievable error in the economic life of this Nation. Let us rather act with deliberation, with the highest degree of intelligence and care and not in ignorance and haste, or our work will be like that of the inexcusably ignorant, the criminally ignorant surgeon who cripples his patient for life or by plunging his soiled, his poisoned, his syphilitic-tainted knife into the body of his subject, ruins him forever, although the foul surgeon may say truthfully that his operation made it possible for his patient to breathe a little more easily on that fatal afternoon.

"All the present thought of the country seems to be directed to the construction of some mechanical or artifical device wholly at variance with or in total disregard of or even in utter defiance of all economic law of the A B C's of which there seems to be yet a complete, an absolute, indeed, an abject ignorance. From all such legislation we shall suffer commercially in the end beyond all computation, because all history shows that it is practically impossible to change the financial and banking laws of a country, if at all bearable until they become utterly intolerable as ours are to-day. The German bank act has lasted forty years, our National bank act fifty years, the English bank act seventy years, the French bank act 113 years.

"Wise action waits and depends upon discussion! discussion! discussion!! Persistent, acute, intense decisive, destructive, constructive discussion that will eliminate all fallacies and remove all dross of personal opinions, leaving only the pure gold of economic truth and only such banking practices as are sound and just, and will stand the test of time.

"Remember the 'Aldrich-Vreeland bill' and the 'Aldrich bill,' both the product of profound ignorance. At one time, it seemed, could believe our eyes and ears, everybody was for the 'Aldrich bill,' but within a year nobody was for it because economically utterly unsound and administratively a conspiracy."

Put this Range In Your Kitchen

IT is good to look at and handy to work over. Burns either coal or gas and both at once if you wish it. Actually a double capacity range and capable of serving the largest family. Has two big ovens, a large water back, deep firebox, and a roomy warming closet.

A splendid cooker — oven heat so perfectly regulated that baking is even and thorough. Well made throughout and easily kept clean. A winter necessity, a summer convenience. See it at our dealer's.

BOYNTON FURNACE CO.

37th St., near Broadway, New York

Dunellen & Vicinity

Arrangements have been completed by members of the B. G. Club for their "Butterfly Dance," to be held tonight in Junior Hall. The decorations planned to carry out the general scheme denoted by the name of the affair have resulted in the transformation of the hall into an artistic scene.

Dr. Thomas Platt moved yesterday from his home at 165 Dunellen avenue to the Coriell house across the street.

The board of trustees of the local Presbyterian church met last night in its first regular session since organization, following the recent election.

The committee arranging the Fourth of July celebration for Dunellen will meet tonight in Borough Hall, to discuss various phases of the proposed civic demonstration.

The local real estate dealers continue to report numerous sales. The attractiveness of the borough as the place of residence for New York business men is being emphasized every day.

A debate on "Woman Suffrage," which was to have been held in the New Market High School, April 28, was postponed and will take place on Monday, when practically the same opponents and exponents of "the cause" scheduled to appear on the previous date will furnish arguments for their respective sides.

Mrs. J. Hollings, of Washington avenue, entertained yesterday afternoon members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the German Lutheran church, of Plainfield. After a short business meeting a general social time followed and refreshments were served.

Routine business occupied the major part of the session of the first quarterly conference of the First Methodist church held last night in the lecture room of that edifice. Rev. William A. Knox, the pastor, presided.

Miss M. C. Madden, of Bridgeport, Conn., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. Lawrence, owner of the Lawrence Farm, in New Market.

Mrs. Adam Waglow has returned from a visit with her son-in-law, Herbert Taylor, of Perth Amboy.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Penrose have returned from a visit at the home of relatives in Philadelphia.

"Moonlight dances" will feature the dances tomorrow night at the Dewey Park pavilion.

127 EAST FRONT STREET

'Plains & Fanwood.

Work will be started tomorrow on the proposed new tennis courts which will be an attractive feature of the Parish House. E. L. Hand, a member of the Parish House council will superintend the work. Although a gang of laborers will do the rough grading and remove the sod from the site where the court will be laid out, members of the Parish House have signified their intention of putting on the finishing touches themselves, which will save a considerable amount, that would otherwise have to be spent.

Instructor Batterson is receiving names of all tennis players desiring to represent the Parish House on the "court" this season. It is probable that the Parish House will be represented by individual players as well as team doubles. Mr. Batterson also contemplates holding a tournament for which an appropriate prize will be offered the best player.

James Anderson, of Westfield avenue, while walking along that street shortly after 9 o'clock last night, was struck by a motorcycle and knocked to the ground. His injuries were slight because the blow was but a glancing one. The cyclist jumped from his vehicle and inquired if Anderson was injured and then rode on. The latter in his excitement failed to note the license number of the machine nor did he inquire the motorcyclist's name.

Dr. H. K. Carroll, the pastor, led the prayer service last night in the Methodist church.

The Lend-a-Hand Society of the Baptist church met this afternoon. The roster of the society is steadily increasing due to the efforts of the present members.

Mrs. Charles Frank, of Rahway, is the guest of Mrs. George Gifford.

The dressmaking classes which have been meeting Saturday mornings and afternoons in the Parish House, in the future will convene on Wednesdays.

The Parish House regulars will journey to Plainfield tomorrow, where they will lineup against the strong Hope Chapel church team.

Manager Joseph Alberts has issued a call for practice tomorrow for his Scotch Plains semi-pro players.

South Plainfield.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the local Baptist church will hold a "Bake Sale," tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Sunday-school rooms.

A pleasing program of moving pictures, including both educational and humorous ones, will be shown tonight in the Baptist church. The popularity of this form of entertainment has been plainly demonstrated by the capacity audiences that have witnessed the entertainments in the past.

The ordinance of baptism will be administered to seven persons Sunday morning in the Baptist church.

Bound Brook.

The Bound Brook High School baseball team will play the Somerville High School team at Somerville tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilkerson, of South Bound Brook, are entertaining Miss Alice Sheals, of New York city, for a few days.

Raymond Tillow has returned to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Moe, of Romney road.

Miss Anna Saums, of Somerville, was a visitor with Mrs. Allison C. Hall, of South Bound Brook, on Tuesday.

Fred Coriell, of East Union avenue, has gone to Netcong, N. Y., where he has a temporary position as cashier in a bank.

John Pfeifer and family have removed from the Carr flats on Main street to the Cook house on Hamilton street.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Barcalow, of Brooklyn, have taken possession of Mrs. Maude Staats' house on High street, South Bound Brook.

Dr. Donahue, of New Brunswick, is occupying his summer home, "Ceder Crest," near Chimney Rock, after spending the winter at New Brunswick.

BOARD OF TRADE ON JOB

plaints had reached the board about the dancing at the Washington School, claiming that in one case a party of young women who went there from the Y. W. C. A. retired because of alleged misconduct. The matter was referred to a committee who are to look into the matter and report at the next meeting of the board.

President Jeffery suggested that at the June meeting, to be held on the first Tuesday, a "round up" session take place, and members of similar organizations from Elizabeth, Westfield, Cranford, Dunellen, Bound Brook and Somerville be invited to attend, as well as the members of the West End Civic Association, the Netherwood Residents' Association and the Plainfield Chamber of Commerce. Former Governor J. Franklin Fort will be asked to address the meeting and after it is over refreshments will be served.

These new members were elected, making the total number over one hundred, and it was said that a large number more were expected at the next session: John I. Brokaw, G. G. Andrews, Allen B. Laing, L. M. Livingston, H. Liefke, Charles L. Moffett, H. E. Gayle Hardware Co., Johnson Bros., Plainfield Press Co., Milton Mendel, F. Gustave Meissner, E. J. Way, R. H. Barnard, M. A. Rose, J. P. W. Taylor, P. A. McVoy, H. P. Vosseller, Central Park Realty Co., F. J. Blatz, H. S. Sanderson, J. Sachar, W. A. Woodruff, H. Adelberg, G. J. Finger, Charles H. Bishop, F. S. Steffen. President Jeffery reported that cards were being printed to be placed in the offices and stores of the members of the board calling attention to the fact that hereafter no member of the Board of Trade would advertise in any publication which did not have a bonafide paid circulation. This will make it impossible for the members of the body to advertise in programs and similar publications. In commenting on the matter President Jeffery said that in taking such action the board was "acting in the interest of the merchants to save them from being mulcted by illegitimate advertising."

Gustave Meissner, of Watchung avenue, started a lively discussion when he called attention to the strict closing of candy, soda water and cigar stores on Sunday, saying that he believed the time had come when Plainfield people should be a little more liberal in the matter. He also called attention to the lack of public comfort stations in the city, and several members of the board thought that it would be a good matter to take up as a body. President Jeffery agreed with this and referred it to a committee to report at next meeting.

TEMPLARS ATTEND CHURCH

third verse, Rev. Mr. Walker referred to the Kingdom of God which Christ founded and concerning which He gave his disciples during the forty days He was on earth between his resurrection and ascension, telling them to extend the Kingdom unto all the world. "All mankind is called to enter the Kingdom," he said, "and live by the grace received in it. This is the church's work of today as of old and I urge all to do his or her share in the work."

An impressive ceremony was witnessed when the Knights Templars, with drawn swords stood at "attention" while reciting the Apostles' Creed. Rev. Warner E. L. Ward, rector of St. Stephen's church, read the lessons and Rev. W. S. McCoy, rector of Holy Cross Episcopal church, was also in the chancel.

Following the conclusion of the church service, the Knights Templars invited the member of the Men's club to the Masonic asylum in the Babcock building, where they entertained with a program of vocal and instrumental selections, following which refreshments were served.

EDGAR R. PEARSALL'S FUNERAL TOMORROW

Former Lieut. of Co. K. Died Yesterday Following Nervous Breakdown.

The funeral service of Edgar Randolph Pearsall, formerly second lieutenant of Company K, of this city but more recently a member of the staff of the Second Battalion, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at the M. E. church in Westfield. The officers of Company K will attend the service. Mr. Pearsall became ill three weeks ago and it was believed that he was suffering from a nervous breakdown. He went south to recuperate, being granted an extended leave of absence by the newspaper on which he was employed. He returned home from Virginia last Wednesday and died yesterday at his home in Westfield.

Mr. Pearsall was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., on November 3, 1854. He received his education there, moving to Westfield thirty-two years ago. He was connected for many years with the New York Evening Post and the Pearsall News Bureau. He was the founder of the Union County Standard, a weekly newspaper published in Westfield.

Mr. Pearsall served as bill clerk in the Assembly when Charles N. Codding was one of the representatives from Union county. He was an exempt fireman, being one of the original members of the Westfield Hook and Ladder Company. He was also a member of Fireside Council, Royal Arcanum.

For many years the deceased was prominent in military affairs. He was connected with the National Guard for eighteen years, enlisting in Company C, of Elizabeth, when that organization was known as the Phil Kearny Guard, under command of Major DeHart. Later Mr. Pearsall joined Company K, of Plainfield, and after serving as a private, he was promoted to the rank of corporal. Later he became sergeant and three years ago was commissioned second lieutenant. He held this rank until his commission expired last February. For several years he had charge of the Boys' Brigade, of Westfield.

Mr. Pearsall leaves a widow, three sons, Ferris R. and Chester B. Pearsall, of Westfield, and James F. Pearsall, of Melrose, Fla. He also leaves six daughters, the Misses Harriet, Helen, Virginia, Eleanor and Catherine Pearsall, of Westfield, and Miss Ethel Pearsall, of Jacksonville, Fla.

LUNCHEON FOR MRS. COLBY.

Elaborate plans are being perfected by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield for a luncheon to be given in honor of Mrs. Everett Colby at the Park Club, Thursday, May 15. Several very prominent speakers are expected to address the suffragists. Their names will be announced later. The league is preparing to entertain about three hundred guests.

PROGRAM TO PRECEDE DANCE.

The dance at the Washington Public School tonight for colored people will be preceded by a short musical and literary program which will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. The public is invited. Mrs. Joseph Robinson will have charge of the program. The chaperones will be Mrs. William M. Sandford, Jr., and Mrs. Charles A. Dall, from the general committee in charge, and they will be assisted by Mrs. James F. Lawson, Mrs. William J. Douglass, Mrs. C. J. McKoy, Mrs. Alexander Stills, Mrs. John Stewart, Mrs. Robert Tunstall and Miss Alice Maynard from the auxiliary committee.

MISS LOUISE WASON IS NOW MRS. JOS. TOMEY

Miss Louise Wason, of Fanwood and Joseph Tomey, of Bayonne, were married at the rectory of St. Mary's R. C. church at 11:30 o'clock this morning by Father Vincent Sciolia in the presence of a large number of intimate friends. Miss Edith Palmer, of Fanwood, was the bridesmaid, and Samuel Pritcher, of Bangor, Pa. the best man.

The bride wore a white serge traveling gown with hat to match, and the bridesmaid was gowned in green messaline with hat to match. They both carried shower bouquets. Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for New York, where they will take a boat for Richmond, Va., at which place the bridegroom is engaged in the wholesale fruit business. Both the bride and bridegroom formerly lived at Richmond. The former is a sister of Mrs. Minnie Lloyd, of Fanwood.

WHAT ONE MAN DID.

Until Hitchcock took charge of the Post Office Department, that branch of the Federal government service was run at a loss, and now despite the many costly improvements made during his administration the department brings a profit to the National treasury. Hitchcock introduced a system of management equal to that of the best of the giant business corporations. The result of his labors is shown in the fact that for the first half of the current fiscal year, Burleson, his successor as Postmaster General announces a surplus of $186,508.

The audited revenues for the December quarter amounted to $70,277,532, an increase of $11,138,798, or 19 per cent. over the preceding three months. Expenditures aggregated $60,527,937, an increase of $2,847,849.

The largest expenditures of the December quarter were railroad mail transportation, $12,383,533; rural delivery service, $11,823,981; assistant postmasters and clerks in post offices, $11,229,537, and city delivery service, $8,922,424.

There were 24,437,725 domestic money orders issued during the quarter, amounting to $176,797,645, while 1,237,205 international money orders were valued at $25,377,577.

While her foolish assertion would only be considered in America as amusing, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's threat, made in a London speech, to introduce militant methods in New York if the suffragists do not get what they want totally misrepresents the American suffragist in the eyes of the English people. In this country, the campaign for "Votes for Women" is being waged along educational lines and the peaceful and sane methods pursued have won respect if not votes in many quarters. There are a good many people who have suspected right along that Mrs. Belmont has made herself conspicuous in the movement for the notoriety she could get out of it. Her silly and irresponsible threat seems to confirm that opinion.

When the North Plainfield Board of Education the other night very wisely decided to temporarily close the manual training department, Supervising Principal of Schools A. B. Vossler let it be known that he has been planning to give the boys some practical training in agriculture and farming. The average boy is better benefitted by being taught how to milk a cow or how to plant potatoes than by receiving a smattering of Latin or Greek. A knowledge of agriculture very frequently stands the youth in good stead in after life.

Rhode Island's independence day, the 137th anniversary of the declaration of independence in the Old Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, is being observed today with special exercises in the public schools throughout the State. It was on May 4, 1776, two months prior to the signing of the Declaration of Independence by the thirteen Colonies, that Governor George Nicholas Cooke and members of the general assembly of Rhode Island renounced their allegiance to Great Britain and enrolled themselves as rebels to the king.

Early next week, it is expected, Secretary of State Bryan will issue a proclamation to the effect that the constitutional amendment for the direct election of United Senators has been adopted. Millionaries, who would serve the "interests" and betray the people, could buy up legislatures, but it will now be impossible to purchase their election, for no matter how rich they may be, they could not bribe the majority of the voters in any State.

Certainly, when they listened to over 4,000 people wildly applaud the ringing speech of President Wilson at Elizabeth last night, Assemblyman MacLoughlin and Leonard must have been impressed with the fact that the masses want jury reform and want it minus a referendum string.

The contributing editor for tomorrow's issue will be Benjamin J. Phelps, principal of the North Plainfield High School. He will discuss a topic on education.

Wilson is caring for the whole Union but his attention is mostly directed to its Eastern and Western extremes, California and New Jersey.

That plan of the Chamber of Commerce to amalgamate all the local civic bodies is an excellent one, but there is little chance for its success.

Guess we'll have to get out that straw hat.

ALL WILL WANT TO HEAR DR. G. E. VINCENT

"The Plainfield High School Alumni Association is indebted to a number of its older members, whose influence has secured the services of Dr. George E. Vincent for tomorrow night. They could not have found a more eloquent speaker, or a man in whom Plainfield has such strong grounds for local pride." This statement was made to a Daily Press reporter by F. K. Anderson, president of the Alumni Association.

Dr. Vincent entered Yale College as a freshman in September, 1881. He had been one of the pioneer "high wheel" bicyclists of Plainfield, and took first prize in the mile at the fall games. Though he afterward tried for various athletic distinctions his success lay in other fields. As a scholar he ranked in the first ten in the class and won membership in the Phi Bet Kappa. His all around ability made him an easy mark on Tap Day for the senior society of "Scroll and Key." He edited the Yale Record, and was one of the founders of The Yale Quip, a "Life"-like monthly of a brief but gay existence. When he had been away from New Haven twenty years and had won distinction at Chautauqua and the University of Chicago, he ran seccond to Dr. Arthur Hadley in the election to the presidency of Yale. President Hadley urged him to accept the deanship of the college, and though he declined Yale conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws, its highest honor. The University of Minnesota, of which this former Plainfield school-boy is now president, has as many students as Yale and Princeton put together, and President Vincent is their hero.

As a speaker, Dr. Vincent is witty, forceful and eloquent, combining beauty of thought and expression with the keenest of epigrammatic utterance.

He was the chief speaker at the New York bankers dinner at the Waldorf on January 20, when he set the tables in a roar with his opening sentence, "I come from the city at the fall of St. Anthony to a city that would make a St. Anthony fall!"

While Dr. Vincent speaks tomorrow night under the auspices of the Alumni Association, the audience will by no means be confined to graduates of the High School.

UPRISING AMONG TURKISH TROOPS--NEW KINGDOM

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Berlin, May 2.—The Turkish flag was raised over Albania at Tirana today by Essad Pasha, former commander of the Scutari garrison, who proclaimed himself monarch of the new European kingdom. A telegram from Corfu states that Essad Pasha and Djavid Bey have accumulated an army of 50,000 Turks and are preparing to establish a provisional government at Croia and defend the Suzerainty against both the Albanian patriots and the armies of the Balkan League.

SEEK TO ENLARGE THE SANITORIUM

Freeholders Receive a Request From Bonnie Burn Governors for $123,117.

NO ACTION IS TAKEN

A. E. Smith Gets a Contract to Build a Bridge in Elizabeth—Discuss Liability for Bills of the Ousted Board.

Elizabeth, May 2.—The Union County Freeholders' Bonnie Burn Sanitorium Committee and the Board of Governors of that institution at a meeting of the Freeholders held yesterday requested that an appropriation be made for the erection of a two story fire-proof additin to the present buildings, the probable cost which would be $123,117. This petition, made in the form of a report, stated that an enlargement of the dining quarters and physicians' and nurses' headquarters and accommodations for other help, are absolutely necessary. The proposed addition would also embody an electric power plant with dynamo of sufficient capacity to furnish lighting facilities throughout the institution. Informal discussion was had but action was deferred.

Arthur E. Smith, a contracting engineer of Plainfield, was awarded the contract to erect a bridge at South street, this city, spanning the Elizabeth River, at a figure of $5,488. Dr. J. Edward Rowe, of Summit, again was elected clerk to the board, his salary to be $1,000 per annum.

A resolution offered by Freeholder Thomas Pierson was adopted authorizing the appointment of a special committee to meet with County Attorney W. R. Codington, of Plainfield, and discuss the matter of paying the counsel fees of the ousted small board. Mr. Codington advised that Dr. Thomas E. Dolan, of Elizabeth, who served as county physician during the short regime of the small board, be refused his application for $172.52 covering a bill for services rendered in this capacity. The counsel recommended, however, that any expenditures made by Dr. Dolan, which otherwise would have been incurred by County Physician Dr. F. W. Westcott, be paid. Mr. Codington claimed that the county could not legally pay two persons for doing one man's work. The county attorney also notified the board that the Widow's pension law goes into effect on July 1.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the appointment of three freeholders to serve as a committee to engage a bookkeeper and auditor to systematize the accounts of the board. The committee which recently visited the Morris Plains Asylum in Morristown, reported that that institutio was in need of additions because although erected to accommodate but 1,600 inmates, 2,300 were now imprisoned behind its walls. The committee reported 303 inmates there from Union the majority of whom were from this city. The amended budget appropriated $50,000 to Bonnie Burn Sanitarium; $850 to the armory in Elizabeth and $500 to the National Guard.

PRESIDENT MELLEN ON THE WITNESS STAND

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Boston, May 2.—President Mellen of the New Haven road, took the witness stand at the hearing before Interstate Commerce Commissioner Prouty this morning. Mr. Mellen will give out a statement to the press explaining many points in his testimony. Mr. Mellen's in part follows: "The transactions by which 19,935 shares of New Haven stock was sold to me occurred in March, 1904, and I gave my notes to the New England Navigation Company. This stock was treasury stock and had to be listed on the Stock Exchange in order to be sold to the public. In order to list it, it was sold to me and I gave my notes to the company which held the stock as collateral until sold. All these shares were sold at the best obtainable figures and the entire proceeds together with the dividends paid into the company's treasury. The company received approximately $102,000 more than the price at which the stock was sold to me.

ERDMAN ACT IGNORED.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, May 2.—The railroads this morning refused to adopt the suggestion made yesterday afternoon by the conductors and trainmen that they arbitrate under the Erdman act. The same objections that were voiced by the managers in the firemen's case were made to the Erdman act in this instance.

After receiving the reply of the railroads declining to arbitrate the conductors and trainmen withdrew to the Broadway Central Hotel, where they will prepare their answer to be sent to the managers this afternoon. The adjournment will last until the convention of the two brotherhoods on May 12 and May 19, after the convention and before the next meeting with the railroad managers the conductors and trainmen will have taken a strike vote to be dependant largely on the decision of the convention.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

By FRANCES MARSHALL

The Friday Cleaning.

Housecleaning is less of a burden than it used to be simply because houses are more easily cleaned and modern methods have made the weekly cleaning more thorough. A house with tiled bathroom, hardwood floors, rugs and walls finished with tinted and stenciled plaster or washable wall covering, and equipped with a vacuum cleaner which has attachments to clean carpets, wood floors, walls, door jambs, radiators, mattresses and upholstered furniture can be kept in a state of constant cleanliness which makes a biennial housecleaning unnecessary. And this method of keeping the house clean is surely much pleasanter than that of pulling it to pieces twice a year, scrubbing it from top to bottom, and putting it together again.

In spite of the ease with which modern cleaning can be done, it should be as systematically looked to as it was in the days when carpets were tacked to the edges of the floor in every room, and the house was full of thick draperies and elaborate upholstery.

Paint and Varnish.

A good way to clean the painted or varnished woodwork in a room is to close every door and window and then bring in a big boiler of steaming water. Allow the steam to settle about the room for ten minutes and then open the windows and begin to wash the woodwork and painted walls with a clean, damp sponge or cloth. Rinse with clear water, and wipe dry. Fresh, clean paint is the result. This method, of course, can be followed only in a room where the wall is painted, for the steam would soften and loosen wall paper and so harm it.

Fine paint can best be cleaned by rubbing it with a damp cloth dipped in fine whiting and then rinsing it with a cloth wrung as nearly dry as possible from lukewarm water.

Cleaning Day.

When cleaning day comes around, cover the head with a big dusting cap, and the short-sleeved cotton frock with a big apron. Begin to clean each room by removing all small articles, after dusting them, to another room, and gathering the big articles of furniture under gingham dusters of furniture covers. Then sweep down the ceilings and walls, either with a soft, long-handled brush which can be bought for the purpose, or else with a broom covered with a canton flannel bag. Remove dust from the tops of door and window frames and from the mouldings either with this same soft brush or with a whisk broom, used from the top of a step ladder. Clean the mop board with a stiff, clean broom.

If the rugs are cleaned in the room, they should be cleaned before the walls and ceilings are cleaned, and then removed from the room or rolled up and covered. If they are cleaned out of doors, they should be taken out with other movable furniture. After the walls and ceilings are finished, brush the dust from the floor, and then oil the floor and wash the windows, after the dust has settled. After the rugs and furniture have been returned to their places, go over the floor again with a soft-oiled mop, or with a broom covered with canton flannel, to collect the dust that inevitably collects when furniture is moved about.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The pattern shown is for a one piece infant's cap. The crown and fronts are laced together through eyelets and in this way form the cap. The scalloped edges are to be padded and buttonholed. The design may be worked in solid embroidery, with the stems outlined. The material used is handkerchief linen and No. 40 embroidery thread.

When the embroidered design is worked in eyelet or all over stitch the effect is exceedingly dainty, but if one has not the time or inclination for this needlework all over machine embroidery in a babyish design is a good substitute.

The cap when the embroidery pattern is very open is lined with thin china silk either in white or a pale, dainty color. Should the baby be very young this lining is necessary in all seasons.

ONE PIECE INFANT'S CAP.

With rosettes of ribbon holing the "ties," which should be of the cap material, such a little head covering is fine enough for even a royal infant.

This May Manton pattern only comes in one size. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 521, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Some Cookery Suggestions

POTATO CAKES.

POTATO cakes make a nice addition to the breakfast fare. Cold potatoes can be used in making them.

In almost every household there is some favorite way of making the cakes.

Chopped onion may be mixed with the potatoes if that flavor is liked.

Several recipes for making plain potato cakes are given here:

Nice Breakfast Dishes.

Baked Potato Cakes.—Mash two large cold potatoes. Rub a quarter of a pound of beef drippings into half a pound of flour. Mix with the potatoes, add a tablespoonful of sugar and baking powder; then roll out, cut into rounds and bake in a hot oven. Serve hot with or without butter as you like the cakes.

Potato Cakes With Eggs.—Take three boiled potatoes and mash them with a lump of butter, some milk and three beaten eggs. Mix together, season with pepper, salt and a dash of nutmeg; then beat for ten minutes. Put a good quantity of lard in a pan and drop the mixture from a spoon into the boiling fat. Do not turn the cakes, but hold over each a redhot salamander. Dust with grated yokes of hard boiled eggs.

Tempting Cakes.

Crusty Potato Cakes.—Take a cupful of mashed potatoes and to them add a well beaten egg, a cupful of flour and a half a teaspoonful of salt. Mix well and turn on a well floured board, adding a little more flour for kneading, and form into a cake half an inch thick. Cut into wedge shaped pieces and bake on a hot griddle until light brown, after which cover with an inverted pan and cook on the back of the stove for about twenty minutes until crust forms. Serve hot with butter.

Griddle Potato Cakes.—Mash or put four or five floury cold potatoes through a wire sieve; add two ounces of butter, a little salt, a teaspoonful of baking powder and as much flour as the potatoes will take up. Turn out on a board, form into a round cake with a rolling pin and shape it with the hands. Cut the cake into quarters and again into eighths and bake on the griddle for ten or fifteen minutes and a delicious cake is the result. The segments should be turned frequently while cooking.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — When Dolly Was Nearly Drowned.

May's Doll Fell Into the Water.

"DADDY," said Jack one evening, "Evelyn and I went out to look for flowers today."

"Did you find any?" asked daddy.

"Only a few," said Jack, "and we gave them to mother."

"That was right," said daddy. "You remind me of two little friends of mine who went out once to look for flowers and who met with quite a mishap. They were brother and sister.

"Were their names Jack and Jill?" asked Evelyn, laughing.

"No," said daddy, "and they didn't fall down a hill either. The little girl fell somewhere else. Her name was May, and her brother's name was Philip.

"May and Philip lived on a farm. They had many pets, but they liked best their little fish, which swam round and round in a large tank near the windmill. The children used to save their crusts and feed them to the fish, and the fish knew them and used to swim to the edge of the tank when they saw the children coming. Philip said they would answer when he called them by swimming to the side of the tank, but I think Philip imagined this.

"Well, one day May and Philip had been out on a daisy hunt, but they had not found many, for it was too early in the year for daisies. On their way back to their home they stopped at the tank to give the fishes some bread they had brought with them.

"The children had been warned not to go too near the edge of the tank, for, although the water was not deep enough to drown them, it was deep enough to give them a bad wetting if they should fall in. But this time May, who had her dolly in her hand, got too near the edge, slipped and fell in. She screamed, of course, and she let go of her dolly, which floated away in the water.

"Philip was somewhat frightened, but he was brave and strong for a little fellow, so he leaned over the edge, caught hold of May's dress and pulled her out. Then the two, forgetting all about poor dolly, hurried away to the house. It was not until May's clothing had been changed and she had got over her fright that she remembered her poor child left in the tank with the fish.

"Of course some one had to go to the doll's rescue. 'I'm afraid she'll be drowned or she'll catch her death of cold!' cried May. So big brother hurried off to save dolly.

"He found her floating in the middle of the tank, with the fish swimming around and looking at her. Big brother said they looked puzzled, but I'm afraid he said this only to tease May. However, he fished dolly out with a long pole and brought her home to May, who changed her clothing quickly. She didn't catch cold, either."

Daddy caught Jack smiling at this, but Evelyn didn't smile.

MOVE TO DISBAR LAWYER.

Trenton, May 2.—Following charges of irregular conduct in handling a bankruptcy case, disbarment suit has been started in the Supreme Court against John L. Conard, a former county solicitor of Mercer county and prominent here politically until a few years ago. Justice Garrison, of the Supreme Court, has assigned Martin P. Devlin, prosecutor of Mercer county, to prosecute the writ for the court. The suit against Conrad was brought to a head by a charge by Miss Marie Gulden that Conrad failed to make accounting for about $6,000 of $11,000 advanced by her to liquidate the bankruptcy estate of her brother-in-law, Bertram Magee.

BLOCKS PRISONER'S ESCAPE.

Rahway, May 2.—When an open door suggested freedom Wednesday to Harry C. Schieve, of Clark Township, who had just been fined $15 by Police Justice Buckley, for creating a disturbance in an Irving street saloon, he did not count on the stalwart presence of Patrolman Kinneally. Not having the money for the fine Schieve was about to be locked up by Chief Ramsey. Leaping toward the open door Schieve ran into the arm of Kinneally, who hurled him back into the courtroom and then locked him up.

AUTOIST RUNS DOWN BICYCLIST.

Red Bank, May 2.—While on his bicycle and about to turn from Branch avenue into Broad street here Wednesday night, Dominick Band, of Bridge avenue, this place, was run down by an automobile bearing the license number 5466 N. J. Band said the auto was traveling at a rapid speed and that, after running into him, the autoist stopped only a moment, leaving him lying in the road. He had no light on his bicycle, he said. He sustained a deep laceration on the right arm and was otherwise bruised and cut about the body.

DEDICATION PLANS.

Skillman, May 2.—The new building erected to promote the study and treatment of epilepsy at the Henry M. Weeks' Hospital here will be dedicated May 13. There will be an inspection of the village including visits to the cottages, school, shop, dairy, farm and garden. This will be followed in the afternoon by the dedication services. A concert will be given at 4 o'clock, dinner at 6 o'clock and an entertainment by the patients at 7:30 o'clock in the assembly building.

WHERE'S YOUR SPORTING BLOOD, SCOOP?

"MAC" SAYS

Certain factions of athletes in this city and borough are said to be growing impatient for tomorrow afternoon to dawn. It behooves some people to learn fortitude as there may still be a long wait due before that Collier cup is safely launched in any trophy case.

As has been the case in so many other diamond battles in all parts of the country this season, the one at Cricket Field tomorrow afternoon will in all probability be a pitcher's duel between Couglin, of P. H. S., and Spencer, of N. P. H. S. At least these are expected to be the moundsmen called upon to heave the pellet.

Each of these youngsters has established a reputation for himself as far as making players whiff the empty air is concerned and the strike-out record will likely score in the initial interscholastic clash.

Annual interscholastic matches produce more rivalry between the city and borough schools than all the other contests put together. Will there be enthusiasm? Yes, barrels of it.

Another Plainfielder joins the ranks of professionals and this time it happens to be an outfielder. Miller goes away from the local sand lots to play in the New York and New Jersey Interstate League with a reputation for classy fielding which he has established through many seasons of good work on Plainfield diamonds.

Miller was considered to be one of Ernie Dorflinger's players in the Central New Jersey League race but it now looks as though the local pilot would have to scour around for someone to fill Miller's place.

Hope Chapel's baseball supper tonight. A strict training diet has been ordered by Captain Allen Snyder and the cooks will have to disperse food accordingly.

Bound Brook fans are disappointed because Charlie Newhouse did not see fit to enter a team in the Central New Jersey League. Why make a fuss over a little thing like that, organize a city league of your own?

RACQUET CHAMPIONSHIP.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 2.—The second half of the racquet match for the professional championship of the world, betwwen "Jock" Soutar of this city and C. Williams, champion of England, will be played on the courts of the Philadelphia Racquet Club tomorrow afternoon. In the first half of the match, played in London severel weeks ago, Williams led 4 games to 2. The match was close and fast, the margin between the two players in the six bames being only 5 aces. In the match tomorrow Soutar will have the advantage of playing on his own court.

OLD RIVALS TO CLASH.

Bound Brook and Somerville High Schools, two of the closest athletic rivals in this section, will meet in a ball game at the latter place tomorrow afternoon. This is the first time the two teams have come together this year and a close contest will probably be the issue.

MARTIN TWIRLS FOR ROCHESTER

But it was not our Jack Martin. There is evidently another member of the Rochester team with the same handle as the box score had one Martin doing the heaving yesterday. Jack continues to warm the bench while Preist is doing the regular shortstop work.

SECOND CLASH DUE TOMORROW.

For the second time this season, the Monroe Avenue M. E. baseball team and the Saurer Motor Company's aggregation will lineup against each other on the Clinton avenue field. The previous game resulted in a 1 to 0 victory for the church boys.

LEAL'S WEEK-END GAME.

A contingent of Leal School athletes will go to Dobbs Ferry tomorrow morning, where the local nine has a game carded with a private school team of that place. The game will be played in the afternoon.

COMMISSION CONDEMNS COBB AND COMMENDS DETROIT CLUB

Tyrus Cobb today was formally reinstated in organized baseball and fined $50 by the National Baseball Commission. A decision by the commission given out in answer to the Detroit player's appeal for reinstatement condemned Cobb severely for his actions while "holding out." The Detroit Club was commended for its recent stand and censured for its former passive policy regarding Cobb.

Notice was served on other clubs that in case of their failure to discipline players whose actions are "detrimental to the game," the commission itself will act.

The commission reserved news of any other action it may have taken, and if the proposed Congressonal investigation into the alleged baseball trust was discussed at all, as reported, it was ignored so far as a formal report is conceraed.

HOPE CHAPEL WILL PLAY SCOTCH PLAINS' TEAM

Captain Allen Snyder, of the Hope Chapel baseball team, entrants in the Sunday-school League, has arranged a game with the Scotch Plains Parish House nine to be played on Hope Common Saturday afternoon. This is one of the anti-season battles arranged by the Chapelities previous to the opening of the league season and should be a good one.

A number of new and promising recruits have come to light in Hope Chapel circles during the past few weeks and they will be given a thorough tryout in the preliminary games which are now being played.

TWO HIGH SCHOOLS MEET AT HYDE OVAL

Plainfield and North Plainfield in First Contest for Collier Trophy.

Interscholastic baseball followers will be treated to their annual inter-High School League clash tomorrow afternoon on Hyde Oval when the nines of the Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools meet in their first game for the Collier cup. To date each aggregation has annexed a victory at the expense of Leal School, the third contestant in the tri-cornered organization, and the race appears to be one between Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Both of the High Schools have been putting in extra sessions of practice all the week and will take the field tomorrow afternoon primed to play the game of the season. From future dope it looks as though Spencer would be Captain Dunning's choice for the pitching part, while P. H. S. will probably use Matty Coughlin. The lineups will be as follows: P. H. S.—Grisley 2b, Heron ss, Davenport 3b, Good 1b, Carty rf, Peacock c, Rosenson lf, Sminck cf, Buckle cf, Coughlin p. N. P. H. S.—W. Townley 3b, Burner 2b, C. Taylor lf, G. Townley ss, Dunning 1b, Abrams cf, Smalley c, Stahl rf, Spencer p.

HOPE ATHLETES TO FEED.

A baseball supper will be conducted at Hope chapel tonight for the benefit of the Sunday-school baseball team entered in the local Sunday-school League. The proceeds will be used in the purchase of suits or other equipment.

LAST GAME ON PLAINFIELD'S OLDEST BASBALL RENDEZVOUS

Plainfield baseball fans will have their last opportunity to witness a baseball game on the Crescent Oval diamond tomorrow afternoon before it is cut up into building lots, when Manager Dorflinger's entrants in the Central New Jersey League race lineup against the New Brunswick Stars, who until recently, contemplated playing in the same organization this year. Both teams have some fast players signed up and the contest tomorrow will probably be a good one to witness.

Among the players who will represent Plainfield are Bergen, the old Yankee catcher, who will perform in the outfield; Walt Nelson, last year's catcher; Cliff Randolph and Russ Stewart, as pitchers; Howard Craig, on the third corner, and Katz Miller in the outfield.

EVANS WITH SCOTCH PLAINS.

Frank Evans, the local ball player, will wear Scotch Plains' woolens in Sunday games this year, according to a report coming from Manager Alberts, of that combination. Evans has been a member of a number of different local ball teams during his diamond career and is considered to be a fast second baseman. In the last few years he has played on the Y. M. C. A., Public Service Manufacturers' League, Plainfield A. C. and a number of other different aggregations of like strength. He is also practicing with the Plainfield ball team on Saturdays.

WEST ENDS OPEN AT GARWOOD.

The West End A. C. baseball team, of this city, will open its season's schedule tomorrow afternoon, playing the Garwood A. C. at the latter place. Manager Bert Gleantzer has gathered together a string of good players and the local aggregation is one of the best in this vicinity.

—The earth's sensible atmosphere is supposed to extend forty miles into space, and probably further.

Y. M. A. A. BASEBALL PLAYERS TO PLAY PARK AVENUE NINE

Manager William Conger, of the Y. M. A. A. baseball team, will stack his athletes up against the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-school Leaguers at Parker Field, tomorrow afternoon. Compton, the veteran amateur catcher of Plainfield, has been signed up by Conger and will play second base. Thorn, the Roselle High School slab artist, will twirl again for the Y. M. A. A. nine.

The Y. M. A. A. combination will take the field as follows: Thorn, p; Van Cleaf (of Roselle) or Terry, c; Howell, 1b; Compton, 2b; Trotter, 3b; Raffinalo, ss; Meyers, lf; Conger (of Elizabeth), cf; Harry Hand, rf. The Park Avenue team will take the field in the following order: VanArsdale and Mills, p; E. Mosher, c; W. Doane, 1b; Nathan Wilson, 2b; Thompson and Weber, 3b; J. Ricketts, ss; R. Mosher, lf; Tice, cf; Gage, rf.

BASEBALL CHALLENGE.

The Netherwood Juniors would like to arrange a game for May 4, which is Sunday coming, with such teams as South Plainfield Stars, New Market, Bound Brook Juniors, West Ends, of Bound Brook; Dunellen Juniors, Plainfield A. C. and Shamrocks. All out of town games we wish half expenses paid. Write, Vincent Mullin, 183 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

COUNTRY CLUB GOLF.

Golf competition will open at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow afternoon with a "ringer" tournament. An opening day handicap of 18 holes medal play for both classes will be conducted at that time.

Season's Foremost Waist Sale

Ends Saturday 9 P. M. No Woman Should Miss It.

The remarkable business that has centred in our waist department since the inauguration of this sale Thursday morning would almost lead one to believe that every other woman in Newark had read the good news and passed it along to her neighbors.

Such enthusiasm, such eager buying and such big sales checks as our ready helpers made out, came as a revelation even to us accustomed to merchandising in a big way.

For the benefit of those who as yet haven't availed themselves of the splendid values, we repeat a number of them.

Regular $1.00 Lingerie and Voile Waists.

Unusually fine assortment to select from, in voile and lingerie. One model in lingerie, square neck, edged with Val. front, has clusters of pin tucks, four broad and four narrow rows of insertion and strip of embroidery, back tucked in clusters of pin tucks; three-quarter sleeve; tucked and edged with Val.; many other good models, at 69c

Regular to $2.00 Lingerie and Voile Waists.

Splendid assortment of models to select from, in high neck or low neck, open back or front, trimmed with fine Val, insertions and embroidery; some with dainty touches of colors; with sailor collar; models to suit all tastes in the lot, at 1.00

Voile and Lingerie Waists; Value $3.00.

Good assortment of fine models; dainty or elaborate, high neck or with low collar; open back or front; trimmed with fine Val. insertions and embroidery, and, indeed, worth a lot more than we ask; at 2.00

Westfield.

Westfield Board of Education has called a special school meeting for May 20, at which time the voters will be given a chance to select a High School site. On the evening of May 19, a public meeting will be held and the Board will answer questions and explain what it wants.

A burning feather bed called the Westfield fire department to the home of Rafael Olivera, 209 North street, Wednesday afternoon. Some children playing with matches had set fire to the bed and then run away.

New Providence.

The New Providence Township Committee will meet in the office of the Columbia School this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will hold a musical social in the chapel of the church next Wednesday evening, May 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Baldwin moved from the Osborne cottage in Passaic street to the Myers house in Springfield avenue, West End.

The supper given in the Methodist church Wednesday night proved a big success. It was given under the auspices of the trustees, who were in charge, assisted by the members of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Whitehouse.

A new era is about to begin in church work at Lebanon. There is to be held there the third Sunday of each month a union evening service of the Reformed and Methodist Episcopal churches. The first union service will be May 18, in the M. E. church. There will be a weekly union Sunday evening service during June and July. Special union evangelistical services will be held during October.

Miss Elizabeth Seals, of Plainfield, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Seals, in East Whitehouse, for a few days.

Miss Marguerite Clark returned yesterday to her home at Whitehouse Station, after spending the winter visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Voorhees, at Anita, Ia.

Misses Estella McDowell and Ella Bunn, of Lamington, are home from a visit to Miss Hattie Eick, in Westfield.

Mrs. John N. Stout, of Lamington, has gone to Trenton to spend a few days with her sister, Miss Elizabeth Thorpe.

Mrs. Jay Van Arsdale, of Plainfield, is visiting Mrs. Alice E. White at her home on the Ridge, near here.

The body of Charles Losey, thirty-five years old, was buried in the cemetery of the Reformed church at Lebanon yesterday afternoon. He was a native of Whitehouse, being the son of the late Daniel Losey, and lived in this section up until about ten years ago. He died from scarlet fever after a short illness. His wife and three children had the disease and recovered. His home was near Cranford.

Miss Emma Voorhees, of Lebanon, has gone to High Bridge, where she will visit for a week.

Mrs. Austin W. Lowe, of Lebanon, who has been ill for several weeks from grip and complications, is improving.

Harold Shepherd, of Lebanon, has gone to Plainfield, where he has taken a position.

Miss Ethel Conover, who is a student in Barnard College, has been spending a short vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Conover, at Lebanon.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Watt, of Cohoes, N. Y., are visiting her mother, Mrs. H. Stout, who has been ill with pneumonia at her home at Lebanon.

The net proceeds of the entertainment given by local talent at Whitehouse Station for the benefit of the Whitehouse fire department, will amount to about $135. This will be utilized in the purchase of necessary equipment.

Under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Methodist church at Gladstone a supper will be held in the league room there tonight.

PEACE CONGRESS SESSIONS.

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—There was an increased attendance at the sessions of this, the second day of the American Peace Congress. The problems of The Hague Conference formed the leading topic of discussion at the general session this morning, which was presided over by James Brown Scott, secretary of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Prof. William I. Hull, of Swarthmore College, spoke on "The Hague Tribunal, Its Present Meaning and Future Promise," and Prof. Paul S. Reinsch, of the University of Wisconsin, spoke on "The Promotion of International Peace as a Primary Policy of the United States." Another speaker was Edwin D. Mead, director of the World Peace Foundation, whose subject was "The Pan-Teutonic Pledge of Peace." No session of the Congress was held this afternoon, the time being devoted to a reception at the Missouri Botanical Garden and other entertainment for the visitors.

TO RECOMMEND CLARK DIVORCE

Newton, May 2.—Evidence in the divorce suit of Alfred V. Clark, of Newton, against Mrs. Julia Clark, of Jersey City, was heard yesterday before Special Master in Chancery Martin Rosenkrans. Mr. Clark sued for separation on the ground of desertion. Mrs. Clark did not contest the action and Mr. Rosenkrans will make a report to Chancellor Walker advocating a divorce. The Clarks were married in Boston August 6, 1907. Mrs. Clark is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Franklin, of Jersey City. The couple went to live at the home of Mr. Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, in Bayonne. While living there Clark alleged that his wife deserted him October 15, 1908, and went to live with her parents.

WE GIVE AND REDEEM SURETY COUPONS

Our Suits at $12.50
Are Not Matched Anywhere

We have made up our minds to have the biggest men's clothing trade in town. We are going after it in a most vigorous, persistent way. We are using as a lever to lift our trade to the highest point a line of suits and top coats of such quality and style as to satisfy men in all walks of life, at a price that any steady-going man can well afford to pay—$12.50.

There are suits of fancy Cheviots, Cassimeres, Worsteds, Checks and Stripes and most favored of all, the plain Blue Serge; and there are many of the standard plain grays and browns.

Some of these suits are silk-lined; all of them are exceptionally well tailored; quite a number of them have two pairs of trousers included at the price, $12.50.

Some of the Overcoats are rainproofed, giving you double service.

We can only say that many houses are selling suits that no more than match these at $15 to $18, and we present them in the firm belief that we are giving you the best value for your money that is obtainable anywhere at $12.50.

Men's Black Overcoats—All wool; silk lined and silk faced; nothing better sold anywhere for less than $20; here at only $12.50

Tuxedo Suits—Fine quality cloths silk lined; silk faced; cut in the latest models; finely tailored; as good as anybody else's $20 suits; here at only. $12.50

Blue Serge Suits—Fine wale; strictly all wool and fast color; made and trimmed in the best manner; conservative value $18 to $20; here at only.. $12.50

Wool Suits of Neat Mixtures and Fancy Cheviots—Nice patterns; silk lined—the suit alone well worth $18 or $20; offered here with an extra pair of trousers, only $12.50

Men's Raincoats—$18 to $20 values—at $12.50.

"Lucky Strike" Purchase and Sale of 500 Rich Afternoon and Evening Dresses

We've been greatly favored by the makers in the purchase of these beautiful afternoon dresses and semi-evening gowns. They are almost too beautiful, too rare, too good, to be sold for a penny less than they were intended to sell for; but we like to surprise our patrons, we like to give them the unexpected, we like to keep them familiar with the fact that we are always trying to do something for them out of the ordinary.

So we come with this generous lot of pretty gowns, superb in style, exceptionally well made, and of materials that the most particular woman will take pride in wearing.

Dresses of Crepe de Chine, Charmeuse, Messaline, Silk Poplin and Crepe Meteor.

Dresses in black, in navy, Copenhagen, light blue, Nell rose, wistaria, taupe and other exquisite shades.

The Dresses are made in ever so many beautiful styles; some with high neck, some with lace yokes, some with round or square neck, with lace, embroidery or hemstitched collars; some with combination lace blouse with cuffs to match; some elaborately trimmed with garniture, others trimmed draped style; others with plain tailored skirts; plenty of Bulgarian blouse effects; all styles that are new and charming.

This is how we are going to dispose of these dresses—and quickly.

NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

Organized labor of San Diego, Cal., is to have a labor temple.

Tobacco workers in Belgium do not average quite six cents an hour.

A labor temple costing almost $200,000 has been opened by the trade unions of Munich, Germany.

An international transport workers' congress will take place in London, England, in June of this year.

Industrial training has been made a requirement in the grammar grades of the public schools of the State of Washington.

Farm wages, with board, in the United States, averaged, for men, $10 a month in 1866, $13.53 in 1875 and $20.80 in 1909.

The annual convention of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and the Bartenders' International League of America will be held in Denver next month.

Delegates from thirty-one States, a greater number than were ever before represented, attended the recent ninth annual child labor conference at Jacksonville, Florida.

A general strike is seriously considered by the school teachers of France. Recently a number of them were fined for disobeying the court's order to disband their organization.

As late as the year 1800 men were severely punished in England for organizing guilds or labor unions, and the condition of the working classes was little better only than that of slaves.

Domestic servants in Chicago have organized in a real labor union. Under the name of the Household Workers' Association the union has obtained a charter from the American Federation of Labor.

Ohio labor organizations have started a memorial fund to pay off a mortgage on the home of the late secretary of the Ohio Federation of Labor, Harry Thomas, and to educate his seven children.

A fall of coal which blocked the shaft of the mine at Falisolle, Belgium, occurred the other day and the strike leaders sent a large gang of men to shore up the mine in order to prevent further damage.

The Amalgamated Glass Workers of Toronto, Ont., are asking for an increase of five cents an hour over their present rate of 28 cents, while the horseshoers are seeking a weekly increase of $5. A minimum wage of $20 per week is demanded.

The four principal railroad brotherhoods are made up of the engineers, the firemen, the conductors and the trainmen, with a total membership of 300,000, or 95 per cent. of the crews of the Nation's 60,000 locomotives and 2,000,000 railway cars.

The demand of the Winnipeg painters for an increase of wages to 50 cents per hour has been refused by the employers, who are relying on the large number of non-union men in the city and the annual influx of job-seeking men to stave off the increase.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

The Kleine-Cines photo-drama of "Quo Vadis" which is being shown twice daily, including Sundays, at the Astor, has created a furore at that theatre that could not be exceeded by the presentation of Henryk Sienkiewicz's famous romance at the hands of flesh and blood actors. Sienkiewicz's story is here re-told in a series of scenes that are so realistic as to keep the audience in a state of spellbound attention during the three acts into which this remarkable photo play is divided.

NEW JERSEY CLUB WOMEN.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 2.—"The White Slave Traffic" was the chief subject of discussion at the annual convention this afternoon of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs. Tomorrow morning Prof. Scott Nearing, of the University of Pennsylvania, will address the club women on the subject of "Budgets, Wages and Financing the Family." The convention will close with the election of officers tomorrow afternoon.

ARBOR AND BIRD DAY.

Bismark, N. D., May 2.—Pursuant to the proclamation of Governor Hanna the people of North Dakota quite generally observed Arbor and Bird Day today by planting trees and flowers and building shelter houses for the wild birds. In all the public schools the day was set apart for the instruction of the pupils in the knowledge of forestry and bird life.

TAFT'S FIRST LECTURE.

New Haven, Conn., May 2.—Yale students, faculty members and invited guests filled Lampson Lyceum this afternoon to hear the first of the series of lectures to be delivered at the university by former President William H. Taft. Prof. Taft's subject was "Questions of Modern Government."

GENERAL EUROPEAN WAR IS THREATENED

Austria's Attitude Towards Balkan Allies Presents Critical Situation.

London, May 2.—The threatening attitude of Austria towards the Balkan allies and the possibility that a general European war may be the result directs attention to the present military and naval resources of the great Powers.

It is scarcely conceivable that any contingency will arise to plunge all the great nations of Europe into a general war. The rulers themselves have more to lose—infinitely more to lose—than to gain from such a calamity, and voluntarily will never take, together or singly, steps that would provoke a universal outburst of flaming death in Europe. But there is no denying the fact that the present situation is a serious menace to continental peace and that no one fully acquainted with that situation would be surprised at the outbreak of hostilities involving several—two at least, and perhaps three—of the six Powers usually classified as "great."

The triple alliance between Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy, the Franco-Russian alliance, and the friendly understandings between Great Britain and France and Great Britain and Italy, all exist primarily to maintain the status quo, but secondarily to checkmate one another in diplomacy or to fight one another in certain eventualities. It is important, therefore, to compare the offensive and defensive resources of these Powers, with a view to estimating roughly the scale of possible operations if war broke out involving any two or more of them.

The British army is the smallest of the six. Great Britain, in spite of her globe-encircling possessions, is primarily not a land but a sea power. It has been the policy of the British Admiralty during reecnt years to develop a 60 per cent. superiority in vessels of the Dreadnought type over German navy, Germany, next to Great Britain, being the strongest of the naval powers. The British land force has of late been a subject of much discussion. What is called the Expeditionary Force is a by-product of the British maritime system, and it is ready, when necessary, to be placed at the disposal of England's friends. It is true that it is not large, but it would have turned the scales in any and every battle fought in modern times. It is as large as the Russian and larger than the Japanese army which fought at Liao-Yang, and larger also than the Bulgarian or Turkish armies which fought in any battle of the Balkan War. For home defence the British Isles depend upon the Territorial Force. Every effort to raise this force to the full strength of 500,000 or 600,00 men has been futile, and in the opinion of military experts it will be impossible without the adoption of compulsion in some form. At the same time no one doubts that the Territorial Force is in a condition to take the field at once upon the despatch of the Expeditionary Force and to guarantee the safety of the country in case of invasion by a continental army.

Germany and France are rivaling one another in their feverish efforts to increase their armed strength. Roughly speaking, Germany is aiming at a five million men standard for her army, but it is well known that a dependance upon numbers alone is not a failing of German military administrators, who are consistant in seeking, above all, to improve the quality and soldity of the first line. The increase in the German navy of late has been such as to seriously threaten Great Britain's "60 per cent. superiority" standard. The salient feature in German naval progress is not so much the increase in size and power of every class of warship, although this has been most marked, but the further preparation for the immediate use of the whole of the effective fleet. Also to be reckoned is the German air fleet, admittedly the finest in the world.

France, impelled rather by the extraordinary acceleration of shipbuilding in Italy and Austria-Hungary, is making strenuous efforts to recover the ground lost in recent years. At the same time every possible increase in the French army which can be effected by financial and administrative methods is being made without delay.

Italy's navy is rapidly assuming respectable proportions. But the glory of Italy's armed forces is her cavalry. The peace footing is 275,000; this can be raised in a week to upwards of 1,000,000 men. Austria-Hungary has recently passed laws which will much increase the military strength of the Dual Monarchy. Roughly speaking, the old organization produced about 1,214,000 trained men. The new laws will eventually raise this figure to 1,820,000.

The Russian army is the largest of all Europe and steps have been taken recently to further increase its size and efficiency. While there are continued signs of renewed activity in Russian naval construction, the acceleration in shipbuilding which is so noteworthy in Italy and Austria-Hungary has not been equalled. According to present plans the armies of the Central European Powers will be increased by 1,500,000 trained men before the end of the year. Those additions are not considered excessive from the military point of view, because, apart from all other considerations, the Russian contingent of recruits approximately equals that of Germany and Austria combined.

PLEADS FOR JURY REFORM

New Jersey before the Legislature; a man who did not dare to act that way when he knew there was a man who would go even to his own home and point him out for what he was."

The hisses were repeated when Mr. Wilson spoke of a "conference he held with the members of the Legislature," prior to his leaving for Washington, and "before James Nugent, of Essex, took charge of the Legislature."

Mr. Wilson told his hearers that he had come to fight the moment he entered the hall.

On the platform with Mr. Wilson were Assemblymen John J. Griffin, William N. Leonard, and Hugh McLoughlin, of Union county, in which Elizabeth is located. Leonard is with President Wilson, but Griffin and McLaughlin voted against the legislation, despite the fact that McLaughlin was one of his supporters when he was Governor and supported the legislation for honest elections. President Wilson gave a striking example of the way he had mapped out his fight, a turn that almost startled his hearers. Referring to Assemblyman McLoughlin, he said:

"Some upright men are allowing themselves to become the catspaw of men who have debauched the politics of this State and are about to debauch it again unless you assist yourselves. One of the men in this county, I believe, is a very honest and a very upright man. I want to ask him why he has taken this position. I know where his heart lies; he wants to be for the people. It is a matter of amazement and distress to me that he does not see that this legislation is in the cause of the people.

"He stood by me once before in the cause of the people and now I wonder why he is not with me again. I want to tell him affectionately why he is wrong. Some very deep men who do not love the people are trying to use him to disappoint the people. Every suitable method is being used to set honest men against one another and band dishonest men together.

"I want to free the jurisprudence of the stain—it is a certainty—that men are not treated honestly in the courts of law. I won't say they are treated dishonestly by the courts, but the court approaches to the courts of justice are not used in the same way."

President Wilson then referred to the office of Sheriff as the citadel of power in New Jersey, and said that the machine was willing to give up the election of any other officer to obtain the Sheriff, because by that office justice could be withheld.

"When I started for New Jersey I got on the train with a light heart and I didn't know that I liked warfare. But a game of hide and seek is being played with the people of New Jersey and it is time that they took the bandages off their eyes and caught these fellows."

Then Mr. Wilson referred to the "referendum clause," saying that he was ready for a genuine referendum, but not a referendum where the very officers who would be effected by the change controlled the counting of the vote.

"Never with my eyes open have I gone into an open and shut game," he asserted.

The President also spoke for the holding of a constitutional convention, saying that a "Constitution prepared in 1844 was many years behind the trend of the times."

"If you should go back to and see your country in 1844 you would have to be introduced to it," he said, "and yet you are living under a Constitution framed in that year.

"The play is on the boards again next Tuesday. Let your Assemblyman know that the way he votes constitutes the line of his career for the rest of his life. I would rather be in jail than among people who despise me. To be despised and at liberty is to be in a prison of the soul, which is worse than any prison provided by the law.

"We are going to get jury reform; don't be nervous about that. The mill of the gods grind on and they grind out justice and will see that purity in government is again enthroned."

NURSES AT HOSPITAL ENJOYED THE DANCE

The pupil nurses of the Training School of Muhlenberg Hospital, gave a reception and dance at the Nurses' Home, last night, in honor of the four young women comprising this year's graduating class, Miss Elizabeth Duff, Miss Isabella McNicol, Miss Ella Schenck and Miss Aurelia Brown. There were about seventy-five guests, including a majority of the physicians of the city and borough.

The home was decorated for the occasion with spring flowers and apple blossoms. Dancing was the feature of the evening, music being furnished by a three piece orchestra. During an intermission the committee in charge served refreshments. The annual graduation exercises will be held Thursday night, May 22, at the Hartridge Auditorium. Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, of Watchung, who is pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist church, New York, will make the address.

FLOWERS MUCH IN EVIDENCE IN MOST ARTISTIC WEDDING OF SEASON

The most artistic wedding of the season in New York was that of Miss Dorothy Everett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas K. Everett, and Mr. John H. Dunn, Jr., of Newark, N. J.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white satin, trimmed with Carrickmacross lace. Her tulle veil was caught up with a chaplet of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Grace Lee Middleton, who wore white moire with girdle and sash of French blue, with Leghorn hat with French blue ribbon and blue feathers. Her bouquet was long stemmed pink roses. Miss Drusilla Everett, sister of the bride, and Misses Louise Moore and Florence De Graw were the flower girls. They were in pink satin, with blue velvet girdles and Leghorn hats, with pink roses and blue velvet bows. They carried bouquets of pink and blue flowers.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS PLAN FOR MOTHERS' DAY

Mothers' Day will be observed by the Sabbath-school of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, on Saturday, May 10. The committee that was recently appointed to investigate plans and cost of enlarging the church kitchen will report at the quarterly business meeting of the church, Sunday night. Harold Spicer will lead the Senior C. E. Society meeting and Harold Whitford will conduct the Junior C. E. Society meeting, tomorrow, at the usual hours.

The congregation will use tomorrow morning for the first time the new hymn books, entitled "The American Hymnal." The regular covenant meeting will be held this evening, preparatory to the communion service tomorrow morning. If the weather is favorable, Miss Frances, superintendent of the Junior C. E. Society, will take the members on a picnic on Sunday.

DR. HALL FAVORS VOTES FOR WOMEN

Noted Man Presents Many Sound Arguments in Favor of Equal Suffrage.

A CONVINCING SPEAKER

Miss Connolly Also Stirs Audience at Plainfield High School Auditorium—Trade Board Head's Appeal.

In introducing Dr. Thomas C. Hall last evening at the Prainfield High School auditorium to the large and representative gathering of Plainfield's people, Champlain Riley, who presided, said that as the Equal Suffrage issues were so largely moral issues he was glad to introduce Dr. Hall, professor of Ethics at Union Theological Seminary, New York. The speaker opened his address by saying that he was glad to "unburden his mind, and hoped often to unburden his mind" on a subject he had so much at heart. That there are serious reasons for asking whether women should not take a more active and lively part in the political life of today.

In the first place the very fact that men and women are unlike, Dr. Hall said, is an argument to be considered. This unlikness, he contended, will increase, rather than diminish, and the two points of view should be represented in our civic life and laws. The sexes will always be a mystery to each other but "that is no reason why one mystery should lord it over the other mystery." We have lived in a masculine world, a world of war, a world governed by brute force. Now at the close of this century a more civilized attitude is being taken by the nations. Armies and navies are being maintained, not for war, but to insure peace. Woman will aid this new attitude by bringing to civilization elements needed to maintain it.

"Cannot we have this womanly influence," Dr. Hall said, "without the vote?—The indirect influence so often lauded."

He contended that there has hardly been in history a more dangerous element than the backstair influence of women. "What kind of woman has exercised it? We need the fine wife and mother to come out in the open and directly influence conditions that affect the home and civic and political life. We need to face the actual fact that civilization rests upon the home and the 'woman's sphere is the home.' For the sake of the home that she is particularly interested in, she is needed at the polls to protect the home. To protect the home against the saloon, against the house of ill-fame, against the invasion of the factory and employment of child labor, against the things that are tearing the home apart because of masculine greed and selfishness."

"The greatest part of child education is in the hands of women teachers. These women should have votes on questions relating to the age at which children should be permitted to leave school to work in factories, instead of having to refer them to men overlords who are not half as well informed or qualified to determine them." He said he believes that women are fitted to lift up the school and university and make them the logical outcome of the home.

"It is true that women are doing much without the vote, but how much more they could do with it! It is said that politics are 'too dirty' for our mothers, wives and friends. If they are," says Dr. Hall, "then they are 'too dirty' for us. If we have made a mud-puddle of them, it is time we asked the women to help pull us out. Much is said of the 'privileges' of the old-time woman. Do you women want privileges or rights? Do you want privileges at the expense of sub-servience, being shut out from the higher experiences of life and opportunity for greater service?" Personally, Dr. Hall said he believes that men will be more courteous, instead of less so, when women ennoble themselves by taking higher responsibilities. "It is all eau-de-cologne nonsense to talk of privileges going. The woman of privilege is not the woman who needs the vote for herself. She can pay some lawyer to take care of her interests. The women who need the vote are the great mass of her sisters whose only protection against the male placed in economic positions over them, is the ballot."

Dr. Hall here cited a case in point. He was on his way to Albany to kill a bill that was pending. Of the parties was a young working girl who was going for the same purpose. She was representing 10,000 working women. Dr. Hall talked with her and found that she was so versed in the subject that she had forgotten more than he ever knew about it, and he learned a great deal from her. Before the Legislature the little working girl was given four minutes to speak, while papers rattled, men turned their backs and paid scant attention. When, however, "Dr. Hall, of New York," was announced, there

WHEN BOROUGH WILL PAY FOR TREATMENT

Borough Council Makes Rule as to Indigent Patients at the Hospital.

In the future the borough of North Plainfield will pay the regular fee for its indigent patients at Muhlenberg Hospital only when they are sent there and their admittance is approved of by Chief Marshal George Weiss of Overseer of the Poor Fred Becker. This was decided at a meeting of the Borough Council last night when a resolution to that effect was adopted.

Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., applied for an increase in its annual appropriation from the borough because this year will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Appomattox. The request was unanimously granted, the Post being granted $50 instead of $30 as heretofore.

Recorder Gano reported that during the month of April 22 arrests had been made and $22 in fines collected. Bills to the amount of $2,512 against the borough were authorized to be paid. A loan of $2,000 was authorized to be secured in anticipation of the collection of taxes. An appropriation of $150 was granted to Overseer of the Poor Fred Becker. The purchase of 300 feet of fire hose at eighty-five cents per foot was authorized for the Fire Department.

The following building permits were granted: W. La Van Syckle chicken coop in Jackson avenue; H. A. McGee, addition to his house in Orchard avenue; Councilman Alexander Milne, garage in Washington avenue, and F. M. Gano, garage in Grove street.

YOUNG WOMEN GIVE "APPEAL OF NATIONS"

Trinity's Mission Band Gives Entertainment—Committees Are Named.

The Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church at its meeting, yesterday afternoon, with Miss Winifred Rapalje, the newly-elected president, in the chair, offered an attractive program, entitled "The Appeal of the Nations," it being a representation in costume of the work of the Women's Board of Domestic Missions for the countries under the American flag and other countries.

The devotional exercises were in charge of Miss Florence Dixon, after which "The Appeal of the Nations" was given as follows:

Herald, Miss Adele Freeman; America, Miss Helen Woodruff; messenger, Miss Marion Woolley; representative of the Board of Domestic Missions, Miss Mabel Wilson; Italy, Miss Jennie Sears; India, Miss Edna Cole; Japanese, Miss Edna Smith; Mountaineer, Miss Cora Gano; immigrant, Miss Adelaide Cole. The young women took their several parts exceedingly well and were complimented afterward.

Miss Rapalje during the business session announced her committees for the coming year as follows:

Foreign and Domestic missions, Miss Lillian A. Force, Miss Elizabeth Wilson, Miss Florence Dixon, Mrs. Arthur Stevens, Miss Etta Raybert, Mrs. H. C. VanEmburgh, Mrs. Will F. Williams, Mrs. A. B. Davis; new membership, Mrs. Harry Cooke, Miss Edna Cole, Mrs. Dean; finance, Miss Mabel Wilson, Miss Lillian A. Force, Mrs. F. S. Cutter, Miss Helen Smith, Mrs. Leonard Smith, Miss Edna Dilts.

Flower and visiting, Mrs. Anna Zimmer, Mrs. A. B. Cole, Mrs. George Mantz, Miss Cora Gano; program, Miss Margaret Leggett, Miss Mabel Wilson, Mrs. Corra Ryno, Miss Helen Smith, Miss Winifred Rapalje; collectors, Mrs. Leonard Smith, Mrs. F. S. Cutter, Mrs. Arthur Stevens; paper, Mrs. A. B. Cole, Mrs. J. VanArsdale, Mrs. Lorenzo Townley, Miss Elizabeth Brokaw; devotional, Mrs. Corra Ryno, Mrs. Henry Seader, Mrs. Anna Zimmer; social, Miss Ethel VanZandt, Miss Leonora Miller, Miss Florence Dixon, Miss Edna Cole, Miss Cora Gano; birthday, Miss Leonora Miller, Mrs. Harry Cooke, Mrs. Lorenzo Townley.

COURT RESTORES PEACE.

Mrs. Maria Turelnia and Mrs. Philimino Eucasio, of North avenue, who were arrested Wednesday for fighting in the vicinity of their homes over an alleged scandal in the latter's family, were arraigned before City Judge De Meza this morning who suspended sentence. The court told the women to shake hands, go home and live peaceful lives. The two women smiled at the judge, shook hands, and smiled some more, and left the court room muttering something in Italian.

CHANDLER MADE HEALTH OFFICER

Board of Health Also Appoints Miss Harriet C. Mattison as the Assistant.

REPORTS FOR MONTH

Dr. Longbothum Resigns as Bacteriologist—Some Permits Granted and Inspections Made—Thank George Megrew.

Randolph Chandler, of Codington avenue, the borough, who has been in the employ of the Board of Health of this city for some time, was appointed health officer by the Board at its May meeting, yesterday afternoon, succeeding John O'Brien. Miss Harriet C. Mattison was made assistant health officer and registrar of vital statistics.

The Common Council failing to make the full appropriation which the Board requested, it was decided to ask the city fathers to appropriate $300 in order that the Board might contribute toward the support of the tuberculosis clinic. It was moved and carried that a letter be sent to George Megrew expressing the appreciation of the Board for his cooperation in the recent anti-fly campaign.

A total of forty-one communicable diseases was reported during the past month as follows: Tuberculosis, 10; scarlet fever, 15; diphtheria, 4; measles, 10; chicken-pox, 2. In addition to the above one case of diphtheria was brought to Muhlenberg Hospital from North Plainfield. Fifty-six rooms were disinfected in twenty houses. Examinations were made of forty-five cultures, twenty-three for diphtheria and twenty-two for tuberculosis. Inspections were made of thirty-eight dairies, three bottling places, fifty wagons, two store-rooms and two Kumiss plants in connection with the milk supply. Thirty-one samples of milk were collected and analyzed.

During the month several changes in the distribution of milk were made. J. W. & C. J. Welch, of German Valley, bought out the businesses conducted by Lambert, Squires and Brokaw and will use the Brokaw creamery on East Front street as the distributing centre.

A sample of the city water was taken and the result showed the water to be of excellent quality. All dumps have been closed in the city with the exception of the following: Giraud avenue and West Front street, East Seventh street, between Leland avenue and Terrill road, Randolph road at the pumping station.

All stores, markets, etc., in the East End, where foodstuffs are on sale were visited during the month and a copy of the State law and rules covering the exposure of this class of material to dust and flies was delivered to each store, market, etc. The work in the West End of the city will be taken up soon.

The Jewish congregation of Plainfield applied for a permit to construct and maintain a slaughter house at 521 West Third street, but action was deferred for further consideration.

Dr. G. T. Longbothum tendered his resignation as bacteriologist for the Board and the same was accepted. He recently removed to Dunellen. The Board granted the following permits:

Milk—A. R. Phillips, Plainfield Milk and Cream Company, Mrs. A. P. Voorhees, J. F. Muller, Woodbrook Farms, R. H. Krog, Elijah Dufford, Borden Condensed Milk Company, Welch Farms Dairy, William P. Henry; stores—Solomon Mann, Louis Pollock, Abe S. Newmark, F. J. Skinner, Jacob Bedell, J. G. Williams & Co.; small dealers—James Brown, William J. Dealaman, J. Martone and Mrs. Anna Vestergarde. Garbage—George E. Masenior, John Ryan, George R. Carter, P. P. Robinson, Charles Drake, Mrs. Charles Brunjes, Sumner Randolph, Freeman Strait. Offal—Swift & Co., The Brown Company. Smaller dead animals—James Babbitt; scavenger—Frank P. Burke; ice—People's Ice Company.

The following is a summary of inspections made during the month. Plumbing, 125; milk supply, 126; general work, 507; total, 758.

DISORDERLY YOUNG MEN GET SUSPENDED SENTENCE

The boys ranging in ages from 17 to 20 years were arraigned before City Judge De Meza this morning on charges of disorderly conduct and on the recommendation of Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of Reed & Hetfield, who represented the corporation of Plainfield, imposed a suspended sentence on each of $20 or sixty days in jail. If any further complaint comes to the police regarding them the sentence will be immediately imposed.

The prisoners were Patrick Finnerty, Matthew Ward, Edward Hamilton, Burt Smith, Salvatore Scardozzi, Robert Taynor, Robert Brown, James Morley, William Miller and Leon Smith. All live in the west end section of the city.

It was alleged in the complaint that the prisoners composed the Pastime Social Club, which rented the premises at 940 West Third street, where they acted disorderly, broke the windows of the structure, tore the plumbing fixtures loose and in various ways damaged the property.

RECEPTION AND DANCE OF THE LOCAL JR. O. U. A. M.

Sebring's Auditorium was filled to capacity last night, a reception and ball being given under the auspices of Franklin Council, No. 41; Somerset Council, No. 104; Benevolent Council, No. 256, and Plainfield Council, No. 293, Jr. O. U. A. M. A prize waltz, one of the entertaining features arranged by the committee, was won by Miss Helen Deady and James Kiely, both of this city. The judges were Harry Hann, Burt Banks and Donald Muldowney.

Those who arranged the event are: William H. I. Cubberley, chairman; E. R. Honeyman and Harry Hann, of Benevolent Council; Guy E. Thomas, Joseph Martin and Fred Welsh, of Somerset Council; C. S. Wilson, Howard Owens and Samuel Kriney, of Franklin Council, and John Rutledge, John Pennington and Frank Downs, of Plainfield Council.

M. A. KORFF'S "ROUND-UP" TO BE PRESENTED HERE

Martin A. Korff and his orchestra, assisted by the members of Troop 5, of the local Boy Scout Council, will reproduce his Indian sketch entitled "The Round-up" in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening, May 13, at which time parents and others interested in scout work will have an opportunity of seeing the work the scouts do. There will be exhibitions of first aid to the injured work, wall scaling, signalling and pyramid building, in which event the scouts have been trained by Assistant Scoutmaster E. W. Poineer. No admission fee will be charged, but a silver offering will be taken for the benefit of the camping and equipment fund.

Mr. Korff presented the sketch, written by himself, recently at the Baptist church, Scotch Plains, with the co-operation of the members of Troop 5 and it proved to be such a novel entertainment that he has repeated the play in various neighboring towns since. Members of the Watchung Indian tribe in costume take a prominent part in the sketch.

FOR SOLDIERS MONUMENT.

A movement was started at the banquet held in honor of Fire Chief Doane last night to erect a monument in Plainfield in memory of those who died as defenders of the Union in the Civil War. A meeting of those interested will be held at the Frost building on Thursday night. The triangle in front of the Crescent Avenue church was suggested as a site.

DR. STACKHOUSE'S TALK.

CLERGYMAN HURT IN AUTO MISHAP

J. A. Fass' Car Runs Wild Knocking Down Rev. Wm. S. McCoy, of Holy Cross.

CRASHES INTO WINDOW

A Colored Chauffeur's Neglect Cause of Accident—Minister Will Be Unable to Preach Tomorrow—Some Narrow Escapes.

Quick dodging on the part of pedestrians and owners of vehicles passing through West Front street about 6 o'clock last night, was the only thing that prevented wholesale disaster on the part of a runaway automobile owned by Jacob A. Fass, of The Paris, which was in charge of his colored chauffeur, William Davis, of Richmond street.

Before the large touring car was suddenly brought to a standstill, it crashed into one of the big show windows in John Wirth's bakery, breaking the plate glass, and Rev. William S. McCoy, rector of the Holy Cross church who was just entering J. W. Moledezky's stationery store, when he was struck by the forward mudguard and thrown under the machine.

Mr. McCoy suffered from a wrenched back, an injury to his leg and slight cuts on the hand. He was assisted to Mr. Moledezky's store, and Dr. J. H. Carman was summoned. The clergyman was removed to his home. Although his injuries are not considered serious, he will be unable to preach tomorrow.

The accident was the result of Davis, the chauffeur, cranking the machine with the clutch thrown in. The car was standing in front of The Paris at the time, and made a sudden turn, heading straight for Wirth's bakery, with Davis frantically trying to shut off the power. He says that he shouted to Mr. McCoy to get out of the way, but the latter says he heard nothing until the collisson occurred.

Fortunately, the "rush hour" crowd was able to get out of the pathway of the automobile. Several passing vehicles just missed being hit by the machine in its wild dash across the street. Practically the only damage was to the front of the machine and the window in Wirth's bakery. A windowfull of pastry was ruined.

COLORED PEOPLE HAD EVENING AT DANCING

An excellent entertainment preceded the weekly dance for colored people at the Washington Public School last night, the program being in charge of Mrs. C. J. McKay. There were about two hundred people present. The program comprised violin and piano selections by Arthur and Elmer Venable; vocal solos by Mrs. Lillian White; recitations by Mrs. Edward F. Watson; a laughing solo, A. J. Lambert; vocal solo, Mrs. William Brown, concluding with several vocal selections by a quartet comprising Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lambert, Miss Patsy Lander and Preston Clay.

The music for dancing was furnished by Miss Davie Reed and Leon Jones, piano; Charles Peterson, William Dixon and Birard Nelson, drums. The dancing continued until about 11 o'clock. The affair was in charge of chaperones from the Board of Education and an auxiliary committee of colored people.

BENJAMIN R. WESTERN IS DEAD IN FLATBUSH

Benjamin Romain Western, son of Henry Membry Western, and a prominent member of the New York State Bar, died at his home in Flatbush Thursday night following a brief illness. Mr. Western leaves three daughters, Mrs. Edwin C. Knowles, of Trenton; Mrs. Charles W. Smith, formerly of North Plainfield, and Miss Fannie W. Western, of Flatbush, and three sons, Charles C., of this city; W. Hull Western, of North Plainfield, and Percy C. Western, of Bridgeport, Conn.

Mr. Western formerly lived in North Plainfield. He was superintendent of the Holy Cross Sunday-school, of North Plainfield, when Rev. Dr. Murphy was pastor. The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

He was 73 years of age and was a member of the Society of Old Brooklynites, a Past Master of Stellar Lodge, No. 485, F. and A. M., prominent in the affairs of the Young Men's Democratic Club, a life member of the American Institute, of which he was president at the time of his death. He was also a charter member of the Long Island Council, No. 773, Royal Arcanum.

RECEPTION AND TEA AT OPEN-AIR SCHOOL

Anti-Tuberculosis League's Institution is Inspected by Local People.

The Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, which has taken charge of the Open-air School located on Muhlenberg place, gave an informal reception and tea at the pavilion, yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, affording those interested an opportunity to inspect the school and become better acquainted with the work planned by the league. During the afternoon a large number of people called and they were generous in their contributions of edibles and money to assist in carrying on the work.

Tea was served by Mrs. Elliot T. Barrows, Mrs. Frank Warren and Miss Juliette Weber. The committee of arrangements comprised Mrs. Allan Cowperthwaite, chairman; Dr. Clara Krans, Mrs. Horace Stevens, Mrs. Bruce Lachlan and Mrs. F. V. Lawrence.

The pavilion which is now being used for the open-air school was formerly located on the Muhlenberg Hospital grounds, where the league inaugurated its work for the prevention and cure of tuberculosis. After the Bonnie Burn Sanitorium was opened at Scotch Plains the local pavilion was no longer needed for the purpose for which it was intended as patients were sent to the county institution. Then the idea of using the pavilion for an open-air school was adopted.

GREAT GATHERING OF THE ADVENTISTS

Planifield Congregation to Be Represented at Sessions in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Medairy, of this city, will be among the thousands of delegates who will attend the quadrennial meeting of the General Conference of the Seventh-Day Adventists to be held in Washington, May 15 to June 8, and which will bring together believers in the faith from all parts of the world. The New Jersey Conference, which has its headquarters in Trenton, will be officially represented by Elder A. R. Sandborn, its president.

Every one of the twenty-five union conferences in the United States, Canada, Europe, Australia an Africa, and the mission stations in Africa and Asia, will be represented. While the delegates will number between 300 and 500, the number of persons to attend will swell to about 4,000. There are twenty-one churches in the New Jersey Conference, and the adherents in New Jersey await with interest the return of President Sandborn when he will make an extensive report.

Over 500 tents will be pitched for the housing of the people during their stay at the session, and large canvas pavilions will be pitched for the holding of meetings. It is expected that at least thirty meetings a day will be held. Problems affecting the entire denomination will be considered and one of the most important questions will be that of dividing the earth into six divisions in order to work out the problems that the denomination has taken upon itself on more systematic lines.

FRIENDS HONOR FIRE CHIEF DOANE

Banquet Marks 69th Birthday Of Veteran Head of City Department.

PRAISED FOR SERVICES

Following Fine Dinner Served by Henry Windham at the Hotel Waldorf Speeches Are Made Eulogizing the Guest of Honor.

The life of Fire Chief T. O. Doane as a boy, citizen, soldier of the Civil War, politician and fire-fighter, was extolled last night at the Hotel Waldorf, where his son, Thad. Doane, Jr., and his many friends tendered him a testimonial dinner in honor of his sixty-ninth birthday. The speaking following the banquet was at times sentimetnal and unusually inspiring and brought tears to the eyes of the honored guest. Among those seated around the table to pay their respects to the Chief were many brother members of the local order of Elks, some men who had fought side by side with him in the Civil War; call-men of the fire department and some prominent in business, civic and political affairs of Plainfield. William N. Runyon acted as toastmaster.

During the festivities Mr. Runyon in an appropriate address presented Chief Doane with an Elks' charm, the gift of his son, Thad Doane, who had sent to Montana for the tooth, had it mounted on a gold diamond studded emblem, bearing the inscription "To Papa from Thaddie, May 3, 1913."

"My friends," said Chief Doane, "I am too full for utterance, but I want to thank you for this token of your esteem and friendship. I have always taken a stand for the best of the city, both as chief engineer of the Plainfield fire department and as a private citizen. I feel proud of my friends. Although in the years past many have opposed me at various times, I feel tonight that my enemies of years ago are now my good friends. I really cannot express my thanks and sentiments tonight."

As toastmaster William N. Runyon said:

"It is a great privilege and honor to extole the virtues of those boys of '61 who risked their lives that this country might live, and tonight we are assembled here to honor on his sixty-ninth birthday one of those boys of '61. There are men here tonight who knew Thad as the boy who went to the front in defense of the nation, and who fought with him; those who are intimate and have traveled through life with him and wonder at his youthfulness in mind and spirit. We all have for him that same feeling of affection and have always found him true to himself and in being true to himself, he has been true to those about him. He has performed responsible work for his country, State, city and family and in the performance of these duties has never flinched."

Captain William Hand, a comrade of the Chief in the Civil War, was the next speaker and gave reminiscences of the strife. He spoke of Chief Doane as a good and brave soldier at all times and remarked, "Thad didn't know enough to be afraid."

Among others who briefly expressed words of esteem for the Chief were Captain William C. Smith, George J. Tobin, Thomas Muir, John Cose, V. W. Nash, Sr., Harry Runyon, and H. W. Marshall.

A telegram of regret at being unable to attend was received from Mayor Percy H. Stewart, who said in the communication that a previous important engagement prevented his being present. He congratulated the chief and wished him many "happy returns of the day." The Mayor also sent a handsome bouquet of pink and red carnations as "a small token of his esteem."

During the evening the Elks Quartet, composed of Harry Blimm, William Smith, Elmer Cutting and J. V. Todd, rendered several humorous songs and Thomas Muir, accompanied by Judge Runyon on the piano, accommodated with a vocal selection.

Among those present were B. F. Coriell, Ernest Pach, John Cose, Captain William Townley, Captain James Daly, H. W. Marshall, W. R. Townsend, Harry C. Runyon, J. R. Knowlton, Joseph Noonan, V. W. Nash, Jr., William C. Smith, E. H. Bird, Robert Woodhouse, E. M. Laing, Joseph Harrigan, Charles P. Sebring, Thomas Muir, M. F. Elderton, Thad. Doane, Jr., Captain William Hand, J. V. Todd, W. G. Smith, Harry C. Blimm, E. D. Cutting, Herbert Buxton and V. W. Nash, Sr.

At the beginning of the Civil War Chief Doane enlisted as a private in Company B, Eleventh New Jersey Volunteer, which left Elizabeth under Captain William H. Meeker. He was wounded three times, the last time being during the second day

NOTED ENGLISH STATESMEN INVOLVED IN PECULIAR MARCONI WIRELESS TRANSACTIONS

As a result of the British Marconi Wireless inquiry two Cabinet Ministers, David Lloyd-George and Sir Rufus Isaacs, and a noted statesman and member of the liberal party, Lord Murray, stand before the people of England accused of peculiar stock transactions.

The coalition government, as represented by the Asquith Ministry, is declared to be tottering, while day by day the public is eagerly devouring the details in the great wireless telegraph inquiry as they are being developed by the Parliamentary committee headed by Sir Albert Spicer, but uncompromisingly dominated by one of the ablest advocates in England, Lord Robert Cecil.

Blue Sky Laws

When airships grow so commonplace
That all men live in air
Familiar signs we see on earth
Will have new meaning there.

Our well known sign "Keep Off the Grass"
Will not restrain the crowds.
Instead, to check the ruthless herd,
We'll see "Keep Off the Clouds."

How strange to us will seem these words
(On Sirius at least)
In letters large, "Dogs Here Allowed."
What joy to canine beast!

"No Shooting Here" will not be meant
For sportsmen up on high,
But rather for the meteors
That dart across the sky.

And yet, though signs be modified
As new environ wills,
One old, familiar face we'll see
Unaltered—"Post No Bills!"

HIGH HONOR CONFERRED ON AN INSANE PAINTER.

Inmate of Madhouse Sixteen Years Is Elected to Academy.

Ralph Albert Blakelock, an artist who has been an inmate of an insane asylum for sixteen years, was recently elected to an associate membership in the National Academy of Design. The balloting took place in New York.

There were thirty-one other candidates, but Mr. Blakelock alone received the unanimous support of the hundred academicians voting. The decision to honor Mr. Blakelock was made after one of his paintings had been sold for $13,000 and others had been hung in the Metropolitan museum, the Brooklyn institute, the Corcoran gallery and the National gallery, in Washington.

The career of Mr. Blakelock was one of the tragedies of American art. He was born in New York on Oct. 15, 1847, and gained his art education there. He refused to attend the art schools, but studied with whatever artist took his fancy. His first fame came from Indian canvases, and the greatest of these he painted just before it was discovered that he was violently insane.

While he was at work on this picture, "The Pine Dance," now in the Metropolitan museum, his friends found him in his studio playing a piano violently and then working on the painting, which was arranged on the piano in place of a piece of music. He was playing the piano and painting at the same time, he explained, because he needed the rhythm of the music to enable him to make his Indians dance. As a matter of fact, it was the rhythmic swing of the dancers that made the painting famous.

Forcible Feeding Saves Big Python From Starvation.

A "hunger strike" which had been maintained for twenty-two months by Princess, a twenty-one foot python in the New York zoological park, was broken recently when Keeper Snyder and three of his assistants forced the big serpent to swallow a quantity of food.

It is not unusual for pythons to go without food for several months at certain seasons of the year. Consequently Snyder was not alarmed when Princess refused to eat after fasting four months. At the end of about the sixth month, however, he began to be worried, for the python still refused to break her fast.

Then for nearly a year and a half the keeper and his assistants tried to tempt the big serpent's appetite. Their efforts were in vain, and Snyder, fearing Princess would die, summoned his men and had them force down the snake's throat enough food to keep her alive for several months.

INTERNATIONAL BOOK SHOW.

All Branches of Industry, Including Photography, In Leipzig Exhibition.

An international exhibition for the book industry and the graphic arts, photography included, will take place this summer, from May to October, in Leipzig, which is the center of the book industry in Germany. The exposition was planned to celebrate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the Royal Academy of Graphic Arts in that city.

The exhibition is being organized on an extensive scale, including among the allied arts the manufacture of paper, the development of newspapers and finally a group devoted to measures for the protection and welfare of workmen.

NEW ITALIAN BATTLESHIPS.

Type Has Been Decided on, and Four Will Be Done by 1916.

The type of the Italian Dreadnought has been settled upon, and four of them are expected to be in commission by 1916. Each will carry nine fifteen-inch guns in three turrets, one forward and two aft.

They will be of 30,000 tons displacement and will have a speed of twenty-five knots an hour. They will have very heavy armor, the maximum thickness of which will be thirteen inches. They will cost about $18,000,000 each.

"Hug" Dances Barred.

Because of the agitation aroused by the supposedly immoral effect of the various "hug" and "cuddle" dances the school authorities at Washington recently issued an edict forbidding a space of less than three inches between dancers.

—Somebody will take the first direct step toward home ownership, today, influenced entirely by one of the real estate ads in the Press. Is it to be You?

AN INFORMAL DANCE.

Invitations have been issued for an informal reception and dance to be conducted under the auspices of the Business Men's Training Institute in Debele's Hall, Saturday night, May 15. The committees consist of the following: Arrangement, Howard J. Armstrong; tickets, Miss Myrtle Gowie; refreshments, Miss Stellar F. Reynolds; invitation, Miss Florence Barnes; floor, F. C. Denton and Harold Rogers.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 80 degrees; 11 a. m., 89 degrees; 12:30 p. m., 92 degrees.

SIR CECIL SPRING-RICE

FACT.

Local Evidence.

Evidence that can be verified.

Fact is what we want.

Opinion is not enough.

Opinions differ.

Here's a Plainfield fact.

You can test it.

Mrs. O. C. Moore, 57 Manning avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I endured much misery from backache which was caused by my kidneys. Many nights I was unable to rest at all and when I got up in the morning, my limbs were so stiff and sore that I could hardly get out of bed. Whenever I caught the least cold, it settled on my kidneys and any strain on my back always made the aches and pains worse. I was treated by physicians but their medicine did not help me and it was not until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's drug store, that I had any hope of getting rid of the trouble. They made me feel like a different person and I have never had any serious trouble since."

CATHOLIC SOCIETIES.

Decatur, Ill., May 3.—Many delegates are arriving here for the twenty-first annual convention of the Illinois Federation of German Catholic Societies. The convention will be opened tomorrow morning with a solemn pontifical mass by Bishop Janssen, of Alton. A street parade will follow the church services. The business sessions of the convention will be held Monday and Tuesday.

SEMINARY COMMENCEMENT.

Princeton, May 3.—Many visitors are arriving here for the 101st annual commencement of the Princeton Theological Seminary. President Francis Patton will conduct the opening services at the Miller Chapel tomorrow, and the sacrament will be administered. Monday morning the board of directors will hold their annual meeting, and on Tuesday the commmencement exercises proper will be held. There will be a meeting of the board of trustees in the afternoon.

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., May 3.—Plans for important preliminary work in connection with the celebration in 1914-15 of the one hundred anniversary of peace among English-speaking peoples dating from the signing of the Treaty of Ghent, will be discussed at a conference which will begin in New York Monday and continue several days. Representatives of England, Canada, Australia, Newfoundland and the United States will take part in the conference.

A special session of the New Jersey Legislature will meet Tuesday to consider the jury reform bill that is advocated by President Wilson and which failed of passage at the regular session of the assembly that adjourned two weeks ago.

A wedding of international interest will take place at the Baltimore Cathedral on Monday, when the Baroness Alix Moncheur, daughter of Baron Moncheur, the Belgian ambassador to Turkey, and Robert F. Loree, son of L. F. Loree, former president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, will be married. The ceremony will be performed by Cardinal Gibbons.

A statue of Carl Schurz, erected by the Carl Schurz Memorial Committee, will be unveiled Saturday on Morningside Heigats, New York city. Addresses will be delivered by speakers of prominence, and there will be a military parade and singing by German societies.

The new Henry Phipps Institute of the University of Pennsylvania will be formally dedicated Saturday. The institute, which was presented to the university in 1911 by Henry Phipps, has for its object the study, treatment and prevention of tuberculosis.

Saturday will mark the centennial of the birth of Montgomery Blair, who, as postmaster general of the United States, instituted several important reforms in the postal system such as money orders, free delivery in cities and postal railroad cars.

The case of Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist under indictment on a charge of violating the Mann White Slave Act, will be called for trial Monday in the Federal court at Chicago.

Among the conventions of the week will be the National Conference on City Planning, which will be held in Chicago; the annual convention of the International Association of Factory Inspectors, also in Chicago; the annual meeting of the Railway Development Association, in Nashville, and the annual meeting of the American Therapeutic Association, in Washington, D. C.

SUFFRAGISTS ARE ON PARADE TODAY

Twenty Thousand Participate in Great Demonstration in New York City.

New York, May 3.—Woman suffragists, 20,000 strong, indulged in another parade in New York this afternoon to give expression to their demand for the privilege of voting. The parade was a larger affair than the similar demonstration seen here last year and included many new and interesting features. While the paraders, eight abreast instead of four as in previous parades, marched up Fifth avenue in martial array they were loudly cheered by tens of thousands of spectators who lined both sides of the famous old thoroughfare.

The procession was led by Mrs. Richard Coke Burleson on horseback dressed in a plain riding habit and carrying a national flag. Following her were eight women representing the eight suffrage organizations of New York, each carrying a banner with the color of the organization represented. Next came the executive officers of the National Woman's Suffrage Association, riding in carriages. The "Pilgrims" who hiked to Washington, headed by General Rosalie Jones, marched in front of the carriage in which rode the pioneer suffragist, Mrs. Antoinette Brown Blackwell.

Garbed in the picturesque costumes of their native lands were the groups of foreign enfranchised women. Those from Sweden were dressed as Valkyries of the Sagas and were led by the "Valkyria" riding on horseback, followed by Blenda, who won a great victory in 1154, with Christina Stjerna, who defended Stockholm in 1520, and Jenny Lind, the first Swedish suffragist. Attached to this section was a Finnish band, one of nearly two score bands in line, which played Finnish national airs.

The representation of men in the parade was unusually large. Some of them marched with their wives, but the majority of them were together under the banner of the Men's League. This division was led by a group of mounted men and women riding in couples. Two handsome silk banners recently presented to the Men's League were carried by the same men who were banner bearers in the first suffrage parade, when only eighty-nine men were in line.

Street-corner demonstrations and speech-making were in order all along the line of march, which extended the length of Fifth avenue from Washington Square to Fifty-ninth street. As the parade reached the reviewing stand at the Public Library, where many prominent men occupied seats, the Woman's Marseillaise was sung by a large chorus of women and girls.

ATHLETIC CELEBRITIES.

New York, May 3.—The large number of entries, including nearly all of the most celebrated long distance professional runners in the country, has excited unusual interest in the fifteen-mile professional foot-race for the world's championship, which is to be decided under the auspices of the Monument Athletic Club at Celtic Park tomorrow. Among the entries are Willie Kolehmainen, the Finnish long distance champion and world title holder; Tom Longboat, the marvelous Canadian Indian runner, who beat Kohelmainen in Edinburgh a year ago; Billy Qaral, the holder of the American championship, and Johnny Hayes, winner of the sensational Marathon race in London in 1908.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL WORKERS SAIL.

New York, May 3.—The first party of American delegates to the World's Sunday-school convention which will be held in Zurich, Switzerland, in July, sailed from New York today for a tour of Egypt and the Holy Land prior to the convention. Altogether there will be several thousand American delegates at the Zurich convention. Several ships have been chartered to convey them to Europe, sailing next month from New York, Boston and Montreal.

OXADINE

ANTISEPTIC ALKALINE DEODORANT

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

YOU HAVE TRIED

OXADINE LIQUID

YOU HAVE FOUND IT GOOD

"Oxadine Day" was a success. Many hundreds of Plainfield families accepted our offer for a Free Trial Bottle of Oxadine Liquid.

That is all we wanted.

We know those who try it, who experience its delightfully cleansing, purifying effect upon the mouth, will never be without it.

A CLEAN MOUTH IS A SAFEGUARD TO HEALTH

The mouth is the gateway to health and its purity should be carefully guarded.

Germs multiply very rapidly in the mouth if it is not kept clean.

An unclean mouth is a menace to the whole body, for food and drink, as they pass through the mouth, carry the germs to the entire system.

USING OXADINE LIQUID SHOULD BECOME A DAILY HABIT

Oxadine Liquid Antiseptic is a pleasant, non-poisonous germacide and deodorant which thoroughly cleanses the mouth and acts as an efficient Alkaline Antiseptic in the treatment of inflammatory conditions of all mucous membranes. Especially recommended for catarrhal conditions of the mouth, nose and throat.

FOR CLEANSING THE MOUTH—Use Oxadine Liquid morning, noon and night. It keeps the mucous membrane pink and healthy, improves the taste, kills all germs and aids digestion.

FOR DRYNESS OF MOUTH and COATED TONGUE—In cases of dryness of the mouth arising from fevers, pneumonia, indigestion, etc., Oxadine Liquid refreshes the mouth by the oxidation of all waste matter and assists nature in the removal of the coating from the tongue.

FOR FOLLICULAR TONSILITIS and QUINSY—Apply the undiluted solution to the tonsils with a pledget of cotton, twice a day, and use the solution diluted one-half, as a gargle every two hours.

FOR TOBACCO USERS—Every user of tobacco should have the Oxadine habit. This mouth wash relieves the dryness of the mucous membrane, sweetens the breath, improves the taste and leaves the mouth pure and wholesome.

CATARRH—Very decided relief is obtained in acute or chronic catarrh by spraying the nasal passages and throat three times a day with a solution of one part Oxadine and two parts water.

OXADINE TOOTH POWDER

No other tooth powder contains MAGNESIUM PEROXIDE. No other tooth powder will give you the combined beneficial advantages of OXYGEN and MILK of MAGNESIA. No other tooth powder is as pleasing and pleasant to use. Certainly, these reasons are worth while considering the next time you buy tooth powder.

DEMOCRACY AND EDUCATION.

The hope of any democracy for safety is based upon the education of the individual. Democracy has little place among an ignorant and unsocialized people. In primitive days when the mass of the people lived underneath a low mental horizon a king was demanded and the people worshipped him as a divine and sacred being. The people looked upon the king as a concrete evidence of authority. His word was law. Life and death were at his disposal. The land belonged to the king. Kings flourished in high estate, while ignorance prevailed from coast to coast. Ignorance demanded such a manifest form of government for its own preservation and for the preservation of whatever sort of society then existing. Superstition and precedent have been loth to yield their power. The people are prone to demand a sign, an external manifestation of power instead of an internal bond of union. But man, by nature endowed with potential worth, is ever striving to break the chains of ignorance and to free himself.

In the organic conception of society, the individual is a part and parcel of a unitary system. Hence the education of the individual leavens the whole group and raises the standard of society. Society, ever advancing, reacts upon the individual, lifting him to a more complete realization. As in a solar system the sun, moon, stars and earth act and react upon each other, forming a complete and perfect order in the universe, so in a perfect society, even though there are individuals of greater and lesser capacities ,these individuals should act and react upon each other in a harmonious union. Education, by which is meant not alone the narrow confines of the school room, but the process through which the individual passes, in absorbing the spiritual possessions of the race, this education, a law of gravity so to speak, maintains the individual at his proper level, and a democracy is a system of society which affords an opportunity for the individual through education to find his level, and to still reach out to greater heights.

The content and form of a democracy then is conditioned by the breadth and depth of the education of the masses. In a representative democracy, where political equality prevails to a high degree, there must be a correspondingly degree of intelligence. It is true that a high degree of intelligence on the part of a large majority of the voters may maintain a democracy in spite of the drawbacks resulting from unsocialized ignorance on the part of a small minority, but there is ever a danger until this inharmonious mass is raised to a proper basis of moralization through the process of education. If a high standard of education is the foundation of a representative democracy, it must follow that a still higher degree of intelligence and conception of responsibility must be called for in direct government by the people. It is not probable that a direct form of government could succeed in any case where a representative form of government has failed. The success of an ultra democracy can only be determined by the success of a representative democracy. There is no doubt but that the next step in the evolution of government will be to place the power and responsibility directly into the hands of the individual. But that step must never be taken until the mass of the people are socialized and moralized to such a degree that they can bear the responsibility without placing the common good in jeopardy. Political equality in a democracy derives its security from education.

At the present time there is a marked tendency of political leaders to write their platforms full of measures for the alleviation of the economic conditions of the laboring classes. This has aroused the public conscience to immediate action, yet we must not forget that there has been constant improvement in economic conditions in the past and that this improvement has been accomplished not so much by political measures as by economic efficiency as advanced by education.

A minimum wage which in most cases must be a maximum wage can never measure the economic worth of the individual. There is grave danger that such a wage would be a stumbling block for his advancement. A democracy does not seek to hedge in the individual by artificial limitations, but seeks ever to free him from needless restraint and open the door of opportunity to him for self-realization. Efficiency is the standard by which the economic worth of the individual must ultimately be measured and education in skill and intellect must determine that standard.

The question may properly be asked what kind of education does a democracy require of our public schools? It would seem that in view of present day conditions democracy is demanding more and more education of the vocational type. The state is no longer content to appropriate money for school purposes and then waive the responsibility. The state today is asking, not how cheap an education can be furnished to our youth, but what manner and kind is best suited for the individual and how shall such an education be disseminated.

The State has now reached the conclusion that because a boy is not fit for a college education is not a sound and sufficient reason for altogether closing the doors of educational opportunity to him. No longer can a high school teacher or principal, with justice look over his candidates for a diploma, and then say only these can be graduated because they alone can carry work in a higher institution. In other words, the college entrance examination has ceased to be the only measure of educational worth. Considering the fact that a vast majority of individuals do not go to college, some other standard of measurement, more far reaching and comprehensive in nature, must be and is being established in our public schools.

This new standard has not received any better name than "vocational education." The name is here used in a broad sense as meaning the education which aims not alone to fit the individual to cope with his needs, but also makes provision for his spiritual growth. By such a standard of education can real progress be made by the individual. For it is a standard based upon the absolute worth of the individual which is the main factor in the equality of man.

HONOR FIRE CHIEF DOANE

of the battle of Gettysburg. He is the oldest member of Jerusalem Lodge, F. A M., an exempt fireman, a member of the New Jersey State Fire Chiefs' Association, former vice-president of the International Fire Chiefs' Association, and last year was chairman of the exhibit committee at the annual show by the latter body.

Mr. Doane was appointed as second assistant chief of the local department in 1870, when Jeremiah H. Van Winkle was chief, which was the first office he held in the department. The following year he was made first assistant and in 1876 was made chief. He was also chief in 1877 and 1879. In 1888, Job Male, the first Mayor of Plainfield following the incorporation of the city, appointed Mr. Doane chief and he has served in this capacity until the present time.

FAVORS VOTES FOR WOMEN

was instant silence and courteous attention, men listening with respect to a man who knew just one-tenth as much as the little working girl did of the subject. Would that have been the case if these 10,000 women had represented 10,000 votes?

"We need the power of organized womanhood to count for nobler things. Will the woman's vote immediately purify the political atmosphere? No. Women will probably never be very radical, but undoubtedly their influence will be in the long run for the best protection of the home and political life that affects it. We need their point of view. Can we get it without their vote? We need that experssion of opinion from conservative, home-thinking women."

Dr. Hall disposed of the stock objections to equal suffrage in a few words—"Neglect of home?" Will an hour or two a year at the polls cause a woman to neglect her home? How about "bridge?" "Discord in the home?" It is good for men and women to have opinions and express them. "Double the vote?" If so, why not?

Dr. Hall here said that it was not in the suffrage platform, but he himself went farther and believed in children's voting. "The whole family unit should be represented. Parents should vote for their children until the children were of an age to take an intelligent part themselves, and should determine that age—capability and maturity of mind not being fixed qualities on tap at exactly twenty-one years. Some children were competent to vote at fourteen. Some would never be competent.

"The luxury-loving, idle, unoccupied, irresponsible woman is a menace to society. She will lose the old life in new responsibilities, but 'life lost for noble ends is life found.'"

Questions were invited at the close of Dr. Hall's address. The first one was in regard to women as policemen and juries. By all means, said Dr. Hall, they are needed there. There are cases which men are utterly unfitted to judge, and are distinctly in women's province.

Mrs. [illegible] Wolfers, jr., speaking for the Plainfield Board of Trade, said that the new civic association would be very glad of the co-operation of the women of Plainfield. Then Miss Connolly, of Elizabeth, former superintendent of Summit schools, referred to the domestic plan, and the anti's objection to women's voting on the ground that women had proved themselves incompetent to handle this situation. Suffrage, said Dr. Hall, will throw new light on the problems of the home and new industrial conditions will result. Wasteful home-life will be corrected by a more intelligent body of women.

"Will women help against the liquor traffic?"

The answer to that is that Brewers' Associations and liquor dealers fear suffrage and oppose it. Just here a man objected that statistics proved women were drinking more than ever before. Dr. Hall said he would need to have that proved of America and of England he knew positively that it was not true.

As to Tammany Hall being controlled by women, Dr. Hall said, if it were true, just as soon as women had the power to vote themselves, even bad women coming to open and direct responsibilites would be improved, and he did not believe they would, in any event, control even New York.

The militant situation in England, Dr. Hall regarded as mistaken in wise methods, throwing women back into the era of brute force in which men, of necessity, were superiors, and woman would always be beaten. Dr. Hall's evident amusement and delight in a remark of Miss Connolly in regard to indirect influence brought his hearty applause, in which the audience joined. "To quote in full," said Miss Connolly, "the reason that woman should vote is that she can only thus emancipate man. At present she has more influence than she would have were she to vote. Should she vote, she'd have half. Now, she must, therefore, control by unconscious influence more than half the male votes. Like 'Typhoid Mary,' I am afraid to come in contact with man on questions of national economics lest I unconsciously influence him to do the base deed suggested to the illogical mind of [illegible]

MINISTRY THE THEME OF MRS. ARTHUR STRYKER

The Young Friends Association was entertained last night by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stryker, of 721 West Fourth street, when Henry Haviland, of Brooklyn, gave an instructive and helpful talk on the subject of "Ministry." He treated the subject from the general thought of ministry among Friends, showing how it can be made very helpful to one another. Then followed an informal discussion which lasted about an hour. A number took part in this discussion bringing out many excellent suggestions.

After the address and discussion there was a social hour, during which refreshments were served by the host and hostess. A short business session of the association was held at which Palmer Davis, the president, was in charge. There were about thirty-five members of the association and friends present.

UNION COUNTY COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

In the matter of the application of John Burke to have a certain mortgage cancelled. Notice to defendant.

To ANNA DE CAMP, her heirs, executors or assigns, or representatives.

Take notice that you are required to be and appear before our Court of Common Pleas for the County of Union at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth on the sixth day of June 1913, at 10 a. m., to show cause why a certain mortgage now outstanding against property owned by John Burke in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, given by Patrick Rafferty and wife to Alfred D. Cook and Robert H. Cook for $[illegible], dated April 25, 1874, and recorded in Union County Clerk's office May 24, 1876, in book 10 of mortgages for said county, pages 282, and assigned by said Alfred D. and Robert H. Cook to you the said Anna De Camp, should not be cancelled of record.

Said mortgage covers property situate in said City of Plainfield, N. J., described as follows: Beginning at a point in the middle of West Sixth street, and [illegible] of lot sold to John Keefe; thence running in a northwesterly course along [illegible] one hundred and seventy-five feet to a stake and corner of James Keefe's lot; thence running along his line in a southwesterly course parallel with West Sixth street thirty feet to a stake and corner of [illegible] in his line; thence running in a southeasterly course parallel with the first line [illegible] one hundred and seventy-five feet to a stake in the middle of West Sixth street; thence along the middle of West Sixth street northeasterly thirty feet to the beginning.

Being part of lot No. 13 as laid out on a map of S. S. Parkhurst's land, and being the same premises conveyed to said John Burke by deed of James J. Burke, Joseph Burke, Michael Burke and Frank Burke by deed dated July 21, 1904, and recorded December 28, 1904, in Union County Register office in book [illegible] of deeds for said county pages 563, etc.

Comparative Digestibility of Food

Made with different Baking Powders

From a Series of Elaborate Chemical Tests:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The relative percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

100 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with phosphate powder:

68¼ Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67¾ Per Cent. Digested

These tests, which are absolutely reliable and unprejudiced, make plain a fact of great importance to everyone: Food raised with Royal, a cream of tartar Baking Powder, is shown to be entirely digestible, while the alum and phosphate powders are found to largely retard the digestion of the food made from them.

Undigested food is not only wasted food, but it is the source of very many bodily ailments.

New York, N.Y. -03 -

Dear Sir-

The Banking Department of the State of New York, as liquidator of the Carnegie Trust Company and the Northern Bank of New York, is largely interested in the property formerly known as the Morris Park Race Track, located in the Borough of the Bronx, City of New York, extending from about the line of 175th Street to Pelham Parkway

This property, consisting of about 3000 lots, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder on May 31st, 1913, and succeeding days

The property is high ground, many of the streets are on grade The City grew up to the property years ago and this great tract has stopped its developement in a northeasterly direction

There are five railroad stations on or in the immediate vicinity, a number of trolley lines come to and along its borders, and this Department is advised by the Manager of the Interborough Railway that two of the lines of rapid transit recently adopted by the City will have stations adjoining or near the property, and that it is expected one of these lines will be in operation within the next two years This property will then be in direct communication with all parts of Manhattan and Brooklyn for a five-cent fare

Your attention is respectfully called to this proposed sale

Very truly yours,

GEORGE C. VAN TUYL, Jr.

State Superintendent of Banks; in charge of the Carnegie Trust Co. and the Northern Bank in liquidation

SHIRLEY & JOHNSTON

BABCOCK BUILDING PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Warrenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Haye and Miss Florence Haye, of Mt. Bethel, have returned home after a visit with relatives in Brooklyn.

Rev. W. H. H. Mount was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Schumacher over Sunday.

The Misses Sadie Bornmann and Ruth Miller, of Sunnyside, were the guests of Miss Arline Giddes, of North Plainfield, on Friday.

The volunteer firemen will give a short sketch entitled "Irish Justice," on Saturday night, which will be followed by dancing. Music by Ananson Brothers.

The members of the Mt. Bethel Baptist church have organized a Christian Endeavor Society with the help of their pastor, Rev. W. H. H. Mount.

Miss Rachel Winn, of Highland Farm, entertained Miss Marion Williams and Miss Gertrude Bornmann, of Warrenville, recently.

Miss Winnie Van Wintsle and Mr. and Mrs. Miers, of Plainfield, have returned home after a brief visit with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. I. O. Adams, of Lake View Farm.

Mrs. Jacob Lang, of Mt. Bethel, is confined to her home by a slight illness.

Mrs. Henry Lombly, of Mt. Bethel, is entertaining friends from New York city.

PEACE CONGRESS.

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—Without any apparent diminution in interest or enthusiasm the delegates held the concluding sessions of the fourth American Peace Congress. The meeting has occupied nearly the entire week and in many respects has been the most notable demonstration ever held in America in aid of the movement for international peace. Eminent representatives of the Dominion of Canada were foremost on the program at this morning's session, which was devoted to a discussion of plans for the coming celebration of the completion of a century of Anglo-American peace. Among the speakers were Justice Russell, of Halifax, John Lewis, of Toronto, and Justice Riddell, of the Supreme Court of Ontario.

PRELATE 70 YEARS OLD.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 3.—The Most Rev. Edmond F. Prendergast, Roman Catholic archbishop of Philadelphia, received congratulations today on the occasion of his seventieth birthday anniversary. The Archbishop was born in Ireland and came to the United States at the age of 16. Since his ordination to the priesthood in 1865 his work has been confined wholly to the Philadelphia diocese. After a service of fifteen years as auxiliary bishop he became archbishop of the province upon the death of Archbishop Ryan in 1911.

Spring Picnics.

Now that spring has come, school-children should spend every Saturday out of doors, unless illness or stormy weather makes this impossible. No other way of passing a day out-of-doors has ever been found which is as delightful as a picnic, and, if it is sensibly prepared for, no easier way of entertaining children for a day has ever been found, either.

The picnic lunch need not be elaborate; but it should be satisfying. Nothing is a greater disappointment than a picnic basket or box which reveals scant rations.

Especially in the spring should the picnic lunch be hearty. In the summer, when the weather is really warm, a light lunch is often satisfying which in the spring would only serve to take the edge from a keen appetite.

Suggestions for several easily prepared lunch are these: Buttered rolls, sweet green pepper shells filled with minced and seasoned meat, fruit—berries in season, oranges or bananas—unfrosted drop cakes, milk chocolate; potato salad, nut and lettuce sandwiches, hot chocolate, figs and dates, sponge cake; stuffed eggs, brown bread and butter and sliced lamb sandwiches, jam or marmalade, soda crackers or some other unsweetened biscuit and milk, hot soup, egg sandwiches, cookies, chocolate pudding and toasted marshmallows.

How to Prepare Them.

The last lunch presupposes the presence of an older person at the picnic, for children could hardly be burdened with soup and a chocolate pudding. It is a lunch for a cold day. The soup can be carried in a quart jar, and should be concentrated enough so that it can be diluted with water. The pudding—cornstarch or blanc mange is easily made—can be carried in the dish in which it was moulded. The lunch can be packed in a cheap tin pan, in which the soup can be heated over a bonfire; and the marshmallows, carried in a paper box, can be toasted over the embers of the fire after lunch.

Hot chocolate at a picnic can be made from cocoa or chocolate powder, a can of condensed milk and water. Potato salad can be carried in a fruit jar with a screw top, or it can be neatly arranged in individual portions wrapped in waxed paper. Sandwiches can be conveniently divided into piles of four—enough piles so that each picnicer can have one—befor eleaving home, and wrapped in waxed paper. An extra supply for "second helpings" can be carried separately. The meat and pepper shell dish is delicious; to prepare it, mince whatever meat is on hand—lamb or chicken preferably. Cut large sweet green pepper shells in half and wash and dry them. Season the minced meat with cream, melted butter, pepper, salt and a little mustard, and pack it into the pepper shells. Wrap each separately in waxed paper.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

Sleeves of different material from that used in making the gown are notable features of late styles. This dress combines a striped silk with a brocaded one, and the sleeves are sewed to the blouse at the long, drooping shoulder line. The blouse is closed at the left of the front and has an effective collar, jabot and cuffs, which in this instance are embroidered by hand.

For the medium size the blouse will require two and three-quarter yards of material twenty seven inches wide,

MRS. CATT TO SPEAK IN ENGLAND

MRS. CARRIE C. CATT.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, a prominent suffragette of New York, intends to attend a meeting of protest against the payment of taxes by the Duchess of Bedford, upon whose property distraint was levied on April 21 and a silver cup belonging to her taken by the tax collectors to satisfy the claim. Mrs. Catt made recently her first public speech in England at a meeting of the Actresses' Franchise League.

WOMEN ARGUE AGAINST "VOTES FOR WOMEN."

MRS ARTHUR M DODGE . . .

Anti-suffragists appeared in force recently in the Capitol to protest to the Senate Woman Suffrage Committee against any constitutional amendment giving the right of franchise to their sex. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, president of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, was one of the principal speakers.

HINTS ON FASHIONS IN THE METROPOLIS

Some Suggestions to the Woman Who Would Be Gowned Correctly.

New York, May 3.—It is stated on good authority that the demand for silks this year is greater than it has been for a number of seasons. Not only is the quantity greater, but the variety of kinds used is almost unprecedented. One can see the reason for it in every display of gowns. The immense popularity of the silk suits contributes to this demand, but the afternoon gowns in silk are so unusually interesting that they have been very successful.

While in France the taffetas, tussor and charmeuse are the most popular among the numerous silk fabrics of the season, the former two do not seem to find much favor with American women, surely not so much as charmeuse and several other materials of a similar character.

The present rage for dancing has greatly added to the importance of dancing frocks as part of the feminine wardrobe. Chiffon or satin is in most cases the foundation of the handsomest of these frocks. Chiffon is extensively used at the present time and it seems as if there were scarcely a costume in which chiffon does not play a more or less important part. One of the loveliest dresses shown at a recent exhibit was of pale mauve chiffon. Of course the greater part of the waist was of net and shadow lace; but otherwise there was no trimming except a picot edge on the chiffon. The drapery, however, was wonderful. It was brought up to the waist in the middle of the front in many long, soft folds. These were tucked up under the belt so that the ends showed above it in almost a ruffle, which was bound with turquois blue silk.

These contrasting bindings were a conspicuous detail in many of the gowns exhibited. Sometimes they were in black on beige, or turquois on pale gray, or white on a silk Bedford cord in which the ribs were rose and white alternately. The bindings were narrow, not a quarter of an inch in width, and were used in various ways.

There was, for example, a mauve charmeuse dress with a tunic of black net, perfectly plain black net, which was out so as to ripple slightly around the bottom. The edges of the very short sleeves and the lower edge of the tunic were bound with a little roll of turquois satin. This stiffened it just enough to make the ripple apparent, while the color contrast was most effective. The black, of course, being over the mauve, was softened and became a mere veiled color.

Many of the skirts showed a slash of greater or lesser degree. Often these cuts were only a few inches deep. They were frankly cut out of the hem of the breadth, not formed by overlapping draperies. In some of the trained evening gowns there were long splits where the drapery crossed in front, and these showed the leg, in walking, almost to the knee.

A tailored suit in dark blue serge had two rows of buttons and buttonholes from the waist to the hem; one at the side, toward the front; the other at the opposite side, toward the back. These were left open to the height of about six buttons, producing two slashes.

So many evening wraps and dressy short coatees are trimmed in fur that it looks as if fur would be a part of the Summer's finishes to the best toilets. Fur is more than a mere touch to the evening wraps, while on the jaunty little abbreviated coatees it is used only sparingly. Chinchilla is the most popular peltry but ermine and swansdown are also used. Chinchilla looks rather heavy and wintry, while the white fur and swansdown give a light, summery effect.

Evening wraps, as a rule, are very sumptuous. They are generally made in solid and figure-faced satins. As a rule the flowers or designs are big and are printed so as to stand out boldly. The background is white or light and the flowers in the brilliant colors that are prevalent this season. Some of the fashionable ones, too, have a black or scarlet background with lighter brilliant designs scattered over the surface. The new wraps are all short and round. Some are made godet, some with a Watteau plait, either from the middle of the back or from one shoulder.

Toile de Jouy effects have returned to favor triumphantly. The patterns and colorings are copied in satins, silks, velvets, brocades, and in crepe cotton goods. For the last few years toile de Jouy has been more or less used as a light trimming, it being considered too heavy and vulgar for anything more than a suggestion in the way of color or flower. Now it is used frankly and without any attempt at discreet moderation.

Blouse vests are composed of the toile de Jouy, and when repeated in more expensive fabrics entire sleeves, wraps and coatees may be of the effect. At a recent exhibit there was a lovely evening dress of satin the shade of chartreuse, the skirt draped to fall in little plaits down the front, and the fullness gathered to form an overskirt at the back. The pointed back and front of the corsage was relieved by a fichu of white mousseline. The cachet and novelty lay in the sleeves, which were of chartreuse mousseline, striped heavily in purple metal effects.

Another evening dress had long sleeves which ran almost to the waist line of the corsage underpeath, and, on top, almost to the neck. These sleeves were of yellow satin on which were painted the most brilliantly colored flowers. The rest of the frock was of reseda green, and the violet colors in the sleeves gave all the characters necessary to the ensemble. The long sleeve idea has taken wonderfully and women seem to like it so much that probably next winter evening gowns will all be cut on the same lines. However, there will always be those who will cling to short sleeves or sleeveless waists—women who have beautiful arms or think they have.

Ratine is an excellent material for the summer knockabout. Its price by the yard is expensive, but it is wide. Ratine, of course, has not the crispness of linen and crash, but it is moderately cool, and, if made carefully, looks light and summery. It shows creases and wrinkles hardly so much as serge does. The blue, green and other dark shades suitable for street wear do not soil easily and, when they are soiled, they can be laundered without starch. A ratine suit, with shirt waists of cotton crepe, voile or tub silks, would make an ideal working outfit for the summer woman, an outfit at once durable, suitable, comfortable and in good style.

Among the most attractive of the new printed crepons are those with a light ground and sprays of flowers scattered about carelessly; white with sprays of scarlet anemones, or turquoise blue powdered with green laurel leaves, an artistic shade of pale blue with stripes of Indian red, on which sprays of white flowers have been thrown.

It is predicted by fashion authorities that coats of heavy linen in bright colors will be extremely popular this Spring.

BRYCE DEPARTS.

San Francisco, Cal., May 3.—The Rt. Hon. James Bryce, who recently retired from the post of British ambassador at Washington, sailed from this city today for Yokohama. Mrs. Bryce accompanied him. They will spend some time in China and Japan, where Mr. Bryce will study the evolution of the new Chinese republic, and then proceed to London by way of Siberia.

Some Cookery Suggestions

LIMA BEANS OUT OF SEASON.

If you like lima beans you may enjoy them in midwinter as well as summer, thanks to the admirable varieties of canned beans on the market. If you wish to economize you can substitute dried lima beans for the canned ones. If the dried legume is soaked before using it will be soft and palatable.

Beans are rich in protein, so it is not necessary to have meat as a part of the meal when they are to be used. To eat beans or peas and meat and eggs at the same time is to eat about three times as much muscle making food as the blood can take up, and what it cannot utilize is so much waste.

A Rich Stew.

When boiling or stewing the beans, into a half pint of liquid from the beans drop two tablespoonfuls of butter braided with two of flour and stir constantly, adding enough milk to make a sauce of the right consistency. Into this put the beans, which have been drained, and let them cook long enough in it to be thoroughly seasoned by it. At the last moment add another good tablespoonful of butter.

Browned Lima Beans.—Put lima beans that have been kept simmering until well done into a baking dish. Stir together one cupful of boiling water, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of molasses, one of sugar, one of mustard and one of vinegar. Pour over the beans, cover them and bake for one hour. Take off cover, add one tablespoonful of butter and allow to brown before removing from oven.

A Simple Process.

Lima Beans With Butter Sauce.—Take large lima beans, either dried or canned. The best way to prepare the dried ones is to place the desired amount of beans in a pan of cold water, allow the water to become warm—not hot—stand aside, cover and let the beans soak until ready to cook. At luncheon time add salt to taste and enough water to cook them until they are tender. Dress with melted butter.

Cream of Lima Bean Soup.—Take a cupful of dried lima beans, wash and soak them overnight in a quart of cold water. Boil slowly until tender, adding a little more water if needed while cooking. Mash through a sieve, season with a teaspoonful of salt, a dash each of cayenne and white pepper, two tablespoonfuls of minced celery; return to the fire. Add a pint of fresh milk, an even tablespoonful of butter creamed with one scant tablespoonful of flour, to be stirred in and cooked for five minutes before soup is taken from fire.

The Flakes Kept the Ground Warm.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Snowflakes And the Raindrops.

"DADDY," asked Evelyn, "where do the little snowflakes go when their winter's work is done? You told us once that their work was to keep the ground warm in winter, so that the little flowers and other growing things could come up in the springtime."

"That is correct," said daddy, "and when the springtime comes and with it the time for the little snowflakes to disappear they change into drops of water and sink into the ground. From there they rise again to the clouds, to fall to the earth as rain, to water the flowers and trees and food plants, without which no person or animal could live.

"Did I ever tell you about the meeting of the snowflakes and the raindrops in the clouds? Well, if I didn't I think it would make a good story for you.

"The winter was over. Every day the sun was becoming warmer and warmer, and the little snowflakes, which still lay on the ground, felt that it was time for them to go. So they sank quickly into the ground, and from there the heat of the sun helped them to rise to the clouds.

"In the clouds they met again their friends, the little raindrops, which they had not seen since the fall. It was a happy meeting, for the raindrops and the snowflakes, which had now become drops of water again, had much to tell about where they had been and the things they had done. Some had been in the brooks and rivers of the land; others had fallen to make part of the ocean.

"After they had all told their experiences the drops that had been snowflakes said:

"'You raindrops are not as tired as we are. We've worked very hard all winter, and we're as tired as we can be. Now we're going to take a good long rest up here in the pretty white clouds, and we're going to let you raindrops do some of the work.

"'Way down there on earth are the little seed babies deep in the ground that are waiting for you to come down to them and feed them, so that they shall be strong enough to push their way through the ground into the sunshine and grow into beautiful, strong, tall plants.

"'We tried to feed them when we were in the earth, but somehow or other perhaps we were too cold—we could not do it. That is your work. And you'd better go down soon, for the crocus is waiting for you and the pussy willows and the arbutus and the other things which the folks on earth love.'

"So the raindrops gathered themselves together and commenced to fall. They sang a joyful song as they struck the earth. It told of the flowers of May come to gladden the earth's surface and the wheat and corn and fruits to come later to feed the little babies and the girls and boys and the women and men. Such is the work of the little water babies."

MORE TROUBLES FOR BASEBALL SCORERS

The "Cincinnati Base Hit" is Seldom Recorded by the Diamond Official.

One of the most foolish rules that was ever written into the baseball scoring code is that which has developed the socalled "Cincinnati base hit." It is a joke among players, and nine of every ten scorers are against it. Even the scorers who adopted it are already weakening and the chances are that this freak hit will be abolished at the end of this season.

Briefly, the "Cincinnati" is a hit scored on an infield chance when a play made elsewhere than at first base fails to retire a runner. Of course if the ball is fumbled or muffed the play is scored as an error, and if the runner is tagged or forced no base hit is scored.

For instance, if a base runner gets a good start and the batter raps the ball smartly to the pitcher, a hit is scored if the runner beats a play to his next base. It is not left to the scorer's discretion as to whether the batter could easily have been retired at first base.

This play was formerly scored a fielder's choice and nothing else. It frequently follows attempts to sacrifice. In the old days the scorers were permitted to use their judgment—that is, if they thought the abtsman had anything like an even chance to beat a possible play at first base, they scored it a hit. The new rule was the result of a movement to credit the batsman with something when he either bunted or grounded to the infield and advanced a runner, the ball being handled without error.

In the case of a bunt where the play is made elsewhere than first base and where the runner is safe, some credit should be given to the batsman. Supporters of the new rule claim that he should get something more than a sacrifice—which merely takes away a time at bat—and that was the reason why the rule was passed against the will of a majority of scorers.

For several years the scorers in Cincinnati have scored these plays as hits. The question was taken up by the Baseball Writers' Association last winter and a committee was appointed to make a recommendation to the joint rules committee of the two big leagues.

But because Ban Johnson wanted an earlier ruling a mail vote was taken and four members of the scorers' committee voted for the rule, the fifth not voting. The thing was not threshed out as it should have been and some who voted for the rule are wondering why they did.

The idea of scoring the fielder's choice a hit under a hard and fast rule is ridiculous. The absurdity of it is being proved every day.

Secretary Heydler, of the National League, issued orders to scorers to follow the "Cincinnati idea," even before the rule was officially adopted. Heydler's defense was that an injustice was done the players when those "bunk" hits were allowed in Cincinnati and not scored elsewhere. It is claimed that Cincinnati players—especially those whose place in the batting order called for frequent attempts to sacrifice—got fifteen or twenty hits each season that they would not have gotten anywhere but on the Cincinnati grounds, where the official scoring was different than in other cities.

If this is Mr. Heydler's defense it is the old story of the eleven obstinate jurors over again. Why did he not observe the custom and the will of the majority, as long as no rule was in force, and instruct the Cincinnati scorers to conform to the scoring in the other seven cities of the National League instead of making the tail wag the dog?

Under the new rule a batter may hit a swift grounder to the pitcher, who may field it perfectly to some base other than first base. But if nobody is retired and no error is made, the batter gets a base hit. He may be a slow man like Chief Meyers, of the Giants, but he still gets his hit even though the pitcher could have held the ball and retired him at first base, unassisted.

Some day this rule will get a good puncture. With a fast runner on first base the hit and run play will come up. An infielder will make a fast play to second base and fail to get his man. Then the fielder who takes the throw will toss out the batter at first base.

How will they score that play?

FORMATION OF NEW LEAGUE FOR NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

A meeting to organize the proposed City Baseball League will be held in the West End A. C. club rooms next Monday night and the managers and captains of the various teams proposed for membership in the organization are requested to be on hand at that time.

Among the entrants the Royal Colored Giants, Spicer's, West End A. C. and Saurers are expected to be the most prominent and the schedule will be sent on its way May 17. Communications have come to hand evidently written by some sore baseball crank in an endeavor to belittle the idea but those behind the project say they will push it nevertheless.

McCARTY IS NOT THE WHITE HOPE YET, SAY THE ENTHUSIASTS

In the recent bout between McCarty and Frank Moran, of Pittsburg, the boxing enthusiasts all agreed that McCarty had a long way to go before he could be considered as a "white hope." As it was, most of the big crowd which attended the bout went out of the arena fully convinced that it will be long and many a day before there is a worthy successor to the crown of the white heavies that Jeffries wore.

McCarty was never in any danger, and at the end he was unmarked. On the other hand, Moran had a cut under his right eye and another between the two of them on his forehead, where McCarty had bumped him with his head in an early round. As far as the result went, there was not an awful lot for the "champion" to be proud of.

MANY MANAGERS ARE TRAILING "FREDDY"

Local Twirler May Not Play Here This Season Although He is Home at Present.

High Bridge baseball promoters are hot on the trail of Otto Frederickson, the local youth who has just returned from minor league circles, and Freddy is in receipt of a flattering offer from the management of that place to occupy the mound for that combination in the Central New Jersey League race this year. The compensation offered reaches the salary limit established at a recent meeting of the league, so the Plainfielder could not do better financially than to accept the terms offered.

Frederickson is in the best of condition at the present time, his long ante-season training trip in the south putting him on edge for the opening of the eastern season, but he has decided to wait for some time before signing any contracts. Nor has the High Bridge scout been the only one to try to secure the Queen City favorite's services, for Frederickson has had offers from other teams playing Saturday and Sunday ball in and about New York, where he is well known, having performed on the mound for the McNulty Brothers aggregation two years ago, when yet a youngster.

It is doubtful if he will consider an offer to play local ball this season as he is at present negotiating for his release from the Winston-Salem club, having jumped a contract with that aggregation, and if he is successful in getting this document he will probably play with faster company. Freddy is a favorite in Plainfield circles and along the route of the Central New Jersey League he has become a well known figure and the fans of this section will regret to see him leave if he so decides.

"MAC" SAYS

Where Have They Gone?

The manager pointed with glowing pride
At his marvelous baseball star,
He told us the youth was a wondrous guy
And we published his deeds afar.

Oh, he was a star of the brightest kind,
The while he consented to play,
But hanging was far too good for him
When he asked for a raise in pay.

And still we wonder where the Driscoll tribe will play ball this season. Dave and his crew are missed in this city, but the stars he displayed when he made his invasion here, were also missed for the time being and have now drifted beyond redemption.

Schoolboy ball tossers are scrapping it out in the borough this afternoon. Much depends on the winner of the first contest for the Collier trophy.

But Hyde Field is further from P. H. S. than it is from the local High School camping ground and Greenbrook cannot be crossed via ferry.

There is nothing more sacriligious nowadays than to desecrate a baseball diamond and yet those greedy real estate dealers have announced their intention of cutting up Crescent Oval into two by fours.

Plainfield's oldest baseball park becomes a thing of everyday use after the contest this afternoon. No more will the Dorflinger herd frolic at this rendezvous.

It would be a good policy for seven American League managers to pay Ty Cobb $15,000 a year and send the lawbreaker to Madagascar.

No doubt there are idle persons in our midst who read what a manager has to say about his tribe in the first part of May. We will be able to get some real dope on the local situation after the clash with New Brunswick this afternoon.

"Bonehead" plays have been more conspicuous in baseball this season than ever before. It is a sad feature of baseball that a bonesetter's work is not effective on an athlete's head.

If Ty Cobb is worth $15,000 a year the rest of the team is worth approximately $1,75.

"It is true," Mr. Navin remarks, "that Ty Cobb did not make baseball." But he made it pay Mr. Navin, we venture to remark.

Someone has opined a statement to the effect that Russell Stewart is as good in the box as Otto Frederickson, our last year's star moundsman, but it would require a man of extreme courage to make the statement public with his "John Hancock" affixed at the end.

If a manager was to give his opinion of his team in September it might be worth reading but it would be unfit to print.

Frank Evans' siesta in the vicinity of the keystone sack indicates that he is going to play semi-professional ball this season and it looks as though he was good for a double program of diamond stuff every week-end at that.

"Chic" Thompson and his pitcher combination on the season against the Royals this afternoon. Solid black is the color of the Spicer traveling regalia but it does not indicate the way they feel.

We note by the public prints that Carl Morris intends to "come back." This is news inasmuch as we had never suspected that he had been here before.

Bowlers continue to perfect their summer ravings at the Scotch Plains Parish House, demonstrating that some forms of diseases are incurable.

The prolonged silence in the vicinity of Scotch Plains baseball circles leads us to believe that the hustling little manager of the Plains team has suffered a compound fracture of the voice. Smatter, Joe?

MANY AMERICANS AT PARIS HORSE RACES

Many Americans are attending the horse races at Longchamps, Paris. Among the list of winners are found American horses, the best known being the famous Blarney, owned by H. B. Duryea, which brought a $5,000 prize. A large number of notables attended, including the Countess of Granard and Lady Newborough.

WHITE SALE

The Wanamaker Summer Sale of White Goods opened on its accustomed date, May first.

Because of unusual conditions some of the choicest styles and best values have been slightly belated and will be shown for the first time on Monday.

As in years past, visitors may come to the Wanamaker White Sale sure of finding the Material Suited to Gentlewomen

Careful Workmanship
Accurate Dimensions
Novelties, Inspired by Paris
Simple Styles, with Little Trimming

The Wanamaker White Sale started in 1878. It began with ideals. In each recurring half year we have endeavored to build upon those fundamental principles an ever better sale adapted to the requirements of our clientele and offering ever greater economies on proper merchandise.

Each year the sale has grown. Our customers have found that saving 50 cents here, a dollar there and perhaps several dollars on another garment is a most satisfactory thing to do, especially when the savings may be had on just what one really wants and needs.

It would be impossible to instance a hundredth part of the desirable things in this present sale. Underclothes, blouses, negligees, Paris lingerie and blouses, corsets and babies' clothes are included.

Here is an idea of a few of the moderate priced underclothes. If every reader of this page could see the styles and feel the soft materials pleasantly cool for summer, they would surely hurry in the first thing Monday morning to secure their size.

NIGHTGOWNS

Crossbar dimity, sheer and cool, with low neck and very short sleeves, edged with fish-eye valenciennes, $1.

Nainsook, without any starch, edged with embroidery around the low neck and short sleeves, $1.

Nainsook, fashioned like a man's shirt, only slightly low in the neck, and trimmed with hemstitching and scallop embroidery, $1.

Nainsook, of fine weave, with narrow Swiss embroidery, threaded with ribbon, $1.50.

Empire style of nainsook, trimmed with embroidery and ribbon, mere puffs of sleeves, $1.75.

Empire style, with fine Swiss embroidery, trimmed with valenciennes, $1.25.

Nainsook, trimmed with puffed casings of washable net, threaded with pink or blue ribbon—the prettiest nightgowns we have ever had—at $2.

SLEEVELESS NIGHTGOWNS

Something that no one ever thought of before. Wonderfully becoming, with their wide shoulder straps of ribbon. Cool and yet perfectly practical. The top of shadow lace and ribbon, $4.50.

With wide band of cluny and valenciennes, 4.50.

COMBINATIONS

Wanamaker $1 combination has been a part of this sale for the last few seasons, but it has never been of so fine material or so prettily trimmed as may now be had at that price.

The softest of fine cotton with covered buttons, trimmed with dainty valenciennes and pretty embroidery. They are designed with the greatest care so that they will fit perfectly.

Even better materials and finer workmanship, combination for $1.50 and $1.75. They may be had either with corset cover and drawers or short petticoats.

PETTICOATS

Just petticoats to wear under summer lingerie gowns or evening dresses are of unbleached batiste, with flounces of pleated washable silk, finished with hemstitching. The placket fastens with hidden buttons, $2.75.

Another evening petticoat of washable net, with three flounces of the fashionable shear lace, $4.50.

Blue and white, or pink and white stripe crepe are good morning petticoats, $1. Nightgowns to match with white piping, $1. Or plain, embroidered in color, and edged with lace of the same kind

VEST CHEMISES, $1.75

These soft, cool cotton things, are worn underneath the corset in place of the knit vest. They have been fashionable for many seasons, but this year they seem more popular than ever. Trimmed with lace and ribbon, $1.75.

UNDERBODICES

Washable white net, with wide satin ribbon, run through the casing, ribbon draw string at the waist, ribbon straps, $1.

CREPE DE CHINE AND OTHER BLOUSES

New models of exclusive blouses have been received from several different manufacturers.

The Debardur Blouse in white crepe de chine, $5 or in batiste, $2, $3, $4.50.

The Fischu Blouse, in white crepe de chine is low at the neck and draped with a fischu of washable net, $5.

Tailored blouses of white China silk, with square collar and small revers, $4.50.

Blouses of white crepe de chine, hemstitched, and with white pleated vests, $5.50.

Large variety of pretty blouses at $2, $2.50, $3 and upwards.

CRITICS SAY KILBANE AS CHAMPION IS N. G.

After Viewing Kilbane-Dundee Fight Damaging Accusations Are Made.

Although Johnny Kilbane seems to have been unjustly treated by having his bout with Dundee called a draw, the fact remains that the featherweight champion did not enhance his standing to any great extent by his showing. On the whole, it was demonstrated that New York's estimate of Kilbane as champion was not far out of the way. He is merely a clever boxer with wonderful footwork, but nothing else that compares favorably with his predecessor's ability.

On account of his knockout of Joe Rivers and his defeat of Abe Attell, Kilbane stood high in the estimation of Californians. They could not understand why he failed to score a hit in New York and laid the blame to local prejudice. But now that Kilbane has shown himself to possess nothing in the way of a decisive blow, his rating is being set at a much lower notch. Far coast fans do not favor the Packey McFarland brand of cleverness. In Eddie Campi they have a most talented glove artist, but as he lacks a punch he is not appreciated and is seldom given a match. Kilbane is likely to suffer in the same way to some extent, although, as he is a champion, he cannot be overlooked altogether.

It is also demonstrated that Kilbane's talk about turning his attention to the lightweights is somewhat premature. He made the weight without difficulty and there appears to be no reason why he should not continue to do so. Certainly on the form he displayed he could not expect to hold his own with the top notch lightweights.

FACTS AND COMMENT ON NEW YORK NEWS

New York, May 3.—The problem of establishing a means of communication between New York city and the New Jersey side of the river, so as to make it possible for vehicles to cross from one State to the other without depending upon the cumbersome and antiquated ferry system, has formed the subject of a careful investigation and study by the New York State Bridge and Tunnel Commission. At last the final report of the commission has been submitted to the State Legislature There had been considerable agitation in favor of the construction of a bridge to span the river between New York city and the New Jersey shore and the commission went into the subject with great thoroughness, obtaining estimates of the cost by experts and having trial borings made to determine at which point or points the conditions of the ground were most favorable for the erection of the towers which would have to carry the weight of the superstructure of the bridge.

The report of the commission does not favor the plan of building a bridge. The cost of such a structure is conservatively estimated by the experts at $42,000,000 and it is quite possible that unforeseen complications would increase the cost considerably. Owing to unfavorable conditions it would be practically impossible to construct the bridge where it would fullfill its object of relieving the congestion of traffic between New York city and New Jersey. In view of these facts the commission recommends the construction of two or more tunnels between the congested business sections of New York city and the New Jersey side of the river. The cost of two tunnels, each with a roadway seventeen feet wide, one to be used for eastbound, the other for westbound traffic, is estimated at $11,000,000, and it is believed that these tunnels would accommodate 5,000,000 vehicles yearly.

Little Beulah Miller, the Rhode Island schoolgirl with the widely advertised "X-ray Eyes," has gained additional notoriety by causing a dispute between Dr. Hugo Muensterberg, professor of psychology at Harvard University, and Dr. John B. Quackenbos, hypnotist and psychological searcher. Dr. Quackenbos, who has acquired a certain reputation by being taken in by every fake proposition, be it a spiritualistic medium, like Madame Palladino, a mind-reader or some other "psychic marvel," recently "investigated" little Beulah and promptly came to the conclusion that the girl possessed "X-ray Eyes" and various other mysterious "psychic gifts." Then came Dr. Muensterberg, who also subjected the alleged powers of the girl to careful tests and came to the conclusion that, although Beulah possessed unusual psychic powers, interesting to the psychologist, there was really nothing mysterious or ultra-normal about her gifts. He found that the girl cannot know anything that is not known to someone beforehand and communicated to her by signs. Dr. Muensterberg takes the charitable view, however, that neither the girl nor her mother and her sister intended deception and that they were not conscious of signaling information and receiving such signals.

The other day a boy was arrested upon the charge of burglary. The prisoner was unable to tell how old he was and the boy's mother was summoned to give the desired information. It was necessary to ascertain the age of the boy to decide whether he should be sent to jail or to the House of Detention for young delinquents. When the mother of the prisoner arrived she carried in her arms a baby about two or three months old. She informed the magistrate that the baby was the youngest of her brood of nineteen children. When asked about the age of her arrested son she said that she was not quite sure. Her children came in such rapid succession that she found herself unable to keep track of their respective ages. It was necessary to search the records of the Health Department to ascertain the age of the prisoner.

It was a real mean trick of some naughty boys to turn loose a few mice in a crowded subway train. The poor little creatures promptly caused a stampede among the feminine passengers and the boys had no trouble in finding seats, the very thing they wished to accomplish. The S. P. C. A. showed a reprehensible neglect of duty by not taking action in this case.

After sixteen years of peace the fight between the City and the State authorities for the possession of Ward's Island is about to be renewed. The island is owned by the city, but it was leased to the State sixteen years ago, after much criticism, for $1 a year, the lease being indeterminate, but containing a clause providing that the municipality could abrogate it upon giving fifteen years' notice to the State. Mayor Strong filed such notice in 1897, and when the lease expired last November, Controller Prendergast refused to renew it.

Attorney General Carmody, on behalf of the State, has asked the city to renew the lease for fifty years or sell the entire property to the State for the nominal sum of $1. The city places the value of the 239 acres of land at $7,680,000, and the value of the buildings is $1,270,000. The State insists that the valuation is much too high, nearly double the actual value. Thus the matter now stands and neither the city officials nor the Board of Aldermen seem to be able to decide what to do in the matter.

The other day a Greek peddler, whose first name is Diogenes, found $3 in perfectly good bills on the floor of a down-town saloon. Being an honest man he did not put the money in his pocket and walk out of the place, but tried to ascertain who had lost the money. There were more than a dozen persons in the saloon and Diogenes asked every one of them, but they all were honest men and not one of them claimed to have lost the $3. Diogenes carried the money to the nearest police station and delivered his find to the lieutenant in charge. No doubt the $3 will eventually be turned over to the police fund. And yet there are many persons prejudiced enough to believe that there are no honest people in New York city.

After a careful investigation of the past record of Attorney Rouss, who seems to have played such an important part in the police graft game by playing the intermediary between the members of the grafting clique, District Attorney Whitman had no difficulty in convincing Mr. Rouss that it would be to his advantage to play fair with the district attorney and make a clean breast of everything he knows about the graft conspiracy. It is expected that now Mr. Whitman will be able to reach the "man higher up," upon whose trail he has been camping for some time.

IMMODEST POSES ARE DISTASTEFUL TO JUDGES IN THE NEW YORK COURTS

MRS. BENJAMIN N. DUCAS

This picture shows Mrs. Rachel Ducas in the "immodest pose" for which she was severely reprimanded by Judge Gavegan, of the New York Supreme Court.

In a suit which was brought recently by her husband, Benjamin N. Ducas, the wealthy head of the Ducas Chemical Company, to compel Mrs. Ducas to live up to a separation agreement entered into some time ago, the defendant was forced to be in the Supreme Court room in New York. While Mrs. Ducas was listening to the case she assumed a pose which was distasteful to the Judge, who was hearing the case. A severe reprimand was meted out to her. The Judge's words were:—"I want to say to that young woman in black that she is disrespectful to this court and that she is making an indecent exposure of herself in a public place. If she wishes me to be more explicit I will say for her benefit that her lower limbs are insufficiently clad. She is making far too free an exhibition of them—and in a public place." It was reported that Mrs. Ducas' hosiery was very summery.

JUNIORS PLAY TOMORROW.

Manager Vincent Mullin announce a game for the Shamrock A. C. to be played at Bound Brook tomorrow afternoon with the junior combination of that place. A good contest is assured and a large delegation of local fans is expected to accompany the wearers of the green.

REAL ESTATE SHOW.

New York, May 3.—Maps, models and "movies" illustrating the various developments and "ideal home" communities around Greater New York are on display in the Grand Central Palace, where the 1913 Real Estate Show was opened today for a week's engagement. A marvelous working model of the Panama Canal is one of the added attractions. An international character has been given the show this year by the addition to the list of exhibitors of several large real estate concerns from Toronto, Hamilton and other cities of Canada.

Fabric Cord Tyres

A Radically New Principle

A Cord Fabric Tyre with the Cords running radially to the wheel. This means across the tyre—This we accomplish by a new process. No hooks in the Bead. Each fibre insulated in rubber. No fabric friction possible. Therefore it cannot HEAT. It is RESILIENT. It is FAST. The results are remarkable in ease of riding and great mileage.

We predict that at least 50% of all tyres made next year will be built by our process. Buy one tyre and be convinced now. We have something the other fellows cannot give you.

We spent several hundred thousand dollars to develop and perfect this idea and want the public to benefit from this really great improvement in pneumatic tyres. Sooner or later you will try Fabric Cord Tyres. Why not now?

SERIOUSLY HURT BY PITCHED BALL

Frank Evans Hit on Head by Swift Sphere Delivered by Otto Frederickson.

KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS

A Mishap in the Game Between Plainfield and New Brunswick at Crescent Oval On Saturday Afternoon.

As a result of being hit in the head with a fast ball delivered by Otto Frederickson, in the seventh inning of the game between Plainfield and New Brunswick at Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon, Frank Evans, the well known second baseman of the local nine, is confined to his home on West Fourth street suffering from a slight concussion of the brain. When Evans was hit by Frederickson Saturday he fell unconscious to the ground but quickly recovered his wits and pluckily begged to be allowed to resume play, but he was taken from the field and to his home in an automobile.

Evans was confined to his bed Saturday night and yesterday but went to his work at the Public Service Corporation as usual this morning. After working for a little over two hours he became ill and had to leave for his home. Upon arriving there a physician was summoned and upon examination it was found that Evans' injury was far more serious than was at first thought. While the accident is not expected to result fatally, Evans will be confined to his home for some time and it is doubtful whether or not be will be able to resume his ball playing this season.

The ball that hit Evans was traveling at a terrific rate of speed and when it struck the player, so great was the impact that the sphere rolled to the ground as though lifeless. It struck him on the left side of the head just in back of the ear. After the accident occurred, Frederickson, who delivered the fated ball, became completely unnerved and to this fact can be attributed the defeat of the New Brunswick team.

PLAINFIELDERS MARCH IN EQUAL SUFFRAGE PARADE

White gowns with yellow sashes make an attractive uniform. So thought the observers of Saturday's Suffrage parade in New York. Under a banner labeled "Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield," about eleven women marched. Other Plainfield women marched amongst the artists, college girls, etc., in other sections of the parade. There was a weary wait of two hours before the Plainfield section could start, but they walked with heads erect, and full of spirit, as if standing for two hours with the thermometer near 90 were refreshing.

Mrs. Champlain Riley carried the banner under which marched amongst others, Mrs. Lewry, Mrs. Dorr, Miss Helen Walbridge, Miss Mabel Van Deventer, Mrs. Arthur B. Jones, Miss Alice Thompson and Miss Katherine Ball, Miss Ball carrying the banner half the way.

During the wait, a workingman asked one of the Plainfielders when the parade would start. "For," said he, "I've three daughters marching and I want to see them go by." A ragged old woman approached the president of the local league at the end of the parade and said she had seen all the parades in New York from the Dewey parade down and this was the prettiest and best managed of them all. And indeed the order and police protection were perfect. An amusing incident occurred at the supper following. One of the yellow balloons exploded with a report that was suggestive of militant tactics; it caused quite a laugh when understood.

Champlain Riley and Mr. Selden, of Plainfield, marched with the Men's League for Equal Suffrage, 1,000 strong.

YOUTH IS EXILED.

Edward Galbraith, the twenty years old son of John Galbraith, of 427 West Third street, arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza for being intoxicated and acting disorderly, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and spend 60 days in the county jail. On the condition that he leave town, which he promised to do, the sentence was suspended. Under the provisions of the agreement he cannot return here within a period of one year. The charge against him was preferred by his father. He is an old offender. John Lyons, of West Third street, arrested with Galbraith on a similar charge, was released on a suspended sentence.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Currins, of North Front street, are parents of a girl born to them a few days ago.

PAUL A. SORG, NOTED HORSEMAN, DEAD

Millionaire New York Society Man Who is Well Known Here Passes Away.

Paul Arthur Sorg, aged 34 years, one of the best known owners and exhibitors of thoroughbred horses, and who has exhibited his string of horses at the Plainfield show, died yesterday at his home, 12 East Eighty-seventh street, New York His death was due to heart disease, which followed a heavy cold contracted three weks ago.

Mr. Sorg was born in Middletown, Ohio, July 22, 1878, the son of J. Paul Sorg, one of the largest tobacco manufacturers in the world. He was educated in the public schools of Middletown, the Kenyon Military Academy, the Westminster School at Dobbs Ferry, and at the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale, from which he was graduated in 1901.

Mr. Sorg's first attempt for honors in the show ring was in 1901 when he entered a road four at Madison Square Garden. In 1905 and 1906 he again exhibited his horses, this time at Pittsburgh as well as New York. At both exhibitions he won blue ribbons. Thereafter Mr. Sorg established a stable and entered his horses at all the large exhibitions. His most prominent winners were Heather Bell and Black oRse, My Lady and Lady Grayce, His Majesty and His Highness, and the road four, Daylight and Dawn and Midday and Sunset.

Mr. Sorg was married on June 22, 1904, to Miss Grayce Aull, of Pittsburgh. He was a member of the Queen City Club of Cincinnati, Ohio; the Dayton City Club of Dayton, Ohio; the New York Athletic Club, the Larchmont Yacht, the New York Automobile Club, and the Chi Phi Fraternity. He was interested in several large enterprises in Middletown, Ohio.

LITTLE CHILDREN ATTEND RALLY DAY EXERCISES

The rally-day services at the Congregational church yesterday were marked by a feature that proved to be popular with the adult members as well as their children. Rev. C. L. Goodrich, the pastor, made an effort to secure as large an attendance of members as possible, and as an inducement, he announced that the small children of parents would be entertained on the lawn by a competent person.

A large number of children were brought to church and during the communion service, where four members were received, one on confession and three by letter, Miss Marjorie Beidelman, of Hillside avenue, took charge of the children, amusing them in various ways on the spacious church lawn. Thus the fathers and mothers were both able to attend service, instead of one being obliged to remain at home and care for the children.

This is not the first time that novel methods have been introduced at this church to attract people. Last summer the attendance at the prayer meetings was increased by the serving of lemonade and more recently a successful baby show was held at the church, suitable prizes being given for certain qualifications.

A WARNING.

A number of complaints have been made recently of teamsters who drive over and damage sidewalks in trying to reach their destination by passing over other people's vacant property. Any person driving over sidewalks is liable to a fine of five dollars and a ten dollar fine is prescribed for those who take up sidewalks without first securing a permit. The police department has been requested to apprehend any person violating the ordinances.

MARITAL TROUBLES AIRED.

Miss Katherine Lee, colored, of South Second street, received a severe thrashing Saturday night at the hands of Mrs. Julia Carter. The fight ended in the arrest of the pair and Mrs. Carter's husband. This morning, Miss Lee, arraigned before City Judge DeMeza, was fined $10. Carter, charged with disorderly conduct, was fined $5 and his wife was given a suspended sentence.

IN POLICE COURT.

Daniel Giddis, of 315 West Second street, arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning, charged with owning two unlicensed dogs, was given his liberty on a suspended sentence following his agreement to obtain the necessary permit as required by a city ordinance.

CLARENCE H. BILYEN DEAD IN 65TH YEAR

Well Known Man Victim of Heart Trouble After Two Weeks' Illness.

Clarence H. Bilyeu, aged 64 years, a well-known resident in this vicinity for the past twenty years, died Saturday night at his home, 215 Stebbins place, following two weeks' illness with heart trouble. About three years ago Mr. Bilyeu while working on the roof of a new house on Clinton avenue, fell and broke his hip and he never fully recovered from that injury, always being compelled to walk with a crutch.

Mr. Bilyeu was born in New York, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bilyeu, both of whom are dead. At one time he lived at Watchung and for six years resided on Somerset street, the borough. More recently he removed to Stebbins place. He was a carpenter by trade. For a number of years he was a member of the Congregational church and a faithful attendant at the services.

There survives three daughters, Mrs. Eugene Maurel, of the borough; Mrs. Charles Weigman, of West Second street, and Miss Mildred Bilyeu, who lives at home; one son, Clarence H. Bilyeu, of Somerville; a brother, Truman Bilyeu, of New Market, and four half-brothers, Isaac Winans, of South Plainfield; Silas Winans, of Warrenville; George Winans, of North Plainfield, and Alfred Winans, of Dunellen. The funeral will be held at the late home tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. C. L. Goodrich officiating. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

TO SEE A GOOD SHOW HERE'S OPPORTUNITY

Krause's Greater Circus is "in Our Midst" for a Whole Week.

Krause's Greater Shows, one of the biggest carnival companies on the road, will open for the 1913 season tonight on the show grounds at the corner of West Front street and Grant avenue. Mr. Krause has been in Plainfield for several weeks getting ready for the season, and during that time has had a number of men at work building new fronts and other equipment for the company. As a result everything will be in readiness for a big week when the various attractions are placed on view tonight.

It has been the rule ever since this shown was put on the road several years ago to cater to families, especially the women and children, and every act which will be seen this evening and all the rest of the week is of a refined and entertaining character. The local exhibition is being given under the auspices of the Plainfield Council of the United Commercial Travelers.

As a free attraction, Mr. Krause has secured Elma Meyer, a high diver, who is said to be one of the most skillful in the business, and she will give exhibitions daily, diving from a high ladder, and then performing various feats of skill in the water. There will also be band concerts both afternoon and evening, by a twenty piece band of unusual merit.

One of the principal features will be Osborne's dog, pony and monkey circus, which is said to be one of the finest of the kind on the road. There is a miniature city, with every detail in operation, the tiny railroad moving back and forth, boats being propelled about a little lake, small figures dancing, office buildings showing signs of activity, a mill, and in fact everything which goes to show the activities of a thriving metropolis. The trip to Mars is said to be a great laugh producer, and there is a merry-go-round, a ferris wheel, and circle wave, a "crazy house," a big tent full of freaks, "Oberita, the Girl in the Golden Frame," a penny arcade, a tabloid musical comedy, "School Days," which has been playing the vaudeville houses this winter, and a dozen or more of the smaller devices, such as the African dodger, and similar amusement enterprises.

Two unusual horses are shown in one of the tents. One is pure white and has a tail sixteen feet long, and a mane twelve feet long. The other is unique in that it has a hide like an elephant with absolutely no hair on it.

On Wednesday night, Manager Krause will be the host to the carrier boys employed by the Daily Press, and they will see every show on the grounds at that time. The boys have been looking forward to the evening for a week.

RASORES' ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Rasores and the final one for the season will be held tomorrow morning at the home of Mrs. L. M. Lovell on Crescent avenue.

LOCAL CLERGY OFF FOR A CONVENTION

Diocesan Annual Meeting at Atlantic City to Open Tomorrow.

Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector and Rev. Harris Rush, curate, of Grace church; Rev. C. H. Mallery, rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, and Rev. W. E. L. Ward, rector of St. Stephen's church, left today for Atlautic City, where they will attend the 141st annual convention of the Diocese of New Jersey, which will begin tomorrow in the Church of the Ascension, of which Rev. Charles M. Niles is the rector. The Rt. Dev. John Scarborough, Bishop of New Jersey, will preside at the convention. Rev. William S. McCoy, rector of the Holy Cross church, will be unable to attend owing to injuries received in an accident last week.

One of the most important matters to come before the convention will be the election of delegates to attend the general convention to be held in New York in October. This election is always attended with considerable interest and rivalry.

BURGLAR ALARM WAS REALLY FIRE ALARM

While Roundsman Andrew Saffron and Patrolman Flatley were searching the neighborhood for burglars, which G. V. Disborough, of 119 Crescent avenue, declared were about, they discovered a fire in a chicken-coop on the J. W. Yates property on East Seventh street, early last evening. An alarm was sent in from Box 26, and the small blaze was promptly extinguished by the department.

An investigation showed that the blaze had been started in a box of rubbish, and when found was spreading rapidly over the chicken-coop. Before the fire was put out the whole top of the coop was destroyed. While the police could not find any burglars, they feel sure that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Within the past few months, Mr. Disborough has frequently summoned the police to his home on the suspicion that there were burglars about his place, but each time the police have been unable to find any trace of the intruders or get any clew to them. Mr. Disborough informed the police afterward that just before the fire was discovered he saw a man cross the Yates property in the vicinity of the chicken-coop.

CODINGTON A BOOMER FOR JAMES FIELDER

Elizabeth, May 5.—Arrangements have been completed for the meeting to be held Wednesday night in Holzohner's Hall in the interests of James F. Fielder's candidacy for Governor. James E. Lowden, formerly president of the Downtown Democratic Club, will preside, and a number of prominent men have been invited to attend.

Among these are former Judge William A. Coddington, of Plainfield; Frank Dobbins, of Rahway; Surrogate Egan, of Hudson county; Rudolph Sailer, of El Mora, and Arthur Tonnelle, secretary of the Fielder League of New Jersey.

RAILROAD WILL ABOLISH MOSQUITO BREEDING HOLE

Elizabeth, May 5.—The Central Railroad of New Jersey has notified the Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission that it will undertake, at its own expense, the drainage of one of the worst mosquito breeding spots between this city and Newark.

The spot the railroad will drain is known as "Great Island." At this point the tracks of the railroad form an almost perfect "Y," the centre of which has been filled with stagnant water. This, the mosquito fighters claim, has been the breeding spot for millions of the pests which infest this city and Newark during the summer months.

The marshland surrounding Great Island has been drained, but the work of the Union county commission has to a great extent been nullified because of the big breeding place at Great Island. When the work contemplated by the railroad company is carried out 10,000 cubic feet of marshland will have been drained and filled with ashes.

WESTFIELD WOMAN SECURES A DIVORCE

Mrs. Bruce E. Loomis Gets Decree at Reno—Too Much Mother-in-law.

Reno, Nev., May 5.—Elizabeth D. Loomis obtained a divorce Saturday from Bruce E. Loomis, of New York city. The Loomis home is in Westfield, N. J., where much of the couple's trouble occurred. The two were married in Jersey City on April 7, 1899, and have three young children. The youngest boy is here with his mother. The two others are with their father.

Mrs. Loomis testified that her husband's mother did not visit her home for months after her wedding. The first trouble occurred in 1902, when the husband's mother told him, according to Mrs. Loomis, that if he would leave his wife he could have a large inheritance from her, otherwise he would receive nothing. Loomis told his wife he thought more of his mother than of any one else. He lost all control of his temper, Mrs. Loomis testified. He struck and bruised her and threatened her life, she said, and he always carried a revolver. In a subway station in New York on September 12 last, she stated, he attempted to take the baby from her, insisting that he have all three of the children. Her stout resistance and a man's offer of assistance, prevented the husband's succeeding in the attempt. She feared his threats and left him.

The court gave the custody of the two younger children to the wife, the husband agreeing to give $40 a week for their support. He appeared through an attorney.

3-FOLD CELEBRATION IN HONOR OF COLLINS

Major General Guest of Honor at Feast in Elks' Club in Elizabeth.

Elizabeth, May 5.—Major General Dennis F. Collins was the guest of honor at a banquet in the Elks' clubhouse here, Saturday night, the affair marking three events—the general's twenty-fifth year in the volunteer service, the fifteenth anniversary of his departure for the Spanish-American War and his fortieth birthday anniversary.

After the banquet the general reviewed the Second Regiment at the armory, followed by a presentation of medals to guardsmen. Gen. Collins was presented with the decoration of the Order of Foreign Wars, by Col. Scammell, of Trenton, in recognition of his services in the Spanish-American War.

The presentations at the armory were of a twenty-five years service medal to Gen. Collins; fifteen year service medal to Captain Henry O. Warren, of Co. I, Elizabeth; ten year service medals to Sergeants James B. Conklin and Oliver R. Pearson, of Co. K, of Plainfield, and to Second Lieutenant A. R. Phillips and First Sergeant George E. Apgar, of Co. K, members of winning team in indoor battalion rifle match. General Sadler made the presentations. Lieutenant Colonel Robert L. Patterson was chairman of the arrangement committee and toastmaster.

FRANK HEDDEN'S LOSS.

A horse valued at $500, the property of Frank Hedden, the West Fourth street liveryman, died last night of lockjaw, sustained as the result of an auto collision two weeks ago. The horse was attached to a coach standing in West Fourth street, near Park avenue, when the auto, loaded with long pieces of iron rods, struck the steed in the left side, inflicting several deep cuts. The injuries, to all appearances, had healed and the horse was in apparently good health, when lockjow set in. The animal was shot.

CONFERENCE FOR PARENTS.

A Parent-Teacher conference will be held at the Plainfield High School tomorrow night under the auspices of the High School Parent-Teacher Association and at that time the members of the Plainfield High School faculty will be in their respective class rooms for the purpose of consultation. Following the period of conference, which will be from 2 to 8:45 o'clock, William S. Tyler, president of the Board of Education, will discuss the new addition to the High School, after which an informal discussion will be held.

COAL DEALERS INCORPORATE.

Papers of incorporation were filed with Copnty Clerk James C. Calvert in Elizabeth, this morning for the Incorporation of the Coal Dealers' Credit Association of this city. The trustees are George O. Stevens, Edward Voorhees, Charles A. Smith, Nathan Meyers and William Van Court.

UNION COUNTY C. E. ANNUAL CONVENTION

Session at Rahway Next Friday Night to Be Addressed by Rev. F. W. Johnson.

The annual meeting of the Union County Christian Endeavor Society will be held Friday night in the Second Presbyterian church at Rahway. Officers will be elected and reports will be presented by the secretary and treasurer. The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the county will hold its session in the afternoon at the same place. A speaker has been secured.

The principal address at the evening rally will be delivered by Rev. F. W. Johnson, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, of Rahway, chairman of the Christian Citizenship and Sabbath Observance Department of the State Union. The contest for the awarding of the banner to the society having the largest number of its members present will again take place, and it is possible that one of the Plainfield societies will capture the prize.

The society of the Temple Baptist church has chartered a special trolley car for the occasion, which will leave the Watchung avenue stand at 7:30 o'clock, making one stop at East Second and Berckman streets. There will be music on the car and Chris. Utzinger, the president of the society, has planned a surprise for the members on their return trip from Rahway.

SURPRSE PARTY GIVEN FOR MISS IDA SACHAR

Miss Ida Sachar was given a surprise party at her home, 731 West Third street, last night, the affair being arranged by her sister, Miss Marion Sachar, and Miss Elizabeth Rosenson. Dancing was the feature. The home was decorated with spring flowers, the prevailing color being pale blue. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Those present were Messrs. Pear, Sahn, Hoddison, of New Brunswick, William Shelodve, of Elizabeth; Messrs. Stein and Crowbar, of Newark; William Schwartz, of New York, Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Levinson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Canter, the Misses Marion Sachar, Elizabeth Rosenson, Ida Sachar, Rose Davidson, Sarah Davidson, Rose Semer, Mildred Henry, Minnie Nathanson, Miriam Goldman and Jacob Stierer, Philip Moskovitz, Herman Shrager, Herman Rosenson and Leo Berse.

BINGEMAN AT WAWAYANDA.

C. William Bingeman, boys' secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., left this morning for the State Boys' Camp at Lake Wawayanda to make preparations for the reception of the first section of campers that is due to arrive there the latter part of next month. Following his annual custom, Mr. Bingeman will spend three days at the popular boys' rendezvous to complete the arrangements for the opening of what is expected to be the biggest season in the history of the camp. Many local boys are contemplating spending their summer vacations there with Mr. Bingeman, who will be one of the directors during the entire season of eight weeks.

MISCHIEVOUS YOUTHS.

Five young men arrested yesterday for raising a disturbance and acting disorderly in the vacant house at 534 West Seventh street, the property of the Sandford estate, will be arraigned tomorrow morning before City Judge DeMeza. They are Frank Harding, of 615 John street; William Locke, of 837 West Sixth street; John Connolly, of 523 West Sixth street, and Richard and Frank Lawton, of 517 West Sixth street. All were ordered to appear in court at 9 o'clock this morning but Harding and Locke were the only ones to comply with this order.

SMASHED A BIKE.

While speeding to a fire yesterday in answer to an alarm turned in from box No. 12, Chief T. O. Doane's car struck and damaged a bicycle standing in West Front street, near the scene of the blaze, which later proved to be the property of Robert Hargroft, of Rahway. Chief Doane gave Hargroft the price of a new mount. The blaze was in the rear yard of the home of George Taylor, of 112 West Front street, where a barrel of rubbish had caught fire.

TRANSIT COMPANY ELECTS.

The Plainfield Transit Company, incorporated, has elected these officers: President, George T. Hughes; vice president, Alfred E. Binz; treasurer, Dr. Marcus L. Clawson; secretary, Guy D. Peck; general manager, H. C. Pritchard. A new schedule will soon be put in operation planned to extend the service to the outlying districts.

PLAINFIELD GETS GREAT PUBLICITY

DISTRIBUTE LITERATURE

Enterprising Business Men Responsible For Advertising Community's Advantages — Heralded Also Through Some Sunday Newspapers.

Plainfielders and others visiting the real estate show at the Grand Central Palace, New York, this week, will be interested in the "Plainfield booth," where the advantages of the city will be set forth by different ones who will be in charge of the booth during the week. The committee who arranged for the exhibition of the city's booth comprise Edmund Rushmore, Morris C. Van Arsdale, William Jeffery, A. E. Force and J. V. E. Vanderhoef. Members of this committee will be at the booth at different times during the week and others are expected to assist.

The Plainfield and State Trust Companies and the First and City National banks have all arranged to have literature on hand and other local industries will be representd in different ways in an effort to advertise Plainfield as a most desirable place to live. The committee hopes that so far as possible Plainfielders will co-operate and assist in making the city's exhibition a creditable one.

The Plainfield booth is centrally located and on Saturday night it was surrounded by many who were eager to learn of the advantages offered by Plainfield for commuters. Copies of the daily issues of the local papers, the Plainfield Daily Press and the Plainfield Courier-News, are being distributed free.

Incidentally, Plainfield is also being given publicity just at present through the advertising columns of the Sunday editions of metropolitan newspapers.

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR EDGAR R. PEARSALL

The funeral service of Edgar R. Pearsall was held at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the First M. E. church, Westfield, and was largely attended by relatives and friends, including the officers of Co. K, of this city, of which Mr. Pearsall was formerly one, members of Fireside Council, Royal Arcanum, fire department and members of the National Guard of New Jersey.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, this city, and Rev. Dr. A. W. Hayes, both former pastors of the Westfield church, were in charge of the service and they both paid tribute to the life of the deceased. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The pall-bearers were two sons, Ferris and James, and his four nephews, Herbert, Clifford, Leigh and Ralph Pearsall. The burial was in Fairview cemetery.

CIVIC BODY'S AFFAIR.

The West End Civic Association will hold its first annual entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium tomorrow night and a varied program of music and dialect stories has been arranged by the enterprising committee in charge. Elmer P. Ransom will present an entertainment entitled "Mystification," introducing the latest European novelty "Paper Tearing;" Edward J. Rice will tell a number of dialect stories and give some imitations, while Miss Madeline Livingstone will give several character songs.

DUNELLEN COUNCIL.

The Dunellen Council met in special session Saturday night, checking several bills for payment at tonight's regular meeting and signed a contract with the authorities of Mulhenberg Hospital agreeing to pay that institution $2.50 per day for each indigent patient sent there for treatment. The bond of Borough Treasurer Isaac Stites was accepted. The county appropriation due but withheld until the filing of Mr. Stites' bond will now be forwarded.

FAREWELL DINNER TO RETIRING BRITISH AMBASSADOR GIVEN BY PILGRIMS OF AMERICA

Uttering undying friendship for the United States and its people and expressing the fervent hope that the close relationship that has existed between his own country and this during his six years' residence here, James Bryce, retiring Ambassador of Great Britain, bade a last formal farewell to the American people at a banquet in New York on April 25. He was the guest of the Pilgrims of the United States, the same body which greeted him on his arrival here, in 1907, just after he left his literary labors at the demand of his country, to take up the vexatious work of straightening out a long series of international disputes.

Mr. Bryce was affected visibly by the cordiality of his greeting and by the many kind things said of him by Mr. Joseph H. Choate, president of the Pilgrims, and Walter Hines

HOMEOPATHS MEET IN ANNUAL SESSION

Their Yearly Meeting to Be Held at Montclair Beginning on Wednesday.

Homeopathic physicians from throughout the State, including some from Plainfield, will journey to Montclair this week and attend the sixtieth annual session of the New Jersey Homeopathic Medical Society, which will be held in the Hotel Montclair.

On Wednesday afternoon the New Jersey Alumni of the New York Homeopathic Medical College will hold its annual meeting, at which Dr. Royal S. Copeland, dean of the college, will make an address, and Professor George F. Laidlaw will read a scientific paper.

In the evening Mayor Hinck will deliver the address of welcome to the medical men; Thomas J. Headlee, Ph. D., State entomologist, will give a lecture on the mosquito, illustrated with streopticon views, and Dr. Roy Upham, of Brooklyn, will read a scientific paper. A theatre party will also be held that night.

On Thursday morning the Bureau of Clinical Medicine and Pathology, Dr. Porter S. Kinne, of Paterson, chairman, will submit three papers at 9 o'clock, the Bureau of Materia Medica and Drug Proving, Dr. Wallace McGeorge, of Camden, chairman, will furnish four papers at 10:30 o'clock, and the Bureau of Homeopathic Philosophy, Dr. James W. Kirchbaum, of Montclair, chairman, will supply three papers at 11:30. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock, four papers will be submitted by the Bureau of Surgery and Gynecology, Dr. Widmer E. Doremus, of Arlington, chairman; at 3:30 papers will be given by the Bureau of Ophthtimology, Otology and Laryngology, Dr. William S. Beggs, of Newark, chairman, and at 5 o'clock three papers will be submitted by the Bureau of Physical Therapeutics, Dr. Charles F. Adams, of Hackensack, chairman. At 2 o'clock that afternoon a card party and tea for women will be given. In the evening the annual banquet and dance will take place.

The papers to be read Friday morning will be from the following bureaus: Pedology, Dr. Van Alstyne H. Cornell, of Trenton, four papers, at 9 o'clock; Obstetrics, Dr. Eugene G. West, of Orange, chairman, three papers, at 10:30 o'clock; Sanitary Science, Dr. Alan Corson, of Ocean City, chairman, three papers, at 11:30 o'clock.

The present officers are: President, Frank P. Ekings, Paterson; first vice president, Alfred W. Westney, Atlantic City; second vice president, Chas. H. Church, Newark; third vice president, C. W. Perkins, Princeton; recording secretary, A. N. Atkinson, Trenton; corresponding secretary, Charles F. Hadley, Camden; treasurer, Llewellyn E. Hetrick, Newark.

SCHOOL CHILDREN STRIKE.

SYLVANUS L. HEETER

The city school authorities of Pittsburg, Pa., declared that unless the striking school pupils return to their classes the truant officers will be sent after them. From twenty to twenty-five thousand children were absent from the schools. Older pupils in the high schools derided the officials and retorted they would remain out until Superintendent S. L. Heeter is thrown out of office.

UTILITY BOARD APPROVALS.

Trenton, May 5.—Approval has been given by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners for the sale by the New York Bay Railroad of all lands owned by it on the route of the proposed branch railroad in Newark, designated as the Newark Bay Branch of the New York Bay Railroad. The board has approved upon application of the Jersey City Traction Company an ordinance of the Monmouth County Freeholders granting the company permission to operate an electric street railway across the South Shrewsbury River. The Lackawanna Railroad has been granted permission to construct and maintain an additional track at grade across the public highway known as Sanford's Crossing in Kearny. Approval has been given by the board for the sale of nearly four acres of land in Jersey City to the Standard Oil Company. The property is now owned by the Lehigh Valley, but is not required for railroad purposes. The Public Service Company has been given permission to sell a lot of land in Jersey City to Arthur Brisbane. Permission has been granted to the Pennsylvania Railroad to dispose of two parcels of land in South Amboy. The board has also sanctioned the issue of $20,000 of bonds by the Hillcrest Water Company, to be used for plant extensions. The Ideal Beach Water Company has been authorized to issue $1,000 of capital stock for the completion of its organization.

PI KAPPA ALPHA AT RUTGERS.

New Brunswick, May 5.—Gamma Sigma, a local organization at Rutgers College, has been formed into a chapter of the Pi Kappa Alpha, a national college fraternity. It will be known as Alpha Psi Chapter. The fraternity has thirty-five chapters distributed in as many different colleges about the country. The installation of the chapter took place Saturday afternoon and was followed by a banquet at the Hotel Klein. Many alumni members of the local were in town and were initiated with the active men. The chapter of New York University conducted the ceremonies. Gamma Sigma has existed at Rutgers since 1904. A number of its members are Newarkers, among them being E. Stanley Chedister, James K. Alverson, Harold C. Pearson, Harry A. Cozzens, Jr., T. Vassar Morton, William E. Smock, William C. Park, George W. Schmidt, Joseph K. Folsom, Louis Hambrak, Jr., Elmer L. Walker and Albert M. Schultz. About twenty-five men were initiated and sixty attended the banquet. The installation of Gamma Sigma is considered the big event of this college year.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Cowperthwaite, of Mountain avenue, entertained about twenty-five friends at their home, Saturday evening, at an informal dance, the music for which was furnished by a phonograph.

PRESIDENT WILSON SPEAKS ON JURY REFORM AT ELIZABETH AND NEWARK

PRESIDENT WILSON SPEAKING, AT NEWARK, N.J. PHOTO: © AMER. PRESS ASSN.

In two ringing speeches in Newark and Elizabeth, which met the approval of more than five thousand people who heard him, President Wilson breathed defiance to the bosses of the old democratic machine of New Jersey, whom he charged with having defeated his jury reform and constitutional convention measures at the last session of the Legislature and with now trying to block the passage of these bills at the special session of the Legilature which has been called by Governor Fielder for next Tuesday.

The President made no apologies for his entrance into his own State to lead the forces of reform. On the contrary, his whole attitude was that of a man who felt that he was doing a duty in lending the force of his personali block the passage of these bills at the special session of the Legislature which he was elected Governor of the State.

COLORED BALLISTS WON FROM SPICERS

Factoryites Are Trimmed by Healthy Clouts—Dolan Hit Hard and Often.

Rapping the horsehide like demons while Pitcher Valentine was mowing down the Spicer batters in one, two, three order, the Royal Colored Giants defeated the Spicer Manufacturing Company's baseball team on the former's ground Saturday afternoon rolling up fifteen runs against the lone tally of the factorites. A total of twenty-one hits were swiped from Dolan's delivery while the Spicer men could connect with but an even half dozen.

Valentine "beaned" two of the Spicer players in succession with fast shoots and this started the rally that netted the Spicer team their lone tally. A feature of the game was the umpiring of Doctor Lawson and Pangborn for two officials could hardly be found who would have proven more satisfactory. Plummer and Kline did some good stick work for the winners, while O'Loughlin was the mainstay of the Spicer combination along that line, getting half of the hits credited to his following, and one of them was a two bagger.

MULLIN SHINES IN OPENING OF LEAGUE

Tommy the Whole Show Playing on Victorious Brunswick Aggregation.

According to reports printed in Brunswick, Georgia, papers, Tommy Mullin, the little third baseman from this city who is playing with the team of that place in the Empire League is evidently making good and is out to stick. More favorable criticism of his work would be hard to obtain than that given by papers in the towns in which he has performed.

In the opening game against the Waycross aggregation, which was attended by 2,515 fans, Mullin was the whole show. His work was responsible for his team coming out ahead by the score of 5 to 1, and his classy fielding and hard clouting were prominent features of the contest. Out of three times at the bat he got two singles and one run. Mullin walked once, and took two put outs and three assists at the difficult station with an error. Speaking of his work in this game one paper says: "Mullin was really the star of the opening game. He covered third base like a big leaguer, got two hits out of three times up, walked when a pass made a run, and played a good all around game."

EUCHRE SERIES CONTESTS.

The second set of games in the euchre tournament being conducted by the Holy Name Societies of the St. Joseph's, St. Mary's and St. John's Catholic churches will be held in St Mary's Hall next Wednesday night. The choicest of players have been rounded up and the games will be interesting ones.

TO BID NOT TO BET MORRIS PARK RULE

To Transform Finest Racing Plant into Ideal Suburban Community.

The spring meeting at Morris Park this year will be opened on May 31 by J. Clarence Davies and Joseph P. Day. There will be no betting ring, but the old clubhouse on the property will be turned into a bidding ring, where will be sold the 3,019 lots into which the famous race track property has been subdivided.

The whole of the ground floor of the clubhouse, which was the scene of many a fashionable and exclusive gathering fifteen or twenty years ago, is to be made the meeting place for hundreds of real estate buyers and for once "the mammoth tent" heretofore regarded as part of the necessary setting of a large lot sale, will be relegated to the background.

Sentiment is likely to occupy a very small corner in the minds of a lot of hard-headed real estate buyers, but if any of the bidders at the auction sale think that they would like to perpetuate some of Morris Park's history, they ought to know that by buying the lots on Colden avenue just south of Morris Park avenue, they can become the owners of the ground that was beaten by many hoofs in some of the most exciting finishes of the American turf.

Morris Park was first used for racing on August 20, 1889, as the successor of the famous old Jerome Park. Under the auspices of the New York Jockey Club and later, under the Westchester Racing Association, it was the scene of regular spring and fall meetings for fifteen years, until October, 1904. In the spring of the following year the Westchester Racing Association transferred its activities to Belmont Park and at about the same time Morris Park was sold by the Morrises.

When it was in its prime, Morris Park was generally regarded as the finest racing plant in the country. Its broad track and its mile straightaway combined to make it the favored place for the "sport of kings." Despite the fact that there has been no racing there for nine years, Maid Marian's record of 56¾ for five furlongs, and Plater's of 1:02½ for five and a half furlongs, made on the Morris Park straightaway, still stand unbeaten. Its steeplechase course was also one of noted excellence, so that in addition to fixed events of this sort, it also witnessed frequent contests over the jumps with gentlemen riders.

BISHOP, ANTI-SUFFRAGIST.

Trenton, May 5.—Although Bishop McFaul, head of the Trenton Catholic Diocese, was unable to attend the first annual meeting of the New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, held in this city Thursday, he sent to Miss Anna MacIlvane, recording secretary of the association, a letter expressing his regrets at his non-attendance and proclaiming his views on the suffrage question. Bishop McFaul stated that he supported the anti-association in its principles and upheld its doctrines. He believes that women should have part control of such governing bodies as school boards, boards of management of charitable institutions and the like. The prelate said that the Catholic Church was not opposed to woman suffrage on principle. The letter also stated that the church bitterly opposed such action on the part of suffragettes as has taken place in England.

TO BRAZIL FOR TESTIMONY.

Elizabeth, May 5.—Supreme Court Justice James J. Bergen, sitting here Saturday to hear motions, granted the motion of M. Casewell Heine to allow testimony to be taken before the American Consul at Rio Janeiro, Brazil, in suits to recover from Mayor Harwood Fish, of Roselle Park, head of the Gem Dredging Company. The actions, as previously announced, are brought by Emile Lame, of Roselle, and Charles T. Bingham, of Montreal, Canada. The date for the taking of such testimony was set for September 1. Charles M. Spangler, a mining engineer, will be the principal witness in Brazil. He is said to have an atachment on all the machinery of the Gem Dredging Company now in Brazil, because of the alleged non-payment of his wages.

Plainfield, N. J., May 5, 1913.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Some progressive business men are responsible for having Plainfield represented at the Real Estate Show being held at the Grand Central Palace. Literature concerning the attractions and advantages of residential and business life here and incidently statements from the banking houses and mercantile establishments as well as copies of the two local daily newspapers are being freely distributed by those in charge of the Plainfield booth.

This is the sort of advertising that pays and it is something that Plainfield has needed for a long time. Coupled with the display advertising being run in New York Sunday newspapers, the city cannot fail to profit by the enterprising and sane publicity. It is intended to place the display notices in various high standard metropolitan papers, changing the medium on each consecutive Sunday. This, too, is a good idea for the results will be more far-reaching and necessarily therefore more productive of good results than were the campaign confined to a single newspaper.

Plainfield is the ideal commuters' community. It is superbly situated within easy distance of New York and is surrounded by a most picturesque country, broad macadamized highways shooting out in every direction. The city itself is beautifully laid out. The residences, all well kept, abut on highly improved thoroughfares the border on either side being rows of stately trees. But it is not simply as the "City Beautiful" that Plainfield prides itself; it is as the up-to-date municipality, whose government is conducted by the highest type of men, both commuters and local ones. Its various departments, the fire, police, health, streets and the others, rival those of communities many times our size.

We have the third largest public library in all New Jersey, and we have a hospital that is a credit to the whole State. Furthermore our people voluntarily support more charities than probably any but the very largest communities in the State do and these include a fresh air home, a children's home, a baby camp, a day nursery, an open air day school, a city nurse, and a general charity society. We mention this only to show that our people take a deep interest in the community.

There is a superinbundance of attractions in the way of amusement and profitable entertainment. There are two golf clubs, one of which has 750 members and an eighteen hole course as well as several tennis courts. There are other tennis clubs and many baseball and basketball organizations. The Plainfield Riding and Driving Club's annual horse show is said to be the finest open air exhibition of its kind in the East and the Plainfield Kennel Club's annual bench show is a marvel in its way. Then, too, there are numerous social clubs, among which the Park Club stands out prominently. Nearly every fraternal society is represented. The Masons for instance, have two blue lodges, a chapter and a commandery. The Elks and the Knights of Columbus both have superb club houses. These are but a few of the many. The Plainfield theatre books Broadway successes and at Proctor's there are three vaudeville performances daily. The Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., each palatially housed, are additional attractions.

As for conveniences, it should be said that Plainfield has the service of three railroads, the Jersey Central, the B & O. and the Reading, with a total of 120 trains a day, including commuters trains making no stops between this city and Jersey City. The telephone company services includes approximately 2,000 local phones, and we have also two telegraph services.

Plainfield is a delightful place in which to live. The busy New Yorker who is bringing up a family in an expensive apartment house will find it interesting to run out and take a look at our community. Seeing is believing and he will be convinced that this is the ideal suburban community when he sees it.

That scheme of T. O. Doane and some other veterans to raise a fund for the erection of a soldiers' monument is an excellent one and the patriotic people of Plainfield will no doubt subscribe the amount necessary for a memorial in keeping with the high standard of the community. A meeting has been called for Thursday night when all who can do so should attend for at that time it is planned to formally launch the movement.

The Jap is treated infinitely better by the United States than the American is by the Russian government. The little yellow fellow is kicking because he is not allowed to gobble up land in California when he has no intention of becoming a citizen, but the American, whose race is persecuted by the Czar and his subjects, is not even allowed to enter Russia.

Ten thousand women participated in the "Votes for Women" parade in New York and their fine conduct and splendid appearance were an object lesson to the howling militants in the English movement.

Rev. Ernest R. Brown, pastor of the Dunellen Presbyterian church, officiated. Interment was made in the Plainfield avenue cemetery. Mr. Pound was sixty-three years old and had been a cripple since the time of his birth.

CURRENCY REFORM.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, May 5.—In a talk with the newspapermen, this morning, President Wilson denied that he has in contemplation any special message to Congress at this time on the currency question. He said he was in conference with Senators and Representatives, however, on currency reform and this led him to hope that there might be at least partial action on the question at the special session of Congress.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, May 5.—The District of Columbia Court of Appeals today reduced the sentence of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in the Buck Stove and Range Co. case to thirty days in jail. The sentences of John Mitchell, vice president, and Frank Morrissey, secretary, were remitted and fines of $500 imposed.

SOME PEOPLE'S FOLLIES TEXT FOR A SERMON

"Some Follies of Some Sensible People," was the subject of Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, last night. In his discourse, the preacher compared what he termed the fool-hardiness of the Bohemian life with Christianity and discounted the arguments of some who attack or who do not live a religious life.

Referring to the days of Christ when He offended His people by the originality of His interpretation of their law, Mr. Hubach said that there were many respectable people popularly regarded as wise and sensible, but whom history has shown to have been guilty of extreme folly. Their love for the city beautiful showed commendable civic pride. In these matters they were sensible.

"But when Jesus came as the Christ," said Mr. Hubach, "came from Nazareth into Galilee, came as the son of a carpenter, they were shocked, and when He spoke of himself as Messiah, they were ashamed that one so meek and lowly, so humble and poor come as their Messiah. So they crucified Him.

"History shows a great change. Today no decent man would permit himself to speak evil of Christ's character and life. Still, today some are offended even as they in Christ's day were, although today they find fault with His disciples, since like Paul they 'find no fault n Him.' These men are those who are proud of their own goodness; self-made men, who, although they worship their Maker, deny the necessity of any public allegiance to Christ, since they, not Christ, made themselves what are they. They claim they are as good as any church member. The pleasures of a Bohemian on the bowery must be sacrificed for they do not pertain to Christianity. Pleasures of sense, the lust of the eye, the lust of the flesh and the pride of life must go. But in the Christian life are rewards and joy-giving surprises that make you forget the pleasures of sense. It is folly for any man of sense to criticise the church, when it appeals to the heroic in him and not to the selfish."

CHURCH BROUGHT BY FLOOD.

Building, Complete With Bell, Dropped on Blannerhassett Island.

Historic Blannerhassett Island, in the Ohio river, has fallen heir to a substantial frame church, with an 800 pound bell, which was deposited on the island by the river during the recent flood.

A few days before the water had receded the inhabitants managed to moor the big church building on a desirable spot, where it will in the future play the part it was built for in another place.

Nothing could be found about the building to indicate where it had come from. With the exception of the floor the church is in good condition.

Religiously inclined natives of the historic old island declare the church is "bread they have cast upon the waters in former times returning to them."

Mohammedanism For Japan.

Mohammedans of India are planning an effort to Mohammedanize Japan. A strong deputation has been commissioned to study the situation, and the first advances toward spreading the religion in the mikado's empire will probably soon be made.

BURGLARS IN DUNELLEN.

Thieves entered the tailoring establishment of Oscar Victorson, in Dunellen, last night stealing a small sum of money and ten suits of clothes. Entrance was effected by forcing open a rear window. A search warrant was obtained from Recorder David S. Campbell for Albert Rajotte's brick yard, in Jefferson avenue, but the efforts of the authorities did not produce the stolen goods.

FIRST OPEN-AIR MEETING.

The first of a series of open-air meetings arranged for the summer by the Y. M. C. A., was held Saturday night at West Front street and Madison avenue. The meeting was addressed by Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, and was largely attended. Another service will be held at the same place Saturday night at 8:15 o'clock.

Joe Alberts' Scotch Plains baseball team defeated the Royal Giants, of Plainfield, on the local diamond yesterday afternoon by the score of 6 to 1.

Having a premonition that an effort will be made to put a stop to Sunday ball in Scotch Plains, Joseph Alberts, manager of the local semi-pros, made a tour among the spectators at yesterday's game, telling them not to applaude too loudly, because of objection that could be made on this account. In consequence the contest was played minus the usual cheering, hand clapping being indulged in to ovate a ball tosser who made a good play. The crowd while large was orderly.

The Scotch Plains team will play the Plainfield aggregation of the Central New Jersey League, next Sunday afternoon on the local diamond.

The regular monthly meeting of the Missionary Societies of the M. E. church was held yesterday following the Sunday-school service.

The baseball team of the local public schools is in line for championship honors, having captured three straight games.

Frank Evans, the star second baseman of the local semi-pro nine, was unable to participate in yesterday's game because of an injury received Saturday when he was hit in the temple with a pitched ball while playing for Plainfield against the New Brunswick nine, of the Central New Jersey League.

Applications continue to be filed with Instructor Batterson, for the Boy Scout troop to be formed in this vicinity.

Work was begun Saturday on the laying out of the tennis court on the west side of the Parish House. This new attraction to the local amusement and recreation centre is sure to prove popular.

Communion services were held yesterday in the local M. E. church. The pastor, Dr. H. K. Carroll, delivered the sermon.

A party of young people from the 'Plains visited Washington Rock yesterday.

Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, District Superintendent of the Newark Conference, preached an interesting sermon last night in the M. E. church.

Miss Esnee Hodgson led the Epworth League meeting last night in the M. E. church.

Bound Brook.

Mrs. M. L. Baillarge and daughter have returned to their home near Martinsville, after spending several months at Orlando, Florida.

The visiting nurse committee will meet at the Nurses' Home, 211 West Second street, tomorrow morning, at 10 o'clock.

Miss Christina Ospermanto, of Brooklyn, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. James Luese.

The regular monthly meeting of America Hose Company, No. 2, will be held in America Hall tonight.

Miss Emma Herbert, Mrs. John Olendorf and Robert W. Shoppell have gone to Europe for several months.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Park were Sunday visitors with friends at Dunellen.

Somerset Lodge, No. 56, Knights of Pythias, will meet in Hamilton Hall at 8 o'clock tonight.

Deacons John VanDoren and Harry Southard and Elders Wm. D. Voorhees and Thomas H. Walters were installed at the church service yesterday morning at the Reformed church.

Needs Little Care

TWO trips a day to the cellar is all the trouble a SQUARE POT FURNACE will give you—unless the weather is pretty cold—in that case you might have to go three times. These furnaces run with the steadiness of a clock and regulate almost to a degree, so that one firing develops sufficient heat for several hours comfort. Besides (which is well worth considering) they give all the available heat in the coal.

It's the square firepot that does it. This is a great improvement over the traditional round form of pot and actually increases furnace efficiency without adding to up-keep cost. If you want a furnace economical of coal and attention, investigate the SQUARE POT FURNACE

State of New York, BRANCH OFFICE OF Banking Department.

Geo C Van Tuyl Jr
Superintendent

60 BROADWAY
New York, N.Y. -m5-

Dear Sir-

The Banking Department of the State of New York, as liquidator of the Carnegie Trust Company and the Northern Bank of New York, is largely interested in the property formerly known as the Morris Park Race Track, located in the Borough of the Bronx, City of New York, extending from about the line of 175th Street to Pelham Parkway

This property, consisting of about 3000 lots, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder on May 31st, 1913, and succeeding days

The property is high ground, many of the streets are on grade. The City grew up to the property years ago and this great tract has stopped its developement in a northeasterly direction

There are five railroad stations on or in the immediate vicinity, a number of trolley lines come to and along its borders, and this Department is advised by the Manager of the Interborough Railway that two of the lines of rapid transit recently adopted by the City will have stations adjoining or near the property, and that it is expected one of these lines will be in operation within the next two years. This property will then be in direct communication with all parts of Manhattan and Brooklyn for a five-cent fare

Your attention is respectfully called to this proposed sale

Very truly yours,

GEORGE C. VAN TUYL, Jr.

State Superintendent of Banks;
in charge of the Carnegie Trust Co. and the Northern Bank in liquidation.

HE RETURNS AFTER 37 YEARS.

Aged Man Joins Family, Ending Strange Absence.

James A. Stewart, who left St. Louis thirty-seven years ago and was believed by his family to be dead, has returned and found his three daughters after a week's search. Stewart is seventy-two years old and was superintendent of construction of the Eads bridge when that structure was being built.

Stewart could not recognize either of his three daughters, and they saw little resemblance between the aged stranger and the father who left them long ago, but he proved his identity, and the family was reunited. Stewart refuses to explain why he left home or where his wanderings have led him.

Baseball on a Skyscraper Roof.

Skyscraper baseball 200 feet above the street level is played by employees in the main building of the Chicago Telephone company with the coming of mild weather. A baseball diamond has been laid out on the roof and two teams organized. Every day at noon the teams play a few innings. The diamond is inclosed by a six foot wall, and the roof is so large that no one has yet been able to bat the indoor ball out of the "grounds."

SCHOOL HYGIENE CONGRESS SOON

International Meeting at Buffalo In August.

FIRST TIME IN AMERICA.

Representatives of All Leading Nations, Every State In the Union and Most of the World's Great Educational and Scientific Institutions Will Discuss Pupils' Health.

All the leading nations, every state in the Union, every college and university of note in this country and various other leading educational, scientific, medical and hygienic institutions and organizations as well as various women's organizations will be represented at the fourth international congress on school hygiene in Buffalo Aug. 25-30, according to a preliminary statement issued by Dr. Thomas A. Storey of the College of the City of New York, secretary general of the congress.

The president of the United States has accepted the honorary office of patron of the congress. The president of the congress is Dr. Charles W. Eliot, one time president of Harvard university.

The vice presidents are Dr. William H. Welch, the great pathologist of Johns Hopkins university, formerly president of the American Medical association, and Dr. Henry P. Walcott, president of the recent international congress on hygiene and demography and chairman of the Massachusetts state board of health.

It is the aim of the organizing committee in charge to bring together at Buffalo a record number of men and women interested in improving the health and efficiency of school children and to make this congress, the first of its kind ever held in America, one of direct benefit to each individual community. A program of papers and discussions is now being arranged covering the entire field of school hygiene. There will be scientific exhibits representing the best that is being done in school hygiene and also commercial exhibits of educational value.

Entertainment at Buffalo.

Nor will the entertainment of delegates in any way be neglected. Buffalo has subscribed $40,000 toward covering the expenses of the congress. The Buffalo citizens committee has planned for a series of social events, including receptions and a grand ball, a pageant in the park and excursion trips to the great industrial plants and to the scenic wonders of Niagara falls.

The congress is open to all persons interested in school hygiene, who may join as regular active members upon the payment of a five dollar fee. Application for membership should be sent to Dr. Thomas A. Storey, College of the City of New York, New York city.

The list of honorary presidents contains the names of prominent men in foreign countries who have been active in the interest of school hygiene and in the support of the congress.

Honorary Presidents.

Among the names are:

His royal highness the Duke of Connaught, governor general of Canada.

His excellency J. Appel, minister of the department of education, Denmark.

His excellency B. J. Berquist, chief of the bureau of secondary education, Sweden.

His excellency Dr. Kirchner, Prussian minister of the interior and president of the German School Hygiene association.

His excellency M. Guist' Hau, minister of public instruction and fine arts, France.

His excellency Dr. Th. Heemskerk, minister of the interior, Netherlands.

His excellency Dr. Rodrigo Rodrigues, minister of the interior and of public instruction, Portugal.

His excellency D. Antonio Lopez Munoz, minister of public instruction and fine arts, Spain.

Dr. Professor Burgerstein, Vienna.

Dr. Professor Exner, Vienna.

Dr. Professor Liebermann, Budapest.

Dr. Professor Axel Johnnessen, Christiania.

Dr. Professor Twardowski, Polish Austria.

Dr. Professor M. C. Schuyten, Belgium.

Sir Lauder Brunton, England.

Sir Lic. Jose, A. Lopez Del Valle, commissioner of health, Havana.

Dr. L. Pagliani, Turin, Italy.

Dr. Luis Razetti, Caracas, Venezuela.

Honorary Vice Presidents.

The honorary vice presidents have been selected from the most prominent exponents of the higher educational ideals of the North American countries.

Among the names are:

Dr. Abraham Jacobi, president of the American Medical association.

James Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore.

Philander P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education.

John H. Finley, president of the College of the City of New York.

David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford university.

Andrew S. Draper, commissioner of education, New York state.

William H. Welsh, professor of pathology, Johns Hopkins university.

Adelbert Moot, regent of the University of the State of New York.

Dr. Rupert Blue, surgeon general United States public health and marine hospital service.

JUSTICE VOORHEES IMPROVES.

Trenton, May 5.—Supreme Court Justice Willard P. Voorhees, who suffered from a slight stroke while sitting with the Court of Errors and Appeals, is improving rapidly. He was removed to his home in New Brunswick Saturday afternoon. An automobile was sent from New Brunswick for that purpose. Among the callers at the hospital Saturday were Chancellor Edwin Roberts Walker, Justice Trenchard and former Supreme Court Justice Alfred Reed. They found Justice Voorhees in a cheerful frame of mind and inclined to be jocular notwithstanding the serious nature of his illness. All the physicians in attendance gave their consent to the removal of Justice Voorhees from the hospital.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

By FRANCES MARSHALL

The Spring Bride.

Materials used for the bridal gown are the white fabrics of clinging variety. The most beautiful material for this use seen this season are not of extremely smooth finish, but are of soft, lustrous texture and are well adapted to graceful lines of the present modes.

Among the most popular materials are white crape tussore, plain and crape charmeuse, chiffon faille, canton crape, moire chiffon and brocade chiffon. All of the soft handmade laces and the finer of those made by machine are combined with chiffon as trimming or to form the bodice of the gown.

A new bow for the bridal slipper is a rosette of chiffon into which are caught natural orange blossoms. White rosebuds are also used in these chiffon rosettes.

The fluffy white bow of chiffon or chiffon and satin mixed is also in favor for the wedding slipper.

Rhinestone buckles may be used, but bows and rosettes are better choice.

Gay Frocks For Children.

The fashion for Bulgarian colorings is as popular as ever, and its conquest is complete as regards some little frocks for children suitable for the spring.

Made of fine crash, cut in the Magyar shape, the hem and sleeves bordered with scarlet, the front embroidered in bright colors and the whole finished with a scarlet woolen girdle and tassels, they are delightful as play frocks and will wash well.

Little Dutch bonnets of the same material and worked in the same tints are the prettiest adjuncts to these small frocks.

Elastic Corset Laces.

If corsets are laced with elastic instead of with the ordinary corset strings they will be found much more comfortable, as the elastic gives much more freedom to the body. Any woman knows that corsets cannot be dispensed with, masculine dress reformers to the contrary notwithstanding. It is not only a matter of beauty of form, but the corsets are an actual support, and without them a woman has an "all gone feeling." With the substitution of elastic for the usual corset laces all objectionable features to the corset are removed. It is no longer an "instrument of torture."

A Cracker Basket.

For the woman who loves a cup of tea in the afternoon and who also likes a small cooky or cheese cracker or some such tidbit to nibble while sipping her tea there is a new suggestion in the way of serving the wafers and cakes.

Often even a sandwich plate will be too small to hold as many crackers as are needed when three or four friends drop in for a cup of tea and gossip, and for this a flower basket, the style that is flat with a tall handle, generally used for the garden when picking flowers, is just the thing, for it holds a most surprising number of cakes, and in this way one can easily pass a large number of tidbits at one time without the least convenience, and for crackers decorated with jelly and cheese and such edibles as cannot be laid on top of each other this flat basket is unsurpassed.

Some Cookery Suggestions

CARROT OPPORTUNITIES.

THE carrot is one of the most useful vegetables which the housewife has on hand in the spring before fresh garden vegetables are available for cooking.

Carrot soup, salad, croquettes and puddings are among the variations available in serving this food.

A Wholesome Soup.

Cream of Carrot Soup.—Take four good sized carrots, scrape clean and then grate them. Place three pints of flavored white stock in a saucepan and simmer the carrot in it for an hour and a half. Rub together two tablespoonfuls of butter with the same quantity of flour, add it to the soup and continue stirring till it all boils. Let the soup cool a little, then add half a pint of cream, a tablespoonful of minced boiled onion, with pepper and salt to taste. Pour into a very hot soup tureen and serve with fried dice of bread. If milk should be substituted for cream a larger quantity will be needed.

Carrot Croquettes.—Take six carrots of fine texture. Put in a saucepan with a piece of butter, a small lump of sugar and as much water as may be needed to make a cupful of sauce. Add some minced parsley, pepper and a teaspoonful of salt. Let simmer uncovered until tender enough to mash fine. Then measure and to each cupful add the yolks of two raw eggs, a little nutmeg, a tablespoonful of butter and salt and pepper, if needed. Mix thoroughly and set away to cool. Then shape in tiny croquettes, dip in beaten egg, roll in fine crumbs and fry in deep hot fat.

Nice Way of Creaming.

Creamed Carrots.—Cut up enough carrots to make a quart. Take the carrots, one tablespoonful each of finely chopped onion, butter, flour, chopped parsley, one teaspoonful of salt and a half teaspoonful of white pepper. Put the carrots on in boiling water enough to cover and boil until tender. Drain and save the water in which they were cooked. Put the butter and onion into a saucepan over the fire and cook one minute. Add the flour and mix well, then add one cupful of the carrot water. Mix the carrots and sauce together and add the salt, pepper and parsley. Cook three minutes.

Carrot Pudding.—Take four ounces each of flour, suet, currants, raisins, sugar, raw carrots, raw potatoes, one teaspoonful of baking powder and a dash of nutmeg. Mix the ingredients, place in a greased mold and steam until done.

Peter Barked at the Automobile.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—How Peter Had His Leg Mended.

DADDY held up a warning finger as Jack and Evelyn chased one another around the room.

"Be careful," said he, "or you'll fall over something and get hurt. Then it may be with you like it was with Humpty Dumpty—all the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't make Humpty Dumpty well again."

"That's a riddle," replied Evelyn. "Humpty Dumpty was an egg. Of course when the egg broke nobody could mend it."

"Very true," answered daddy. "But it's sometimes hard to mend little boys and girls when they get hurt. Just think of having an arm or leg broken! The doctor would mend it and then put plaster of paris around it to hold the bones in place. The plaster of paris would be put on when it was first mixed with water. Then it would be just like paste. When the paste dries the plaster of paris gets to be like stone.

"And that reminds me of the time Peter got hurt.

"Peter is a little black dog who lives in a little town in New Jersey. Peter has very short legs and very long ears, for he is the kind of dog that is called a dachshund.

"When he was young Peter was very playful, and one of his tricks was to rush out into the road and bark at all the automobiles that went by. This was very foolish of Peter, and one day he had reason to be sorry.

"He was playing in the yard with Germaine and Eunice, his little mistresses, when a big red car came rushing down the road.

"Out dashed Peter, barking gayly, but when the automobile went by two weeping little girls picked up a bleeding dog and carried him in. They laid him tenderly on the porch. The children's mother, who had heard Peter's yelp of agony as the automobile passed over him, came out.

"'Poor Peter!' said she. 'I'm afraid it's the end of our doggie. His leg's broken.'

"But Germaine and Eunice cried so hard at this that their mother said:

"'Run and ask Miss Wright to come over.' Miss Wright was a neighbor who loved animals.

"'Poor Peter!' Miss Wright said when she saw the dog, and then she added: 'Don't have him shot. Let's fix his leg. It may mend all right.' They hadn't any plaster of paris, but they got some thin pieces of wood and some strips of muslin, and they tied the broken leg in these so Peter couldn't put his weight on the leg or bend it. He was a good dog and only whimpered a little as they pressed the bone in place. And would you believe it—in a few weeks Peter was running around on that leg as if it had never been broken."

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

This blouse is made with a tuxedo collar and bosom of contrasting material. It makes a useful waist to wear with the tailored suit or the odd skirt.

Tucked silks are liked for its making as well as linen, cotton crepe and various other washable materials. The bosom can be of tucked lawn.

TUXEDO BLOUSE.

In the illustration dotted silk is trimmed with collar and cuffs of plain and made over a bosom of tucked handkerchief lawn. The bosom is arranged over the waist and stitched to position beneath the collar, and the entire closing is made at the front.

Three and a quarter yards of material twenty-seven inches wide will be needed to make this blouse for a woman of medium size. Three-quarters of a yard twenty-seven inches wide are needed for the collar and cuffs and a half yard eighteen inches wide for the bosom.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 40 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7823, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Geographical Letters.

The players all seat themselves round a table which must have a bowl filled with letters in the center. From this bowl the leader takes one letter and throws it face upward on the table. The player who first calls out the name of a town beginning with the letter on the table appropriates it for herself. When the bowl is empty the players count their letters, and the one who has the most wins the game.

How Dick Goes.

When mother wants an errand done
And calls on Dick you would suppose
His power of motion failing from
The way he goes.

But when the band plays down the street
Then he's alive from head to toes.
You'd think he ran by steam power from
The way he goes.

THE SMART WOMAN IS NOW GEMMED FROM HEAD TO HEELS

JEWELED HEELS AND HAIR ORNAMENT.

IF her taste runs to gems the fashionable woman may now go about literally bediamonded from head to heel. The fashion in ornaments changes. Just at present diamond or rhinestone hair ornaments, like the one illustrated here, are popular. These jeweled points are mounted on a band of velvet ribbon so that they can be adjusted closely to the head. The points are applied to only one-half of the band. A novelty of the hour is jeweled heels for evening slippers. These are very dashing, and of course, real stones can only be worn by the plutocrat. Inexpensive substitutes, however, are much affected even by those who can afford the real things. Two attractively designed jeweled slipper heels are illustrated here.

FOR THE SEWING ROOM.

One of the newest accessions for the sewing room is a long, slender case of linen with a lengthwise line of machine stitching dividing it in two pockets, in each of which a yardstick rests. The case is perhaps thirty inches long, so the yardsticks can be easily taken out when they are wanted. The case is hung up by a couple of brass rings sewed securely to the top corners.

Down its front are several pockets, one for folding rule, one for a coiled up tape measure, one for pen, ink, chalk and a stick of soapstone, which follows it for marking, and a pair of "straps" to hold the shears and bolt of dress goods.

Above this on the wall hangs a linen covered book for memorandums, and a thin book a page is devoted to each member of the family.

This page contains not only all the measurements needed for garment making, but also colors, styles, size and glove sizes and the exact size of hat band.

AID TO HOUSEWIVES.

If cheese is wrapped in a cloth moistened with vinegar it will neither dry nor mold.

Before broiling a slice of ham rub broken sugar on it. The ham will then have a delicious flavor.

When a dish is to be set directly on the polished surface fit a jute rug under it to prevent it from slipping off.

If you don't like to place moth balls with your woolen and fur garments lay cloves where moths are strongest. Cloves are strong.

Candied cherries, preserved ginger and salted almonds are served in little fancy dishes and passed on the table when it is set and remain until the guests have left the table.

To prevent odor from lamps soak new lamp wicks thoroughly in vinegar. Then let them dry to become perfectly dry before using, and they will never have an odor when the lamp is turned low or blown out.

SIMPLE IN LINES, THIS BLOUSE IS THE ACME OF GOOD STYLE

NEW CRAPE BLOUSE.

A BLOUSE simple in style, yet unusually attractive, is illustrated here. The garment is of yellow crape laid in moderately wide plaits over a vest of accordion plaited white chiffon. A handsome collar of lawn and lace is worn at the neck and is supplemented by long tie ends of ribbon velvet in a shade of yellow.

PLAINFIELD WON A WEIRD CONTEST

First Big Contest of the Season Annexed by a Score of 4 to 3.

LOCAL'S ROOKIES STAR

Frederickson Twirls for New Brunswick—Plainfield Boy's Support Fails at Critical Moments—Frank Evans Was "Beaned."

One bad stanza, in which the New Brunswick Stars went completely to pieces behind Otto Frederickson, the local boy, who was twirling a gilt-edged articles of ball for the visitors, gave Plainfield a 4 to 3 victory in its first big contest of the season played on Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon. This, by the way, was the last contest to be staged on Plainfield's historic baseball grounds which will soon be cut up into building lots, and the local aggregation will have to look elsewhere for camping grounds. Manager Dorflinger presented a varied lineup to the crowd that turned out to get a line on the Pets' strength before the opening of the Central New Jersey League scheduled for next Saturday afternoon, and on the whole, the crowd was favorably impressed with the diamond battle, the local nine playing good "ball" in spasms. The Plainfielders took advantage of a temporary lull in the visitors' playing after Frank Evans was beaned by a swift one delivered by Frederickson in the sixth inning and before the rally could be checked a quartet of scores had been pushed across the rubber, Craig, Bergen, Nelson and Evans being credited with scores. New Brunswick obtained an early lead by chalking up a brace of runs in the third session and held the van until the eventful round in which the visitors' hopes were squelched. A rally in the final round netted one score for the Stars but this was as near as they came to victory.

Cliff Randolph, in the "come-back" act, occupied the place so often adorned by his personage in years of yore, and to say the least, he was enthusiastically received by his old cohorts. During his regime on the mound he gave a splendid exhibition of the baseball twirler's art and did not evidence the least bit of fatigue when he retired in favor of Russell Stewart, the former Sunday-school Leaguer, who also pitched good ball, showing that he will make a strong bid for twirling honors on the Plainfield team this year.

Randolph's and Stewart's reception in no way dimmed the one accorded to Otto Frederickson by his host of friends in the grandstand, for that youngster was given a mammoth share of applause when he stepped to the mound. While the visitors played errorless ball behind him, Freddy was followed by a jinx which in the end meant nothing short of a defeat no matter how hard he tried. Manager Dorflinger was greatly pleased by the showing put up by his new recruits, especially that of Garretson on the first sack. This former Manufacturers' Leaguer put up a sterling exhibition, scoring a run, two hits; took eight putouts and one assist without an error. Howard Craig, the local nine's captain, also played a splendid hitting game, bagging two safeties, and his playing around the difficult corner was of the top-notch variety. For the visitors Barry, the leader off in the batting order, was a terror with the willow, clouting out a trio of bingles off the delivery of the two Plainfield box artists. He was the only visitor who could fanthom the slants offered, however, and the rest were held hitless with the exception of Geiger and L. Smith, who each chalked up a single.

AUSPICIOUS OPENING OF PARK GOLF CLUB

Initial Play for Presidents' and Oakmont Cups and Qualifying Round.

The Park Golf Club had an auspicious opening on Saturday when there was the initial play for the President's and Oakmont cups and the qualifying round of medal play for the "club goats," it being the best ball for teams of two, scratch play. The course was in fine condition permitting low scoring, and a large number of members were out to enjoy the sport. The clubhouse was opened with full service, and altogether the season is most promising.

These scores were posted for the President's cup: J. V. Beekman, 98, 17-81; U. G. Tingley, 104, 18-86; Charles B. Morse, 104, 11-93; Nelson A. Miller, 114, 20-94; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 99, 4-95; Peter C. Sweeny, 101, 5-96; J. L. Watson, 118, 20-98; William P. Taylor, 95, plus 3-98; Clarence J. Hand, 121, 21-100.

In the "club goats" competition, Dr. H. K. Carroll and William P. Taylor became the first holders of the cup by defeating U. G. Tingley and Chas. B. Morse, with a score of 88. J. V. Beekman and Peter C. Sweeny returned a score of 91, as did also U. G. Tingley and Charles B. Morse. Dr. Carroll and William P. Taylor will now be subject to challenge by any pair of players.

The competition for the Oakmont cup is medal play, and consists of matches, the members being privileged to play every day or at their own pleasure, and the player scoring the greatest percentage of wins in the matches, will get the cup. On Saturday, J. V. Beekman beat Peter C. Sweeny, William P. Taylor beat Dr. H. K. Carroll and U. G. Tingley beat Charles B. Morse.

LOCAL MAN TALKS ON GOLF QUESTION

President of P. C. C. Explains His Stand Regarding Chauncy Trophy.

Leighton Calkins, president of the Plainfield Country Club, and formerly a member of the executive committee of the Metropolitan Golf Association, has issued another statement further explaining his stand with regard to the change of conditions of the Chauncey trophy for the winner of the metropolitan championship.

Calkins' latest statement is as follows:

"There seems to be a slight misunderstanding with regard to my suggestion that the Chauncey trophy be made perpetual. It is quite true that it might be in bad taste for the association, against the wishes of the present holders, to exercise its unquestioned right to change the conditions on the eve of the annual championship, when it has had a whole year in which to act and has not done so. My thought, however, was that the question might be put up to the Upper Montclair Club and Mr. Travers. If the association has overlooked the terms of the deed of gift, so also no doubt have the clubs comprising its membership. Is there any reason why the matter should not be called to the attention of the club holding the trophy and an opportunity given for it to waive its moral right to win the trophy outright this year if it can do so?

"Of course, the Upper Montclair Club might prefer that the conditions remain unchanged, intending, in case of being successful this year, to rededicate the trophy to perpetual competition, in which event a suitable inscription reciting the facts could be placed upon the shield. On the other hand, if Mr. Travers should fail to defend his title this month the opportunity of doing a sportsmanlike thing would be lost to his club if the conditions should then be amended by the executive committee in the exercise of its authority under the deed of gift. From every point of view it seems to me that it would greatly advantage the Upper Montclair Club to waive its claims before the championship is held. Its fame will be all the greater if, having done this, Mr. Travers should again defend his title successfully.

CADORE TWIRLED YESTERDAY.

Leon Cadore, who adorned the mound for the Plainfield Baseball Club in its games last season, was sent in to relieve Frill, of the Buffalo International League combination, yesterday afternoon, in the scheduled game with Providence. The contest went to the latter nine by a score of 7 to 0. The game was practically sewed up when the local artist clamored to the hill and he did some good work during his regime.

WEAKENED BY "SUBS" Y. M. A. A. LOST GAME

Conger's Aggregation Lost to Sunday School Leaguers 14 to 10.

Twelve errors totaled up by a shattered aggregation representing the Y. M. A. A., gave the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-school Leaguers a victory, the score being 14 to 10 in an anti-season contest played at Parker Field, Saturday afternoon. A profusion of counters in every trip to the plate with the exception of the third gave the Parks a lead which was never headed and they romped off with the game almost unhindered as far as actual scoring was concerned.

Although the Y. M. A. A. batters made eleven hits off Mills' delivery, the clouts were well scattered and at no time did the Y. M. A. A. combination appear unusually dangerous. The fifteen safeties made from the delivery of Thorne were bunched pretty well, but the dozen errors mixed in were in reality the real cause of the fourteen scores filtering across the pan. Conger was somewhat handicapped in placing a team on the field by the failure of several of his regulars to put in appearance and he had to fill in with substitutes, a feature which greatly weakened the Y. M. A. A. team's playing strength.

Hard hitting on the part of Wilson and Ray Mosher featured the Park victory, while VanCleaf, the Roselle High School backstop, who was playing that department for the Y. M. A. A., showed his mettle by clouting out a pretty pair of safeties.

BAPTISTS TRIMMED Y. M. A. BALL TEAM

Fourteen Hits Brought Home an Easy Victory at Hands of Bound Brook. Team.

Excellent battery work on the part of the First Baptist Sunday-school leaguers brought home the bacon in a preliminary season game played against the Y. M. A. delegation from South Bound Brook Saturday afternoon, the final count turning out with a decision of 14 to 4 in favor of the locals. The Sunday-school team put up a sterling exhibition of the national pastime and established what looks like a good claim to league honors in the race to come. The First Baptists clouted the offerings of E. Mathews to the four corners of the lot, totaling up fourteen hits, three were credited to Savage and two apiece to Fritz, Bailey, Stine and Pierson.

Effective handling of the willow was the real cause of the Plainfielders victory, for they banged the pill in all direction at opportune moments. The contesting teams were about even up as far as fielding was concerned, each being charged with a quintet of slip ups. In Bailey and Stine, the First Baptist combination has a battery, which would be hard to equal and these two players were prominent factors in the initial victory. Bailey whiffed nine of the opposition and held the situation at his finger's tips at all stages, while Stine held his slants to perfection at the receiving end.

Y. M. A. A. VS. MONROE.

Next Saturday afternoon the Y. M. A. A. baseball team, of this city, will lineup against the Monroe Avenue Sunday-school nine, entrants in the Bible Class League, which opens up its season the following week. Both teams have been traveling at a speedy clip and a fast contest will undoubtedly be the issue.

P. H. S. PLAYER INJURED.

Arthur Grisley, second baseman on the Plainfield High School baseball team, was compelled to retire in the seventh inning of the interscholastic contest Saturday afternoon with a badly sprained tendon. Grisley was injured in the fifth inning, when his cleat caught in the home plate when he was scoring the local nine's second run, but he gamely resumed play and stayed in the fray until the seventh. Grisley's hitting will be greatly missed by the P. H. S. combination in games to come should his injury incapacitate him permanently, as he is one of the most consistent clouters on the P. H. S. nine.

OPENER WON BY SCOTCH PLAINS

But Thirty Batters Faced McLoughlin When He Wins Initial Contest.

BATTERY WAS FEATURE

'Plains Beat Colored Giants 6-1, H. Alberts' Two Base Clout With Bases Full Sews Up Contest—Hand and McLaughlin Work Perfectly.

"Old Warhorse" Warry McLaughlin never displayed his mettle to better advantage than he did holding fort on the Scotch Plans' mound yesterday afternoon against the Royal Colored Giant bombarders of this city. During the nine eventful rounds but thirty men faced the veteran twirler, three more than the minimum, and he showed the greatest demonstration of real hard work, ever displayed by a twirler pitching at the 'Plains. It was a glorious opener for Sunday baseball at Scotch Plains in more senses of the word than one, for the contest itself was one of unusually interest, there being something to gloat over in every department held near to the heart of a baseball fan.

In the first, second, fourth, fifth, sixth, eighth and ninth innings McLaughlin disposed of the batters in one, two, three order, but three men faced him in each of these rounds, and in the third but five, and in the seventh but four. This in itself is a feat seldom accomplished by a Lowrisman especially one in semi-professional circles, but not only did the veteran shine in this respect but he topped off his afternoon's endeavors by fanning ten, and displayed perfect control by holding the base on balls column unblemished. "Nibs" Hand held McLaughlin up in wonderful style, the speedy colored base runners being let down without a single stolen base, and "Nibs" put a wreath around his work by clouting out two hits. Of the thirty men to face the 'War house" but one scored, and one got as far as third, but aside from these features not a man reached the mid-station during the whole nine rounds. The best the Royals could do was to get a total of ten hits while the 'Plains team chalked up forty seven.

Scotch Plains broke into the scoring column in the second inning when Frentz led off with a single, stole second, took third on a catcher's error and scored home on Hand's single. In the fifth McLaughlin led off with a single but was thrown out at second, Weaver to Joe Alberts, and Baldwin flied to Kline, who made one of the prettiest catches of the afternoon getting the sphere on a dead run. With two down the festivities started, Gray, Joe Alberts and Frentz each getting a free ticket, thus filling the bases. Henry Alberts stepped to the plate at this juncture and with two strikes and three balls on him clouted the ball to deep left field for two bases bringing home Gray and Joe Alberts. This hit practically put the game in cold storage but Frentz, who went to third and Henry Alberts who was launched securely on second, were brought across on Hand's scorcher. This made the third run Hand was directly responsible for. Winter went off, lining a Texas Leaguer to Williams at short.

Another run came across in the seventh after Gray had grounded out to Ford at first. Joe Alberts then secured four balls, went to second on Frentz's hit and to third on Plummer's error. Alberts scored what proved to be Scotch Plains' final run, after Henry Alberts had sent a long fly to Kline who made a pretty throw in but it was just too late to nip Alberts.

The Royal Giants' only counter came in the seventh when Ford led off with a single, went to second on a wild pitch, to third on Weaver's sacrifice and scored on Vallentine's infield out, a very poor fielder's choice on the part of Winters who made no effort to nip the runner at the plate. Ford was the second and last man to

ST. MARY'S TEAM SCORED AN OVERWHELMING VICTORY

Tight work with men on the bases, brought a victory home to the St. Mary's baseball team in its game with the Randas combination Saturday afternoon, the score being 28 to 6. A more overwhelming defeat would be hard to conceive of as the Randas were outclassed at every stage of the contest. The winning team is a contingent of sluggers who pounded the offerings of Pradlien to the tall bushes every time they stepped to the rubber, and fielding errors mixed in enabled the victors to count at will.

SCOTCH PLAINS CANCELLED.

Hope Chapel was without a baseball game for Saturday afternoon because of the last minute cancellation sent in by the Scotch Plains Parish House aggregation. The latter team has not been pulling together very well during the last two weeks and are said to be on the verge of disbanding. Several of the players are playing with Sunday-school League teams in this city and have not shown up at recent 'Plains contests. Hope Chapel secured some practise over the week-end by playing a game amongst themselves, which served as a loosener-up.

LIDGATE LEAVES FOR BUFFALO.

Eugene Lidgate, the Scotch Plains baseball player, who has been released to the Raleigh team, of the North Carolina League, by Manager Johnny Dunn, of the Baltimore Orioles, left for his new job Saturday. Lidgate has been confined to his home in Fanwood, suffering from a bad case of boils and his reporting was somewhat delayed because of this illness.

HEAVY CLOUTING AT EPOCHAL MOMBENTS GIVES P. H. S. FIRST CLAIM TO INTERSCHOLASTIC BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP CUP

A parade of runs in the fifth and sixth innings of the first of the clashes between the local and borough High Schools, which took place on Hyde Oval, Saturday afternoon, made the N. P. H. S. ball tossers look like a bunch of novices, the Plainfielders establishing a firm claim to the Collier trophy by ringing up a count of 16 to 1, the boroughites' only score coming in the second round. Newton Spencer adorned the mound for a short space of five innings but presented the allegorical picture of "I haven't got a thing today and if I did have it would be too warm to waste it on these invaders who are out to win at any odds."

Bingles flew thick and fast from the willows of the Plainfielders and they ended the afternoon with thirteen safe clouts in the hit column. It did not take the whole of a "fast and snappy game" (which lasted over two hours) to assert the P. H. S. boys' superiority, for after the fifth stanza the game was cut and dried for the visitors. Coughlin's great box work aided materially in the run getting while Good, Carty, Peacock and Grisley did excellent work at the bat. Nine errors were totaled up by the losers while the winners kept that portion of their box score spotless...

The game in detail:

FIRST INNING.

P. H. S.—Grisley singled to left field, went to second an an infield error and came home on Heron's pretty sacrifice; Davenport got life on the first station through Dunning's slipup, stole second and went to the difficult corner on Good's sacrifice, Carty was raced down the base line after he had rolled an easy one to Spencer and this chalked up the final put-out of the inning. ONE RUN.

N. P. H. S.—W. Townley singled to right centre, Burner flied out to Rosenson, and Taylor hit into a double play, a return from Sminck catching Townley off first base. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING.

P. H. S.—Peacock flied out to Spencer, Rosenson and Sminck died via the same route, Burner to Dunning. NO RUNS.

N. P. H. S.—Townley flied out to Davenport, Dunning took the count, Davenport to Good, and Abrams smashed a two base hit, took third on a low throw of which Heron was the guilty party in heaving the pelet to Davenport. One of the most peculiar instances of the game took place at this juncture, when Davenport let the low throw go through him at third and Abrams continued to the plate. The ball, however, reached there first, with the aid of one of the spectators and Peacock was holding the ball ready to tag Abrams. Umpire VanZandt declared the ball had been blocked, however, and Abrams counted. Conroy died, Heron to Good, for the third out. ONE RUN.

THIRD INNING.

P. H. S.—Coughlin out, Burner to Dunning; Grisley drew a pass, stole second; Heron flied out to Townley, Davenport secured life through George Townley's error and Grisley registered his second run on the same play; Good lifted one to Taylor for the third out. ONE RUN.

N. P. H. S.—Smalley took three healthy swings, Spencer also fanned and W. Townley took the third, Heron to Good. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING.

P. H. S.—Carty out, Burner to Dunning; Peacock singled over second base; Rosenson got life on a wild heave; Peacock was caught off third base; Rosenson was nipped by Smalley pilfering second. NO RUNS.

N. P. H. S.—Burner flied out to Grisley, Taylor fanned, Townley died, Coughlin to Good. NO RUNS.

FIFTH INNING.

P. H. S.—Sminck singled, starting a rally which in the end netted seven runs, and on a throw over by Spencer, Dunning missed the ball, went to second; Coughlin got a safety sending Sminck to third; Grisley got his second hit, sending Coughlin to second and Sminck registered; a double steal by Coughlin and Grisley put men on the second and third sacks; Heron also singled, the third successive one of the inning, sending Grisley to third and Coughlin scored; Pitcher Spencer withdrew from the box at this juncture of his own accord and was relieved by Stahl; Stahl started by presenting Davenport with a free ticket, Heron going to second; Good got on first through a fielder's choice and Grisley counted; in crossing the plate Grisley tripped on the rubber, spraining his ankle; Carty's two bagger cleared the bases; Peacock went out, Townley to Dunning; Rosenson was put out, Burner to Dunning, and Sminck struck at three of Stahl's offerings, ending an eventful inning. SEVEN RUNS.

N. P. H. S.—Dunning went out, Grisley to Good; Abrams drew four balls; Conroy got on by the same route, sending Abrams to the mid station; and the latter was tagged out by Grisley on a throw from Davenport; Smalley got life on a fielder's choice and Stahl ended the rally fanning. NO RUNS.

SIXTH INNING.

P. H. S.—Coughlin took the strikeout cure, Grisley rolled an easy one to George Townley, who heaved it to Dunning, breaking up Grisley's 1,000 per cent. batting average, which he had maintained up to this time, getting two singles and a pass, Taylor muffed a fly, putting Heron on first; Davenport singled to the outgarden, sending Heron to second; Good did likewise, filling the bases; and on an error by Abrams, Heron and Davenport scored, Carty landing on the first cushion; Good stole third and scored on Peacock's second single; Rosenson's two bagger cleared the bases, Sminck drew a pass, stole second and Coughlin left him stranded by fanning. FIVE RUNS.

N. P. H. S.—W. Townley fanned; Burner did the same stunt, and Taylor struck out by way of variation. NO RUNS.

SEVENTH INNING.

P. H. S.—Buckle took Grisley's place at this point, the latter's injured ankle compelling him to surrender his job. Buckle got on through George Townley's misplay and Heron sacrificed him to second. Davenport was safe on fielder's choice and Buckle went to third on the same play. Buckle out, Stahl to Smalley, trying to score; Davenport stole second and Good singled, advancing him to third; Carty singled, scoring the man on third and sending Good to take his place at third; on an error by George Townley, Peacock was safe at first and Good scored. Rosenson out, George Townley to Dunning. TWO RUNS.

N. P. H. S.—Day got four wide ones, stole second and was put-out, off second, Peacock to Davenport; Dunning took three strikes; Abrams got a pass and Conroy fanned. NO RUNS.

EIGHTH INNING.

P. H. S.—Sminck out, Day to Dunning, on a pretty piece of outfielding; Coughlin fanned; Buckle gave Conroy a Texas leaguer at short, who clung to the sphere, making the put-out unassisted. NO RUNS.

N. P. H. S.—Smalley singled, Stahl hit to Heron, who doubled Smalley at second; W. Townley went out, Rosenson to Good. NO RUNS.

NINTH INNING.

P. H. S.—On Dunning's third error Heron was safe at first; Davenport out, Burner to Dunning, Heron going to second, and went to third on an error; a squeeze play was attempted at this point but it failed to work and Heron was put out by W. Townley; Good flied out to Abrams. NO RUNS.

N. P. H. S.—Burner took the count when the sphere took a lofty flight, landing in Rosenson's mit; Newkirk took Taylor's place in left field, and drew a pass; he was put out stealing, Peacock to Rosenson; Day followed with a free ticket, and Dunning hit to Rosenson and this little player ran across first base so that Captain Good would not be entitled to to the ball which was played with, the old custom of the player making the last putout prevailing.

NETHERWOOD A. C. POUNDED SOUTH PLAINFIELD PITCHER

Playing at South Plainfield, Saturday afternoon, the Netherwood A. C. hung it on to the South Plainfield Juniors by a score of 27 to 7, the contest being a batting and scoring affair all the way, with the visitors holding the upper hand. Trotter, Schinkle, Moore, Stebor and Luthman each got four hits, which aided materially in the run getting, while the rest of the team each secured a brace. Only one error was charged to the victorious aggregation during the nine rounds of play.

In the ninth inning the Netherwood team had a decided batting rally, their hits running up to fifteen before the session was ended, of which some were long doubles. Schinkle twirled good ball for the visitors, holding the home sluggers completely at his mercy.

MONROE AVENUE DEFEATED SO KEPT NO BOX SCORE

In a wierd exhibition of baseball on the Clinton avenue field Saturday afternoon, the Monroe Avenue M. E. baseball team, entrants in the Sunday-school League for this season, were defeated by a count of 12 to 2 by the Saurer Motor Company nine.

Although the Monroes have entered the league for the season, their showing of Saturday afternoon did not appear very auspicious and they will have to put up a far better article when the league race begins in order to be even in the running.

PLAINFIELD AT 'PLAINS.

Next Sunday afternoon, Manager Joe Alberts, of the Scotch Plains baseball team, will introduce Ernest Dorflinger's new herd of Plainfield ball tossers to the 'Plains fans. As is always the case when these two teams meet, a good game is to be expected this trip.

NETHERWOODS WANT GAME.

The Netherwood A. C., a fast junior baseball team of this city, would like to arrange an out of town game for Sunday, May 18, full expenses to be paid by the home aggregation. Communicate with Vincent Mullin, 183 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

MONROE A. C. WON ITS FIRST GAME OF THE SEASON

The Monroe A. C. won its first game of the season Saturday afternoon by defeating the Clinton Avenue A. C. by a score of 19 to 16. McClinton, a substitute pitcher, was greatly handicapped by a sore arm, and the high score can be somewhat attributed to this cause. The features of the game were the batting of Healey, Fitzgerald and Smith and Bowdoin, of the Clinton Avenues.

Monroe's fielding was of high type two double plays featuring their part of the work in this department. Both of these double outs were scored via Fitzgerald to Cullen. The lineup and score:

NEW WORLD'S RECORD.

Captain H. T. Worthington, of Phillips Exeter Academy, broke the world's interscholastic record for the running broad jump at the annual meet with the Harvard freshmen Saturday. Worthington leaped 25 feet 5⅜ inches, three-eights of an inch better than the previous mark made by E. T. Cook at Chillicothe, Ohio, in 1906.

OLDFIELD TO DRIVE MERCER.

Barney Oldfield, who has been campaigning on Western speedways for the last few months, is the latest automobilist racing driver to buy a Mercer car. Oldfield has been watching the performances of Mercer raceabouts in speed contests lately held on the Pacific Coast, and he finally decided to buy one for his own use.

ACTIVE GOLF SEASON OPENS AT THE P. C. C.

The Coming Season Promises to Be a Banner One on Country Club Green.

The active season in golf was ushered in at the Plainfield Country Club Saturday with an "opening day handicap," 18 holes handicap event, for Classes A and B, and in addition there was general play on the tennis courts, while in the evening the social features were inaugurated with the first of the weekly dinner-dances. It was an ideal day for the opening, and everything was in readiness for the event.

Through the day the course, which is in the pink of condition, was crowded with players, and all seemed to enjoy the sport thoroughly. The scene of activity about the tennis courts was also pleasing. A large number of members attended the dinner-dance in the evening, which was in charge of Superintendent Eke, who provided the usual good service. The coming season promises to be the most successful in the club's history. These scores were returned in the "opening day handicap:"

Burnett C. Kenyon, 93, 26-67; D. O. Rogers, 81, 11-70; C. C. Riggs, 91, 16-74; Will T. Glenney, 78, 4-74; Frank O. Reinhart, 80, 6-74; J. Whitney Baker, 82, 7-75; H. E. Butler, 88, 12-76; D. H. Rowland, 94, 18-76; W. T. Kaufman, 91, 13-78; W. Lester Glenney, 86, 5-79; W. M. Alling, 108, 27-81; S. T. Perrin, 95, 14-81; W. H. Rogers, 96, 12-84; J. F. Middledith, 108, 23-85; R. G. Morse, 97, 11-86; J. A. Bowman, 116, 27-89; A. W. Kleinecke, 114, 25-89; T. J. McKeon, 106, 15-91; Harry Williams, 119, 27-92.

BOARD OF HEALTH RENEWS REQUEST

Common Council is Asked to Introduce a Garbage Collection System.

OTHER SUGGESTIONS

Desires the Police Department to Co-operate in Abating Nuisances—Reports for the Month Are Presented.

The Board of Health communicated several matters of more or less importance to the Common Council, at its May meeting, last night, urging action to improve the general health and sanitary conditions of the city. Following the suggestion made by Mayor Donnelly, of Trenton, when he spoke here on commission government, requested that the police department co-operate with the Board in the matter of abating nuisances about the city and that the police report to the Board any violations of the health code that may be brought to their attention.

The adoption of a municipal system of collecting garbage and ashes was again urged, the Board claiming that the absence of such a system is not only detrimental to the health of the city, but permits the breeding of flies, etc. Attention was called to the campaign recently inaugurated to rid the city of flies.

The Board stated that it had been requested to grant a permit for the establishment of a Jewish slaughterhouse on West Third street, citing that there are about 300 Jewish people in the city who desire such a place, and a resolution was adopted referring the matter to the Common Council. The Council voted to refer the petition to Councilman Fred Endress for further consideration.

The receipt of the annual appropriation from the city was acknowledged, but the Board asked for a special appropriation with which to support a tuberculosis clinic in the city. Attention was called to the fact that during the past month there were about fifteen cases of scarlet fever, chiefly among Italians in the outside districts of the city, and it had been found difficult to keep them all under proper quarantine in the absence of a suitable place to care for the patients and the inability of the police department to provide an officer for constant duty. In consequence about fourteen children were prevented from attending school.

The Board also asked the Council to relieve it of the burden of caring for the removal of dead dogs and other animals, the expense for this work last year amounting to $49. All of these health matters were referred to the proper committees for further consideration.

WILL THEY PUT STOP TO SUNDAY BASEBALL?

Rumor has it in Scotch Plains that a movement is on foot among the local church people, headed by the pastors of the Baptist, Methodist and Episcopal churches, to have the ban placed on "semi-pro." Sunday baseball, which has been played on the Sabbath day in that town for over ten years. There has been a general complaint that Sunday-school pupils instead of attending their classes go to the ball games. The managers of the various teams have chased the small children from the bleachers from time to time with more or less success.

Joseph Alberts, who manages the team this year and who served in a like capacity in 1912, made a tour among the spectators at Sunday's contest, requesting all to be moderate in their applause. This was complied with and the large crowd was unusually orderly. It was the opening game and the Royal Giants, a colored aggregation, was the visitors.

Rev. Franklin K. Matthiews, pastor of the Baptist church, when interviewed last night by a Daily Press reporter regarding the rumored movement to stop Sunday ball, did not feel inclined to discuss the subject but admitted that if there was a movement afoot, he had not heard of it, nor was he among those who, it is said, are taking the initiative.

Dr. H. K. Carroll, of this city, pastor of the M. E. church, when asked whether he and the other ministers of the township were contemplating to begin activity to have the contests stopped on the Sabbath day said:

"I have been approached by no other minister or church member on the subject, nor have I consulted or approached anyone else regarding Sunday baseball."

OCEAN LINER COOK KILLED ON TRACKS

Funeral Today of Lucas Thompson Who Met Death on Lackwanna.

Lucas Thompson, aged about 45 years, employed for many years as a cook on an ocean liner running between New York and Liverpool, was killed Saturday night after leaving Stirling for his home at Gillette, being struck by the 9:30 o'clock passenger train on the Lackawanna Railroad. His body lay on the tracks until the 10:30 o'clock train came along the mangled it almost beyond recognition.

Thompson got into port Saturday morning and planned to spend part of Saturday and Sunday with his family at Gillette. Saturday night he went to Stirling to purchase some provisions for Sunday, and it was while walking home along the railroad tracks that he met his death. When he did not reach home as early as he planned, the family became worried and members started out in search. Investigation disclosed his awful fate. The crew of the 10:30 o'clock train found the mangled remains along the tracks and as best it could picked them up and took them to Basking Ridge.

Thompson is survived by a wife and five children, the youngest of which is three months and the oldest seven years. The funeral was held at Basking Ridge this morning, Rev. J. H. Evans, of the Union Village M. E. church, officiating. The burial was at Basking Ridge.

GROUND IS BROKEN FOR P. H. S. ADDITION

The Enlarged Structure Will Be Ready for Occupancy by September 1.

Ground was broken today for the proposed $270,000 addition to the Plainfield High School on East Ninth street, and it is expected that the structure will be ready for occupancy by September 1. The starting of the work follows the awarding of the bids at the regular monthly meeting of the local Board of Education held last night and the contractors will rush the work from now on. The Exner Company, of New York, received the bid for the general contract, its figure being $166,700 dollars, and this company also received the contract for plumbing and ventilating at a price of $12,650. George Tobin, of this city, was awarded the heating and ventilating contract, his bid being $47,000.

The heating and ventilating work will be completed by September 1, so that the new school may be used at that time and the entire structure will be finished by February 1, 1914. Wilder & White are the architects in charge of the work. Dr. A. F. V. VanHorn, school physician, submitted his reports of an inspection of school children at last night's meeting which were favorably commented on by the board members present who were Messrs. Tyler, Woodhull and Brodhead.

The commencement exercises of the local high school will be held on Thursday, June 19.

ENTERPRISING YOUTH GETS INTO POLICE COURT

Albert H. Ellis, 21 years old, of 27 Watchung avenue, had his "get-rich-quick" scheme of carrying passengers to and from the United Commercial Travelers' carnival thwarted last night when he was arrested by Patrolman Wicht and charged with violating the hack ordinance.

Ellis hired a large moving van in which he erected several seats and was doing a thriving business bringing people from the carnival to the center of the city and vice versa. When arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza he pleaded ignorance of the law and received a suspended sentence.

SUMMER CONFERENCE PLANS.

The Young People's Societies of the local Presbyterian churches have received preliminary announcements of the Pocono Pines (Pa.) Conference to be held from June 20 to July 6. Mrs. Grace P. Williams, of the Crescent Avenue church, will be a member of the faculty of this conference, which will be held under the auspices of the Presbyterian Board of Young People's Work.

A RUMMAGE SALE.

The Standard Bearers of Monroe Avenue church will hold their annual rummage sale on Saturday, May 17, in the store at 126 East Front street. Articles of clothing, shoes and all sorts of things will be on sale.

SOME MATTERS OF THE COUNCIL

Many Property-owners Ask That Cedar Brook Walls Be Repaired.

REPORTS PRESENTED

To Re-advertise for Coal Bids, Only One Having Been Submitted—Several Petitions Are Referred to Committees.

Property-owners whose lands abut on Cedar brook, especially in the Second ward, petitioned the Common Council at its regular meeting last night to take care of that water-way, which they declare at present is nothing more than a storm sewer, a means of taking care of the overflow in heavy rains. They ask that the walls along the brook be repaired and put in good condition. There was a time when the brook was filled with running water, but within the past few years there has been practically no water there except after heavy rains. The petition was referrd to the street committee.

Wadley & Goodenough in a letter to President George S. Clay, protested against what they termed the unreasonable assessment made by the commissioners in the plan to widen Madison avenue, and asked for a reconsideration of the matter. This was referred to the street committee.

Residents on East Front street petitioned for sidewalks on the north side of that thoroughfare. This was referred to the proper commttee.

Thomas H. Cuming, who was judge of the election board in the second district of the Second ward, presented his resignation, being opposed to the law under which persons are made members of the board.

Residents in the vicinity of Monroe avenue complained of the nuisance caused by the Monroe Kennels,

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PUSHES MERGER PLAN

Following the session of the committee in charge of the Chamber of Commerce's advertising campaign held last night, a special meeting of the co-ordinating committee was called to devise ways and means of bringing about the consolidation of the numerous civic bodies in this city in a way which would tend to bring the combined influence of the organizations on current questions. It was decided that the best way in which to produce co-operation would be to select three active members of each body and invite them to become a part of a co-ordinating committee in which every association would be represented. In this way matters of public interest could be referred to the committee in which all of the city's organizations are represented and each association would, in this way, have a voice in the disposition of the measures.

Those in charge of the recent contest held by the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of securing advertising slogans for Plainfield, held their final meeting last night and decided upon the three winners whose names will be announced the latter part of the week. The work of examining the 500 slogans submitted took several weeks and now that the committee has completed its task the money awards will be made immediately.

NAME COMMISSIONERS FOR KENSINGTON AVE. EXTENSION

Councilman F. E. Mygatt reporting to the Common Council last night that it had been found impossible to agree with the property-owners in the matter of extending Kensington avenue and he moved that the Council proceed to make the improvement through the appointment of Elliot T. Barrows, Daniel Courain and F. H. Andrews, who will be requested to assess benefits and damages. Tuesday night, May 27, at 8 o'clock, was fixed as the time when the commissioners will meet to treat with the property-owners. Mr. Mygatt's motion that the former resolution covering this improvement be rescinded, was adopted.

PLANS FOR ENDEAVOR RALLY.

The local Christian Endeavor Union Congress at a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. parlors, last night, President Frank Stewart in the chair, discussed plans for the annual election and rally to be held in this city, Thursday, May 22. Field Secretary Strother, of the United Christian Endeavor Society of Boston, who has recently returned from China, and is now touring the Eastern States in the interest of the Endeavor movement, will be the speaker of the evening. The place of meeting will be announced later.

CRIMINAL COURT OF COUNTY OPENS

Justice Bergen Delivers Charge to Grand Jury as to Local Homicide Case.

TRIALS TO BE FEW

Three Local Men on Grand Jury—Two Editors Also—County Bar Association Holds Session, But Does Little.

Elizabeth, May 6.—The May term of the Court of Oyer and Terminer was opened here today with Supreme Court Justice James J. Bergen and Judge James C. Connolly on the bench. The court room was thronged with interested spectators, including a large number of lawyers from Plainfield. Justice Bergen, greatly to the surprise of many in court had nothing to say regarding excise conditions, and in his charge to the grand jury he only touched upon one thing and that was the homicide case in Plainfield, when Matteio Papalillo, an Italian, stabbed Thomas Dears, colored, on April 12, last, causing the latter's death in Muhlenberg Hospital.

Justice Bergen told the grand jury that if the facts were as represented then an indictment must be found against Papalillo but he cautioned the jury against trying the case. He then quoted the law covering the case, instructing the members as to what it could do in considering the case.

Charles C. McBride, of this place, one of the editors of the Newark Evening News, is foreman of the grand jury. The other members being as follows: Elias H. Bird, Andrew McCardell, George A. Ballantyne, of Plainfield; Lucius T. Russell, Jr., Lawrence O'Donnell, Edward A. Faulks, James A. Laurie, William G. Woodruff, Samuel Stamler, Charles F. Mueller, of Elizabeth; Burton P. Hall, of Fanwood; William Jeffery, of New Providence; Robert Gordon, of Roselle; Olin B. Sickley, of Springfield; Fred Luhden, of Summit; John Bonnell, of Union; John Reay, of Cranford; Fred Wood, of Linden; Rev. Loyal L. Graham, John L. Crowell, Benjamn C. Mead, of Rahway. W. A. Bourdon, the twenty-fourth member, was excused.

Prosecutor Stein made a motion that Robert L. Eaton continue as clerk of the grand jury, but the court informed him that under the law such a motion was not necessary, Mr. Eaton would continue just the same.

The Union County Bar Association met after the session of court and transacted routine business. The list of cases for the term is very light, both in criminal and civil actions.

FRANK EVANS' CONDITION REMAINS ABOUT THE SAME

The condition of Frank Evans, the Plainfield baseball team's second baseman, who was severely injured by being hit on the head with a pitched ball during the game on the oval Saturday afternoon, remains about the same, although the symptoms of brain fever which it was feared, would develop yesterday, have subsided. Evans is conscious all of the time and his recovery is no longer considered to be doubtful.

It will be a matter of at least a week before he will be able to be around again and it is more than likely that he will be out of baseball for the rest of the season. The injured man suffers somewhat from the warm weather conditions and this may retard his recovery to some extent.

A SUSPICIOUS FIRE.

A blaze was discovered in the home of Charles Wabach on New Brunswick road at 8:45 o'clock last night, and a still alarm from the house of William Dencklau, a neighbor, brought the chemical engine to the scene of the fire, which was burning briskly at that time. The residence, which is 300 feet south of West Seventh street, just over the city limits, was saved by the prompt action of the local firemen. Neighbors are of the opinion that the fire was started by a fire-bug as the Wabach family are at present making preparations to remove to the East End of the city and their furniture was packed in one room ready for removal, this being the place where the blaze had its origin.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED.

Patrick Honan, 18 years old, of 317 McDowell street; Philip Millwater, 28 years old, of 216 Prescott place, and Harry Goff, of 515 West Fourth street, arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning charged with disorderly conduct, were released on suspended sentences.

Miss E. M. Davidson, of Somerville, visited friends in the city yesterday.

LEGISLATURE IN SPECIAL SESSION

Governor Fielder in His Message Explains Why He Reconvened Lawmakers.

FOR TWO PURPOSES

Need for Jury Reform and Small Freeholder Board Legislation of Vital Importance to the State's Interests He Declares.

Trenton, May 6.—At the opening today of the extra session of the 137th Legislature, the first special sitting since 1904 and the sixth in the history of the State, Governor Fielder sent to each House the following message:

"To the Legislature:

"My purpose in convening you in special session was to enable you to consider certain matters which to me seem to be of special importance to the State, and which were not satisfactorily considered at your regular session.

"Pursuant to a joint resolution adopted last year, a legislative commission appointed to investigate our jury system, reported that our method of allowing the sheriff unrestrained power to select grand juries obtained in but one other State, and that the selection of petit jurors was much more guarded and restricted elsewhere than here. Recognizing that under our system gross injustice frequently resulted in the administration of our criminal and civil law, both great political parties pledged themselves to change the method of selecting grand and petit jurors. The impression conveyed and intended to be conveyed by the ante-election promises was that candidates for the Senate and General Assembly would, if elected, enact some law which would effectually prevent any official

DRESS REHEARSAL FOR HER LORD AND MASTER

With all of the cast letter-perfect in their various parts, the active members of the Park Comedy Club are ready for the presentation of "Her Lord and Master" at the Plainfield theatre on Thursday and Friday nights. The dress rehearsal will be held tomorrow afternoon at the theatre, and the cast were on the stage there until 4 o'clock this morning putting the finishing touches on the staging and dialogue. The advance sale of seats has been good, but there are many desirable ones still to be had at the box office of the theatre.

The play tells the somewhat familiar story of an American girl marrying a titled Englishman, with whom she thinks she is unhappy until their first quarrel, but as is invariably the case everything turns out all right in the end. Surrounding the two principals are about a dozen other characters whose presence adds to the picture.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the club, held before the rehearsal last night, Miss Charlotte F. Finch, N. H. Morrison, H. G. Runkle and R. C. Blanke, Jr., were elected associate members.

MATRON FOR POLICE DEPARTMENT PROVIDED

Referring to the petition previously presented to the Common Council by the Charity Organization Society, requesting that a matron be engaged for duty at police headquarters, Councilman Leighton Calkins, at the May meeting of the Common Council last night stated that the police board had granted the request. He said that an investigation showed that children are not detained at police headquarters over night, usually being paroled until the following day, but arrangements had been made for a woman to be in attendance at headquarters when needed.

Mrs. Mullin, who is the matron at the North Avenue station, has been engaged for the above purpose at a nominal salary when employed. Mr. Calkins announced that the annual review of the police department would be held at headquarters Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock and the members of the Council were invited to be present.

SAFE AND SANE 4th.

The ordinance providing for a "safe and sane" celebration of Fourth of July was adopted on first and second readings at the May meeting of the Common Council last night, and ordered advertised. All of the members voted in favor of the ordinance. It is intended to pass it on third reading at the next regular meeting of the Council. It is being fathered by Councilman Francis J. Blatz at the request of President George S. Clay.

TRUNK SEWER BILL SIGNED BY MAYOR

Common Council Passes Measure for a Joint Sewer System.

The ordinance providing for the establishment of a joint trunk sewer to be built by Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen, was moved to its third and final reading at the May meeting of the Common Council last night on motion of Councilman F. E. Mygatt, the vote being nine to two, Councilmen Patrick J. Reville and Fred Endress following their previous course in voting against the progress of this matter.

On motion of Mr. Mygatt, the ordinance was presented to Mayor Percy H. Stewart for approval or rejection. It was approved, and is published in the official newspapers of the city today. Mr. Mygatt's resolution that all matters pertaining to this sewer project be continued until the next meeting, was adopted. Another opportunity was given anyone present to speak for or against the proposed ordinance, but no one spoke on the subject.

BORO TO PAY FOR HOSPITAL'S SERVICE

Dunellen's Indigent Patients Will Be Cared for at Muhlenberg.

Members of the Dunellen Council, meeting last night in the Borough Hall, adopted a resolution authorizing the signing of a contract between the Borough of Dunellen and Muhlenberg Hospital, the provisions of which call for that institution to care for that borough's indigent patients for sums stipulated in the agreement. The contract will be similar to those of North Plainfield and this city. Before the document is signed, however, it will be approved by the borough counsel, Rene P. von Minden. The general terms provide that a charge of $2 will be made for each patient per day confined in the public wards; $2.50 per patient each day in the contagious wards and ambulance calls will cost $6 each.

The finance committee made the following recommendations regarding the budget for the year: $3,800 for streets; $1,850 lighting; $950 water; $100 Board of Health; $1,000 general expense; $200 for Free Public Library, and $500 for Poor Department.

L. M. Jones, a member of the Board of Trade, and secretary of the Fourth of July celebration committee, which is planning an elaborate patriotic demonstration for Dunellen on that holiday, was present and applied for a donation from the borough. Action was deferred until the next meeting. The sentiment of the Council seemed to favor the appropriation providing it can be legally given.

A meeting of the sewer committee and the Council will be held Thursday night when matters pertaining to its share of the financing of the system will be taken up. It is probable that a conference with the Mayor and Council of North Plainfield will be held to expediate matters.

Minor improvements were ordered for the Defender Fire Company's building and Marshal Davenport was granted $25 to purchase a new uniform. Incidentally Dunellen's "finest" has been wearing his present suit for two years. He said, however, that he wanted to look "presentable" in the Fourth of July parade.

An ordinance will be adopted at the next meeting of the Council authorizing the renumbering of all property fronting the streets of the borough, according to the official assessment map. The ordinance stipulates a fine or imprisonment for all those who fail to renumber their houses or lots within 30 days after written notices have been sent out.

The New York Telephone Company notified the Council that it is now stretching its overhead cables throughout the borough and that all those wishing to become subscribers can do so after June 1.

FORMER GRADUATES TO ATTEND

The Alumni Association of Muhlenberg Hospital, at a meeting yesterday afternoon, decided that in so far as possible to have all of the former graduates attend the annual graduation exercises at the Hartridge Auditorium on Thursday night, May 22, a request being made that they wear their white uniform. The association will elect officers on Saturday, May 24.

FOUR DAYS IN "COOLER."

Arraigned before Mayor Robert Clark in the borough court this morning, William Cratsley, of 11 Harmong street, was sentenced to serve four days in the borough jail. He was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and is an old offender.

INNOVATION FOR WOMEN'S CLUB

The Monday Afternoon Organization Introduces the Department Feature.

4 GENERAL SUBJECTS

Mrs. Orton G. Dale is Chosen President, Succeeding Mrs. Hugh F. Fox—Plans for the Coming Season.

The election of officers, together with the adoption of plans whereby the Monday Afternoon Club will become a department club in the future, made the annual meeting held at the Hartridge School, yesterday afternoon, an unusually busy one. There were about eighty members present and altogether the meeting was one of the most interesting in the history of the club.

The department club plan was effected through a change in the constitution which agrees with the other leading women's organizations of the State and the most comprehensive program yet adopted by the club was approved by the members.

Four general subjects will be taken up during the coming year in addition to the regular club meetings held every month, namely, art, literature, science and miscellaneous or civics. There will be special speakers and in addition the club members will present papers on the various topics. Members will be privileged to join either department and the membership heretofore limited to 150 has now been made unlimited to allow a large number of women, who have been on the waiting list, to join the club.

Under the general subject of art, there will be a study of the operas of Debussy and Strauss, with a lecture-recital by Mrs. Nellie Strong Stevenson. There will be seven meetings in all at which the members in that department will present papers and there will be musical programs.

In the literature department, half of the year will be devoted to the drama, beginning with the Greek productions and the other half to a study of English fiction from Richardson to DeMorgan and a lecture by Prof. J. Duncan Spaeth, of Princeton University, on "Arnold Bennett."

"Household Economics" will be the general topic of the science department, and Evarts Tracy has been secured to give a lecture, while Miss Edith VanBoskerck will also give a talk on "Household Decorations." In this connection the club will make a most important departure by arranging for a talk and practical demonstration on "The Various Cuts of Beef," to ge held at W. L. Smalley's meat market at Park avenue and East Fourth street. At the same time an expert from Swift & Co. will give a talk on the subject, "From the Hoof to the Market," in which he will explain the system of cold storage.

Mrs. Frank Patterson, of Colonia, whose home as regards household equipment is considered a model, will give a talk on that subject, explaining the use of utensils and labor-saving devices. There will be papers by club members on pure food, waste disposal, insect pests, household budget, and co-operative matters in the laundry and kitchen.

The miscellaneous or civic department will take up the general topic of "Woman's Responsibility in Civic Affairs," and prominent jurists will address the members. Perhaps the most important lecture will be on November 3, by Jacob Riis, on the subject of "Woman's Share in Our Modern Day." Judge George H. V. Ogden, of the Essex County Court, will lecture on "Causes of Juvenile Delinquency," and City Judge W. G. DeMeza, of the local city court, will have a part in the program. "Plainfield's Government" will be presented by a city official to be selected, and W. L. Kincaid, chairman of the New Jersey Housing Commission, will address the members on "The Situation in the State," under the topic of "Health and Housing." Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of the Plainfield Public Schools, will speak on "School Efficiency." The active season of the club will be from October to May inclusive.

These officers were elected by the club for the ensuing year:

President, Mrs. Orton G. Dale; vice presidents, Mrs. John Gray Foster, Mrs. Robert Strong, Mrs. E. G. Read; corresponding secretary, Mrs. James E. Kimball; recording secretary, Mrs. Maybury Mellor; treasurer, Mrs. Henry Hawes. Mrs. Hugh F. Fox, the retiring president, held the office for two years and according to the rule of the club a re-election is not permitted.

ILLNESS OF THE DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT CASTS GLOOM OVER ENGLISH COURT SOCIETY

FROM THE SKETCH

DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT

Gloom has been cast over court society generally by the relapse of the Duchess of Connaught, necessitating another severe operation. None too optimistic bulletins tend to dispel the fears of callers at Clarence House. Hundreds who call daily testify to the popularity of the Duchess.

There is great sympathy with the Duke, who naturally has given up all engagements, both private and public.

DECREES A JUBILEE IN THE R. C. CHURCH

Sixteenth Centenary of Edict of Toleration to be Observed by Pope's Order.

The sixteenth centenary of the Edict of Toleration issued by the Roman Emperor Constantine in the fourth century occurs this year, and in commemoration of this event, His Holiness Pope Pius X desires to make this year the occasion of a general jubilee in the Roman Catholic church.

The jubilee which started on the first Sunday after Easter will continue until December 8. During that time Catholics who fulfill conditions as designated will gain a plenary indulgence as decreed by Pope Pius.

The conditions were read by the priests at the masses in the local Roman Catholic churches Sunday morning in a proclamation issued by Bishop O'Connor, of the Newark diocese. The conditions include receiving of Holy Communion, worthy receiving of the Sacrament of Penance and alms giving.

In his letter to the various pastors, Bishop O'Connor says the celebration of the anniversary should be a matter of deep interest to all Christians. It commemorates, he explains, an event that ended the long night of Pagan persecution, giving peace to the Christian church.

BOROUGH'S SLOGAN IS SWAT THE CAT

North Plainfield Health Board Declares War on Pussy.

The North Plainfield Board of Health has declared war on cats and while the slogan adopted by the city health board is "swat the fly," the borough health authorities hope to bring about an extermination of the feline nuisance through a "swat the cat" campaign. At a meeting of the board, last night, it was agreed that there are too many cats in the borough and they are now a public nuisance. Steps were taken toward framing an ordinance which, it is hoped, will rid North Plainfield of this nuisance. The co-operation of Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., and the Borough Council will be invited.

It is claimed that the cat has it all over the fly as a germ-carrier and is a menace to public health. The borough officials expect to encounter many obstacles in the proposed campaign as there are many people who own pet cats who will fight any move tending to kill off the cats. However, the health authorities are determined that something must be done to get rid of what is called a common nuisance.

Borough Health Officer J. Louis Olliff reported that during the past month there were three cases of scarlet fever, three of diphtheria and two of measles. There were 300 inspections made and nine nuisances abated, two scavenger permits granted, fifteen milk permits, two for fat collection and 200 chicken licenses issued. Mr. Olliff stated that there were practically no objectionable yards in North Plainfield.

MEXICAN REVOLUTION CASTS SHADOW ON MISS MERCEDES MADERO'S WEDDING

MRS. ANTONIO CANALIZO

Owing to the recent troubles in Mexico Miss Mercedes Madero, sister of the late President of Mexico, who recently married Mr. Antonio G. Canalizo, a member of the Mexican House of Representatives for Lower California and a grandson of the one time President, General Porfirio Diaz, had a very quiet wedding. The wedding was a sequel to a romance of official life in the Mexican capital several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Canalizo will tour Europe and will return to America in the fall.

BIDS ARE RECEIVED FOR STREETS IMPROVEMENT

Frank Mobus, Burke & Bonham, of this city, and Edward C. Humphrey, of Hackensack, and J. C. Bentley, of Elizabeth, under the firm name of Humphrey & Bentley, presented bids for macadamizing several streets, at the May meeting of the Common Council last night, and Burke & Bonham were the lowest bidders. The bids were referred to the street committee and a report will be made later in awarding the contract.

The streets to be improved comprise Woodland and Hillside avenues, George street, Spooner avenue, Wallace place, Manson place, Pond place, McDowell street and South Second street. Bids were also submitted for gutters and installing underdrains and Burke & Bonham were low on this class of work.

ART AND POVERTY.

John Smith and John Gordon, who said they were artists and that they were homeless, were arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning on charges of vagrancy. Sentence was suspended on condition that they leave town which both promised to do.

MOVING PICTURES USED TO KEEP RECORDS OF CROOKS.

Philadelphia Tries Out the Plan of "Mugging" Criminals by Films.

The Philadelphia police department is the first in America, if not in the world, to give moving pictures a trial as a means of making photographs for its rogues' gallery. The department recently arranged with a film manufacturing company for a series of experiments, and if exhaustive trials prove the "movies" to be satisfactory they probably will replace the present Bertillon finger print system of identifying criminals.

By the system a criminal may be identified by some peculiarity in his actions. A notorious criminal will be made to walk before the picture camera so that a good view of him can be had from all angles. Five feet of film will be used for each subject.

After the film is developed it will be placed in a motion picture machine in the detectives' roll room, and the assembled sleuths will see on the white screen before them the man who "acted" for the machine.

Criminal identification by means of motion pictures also is being considered by the New York police department. The suggestion of such a method was made to Commissioner Waldo by a man prominent in the motion picture world.

It is said that five feet of film, costing 70 cents, will suffice as a means of identifying criminals in the future. With photographs, finger prints and motion pictures, together with the Bertillon measurements, it was suggested that it would be next to impossible for criminals to escape.

IDEAL HUSBAND DESCRIBED.

Kansas College Girls Tell What He Must Be Like.

College girls of Kansas have fixed the standard of the ideal young man, the possible husband, and the specifications of the paragon are posted in College Young Women's Christian association buildings throughout the state.

Here is the list:

Height five feet eleven inches.

Weight 150 pounds.

Chest forty inches expanded, thirty-four inches contracted.

Waist thirty and one-half inches.

Must make a good appearance, but need not be handsome.

Must be careful of personal appearance, but not a dandy.

Must be jolly, accommodating, considerate and a true sportsman.

Must be a good conversationalist, but not a flatterer.

Must revere and respect the aged.

Must show courtesy to men and women.

Must not smoke, drink or be guilty of attendant evils.

Must not sneer at religion or joke lightly of it.

Must not recognize a different standard for men and women.

The physical qualifications were the averages taken from the reports of hundreds of girls of the state, each girl being asked to submit the measurements of what she considered her ideal man.

The nine commandments for the ideal young man were chosen from hundreds of statements of girls who were asked to specify the requirements each would make, and the nine items most mentioned in the letters were the ones taken as the average ideal young man.

CHINESE SCHOOL IN ITALY.

Teacher Wouldn't Go to China, So It Went to Him.

Luigi Luzzati, a former premier of Italy, recently was asked by the Chinese government to be its adviser in matters of political economy, agriculture and finance.

He consented, but refused to go to China. Being very desirous of obtaining his services, the Chinese government then proposed to send its young statesmen students to Italy if a school could be provided for them there. This will be done, with Luzzati in charge of the institution.

Minute "Movies" of the News Right Off the Reel

A school of matrimony, called the Hochschule der Hieratswissenschaften, has been established in Berlin.

A young man in Indianapolis recently married his stepmother in compliance with a deathbed request of his father.

A boy in Anaconda, Mont., was treed by a mountain lion, according to dispatches, and forced to stay up the tree so long his feet were frozen.

The navy department has abolished the use of nautical terms such as "port" and "starboard" and is substituting terms the "landlubber" can understand.

In order to prevent his automobile being held up by the Berlin police at night Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany has had attached to the front of each of his cars an illuminated sign reading, "God Is With Us."

CO. K NOTES

At the non-commissioned officers meeting last night, it was decided that the company should participate in the Memorial Day parade the latter part of the month. Captain Peterson told the non-coms that Major Martin was planning for a Battalion field day to take place in the near future, and after discussing the pro and con of the case, it was decided that the captain take up the matter of planning a battalion bivouac and sham battle to be held between this city and Elizabeth on Saturday and Sunday, June 14 and 15.

The school of musketry will meet in the armory Friday night and shoot on the indoor range so as to perfect their group firing.

The regular drills will be continued next Monday night and until further notice.

HELPED BY FRIENDS' BLOOD.

Atlantic City, May 6.—Kept alive only by blood transfusions from a relay of friends who volunteered for the rare operation to which he submitted at the University Hospital, Philadelphia, during the past week, Edward Walsh, brother of Mrs. Margaret Walsh Duncan, of the Hotel Continental, this city, is considerably improved, and hope is now held out for his recovery. During the transfusion process his friends contributed eight ounces of blood each. Fifteen years ago, Mr. Walsh underwent an operation in which a portion of his left jugular vein was removed, and the leakage from this old wound during the operation of last week, necessitated a continuous supply of fresh blood until the wound had partially healed.

HORSES LEAVE WAGON BEHIND.

Stewartsville, May 6.—Half the excitement of being in a runaway was lost by Harry Grainor, when a team he was driving to a farm wagon owned by Lewis Lance took fright near here and bolted. When the animals started Grainor did his best to control them but before the team had gone very far the pin worked out of the whiffle-tree. The horses, freed of the wagon, left it and the driver behind. While Grainor pursued them afoot, the horses ran to the Shillinger Mill, at Cookesville. There they made a dramatic finish to their flight by plunging into the millpond where they were captured.

KING'S GEORGE'S ANNIVERSARY.

London, May 6.—The third anniversary of the accession of King George V. was celebrated in London today with befitting honors. Flags were displayed on all the government buildings and at noon a salute of forty-one guns was fired by a battery of the Royal Horse Artillery in St. James Park.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

David Belasco's production of "A Good Little Devil" has closed its run at the Republic Theatre, New York.

Minnie Dupree is en route East and will reach New York soon. She is presenting Alfred Sutro's "The Man in Front."

Harry Askin is planning a revival of Gilbert's satirical comedy, "The Palace of Truth." The piece will have a hearing soon in Chicago.

Last Saturday Montgomery and Stone and Elsie Janis appeared in the 250th performance of "The Lady of the Slipper" at the Globe, New York.

The peasant players of Oberammergau are announced to open their second engagement in New York at the Irving Place Theatre in the near future.

Philip Bartholomae's new farce to be produced at the Forty-eighth Street Theatre, New York, in September, has been given the title "Kiss Me Quick."

Fred Stone is going to Wyoming this summer. Dave Montgomery will go to Maine woods and Elsie Janis will motor through Europe. She will sail in June.

Carlotta Nillson is shortly to appear in a new play by Legrand Howland called "Deborah." In her support will be Frank Gillmore, Elliott Dexter and Isabelle Lee.

It is reported in the West that Charles Frohman intends to elevate Mary Boland to the stellar ranks next season. He will get a play for her while abroad this summer.

Julian Eltinge is to impersonate a suffragette. His new play has been named "Miss Swift, of New York." It has been written in a comic vein by Mr. Eltinge and Gus Steely.

Olive Morosco has placed J. Hartley Manners' "The Honeymoon" in rehearsal, with Orrin Johnson, Marguerite Leslie, Ada Dwyer and Lennox Pawle in the principal characters.

Arthur Hammerstein has engaged Schnitz Edwards for an important role in "High Jinks," a new farce comedy which he will present in Chicago in the fall. It is by Otto Hauerbach and Rudolf Friml.

Cecil Cunningham, recently seen in the prima donna role of "Somewhere Else" at the Broadway, has been added to the Gilbert and Sullivan Opera Company, for the forthcoming revival of "Iolanthe."

William Hammerstein announces for next Monday the first appearance on any stage of the Maclaine of Lochbuie, the Scottish laird who arrived in this country recently to try making his fortune in vaudeville.

A single copyright performance of "The Next Religion" will be given by the Liebler Company at the Hudson Theatre on Thursday afternoon. This play, by Israel Zangwill, will be one of next season's attractions in New York.

Helen Lowell has finished her tour in "The Red Petticoat," and has retired to her home at Northport, L. I., where she will rest until next season. She will then appear under the Shubert management in a new musical comedy.

Cohan and Harris have made an arrangement with George Kleine of Chicago whereby they will present the Klein-Cines photo-drama "Quo Vadis?", now being shown at the Astor, New York, in several theatres of the United States and Canada next season.

HOPATCONG ICEMEN STRIKE.

Lake Hopatcong, May 6.—Declaring their fear that their icehouses here would be burned by strikers, Brady Brothers asked Sheriff Whitfield B. Gillen Sunday to deputize five men to guard the property. Although the sheriff refused the request to deputize over the telephone five men he had not seen, he gave permission for their employment as guards by the company under the direction of Constable Lyons, of Morristown. Seventy-five men are on strike. They demanded an increase in wages said to be proportional to the recent increase in the price of the ice they handle, and when it was refused they all went out. Two men accused of making threats have been arrested, but there has been no further disorder.

REPLANKING AMBOY'S SPAN.

Perth Amboy, May 6.—The Middlesex freeholders have ordered the replanking of the county bridge over the Raritan river between this city and South Amboy. Several weeks ago repairs were found necessary and an effort was made to patch all the weak places. The freeholders were anxious to avoid the heavy expense of replanking the structure until next year. The patches became so numerous that automobilists protested. They said crossing the bridge was like going over the rocky road to Dublin. Replanking the bridge will cost about $12,000.

OBSERVE "LANGLEY DAY."

Washington, D. C., May 6.—In accordance with a custom inaugurated last year the Aero Club of Washington today held its annual observance of Langley Day, the anniversary of the first flight of the late Prof. S. P. Langley's aeroplane at Wiwewater, Va., in 1896. The exercises of the day were held at the Smithsonian Institution, where a tablet in memory of Prof. Langley was unveiled. The program also included formal announcement of the annual award of the two copies of the Langley gold medal that has been established for the recognition of notable work in aid of aviation. The recipients this year were Glenn H. Curtiss, who has developed the hydroaeroplane, and M. Gustave Eiffel, the famous French engineer and scientist, who has established an aerodynamic laboratory of his own in Paris and has done more research work in aerial matters than any other man now living.

TO WED POLISH COUNT.

Baltimore, Md., May 6.—Cardinal Gibbons will perform the marriage ceremony for Miss Louise Warfield, daughter of former Governor Edwin Warfield, and Count Vladimir Ledochowski, of Poland, which will take place tomorrow at the Warfield residence in this city. The day will be Governor Warfield's sixty-fifth birthday anniversary. On account of the recent death of Miss Warfield's grandmother the marriage will be a quiet one, to which only relatives and a few intimate friends have been invited. Within a few weeks after their marriage the couple will sail for Europe, where they will live on the Count's estates in Poland.

PRISON CHEF OUSTED.

Trenton, May 6.—The New Jersey State prison has lost its chef, and the convicts are mourning his departure. Robert Doole, of Camden, the chef in question, was dismissed by Headkeeper Madden on a charge of smuggling letters from the institution. The action of Mr. Madden was upheld by the Civil Service Commission, which has jurisdiction over the work. Some time ago Madden became suspicious of Doole, and declares that he caught him with a special delivery letter which he had promised to mail for a long-term man.

MEMORIAL ALTAR UNVEILED.

New York, May 6.—A magnificent altar erected in St. Patrick's Cathedral in memory of Mrs. Ellen A. Dykers de Mavarro was unveiled today with impressive exercises conducted in the presence of a throng of distinguished guests. The memorial cost $25,000 and was presented to the cathedral by Madame Navarro's two sons, Alfonso and Antonio, the last-named of whom is the husband of Mary Anderson, the famous American actress.

SUICIDE TRY UNEXPLAINED.

Elizabeth, May 6.—Matthew Hattrick, twenty-eight years old, attempted suicide by cutting his throat. The wound was slight, and, after being treated at the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, Hattrick went home. Hattrick lives at 22 Union street and is married. No explanation has been made for his attempt on his life.

GOVERNMENT WASTE.

A thousand times worse than the free seeds abuse is that of the Government printing bureau, where a vast amount of money is wasted annually in printing all sorts of things of little or no value to the Government or to the people. The chief offenders are the members of Congress. Speeches that are never delivered but meant for the "folks back home" to impress upon them the learning and activity of their representatives are printed regardless of expense. Even the correspondence of some of the senators and congressmen pertaining to some government question but of no earthly interest to the general public are published. But the abuse does not end there, unfortunately, for all this mass of stuff is sent broadcast through the mails free of postage. This may appear to be a small matter to many, but if one could see the big batches of this stuff received by the newspapers every day in the week, to say nothing of that which goes to the general public, he would appreciate the vastness of the extravagance.

When Charles J. Fisk was mayor, Col. Hine, L. H. D. Gilmour and other representatives of the P. S. C. promised new cars for all local trolley lines as one of the inducements to be allowed to double track their lines in the business section. Mayor Fisk will testify to this pie-crust promise. And still we have the same old ramshackle cars, some of which were second-hand ones when they were placed in service here some fourteen years ago.

We take our hat off to Senator Martine and Representative Tuttle. In the bound volume of the Congressional Directory just received the sketch of the former's career occupies but seven lines and that of the latter only four lines. They are in marked and commendable contrast to those of the great majority of the members who relate at great length and in the most self-laudatory terms the story of their lives.

In enumerating the attractions and advantages of life in Plainfield, in our comment on Plainfield's exhibition at the New York Real Estate Show, the public and private schools were overlooked. There are no better public schools in this section of the country, certainly none in New Jersey. And as for the private schools, those for both the boys and girls are a great credit to the place.

And once again, the Board of Health requests the Common Council to introduce a sanitary system for the collection and disposal of garbage. It has been petitioning for this improvement right along for the last twelve years. Possibly, an ear trumpet is needed.

The venerable Dr. Francis L. Patton, who preceded Woodrow Wilson as president of Princeton University, has resigned as president of the Princeton Theological seminary, but although three score and ten this truly great man will continue his duties as a member of the latter's faculty. Princeton would seem a strange place without its Dr. Patton.

The city has spent several hundred dollars in building a pound and the mayor has issued the annual proclamation calling attention to the ordinance forbidding owners to allow their canines to run at large. Here's the funny part—the city has no dog catcher.

Just as we prophesized, as a corporation counsel, Charles A. Reed is "on the job" all the time. He is the first to hold that office who considers it his duty to attend the meetings of the Common Council. He has established a healthy precedent.

Why does not the Councilmanic street committee use a little more energy and have the streets oiled quicker? In all parts of the community, residents are clamoring and rightly so, for the dust from the streets is a positive nuisance.

Apparently the only Progressive that wants an amalgamation with the Republicans is former State Senator Everett Colby, who makes it plain that he has thrown his hat into the ring for the reunited party's gubernatorial nomination.

No, neither New York team seems to be playing ball this season.

The local exhibition is being given under the auspices of the Plainfield Council of the United Commercial Travelers and furnishes attractions for both young and old.

Living up to his reputation, Mr. Kause has provided amusement for the special entertainment of the women and children and to protect them from all rowdyism.

Probably the most thrilling performance was that of Miss Elma Meyer, the sensational high diver, who gave a free exhibition of her skill at 10 o'clock and will repeat it throughout the week at that hour and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Unusually pretty and with an air of daring, Miss Meyer astounded the huge assemblage by diving from a 75 foot ladder, suspended in the air, into four feet of water. Posing gracefully from her lofty pinnacle, she springs nimbly from the contrivance with a little exultant shout and wisks head-first toward the ground with arms out-stretched and body in rigid but graceful position. She enters the water with amazing speed and appears on the surface again in a fraction of a second after striking the water. Feats of skill in the water follow. When she finished her performance last night the applause was deafening.

Many of the attractions that have proven so popular at Coney Island are to be seen. The "ocean wave," a humorous ride on the "sea," was not ready for the opening but was enjoyed by many this afternoon, when another large crowd visited the grounds.

Osborne's dog, pony and monkey circus, said to be the cleverest trio of animal acrobats on the road, proved popular with the children as did the miniature city, with its "thriving" industries, office buildings, parks, lakes, etc. The trip to Mars, a ride sky-ward, was largely patronized and the tents where many freaks of nature are on exhibition, proved entertaining as well as instructive. There is also a merry-go-round, ferris wheel, circle wave, "crazy house," a penny arcade, a tabloid comedy entitled, "School Days," and a band of twenty pieces furnishes a continuous concert both afternoon and evening.

CHURCH SOCIETY ELECTS.

The Ladies' Society for Christian Work of Trinity Reformed church at its annual meeting in the church yesterday, elected these officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. Cornelius Schenck; first vice president, Mrs. Annie E. Leggett; second vice president, Mrs. Elizabeth Parse; secretary, Mrs. B. D. Newell; treasurer, Mrs. Leonard VanCamp. The reports showed the society to be in excellent condition. The anniversary meeting will be held Sunday night, when the members will attend divine service in a body and Rev. J. Y. Broek will preach a special sermon.

Miss Sara Curry, matron of the Day Nursery of New York and also of the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp, spent yesterday in town examining the property of the camp preparatory to the opening next month.

BURKE BADLY BRUISED; HIS STORY NOT BELIEVED

The story of Edward Burke, of Ann street, who was apprehended by the Westfield police near the Jersey Central Railroad station early this morning in an intoxicated condition, clothes torn and bruises and cuts about the face and body, does not receive credence by the local police. Burke said he boarded a Central Railroad passenger train at Elizabethport after purchasing a ticket for Manville. When the conductor asked for his fare, he asserts, he could not find his ticket and in consequence was thrown off the moving train at the Westfield station.

On finding the victim the Westfield authorities communicated with the local department and Burke was placed on a train arriving at the North avenue station at 2:08 this morning. He was taken to his home in Ann street by Roundsman Higgins and Patrolman Saunders.

Charged with driving a horse attached to a dump cart across the sidewalk in Gresham road, in violation of a city ordinance, Fred Hofmeister, of West Fourth street, was released on a suspended sentence when arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza.

EX-SENATOR F. O. BRIGGS REPORTED SERIOUSLY ILL

Trenton, May 6.—The illness of former United States Senator Frank O. Briggs has taken an alarming turn and yesterday his condition was reported as serious. He has been confined to his home here for the past four weeks, suffering from a complication of diseases.

Some time ago the condition of the former Senator was further aggravated by an attack of grip. This tended to weaken his already run-down condition, and had the effect of aggravating his chronic trouble. His son, Frankland Briggs, who is in business in New York, is in constant attendance at his father's bedside.

EXEMPTS CONGRATULATE FIRE CHIEF T. O. DOANE

Resolutions congratulating Fire Chief T. O. Doane upon the celebration of the sixty-third anniversary of his birthday were adopted at a meeting of the Plainfield Exempt Firemen's Association, last night, and the members wished him continued success as they recalled his long years of service. Many compliments were passed concerning the banquet given to the chief last week.

Mr. Doane made a happy response in which he thanked his associates for their kind expression of good will. There was a discussion regarding the approaching convention of the State Firemen's Exempt Association to be held at Long Branch, Wednesday, May 21. The delegates will leave here on the 8:12 o'clock train in the morning.

PAUL ADAMS IS MADE A FIREMAN AT LAST

Paul Adams was made a regular member of the Plainfield Fire Department at the May meeting of the Common Council, last night, when Mayor Percy H. Stewart presented his name and the appointment was confirmed by a unanimous vote through a resolution offered by Councilman Fred Endress, chairman of the Councilmanic fire committee.

The appointment of Adams was held up for a long time, apparently without reason. It is said that Mayor Stewart was ready to make the appointment, but there was a division of opinion among the members of the fire committee and Council and he waited until the Council was willing to pass favorably on the matter. The Mayor recived a petition signed by hundreds of citizens asking for the appointment of Adams.

IMPERSONATIONS.

LARGE AUDIENCE GREETS DR. GEORGE E. VINCENT

Dr. George E. Vincent, president of the University of Minnesota and a graduate of the Plainfield High School, class of 1879, was greeted by a large assemblage, composed mainly of alumni, Saturday night, when he lectured in the high school auditorium, taking for his subject, "Playing the Game." He urged that all play the "game of life" in a thoroughly sportsmanlike manner; to work hard to overcome their faults and to take victory modestly rather than with a great display of exultancy.

Dr. Vincent was born in Rockford, Ill., March 21, 1864, and is the only son of Bishop John H. Vincent, after whom Vincent Chapel was named. Bishop Vincent lived several years at West Fifth street and Arlington avenue.

MINUS DOG CATCHER.

Since the two young men employed as dog catchers were ousted from their positions last week, owing to the fact that they are under age, canines have been permitted to run at large in North Plainfield. The activities of the young men were brought to a sudden termination when Stonewall Jackson, who was arraigned in the borough court charged with assaulting a dog catcher, retaliated by charging that both catchers were not legally qualified because they were under age. They were subsequently discharged.

The same member offered an ordinance, which was adopted on two readings, providing for the laying out of Watson avenue, between North avenue and Earl place, and fixing Monday night, June 2, as the time when a public hearing on the ordinance will be granted. The ordinance providing for an extension of the sewer system was adopted on third readng on moton of Mr. Mygatt, and a resolution by Councilman C. C. Randolph, which was adopted, authorized the Mayor and city clerk to borrow $11,000 on account of sewer extension work and to execute a note for the same.

Joseph Harrigan presented the only bid for supplying the city with coal, his price being $6 a ton, with the exception of coal for the Netherwood fire house which he offered to furnish for $5.75 on account of it being a short haul from his yards. As there was but one bid, on motion of Councilman Fred Endress it was rejected and the city will readvertise for bids.

The sum of $100 was appropriated in a resolution offered by Councilman Randolph and adopted, with which to purchase a typewriter for the use of the District court.

During a suspension of the regular business, public hearings were granted in the matter of macadamizing certain streets and the widening of Sycamore street, but no one appeared to speak for or against the proposed improvements. The Council adjourned to meet again on Monday night, May 12, at 8 o'clock.

IN SPECIAL SESSION

from exercising his own choice in the selection of juries from a small body of men, and which would provide for drawing them by lot from the whole county, and I feel that the adjournment of the Legislature without enacting some legislation in line with party promises, was a breach of faith. The time has passed when platform pledges can be made for effect only and with no intention of keeping them. Since the adjourment of your regular session, you have had ample opportunity to ascertain the sentiment of the people of your respective counties and you should now be prepared to act on your information and knowledge of their desires without finding it necessary to refer any bill to them for their ratification or disapproval, and I most earnestly ask you to settle this matter definitely and finally.

"The progressive people of our State are deeply interested in a convention which will provide the opportunity for discussion and consideration of suggested alterations in and additions to our constitution. This constituton was adopted in 1844 and the changes in social, economic and political conditions wrought in seventy years must be met by changes in our organic laws. What alterations are wise and what unwise can be properly determined in a convention through general discussion, and from which the ideas and arguments of the delegations can be disseminated by the press to the people, thus providing our citizens complete information on subjects of such vital interest to them. The hope and expectation of all fair minded persons is that a legally constituted forum for such discussion shall be provided and that the representatives of the subdivisions of the State who shall sit in this body, shall be chosen with reference to the numbers whom they shall represent. An opportunity is presented to you to rise above sectional feeling and to act as sincere, patriotic men, guided solely by a desire to serve the best nterests of the State as a whole.

"The government of our counties by large Boards of Freeholders is archaic. Through many members, responsibility is divided and can be shifted from one group to another, until the average citizen grows weary in attempting to locate the blame for county misgovernment. Hasty or misguided legislation, designed to permit the adoption of the small board government has resulted in defective laws, and the expressed desire of several counties to govern themselves by a small board has been defeated and their affairs left in an unsettled condition. This subject directly affects many thousands of our citizens and can and should be remedied.

"May I express my belief that there is no necessity for a prolonged session. The matters to which I have referred, have been widely discussed and it is entirely possible to promptly translate the public desire into legislative acts.

"JAMES F. FIELDER,
"President of the Senate, Acting Governor."

ALECK BOLOMEY TELLS A GOOD FISH STORY

Read on and when you reach the final period, concoct a story of your own and start the fishing season by telling the next person you meet a better one.

Alexander Bolomey, William Haberle and Patrick Callahan, of Dunellen, went fishing Saturday night in the Passaic River just off Berkeley Heights, and according to Bolomey the trio caught thirty-five pounds of catfish and "sunnies." Mr. Bolomey tells a corker about one catfish that weighed between four and five pounds. "I felt a heavy tug on my line," he continued, after telling the introductory part of the fable, "but pulling with all my might it was all I could do to land it (meaning the fish). My two friends helped me and when we pulled it on shore the 'thing' floundered in my directions and buried its 'spears' in my shoe. My struggles to free myself were in vain and I was only rescued from being yanked into the stream by my companions, who stunned my captor with a rock."

BROKAW BROTHERS
MEN'S & BOYS' CLOTHING, HATS & FURNISHINGS

If tailors wrote proverbs, one would be "A stitch by hand is worth nine by the machine."

Our chief claim for our clothes is that they stand up under wear; any one can use good materials, linings and sewing threads—but we put these things together in our suits and overcoats—so that they give the utmost service until worn out.

Abundant hand sewing throughout all our garments is the secret of lasting satisfaction.

SAYS MALFORMATION OF NOSE CAUSES HEADACHES.

Paris Physician Makes Known a New Theory of Cure.

Persons who suffer from forms of headache often regarded as incurable will be interested in the announcement that a French physician has found a method of curing many such cases. The discoverer, the eminent Dr. Guisez of Paris, recently explained his theory and methods to the French Academy of Medicine.

Dr. Guisez finds that the frequent and annoying variety of migraine, which starts from above the eyes and spreads, often accompanied by nausea and vomiting, is really due to a malformation of the upper part of the nose known as hypertrophy of the middle horn, which under the least provocation causes congestion and a disturbance of circulation at the base of the brain.

Up to the present, owing to this cause being overlooked, all medical treatment, even the cutting of the nerves, has failed.

Dr. Guisez, however, by a slight operation, the details of which he gave to the academy, has found an easy remedy by which he has cured over seventy cases already. He recommends all persons suffering from frequent headaches to have a thorough examination made of the interior of the nose.

This communication is considered by the academy to be of great importance.

WOMAN IS A TENOR SINGER.

Miss Ruby Helder, "a Female Caruso," Visits America.

Miss Ruby Helder, an English girl who has a remarkable tenor voice, recently visited America. She made the trip solely to sing one group of songs at a reception given by Mrs. August Belmont in New York, and it is said that she received $10,000 for the musicale.

Miss Helder has frequently been heard in London during the last few months, and her voice is pronounced remarkable by critics, some of whom describe her as "a female Caruso." Her range goes up to high C.

Sir Joseph Santley, Miss Helder's teacher, says hers is the first voice of the kind he has heard in forty years. He predicts a great career for her.

Miss Helder is so small and frail that the masculine quality of her voice astonishes all who hear it for the first time. Specialists say it is due to the peculiar formation of the muscles in her throat. The girl began singing tenor when she was yet in short dresses at school. She first attracted public attention by singing in a London church choir.

NEW FREAKS OF FASHION.

Porcelain Heels and Pearls as Chin Straps Are the Latest.

From Paris, the source of nearly all fashions, wise and otherwise, comes the news that porcelain heels for silk or satin evening shoes are among the eccentricities to be expected before long. They will be made of sevres ware.

Another novel and none too lovely fashion is the wearing of strings of pearls somewhat after the manner of the guardsman's chin strap. The necklace passes under the chin of the wearer from ear to ear. It is sometimes fastened around the ear, but more frequently secured to the hair by a jeweled pin on either side.

Steel ornaments and brooches have been revived.

Summer gowns will be made chiefly of moire damask and broches de laine. These new dress materials are charming in appearance and cheap.

HE BARS PRETTY TEACHERS.

They Attract Too Much Attention, Says Superintendent.

O. O. Williams, superintendent of the public schools at Richmond, Ind., believes school boards in selecting young women for their teaching corps should strike a medium between the very pretty and the very homely ones.

"Don't hire teachers who are extremely pretty or who are extremely homely," he told the township trustees recently. "Real pretty girls attract too much attention, and so do ugly ones. A teacher's appearance should be such as not to draw attention to her; therefore the beautiful women should be avoided."

SUFFRAGETTES ARE SUED.

Windows Broken In Recent Raids Made Basis of Claims.

A charge of conspiracy recently was brought against Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, English suffrage agitators, by ninety-three London shopkeepers whose windows were broken in the suffrage raids a few weeks ago. The claims entered amounted to almost $20,000.

Originally but two firms were cited as plaintiffs. Eventually, however, nearly all the prominent traders in the west end of London decided to combine in an effort to fix the responsibility for the destruction of their property.

"Endless Prayer" In Mail.

Postal inspectors at Philadelphia recently began investigating complaints of an "endless chain prayer" being sent by mail and containing threats of some calamity to befall persons who failed to comply with the requests set forth. This threat is a violation of the postal laws.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

By FRANCES MARSHALL

CABBAGE FOR ECONOMY.

Cabbage is most easily digested when it is young, and only then should it be eaten raw. But it is at all times a wholesome, inexpensive food which, if it is cooked with care, is likewise palatable.

A Raw Cabbage Dish.

A sort of cabbage salad is made of young cabbage, finely chopped—chopped until the arm aches, in fact—and mixed with the following dressing.

Beat the yolks of two eggs. Mix a teaspoonful of salt, the same amount of mustard and three tablespoonfuls of sugar. Moisten them with two tablespoonfuls of cream and mix thoroughly. Then add the beaten yolks. Heat two-thirds of a cupful of vinegar in a small saucepan. When it is hot put the other ingredients in the top of a double boiler and gradually add the hot vinegar to them, stirring carefully all the time. Stir constantly until the dressing is creamy, smooth and thick. Add, when cool, to the minced cabbage, and dress the salad with slices of boiled egg.

Hot Dishes.

Cabbage soup is a delicious dish. To make it shred the hearts of two small cabbages and soak them in boiling water, with four or five stalks of celery, for ten minutes. Then boil for ten minutes in fresh water. Drain, add two pints of stock, and simmer gently for twenty minutes. Add pepper and salt and serve.

Minced cabbage is easily prepared. To do it, drain boiled cabbage, chop it, and measure it. For each four cupfuls put two tablespoonfuls of butter and one of flour in a frying pan. When they have cooked smooth together add the cabbage, salt and pepper to taste, and cook for six minutes, stirring all the time.

Another way to serve minced cabbage is to add enough stock to it to moisten and flavor it thoroughly.

Baked.

Baked cabbage can be prepared in many ways. To begin with, boil the cabbage, as it should always be boiled, head down, in two waters. It should be put into boiling water to begin with, and should be soaked before it is cooked.

Then chop it, add two raw eggs, beaten, two tablespoonfuls of cream, two of butter, and pepper and salt to taste. Put it into a flat earthen dish, cover the top with crumbs, and brown in the oven.

Another way to bake it is to put it into a buttered dish in alternate layers with highly seasoned tomato sauce, cover it with crumbs and bake brown.

Still another way is to cover it, in a flat earthen dish, with crumbs and bits of cheese, and put in the oven long enough to melt the cheese.

Some Cookery Suggestions

POTATOES AND MEAT.

MANY simple dishes for breakfast, luncheon or tea may be made by combining a little meat with vegetables, preferably potatoes. This gives a rich flavor to the potatoes and provides nourishing food, which will aid in reducing the amount of the butcher's bill.

Some recipes along this line are suggested here:

Highly Seasoned Fare.

Scalloped Ham and Potatoes.—Take a baking dish, grease it and sprinkle a few drops of onion juice over the bottom of it. Lay hot sliced boiled potatoes in the dish and on top of them put a layer of minced cold boiled ham. Over all pour a gill of tomato sauce and bake until hot all through.

Potatoes and Frankfurters.—Take good sized potatoes, peel and with an apple corer cut a hole through center. Have ready an equal number of frankfurter sausages and draw one through each hole in the potatoes. Place in a dripping pan and lay a strip of bacon over each potato. Pepper lightly and bake until the potatoes are done. Baste often with the bacon frylngs and a little hot water.

Dainty Combinations.

Potatoes and Chicken.—Make a mixture as you would for potato croquettes, except that you omit the parsley. Shape the mixture into small nests and fill them with creamed chicken. Cover with the potato mixture and roll into croquette shapes. Dip first in crumbs, then egg and crumbs again and fry in deep fat, draining on brown paper.

Potatoes and Eggs.—Mash potatoes, form into the shape of eggs, cut in halves and scoop out the centers for filling. Take any cold meat except ham and put through a meat grinder. Mix with breadcrumbs, a little onion, celery, one-half cupful of crumbs, one-half cupful of meat, one egg, butter, salt and pepper to taste. Fry in a little butter and fill the lower half of the egg with the mixture. Cover with the top half, molding the potato carefully to make it look like a hard boiled egg. Garnish them with parsley.

He Was a Circus Trick Horse.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Horse That Wears A Switch.

JACK and Evelyn laughed when daddy said he had heard of a horse that wore a switch.

"Dinah wears a switch because she says it makes her back hair look more," Evelyn remarked. "But horses haven't any back hair."

"That's where you are mistaken," daddy replied. "A horse's mane is the hair on his head. But it wasn't because he hadn't enough back hair that Bucephalus got a switch. It was because he lost most of the beautiful long hair out of his tail that he was fitted with one.

"Bucephalus is a trick horse in a circus. He is a fine fellow, with a grayish coat and a handsomely shaped body. His cleverness and beauty make him worth a great deal of money.

"So when an accident spoiled the horse's tail it was noticed that he seemed very sad. He went through his tricks in a half hearted sort of way, and when people petted him or offered him lumps of sugar he did not care about them.

"'What's the matter, old man?' the horse's master asked him one day.

"Bucephalus only shook his head sadly and gently waved what was left of a once glorious tail.

"'What, old man, are you worrying about that lost tail?' his master asked, patting his favorite.

"And Bucephalus seemed to nod his head. At any rate, the horse's master said that if it could be had his pet should have a tail as handsome as the one he had lost.

"So he went to the very best switch maker in the city, a person who made all sorts of wigs and switches for fashionable ladies. Bucephalus' master told him what he needed and said he didn't mind paying a good price if he got what he wanted.

"He coaxed the wigmaker to come and look at Bucephalus, and the horse at once made friends with him. The wigmaker was pleased and said he would do his best.

"The man was as good as his word. No one knows where or how he got all the beautiful long horse hairs he put into the switch.

"Bucephalus seemed another horse. After he got his new switch tail he cheered up and began to take an interest in life. He seemed to relish his oats and accepted apples and lumps of sugar very graciously. In the circus he was his old gay, clever self and not only went through his old tricks splendidly, but took the greatest interest in learning others.

"And if a switch could do all that for a horse, why should we laugh at poor Dinah for wearing one? Perhaps it makes her happy too."

Shaping a Nose.

Massage will help very largely to improve the shape of the nose. This is done with the thumb and forefinger applied to each side of the nose. Begin at the bridge and work down to the end of the nose with gentle pressure and a rotary motion. Let the finger work carefully into the seams formed where the nose joins the face. In this way the wings of the nose can be shaped by the fingers and wonderfully narrowed if persisted in every day for some months.

Tea In Thermos Bottles.

Something very new in the way of a tea party is to give it with thermos bottles instead of the usual kettle and teapot arrangement. One hostess had two thermos bottles wreathed in flowers, in one of which was tea already made and in the other hot water. The convenience will be evident, but what about the opportunity that pouring tea gives for the display of a dainty wrist and hand?

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The blouse is a simple one with set in sleeves and is closed at the front. The overblouse is made with rather large armholes finished with trimming and also is closed at the front.

It is made of plain crepe de chine over brocade and with yoke and collar of thin net. A quite different effect could be made by making the overblouse and sleeves of brocaded material and the bosom of tucked net or soft silk.

SMART NEW BLOUSE.

The Bulgarian effects are being much used, too, and the overblouse and sleeves of dark blue or tan color or some such quiet tone with bosom of Bulgarian silk would be rich in color and serviceable.

For a medium sized woman two yards of twenty-seven inch wide material will be needed. For the stock collar and yoke it will take a half yard of thirty-six inch material. Six yards of banding will be needed.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7821, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

NEW SASHES.

Those For Little Girls Designed Like Those For Their Elders.

Looped over sashes or girdles such as have been placed on women's gowns are appearing on childish models.

A coral pink satin frock for a little girl's wear as bridesmaid has one of these sashes with a looped over end falling at one side of the front, the sash end being weighted with crystal fringe.

There are crystal buttons down one side of the bodice, and the costume is finished with a deep collar and cuffs of shadow lace.

Another new sash arrangement has two bows of short loops set at either side of the back. These bows are exactly alike, and the arrangement is called the twin sash. It is especially liked with frocks of sheer lawn and embroidery or voile and embroidery, for fine cotton voile is much used for little girls' dresses now in combination with handsome machine embroidered banding or narrow insertions of cluny lace or Irish crochet lace.

CHARMING SHORT COATS FOR WEAR WITH AFTERNOON GOWNS

ATTRACTIVE AFTERNOON COATS.

CHARMING short coats for wear with dressy frocks are very popular. Two of these are pictured here. One is a cutaway effect in dark satin. Especially chic is the wide belt brought well up under the arms. The other coat is of tan moire silk, with a collar in Bulgarian embroidery in a narrow width.

SUMMER FANS.

Attractive fans have plain sandalwood mountings and spreads of flexible soft satin in delicate tones, edged with a fine vine in handwork. Somewhat more expensive are fans of beautifully carved sandalwood with tops of silk embroidered and hand painted with a cherry blossom design.

Celluloid mounted fans come in every imaginable color, sometimes with spreads of hand painted celluloid and again topped with marabou and decorated with tiny flowers in silk. Nowadays all self respecting fans come in silk bags veiled and edged with white or black lace or with gold or silver net.

CLEANING WHITE PLUMES.

A white plume can sometimes be cleaned successfully by dipping it in raw, cold starch slightly blued. Then let it dry and shake off the powdered starch. If not clean repeat.

If you must clean white plumes at home dip them up and down in gasoline, changing this as often as it becomes soiled and shaking the plume hard between each dipping. When clean and white hang in the fresh air to dry. After this the feather, if an ostrich plume, must be carefully curled. To clean a handsome plume at home is a risk unless one be expert in such work. If you can send it to a trustworthy professional cleaner do so.

BRIGHT COLORS AND GLITTERING EMBROIDERIES FOR EVENING WEAR

WOMEN who aim to be ultra chic may affect very gay footwear. The hosiery must still match the costume, and for evening wear so should the shoes. Gold and silver embroideries and laces over satins of the shade of the costume are considered correct in style. Those who do not object to creating a sensation may even appear on the streets in such shoes, for in Paris it is perfectly permissible. Low shoes in gold and silver or of embroideries in jet, steel or diamante are shown. Velvet shoes are allowable in all shades and to match the costume, of course. Even old brocades are utilized in making evening slippers. Seemingly it is a distinctly fabric season.

Slipper ornaments are exceedingly pretty. The woman who has the time and a little taste may make these at home. These ornaments are so small that the cost of material is very slight, while the price asked for them in the shops is really startling.

In order to get the bows just the right size the copyist should experiment with scraps of material. A tiny three looped bow, each loop showing an edge of steel, gold or jet beads, is one of the favorite slipper trimmings, the crosspiece being covered with several rows of the beads sewed on in straight lines up and down.

The loops of the bows may be either curved or square, but in either case the bow should be set up a little on the instep and curve out prettily in contrast to the flatness of a pump bow. An expensive pair of white satin slippers displayed this type of bow, the beading being done in jet and a single line of jet beads outlining the slipper.

These bows are made of double pieces of satin, stitched and turned, and the beads are set on the extreme edge so that they stand out from the satin after the manner of a picot edged ribbon. The effect is best when the beads are in direct contrast to the color of the satin. Steel or gold beads on a black satin slipper are always good, and the revival of jet trimmings is noticeable in the liking for jet buckles and fetted bows on slippers of white and pale colors.

Illustrated here are some types of summer shoes. The shoe at the top of the column is a buttoned model of white suede with strapped front. Below it is a specimen of the modish summer oxford in white suede. Next is a smart pump with a silver buckle. A patent leather pump with rhinestone buckle and an evening slipper of gold lace over pink satin are also shown.

N. P. H. S. LOST TO ACADEMY PLAYERS

Townley Batted Hard by Visitors Who Won 13 to 6—Home Run Features.

Nine sluggers from the Reading Academy took part in a slugging match at Hyde Oval yesterday afternoon and the boroughites were compelled to undergo another severe drubbing similar, although not quite as bad as the one handed out by P. H. S. Saturday afternoon. The final score was 13 to 6 in favor of the visitors. Ten runs in the sixth session gave the game to the Reading boys who landed on Townley's offerings hard and heavy in that stanza.

Reading netted 13 runs on 15 hits and made but three errors. Lott, the visiting pitcher, topped off a good exhibition of twirling by clouting the ball for four sacks.

FEDERAL LEAGUE.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 6.—Whether it is possible for a professional baseball organization of any consequence to exist outside the fold of the national agreement will be determined by the success or failure of the new Federal League, which is scheduled to play the opening games in its initial pennant race today. On paper the league appears to be the most substantial of any of the so-called outlaw organizations that have sprung up in recent years. The circuit is made up of six of the best cities of the middle West, all of which now have clubs in the major leagues. They are Chicago, St. Louis, Pittsburg, Indianapolis, Cleveland and Covington, the last-named being for all practical purposes a Cincinnati team. A schedule of 120 games for the season has been adopted by the league, and it is said that all of the six cities have posted a $10,000 guarantee to carry out the full schedule of games.

SPICER TEAM TO MEET.

An organization meeting of the Spicer baseball team, entrants in the new City League, will be held at the factory Friday night at 8 o'clock. This gathering will follow the City League meeting to be held at the same place at 7 o'clock.

BRUNSWICK PITCHER SIGNED BY M'GRAW

Jack Handley Will Report to Giants in June—Popular With Local Fandom.

Pitcher Jack Handley, who pitched for the Brunswick team last season, will play with the New York Giants in June when he completes his course at Manhattan College. Handley pitched for the Driscoll bunch when the Worthington nine represented Brunswick on the diamond.

Handley is one of the best pitchers that ever put on a Brunswick uniform. He is a left hander with plenty of speed and control. The first game he pitched for the Brunswicks was against the Morrisville, Pa., team. In that game he fanned nineteen batters and allowed but two hits. His many friends in that city wish him the best of success with the Giants. Handley is studying civil engineering at Manhattan.

SHAMROCKS LOST BY CLOSE SCORE TO WEST END TEAM

Playing at Bound Brook Sunday afternoon the Shamrock A. C., of this city, was defeated by the West Ends, of that place, by a score of 8 to 7. The Plainfielders claim that one-sided umpiring in the ninth inning was the cause of their downfall. Smith, the former Netherwood A. C. pitcher, twirled for the Shamrocks and came through in excellent style.

SCORERS DIFFER AGAIN.

Officials of the North Plainfield and Plainfield High School baseball teams who scored the interscholastic match at Hyde Oval Saturday afternoon differed in several important points when the respective box scores were submitted for comparison. This is the same old story of a scorer at first base and another one at third, and if the High School officials do not overcome their bashfulness in the near future and get on talking terms with each other these mistakes will continue to happen. It's an injustice to the player who is given an error when he should have a hit and an injustice to the man who is trying for a high batting average only to see one of his team-mates get a hit when it was nothing short of an error on the part of the fielder.

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE ORGANIZED WITH FOUR TEAMS TO START SCHEDULE MAY 17

As a successor to the now extinct Manufacturers' Baseball League, a four team organization was founded last night in the meeting rooms of the West End Athletic Club with the Royal Colored Giants, the Saurers, the West End A. A. and the Spicers as contenders and this new circuit will start on a championship trip a week from next Saturday. The fact that the circuit consists of but four teams will probably tend to produce some good baseball, for the respective managers have agreed to keep their teams evenly balanced throughout the league season and each has a wealth of material from which to choose. Enthusiasm over the proposed league reigned high at the initial meeting conducted last night and practically every point of arrangement was completed for the inaugural contests May 17. The four teams represented are all well founded aggregations and consist of the choicest of local amateur material, all of whom have established names for themselves on the diamond either in the Manufacturers' League of last season or in contests played before that time.

L. T. Mitchell, manager of the Saurer team, presided at the opening meeting and the following officers were elected to serve for the first term: President, Rufus LaRue; vice president, Pete Simmons; secretary, C. C. Thompson; treasurer, William McClinton. A committee on by-laws composed of C. C. Thompson, Spicers; Bert Glaentzer, West Ends, Pete Simmons, Royal Giants, and L. T. Mitchell, Saurers, was appointed to take charge of the reconstruction of the old Manufacturers' League constitution so as to make it adaptable to the needs of the new organization. The by-law committee which is composed of the four magnates will also have charge of the league's finances and other questions pertinent to the running of the organization.

Two excellent playing fields are at present at the disposal of the league and as two games will be played each Saturday afternoon these grounds will be in use every week-end by the leaguers. The Royals' field on Filmore avenue will be the scene of an opening battle between the Royals and Spicers, May 17, and the Saurers' grounds on Clinton avenue will be opened with a West End-Saurer contest. The Royals' field, as well as the one on Clinton avenue, will be treated to an extensive remodeling before the first games.

It was voted to use a Spaulding ball in all league contests and the meeting night has been set for the first Monday in each month. The league teams will be composed of members who reside or work in this city, without further discrimination or restrictions, regardless of the fact that whether or not they are employes or members of the organizations which they represent. The delegates at last night's meeting were, Spicer, William O'Loughlin and Rufus LaRue; Royal Giants, Eddie Ford and Pete Simmons; Saurers, L. T. Mitchell; West End A. C., Bert Glaentzer and William McClinton. A meeting of the officers will be held in the offices of the Spicer Manufacturing Company next Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

HUNTING AND FISHING

Trout fishing is fairly good. Some fine, big fish were taken from the Musconetcong and Black Rivers last Saturday, and the south branch of the Raritan River is also a good stream now. Some local anglers say the trout are taking flies with a dash.

The handline fishermen of Atlantic City and Galilee are catching sea bass at the banks three miles off the coast. The fish are not running very large, but there is a great demand for them. Fluke are also biting down that way. Some small sea bass are now in the creeks at Corson's Inlet.

The summer fishing has commenced at Asbury Park, and fishing in the surf and from the pier will go on every day.

Eels are biting better in Jersey waters than they are over on Long Island. Shrewsbury River eels are much sought after by the New York hotel people.

Authorities on sporting subjects, who scan the trapshooting field much as the business man studies conditions in his trade, predict that 1913 will eclipse all previous years in interest, perhaps in records made, and certainly in the number of shooters competing at the various meets. The investigators find that a healthy appreciation of the sport is spreading throughout the country. Stronger lists of tournaments than usual are scheduled, big shoots so far held have been well attended and the outlook is generally favorable. The spirit of the year is well exemplified in the "500 Shooters for the Grand American Handicap" announcement of the N. C. R. Gun Club, of Dayton, O. Although this plucky organization almost went down for the third time in the recent flood, it has made a magnificent rally, and all arrangements for the premier interstate gathering are to go through as originally planned. There should be 500 shooters plus at Dayton when the referee calls "Ready!"

CENTRAL LEAGUE MEETING.

A meeting of the representatives from the four different teams entered in the Central New Jersey League will be held in the Kensington Hotel tonight for the purpose of completing the final details for the inaugural games next Saturday afternoon. It is expected that the umpires will be selected and assigned at that time and the fields will be decided upon.

SCHENCK NOW A REGULAR.

Harold Schenck, so nof Rev. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, of West Front street, who has played on the Rutgers College baseball team for two seasons, has now been made a regular and is among the players in the team photograph for 1913. Schenck is an outfielder and one of the best hitters on the nine.

FISHING SEASON WILL OPEN SOON

Trout Angling Will Be Early—Bluefish Running on Jersey Coast.

Reports coming in daily from suburban towns show that there is taking place an unprecedented revival in angling all along the line. Commuters say that they seldom start out these mornings to catch the trolley cars or ferries without bumping into from one to half a dozen parties, all the members of which, with baskets on their arms and their pockets bulging with reels, are headed toward some nearby fishing grounds.

The trout season doesn't start with much momentum until the middle of May, but this year it looks as if the season were forced. Hundreds of advance bookings have already been made for the fishing lodges and camps on trout streams.

Bass fishing is always the first love of a large percentage of anglers. There is a tradition among fishermen that whenever a man forms a first love for these gamey fresh water denizens he can never be lured to other allegiance. A considerable number of bass anglers stick to the time-hallowed angle worm. Nothing is more tempting to the eye of a sharp-eyed bass than a long angle worm washed into the lake as it squirms and winds on the hook.

Before many weeks blue fish will be in the height of their run. Whenever they begin to work up the Jersey coast the bulletin is flashed to anglers for miles around and great preparations are made for filling baskets stored away for the winter.

In most of the suburban towns fishing clubs are being organized or reorganized this spring. The seasoned scouts report that they are having no difficulty in getting sufficient recruits among the real connoisseurs and enthusiastic amateurs.

There is always one sad feature, however, to the opening of the spring fishing season. Members of the clergy who are not anglers themselves will speak of it with mournful shakes of their heads and reel off passages from the history of Ananias. Of course, "fish stories" are highly reprehensible, but it seems to be the peculiar twist of human nature that a broker who can swing a million dollar deal without turning a hair or a lawyer who will argue the biggest case with much-envied nonchalance cannot school himself to bring home an empty fish basket—as long as there is any source from which the desired can be purchased—nor can he tell the story of his last trip without adding certain essentials as to size, number, etc., which must make the recording angel shed tears of despairing grief.

N. P. H. S. AT NEW BRUNSWICK.

North Plainfield High School baseball players will be the attraction at Amusement Park, New Brunswick, tomorrow afternoon, lining up against the High School nine of that place in their annual contest. The fact that New Brunswick has not won a game this season, being defeated by Plainfield High School among others, makes it look as though the boroughites would not have an unusual amount of trouble in disposing of their opponents ortomorrow. It is probable that Frank Dunning, captain of the N. P. H. S. nine, will be out of the lineup tomorrow afternoon as a result of an injury sustained to his hand in the Reading Academy game yesterday.

NEW YORK TEAMS BOTH SKIDDING

How the Yankees and Giants Shape up as Pennant Contenders at Present.

Giants.

While the Giants are not performing in a manner calculated to arouse extensive admiration or intense enthusiasm among their followers, they are not quite ready to have the "Please omit flowers" sign posted or the undertaker called in to drape them in a winding sheet and paste their obituary notice in the standing of the clubs. With a trifle of 110 games yet to be untolded the champs live in hope.

Slick pitching has caused them to skid far enough from the well worn rail to slip into the second division, but they are still chugging along with a lot of power and all the material for a spurt that will put them up with the leaders. There is no real cause for alarm. None of their defeats has been disastrous and while a one-run defeat hurts just as much as the other kind it is not so discouraging. The worst will join—we can cite the Brooklyn team as an example—and undoubtedly the Giants will win more of those close games than they will lose.

Manager McGraw is managing no alibis nor is he threatening to chop up his batting order. The reason his team is not hitting harder is because it has been up against splendid pitching in this Philadelphia series. When a team fails against weak pitching it is time to tinker with a batting order. Seven games have been played with the Phillies, with a net result of two victories, three defeats, and two ties. In the two games where the Quakers attacked with light batteries they were soundly beaten. The other five games were handled by Seaton, Chalmers, and Alexander—three twirlers who are in tip-top form.

Yankees.

One of the most disastrous spring campaigns the Yankee nine has experienced since it has been in the Ban Johnson organization ended yesterday afternoon at the Polo Grounds. It has not been "Home, Sweet Home" for the Yankees. It has just been the Polo Grounds. It was back in 1908 that the club had the worst trip they ever had in baseball, and about as bad as any team in baseball ever experienced. It was on the western circuit. If we remember correctly the club won one game and tied one out of about twenty-two played.

Maybe the Yankees were glad to pack up their baseball paraphernalia and leave for the West. The club has not given the loyal fans who stuck with them through this sad baseball drama a winning game at the Polo Grounds.

That something is the matter with a club which piles up loss after loss day after day was the comment among the fans who left the Polo Grounds on Saturday. There is no doubt about that.

HOW TRENTON LOOMS UP.

One of the games looked forward to with unusual interest by the Plainfield High School baseball team is the one that entails a trip to the capitol city of New Jersey the latter part of the season, and the game is expected to be the stiffest on the P. H. S. schedule. The fact that Trenton was defeated by the Rahway High School boys Saturday afternoon at Trenton by a score of 10 to 6 throws a ray of light on the local aggregation's chances. In that game not a player hit the ball out of the Trenton infield and it goes without saying that the Rahway High School must have some team to pull out in the van over the Trentonians.

GOLF TOURNAMENT FOR THE P. C. C. BOYS

E. T. Barrows Contributes Prizes for the Events Scheduled.

In order to give the boys of the Plainfield Country Club an opportunity to prepare for the Junior Metropolitan Golf Championship to be held at the club the latter part of June, Elliot T. Barrows has made a handsome donation to the golf committee which will be spent entirely in prizes for boys. It is the plan of the committee to hold four separate events, the first on Wednesday, May 21, and the other three to follow at intervals of a week or ten days, the last competition coming a few days before the Junior Championship. These events will be handicap and open to all boys who are associate or junior associate members of the club.

As a qualification for entering the first event each boy must return three properly attested score cards to Superintendent Eke, before May 21. These cards must show the full eighteen hole score. Unless at least eight boys enter before May 21, the first event will be postponed until such time as the required number of entries are received. Boys who do not enter the first event, but wish to compete in any of the subsequent events, must return three attested scores before their entry will be received. Boys returning from an out of town school or who have been away, may submit three scores made on a course or courses other than the Country Club, provided the par of the course is submitted with the score. Unless there are eight entries in each separate event and eight properly attested scores returned, the event will be declared off and no prize will be awarded.

The conditions of play, etc., governing the various events will be posted on the board in each day that a competition is held. The golf committee expects a great deal of interest to be shown in these events and looks for a big entry in each competition.

VETERAN TWIRLER TURNS IN UNIFORM AND QUITS

Rube Waddell, former major league pitcher, has quit organized baseball, according to an announcement made by the management of the Minneapolis team of the Northern League. Waddell's reasons, except that he has several grievances against the baseball "trust," were not made known.

Following last Friday's game with Grand Forks, in which Rube allowed only three hits, he handed in his uniform with the brief statement that he was through, it was said last night. Waddell will go to Marshall, Minn., soon, where he will play with a semi-professional team, according to information given out.

CAN A GOLFER PLAY THE "BALLY" GAME OF BASEBALL

Can a golf player tee up a golf ball on the home plate of the Polo Grounds and drive it over the topmost centrefield fence into Eighth avenue, at the same time keeping it between the right and left field flag poles?

This is a problem which has raised an argument between members of the New York National team and several golfers and a question which will be settled some day this week, after the Giants return. The proposition really resolves itself into this: Can a golfer beat a home-run hitter?

An amateur golfer will attempt the long, high drive this week. He is to have five tries.

From the home plate to the centrefield fence is about 165 yards. The top of the fence, which surmounts the bleachers in that territory, is between fifty and sixty feet high. The flagpoles are about 250 feet apart.

AN ORDINANCE

AUTHORIZING THE "INHABITANTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD" TO UNITE WITH THE "BOROUGH OF NORTH PLAINFIELD" AND THE "BOROUGH OF DUNELLEN" TO JOINTLY PROVIDE, CONSTRUCT, MAINTAIN AND OPERATE A SYSTEM OF CONVEYING AND CONDUCTING THE SEWAGE FROM SAID MUNICIPALITIES FROM CERTAIN POINTS WITHIN SAID MUNICIPALITIES TO A POINT NEAR THE INTERSECTION OF GREEN BROOK AND BOUND BROOK IN THE TOWNSHIP OF PISCATAWAY; TO JOINTLY CONSTRUCT, MAINTAIN AND OPERATE SUCH PLANTS, WORKS AND STATIONS AS MAY BE NECESSARY FOR THE TREATMENT, RENDERING AND DISPOSAL OF SAID SEWAGE; TO FIX AND PRESCRIBE THE PERCENTAGE OF THE CAPACITY OF THE SAID WORKS OR IMPROVEMENTS TO WHICH EACH OF SAID MUNICIPALITIES SHALL BE ENTITLED; TO PROVIDE FOR THE APPORTIONMENT OF THE COSTS, EXPENSES AND OTHER LIABILITIES OF THE CONSTRUCTION, MAINTENANCE AND OPERATION OF THE SAID WORKS OR IMPROVEMENTS, AND TO AUTHORIZE THE MAKING AND EXECUTION OF A CONTRACT PROVIDING THEREFOR.

WHEREAS, Pursuant to the terms and provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled "An Act to authorize any two or more municipalities in this State to jointly provide, maintain and operate trunk or outlet sewers and sewage disposal plant or plants or a system of sewerage, and to otherwise act jointly concerning the collection, removal or disposal of sewage and make contracts in relation thereto," approved April 8, 1910, and the acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and of all other acts of the said Legislature relating to the matters included herein, the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey, the Borough of North Plainfield, in the County of Somerset and State of New Jersey, the Borough of Dunellen in the County of Middlesex and State of New Jersey, and the Board of Health of the State of New Jersey, have approved certain surveys, maps, plans, reports, estimates and statements concerning the proposal that the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, the said Borough of North Plainfield and the said Borough of Dunellen shall agree to unite and jointly provide, construct, maintain and operate a system of conveying and conducting the sewage from the said municipalities from the points within said municipalities hereinafter designated to a point on the Darling Farm at or near the intersection of Green Brook and Bound Brook, in the Township of Piscataway, in the County of Middlesex, and jointly construct, maintain and operate upon the said Darling Farm such plant or plants, works and stations as may be necessary for the treatment, rendering and disposal of said sewage, therefore

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do enact as follows:

That the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall unite with the said Borough of North Plainfield, and the said Borough of Dunellen, upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth, for the following objects and purposes:

1. To jointly provide, maintain and operate a system of conveying or conducting the sewage from said municipalities from the points within said municipalities hereinafter designated to a point on the Darling Farm at or near the intersection of Green Brook and Bound Brook in the Township of Piscataway, and to jointly construct, maintain and operate upon the said Darling Farm a plant, works and station, with the appliances and appurtenances necessary for the treatment, rendering and disposal of the said sewage. The sewage from the City of Plainfield is to be conducted from a point in the City of Plainfield about nine hundred and fifty (950) feet southerly from the intersection of Green Brook and Rock Avenue. The sewage from the Borough of North Plainfield is to be conducted from a point in the Borough of North Plainfield at or near the intersection of Rock Avenue and Green Brook Road. The sewage from the Borough of Dunellen is to be conducted from a point in the Borough of Dunellen at or near the intersection of Bound Brook Road and Warrenville Road.

The said system of conducting or conveying said sewage shall consist of a forty-two (42) inch trunk sewer, beginning at a point at or near the intersection of Rock Avenue and Green Brook Road, in the said Borough of North Plainfield, and extending thence in a westerly direction through the Township of North Plainfield across Rock Avenue and Green Brook Road and private lands to a point at or near Jefferson Avenue at the foot of the Watchung Mountains in the said Township of North Plainfield; thence in a southwesterly direction through private lands along the foot of said mountains to a point at or near the easterly line of the Cramer Farm about eight hundred and forty (840) feet more or less northerly of Green Brook Road in the said Township of North Plainfield, and thence in a southerly direction through private lands to a point at or near the intersection of the westerly line of the Cramer Farm and Green Brook Road in the said Township of North Plainfield; two twenty (20) inch inverted siphons extending from the last named point to Green Brook and thence to, under and across Green Brook to the said disposal works, plant or station on the said Darling Farm at or near the intersection of Bound Brook and Green Brook in the said Township of Piscataway; two twenty (20) inch inverted siphons extending from the beginning point of the aforesaid forty-two (42) inch trunk sewer in the said Borough of North Plainfield along the northeasterly side of Rock Avenue under and across Green Brook to a point in the City of Plainfield about nine hundred and fifty (950) feet southerly from the intersection of said Green Brook and Rock Avenue; and an eight (8) inch force main extending from the said forty-two (42) inch trunk sewer at a point about two thousand (2,000) feet northeast of the Warrenville Road in the said Borough of North Plainfield, thence across private lands and the said Green Brook Road to, under and across Green Brook, thence across private lands and through Schwartz Avenue in the said Borough of Dunellen to a point at or near the intersection of Bound Brook Road and Warrenville Road in the said Borough of Dunellen.

The said forty-two inch trunk sewer shall be of reinforced concrete except where it is necessary to use cast iron and shall be built with such culverts, siphons, manholes and other fittings, appliances and appurtenances as may be found necessary for its proper construction, maintenance and operation.

All of the said twenty (20) inch siphons shall be of cast iron.

The said eight (8) inch force main shall be of cast iron.

The said plant, works or station for the treatment, rendering and disposal of sewage shall consist of a preliminary settling tank in two units, a sludge-drying bed, a sprinkling filter in two units, with double dosing tank, a final settling tank in two units with a small sludge pumping station, and a laboratory.

The said preliminary settling tank shall be constructed in two units of the Imhoff type. Each of these units shall be approximately five thousand (5000) square feet in surface area and about twenty-one (21) feet deep, and shall be divided into three double compartments. Each of said units shall be of ample capacity to provide for an average daily flow of two (2) million gallons of sewage in the upper or sedimentation compartment. The sludge compartment of the said tank shall have a combined total capacity for at least one year's storage of sludge, and shall be constructed entirely of reinforced concrete banked around the outside with earth, and shall be provided with a system of cast iron pipes for the removal of sludge.

The said sludge-drying bed shall be adjacent to the preliminary tanks and shall be approximately eighty-four (84) feet by one hundred and sixty (160) feet in size and surrounded with a low concrete wall. The said bed shall consist of about thirteen (13) inches in average depth of graded sand and gravel underlaid by a system of tile drains.

The said sprinkling filter shall have a total area of about one (1) and seventy-five (75) one hundredths acres, with an average depth of filtering material of about six (6) feet. The said filter shall be surrounded with earth embankment paved on the inside with concrete and shall have a concrete and tile floor. Through the centre of each of the two units there shall be a reinforced concrete pipe gallery containing a main distributing pipe and a main collecting channel. The distributing system shall be of cast-iron pipe with sprinkler nozzles of proper spacing and size to provide for evenly distributing sewage over the surface of the stone. Provision shall be made for properly dosing the beds by means of a double dosing tank and siphons.

The said final settling tank shall have two units, each of which shall have a total surface area of approximately twelve hundred (1200) square feet, and shall be about seventeen (17) feet deep and similar in construction to the above mentioned preliminary settling tank. Adjacent to these tanks there shall be a pump house, similar in size and construction to the laboratory building hereinafter mentioned, containing a centrifugal pump driven by an electric motor, with piping connections to permit the pumping of sludge from the final settling tank into the inlet of the preliminary settling tank. There shall also be an effluent sewer consisting of a double inverted siphon of twenty (20) inch cast iron pipe, running from said disposal plant under Green Brook and Bound Brook to the south bank of Bound Brook, and a forty-two (42) inch reinforced concrete sewer running from said last mentioned point into Green Brook at a point about four hundred and fifty (450) feet below Green Brook Road. The said double inverted siphons and said concrete sewer shall be built with such gate chambers, culverts, manholes and other fittings, appliances and appurtenances as may be found necessary to their proper construction, maintenance and operation. In connection with the disposal plant there shall be an adequately equipped laboratory. The laboratory building shall be about twenty-two (22) feet by twenty-five (25) feet outside dimensions and built of brick with concrete foundations and slate roof.

The above system of sewerage shall in all respects be constructed throughout in accordance with the plans and specifications prepared and executed in triplicate by George W. Fuller, Esq., bearing date August 1, 1912, one copy of which is now on file in the office of the Clerk of the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, another copy of which is now on file in the office of the Clerk of the said Borough of North Plainfield, and the other copy of which is now on file in the office of the Clerk of the Borough of Dunellen.

2. To construct, maintain and operate the said system of sewerage herein described for the joint benefit of the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, the said Borough of North Plainfield, and the said Borough of Dunellen, in such manner as will render the most efficient service to the said municipalities, and to each of them; and to that end to keep the said system of sewerage in good repair and effective operation, and to make all necessary alterations, additions and enlargements thereto and therein as the needs of the said municipalities, and each of them, may from time to time require.

3. That the percentage of the capacity of such system of sewerage and sewage disposal plant, to the use of which each of the said municipalities shall be entitled shall be as follows: Of the said two twenty (20) inch inverted siphons extending from the beginning point of the aforesaid forty-two (42) inch trunk sewer in the said Borough of North Plainfield along the northeasterly side of Rock Avenue under and across Green Brook to a point in the City of Plainfield about nine hundred and fifty (950) feet southerly from the intersection of said Green Brook and Rock Avenue as aforesaid; the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall be entitled to the use of seventy-five (75) per cent., and the said Borough of North Plainfield shall be entitled to the use of twenty-five (25) per cent. of the capacity thereof. Inasmuch as it is not contemplated that the said Borough of North Plainfield will have use for its said percentage of capacity of the last mentioned two (2) twenty (20) inch inverted siphons, such Borough shall have the right from time to time to rent its said percentage of capacity thereof to any corporations, individuals or municipalities that may require the use of said two (2) twenty (20) inch siphons, or any portion thereof, under any contract or contracts which may be entered into by the Joint Meeting provided for by said act with such corporations, individuals or municipalities, before the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall have the right to rent any portion of its said percentage of capacity of the said two (2) twenty (20) inch inverted siphons. The said Borough of Dunellen shall be entitled to the full capacity of the eight (8) inch force main above mentioned. Of the remaining portions of the said system of sewerage and sewage disposal plant, and of every part thereof, the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall be entitled to the use of sixty-eight (68) per cent., the said Borough of North Plainfield twenty-five (25) per cent., and the said Borough of Dunellen seven (7) per cent. of the capacity thereof.

In case it shall happen that any of the said municipalities shall require for its own needs a greater percentage of capacity of the said system of sewerage and sewage disposal plant, or of any part thereof, than is herein provided, it shall, upon obtaining the consent of the said Joint Meeting so to do, have the privilege of renting from either or both of the said other municipalities any portion of the surplus capacity of said other municipality or municipalities for such period of time and upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon.

4. That the percentage of the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the construction, maintenance or operation of any and all of the said works and improvements to be paid by each of such municipalities shall be as follows: The said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall pay the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the construction, maintenance and operation of any and all connections with the said works and improvements authorized by it. The said Borough of North Plainfield shall pay the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the construction, maintenance and operation of any and all connections with the said works and improvements authorized by it. The said Borough of Dunellen shall pay the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the construction, maintenance and operation of any and all connections with the said works and improvements authorized by it, and also the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the operation of the said eight (8) inch force main.

Except as hereinbefore is expressly provided, of the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the construction of the said works and improvements, and all damages, if any, resulting from the maintenance of said works and improvements, the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall pay and discharge sixty-eight (68) per cent., the said Borough of North Plainfield twenty-five (25) per cent., and the said Borough of Dunellen seven (7) per cent. thereof. Except as hereinbefore is expressly provided, the total cost and expenses incurred in connection with or resulting from the maintenance, repair, cleaning, supervision and operation of any and all of the said works and improvements shall be divided between and paid by the three said municipalities in proportion to the amount of the sewage delivered into said works and improvements from each of the said municipalities respectively, and the cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from any additions or enlargements of the said works and improvements which may hereafter be made shall be divided between and paid by the said municipalities in proportion to the requirements of the said respective municipalities in excess of the capacity to which each of said municipalities is entitled.

5. That the sewage from each municipality shall be measured by an approved type of recording instrument, installed, controlled, maintained and operated by the said Joint Meeting.

6. That each of the said municipalities may from time to time at its own cost and expense appoint one or more inspectors, who shall at all times be given full opportunity to inspect the work of construction of the works and improvements hereby authorized, and of any and all materials used therein, and also the operation of the said works and improvements during and after the completion thereof.

7. That after the completion of the said works and improvements, and upon the written consent of the engineer employed by the said Joint Meeting, one or more of the said municipalities may commence to use the works and improvements hereby authorized in advance of any other of such municipalities, provided, however, that the said municipality or municipalities so using the same shall assume and bear the whole cost and expenses incurred in connection with or resulting from the maintenance and operation of the said works and improvements during the period that it or they so make partial or exclusive use thereof.

8. That all collecting sewers, including house connections, constructed within each municipality, and connected with said joint sewerage system, works or improvements, shall be water tight to avoid as far as is practicable the infiltration of the ground or surface water into said sewers. None of the municipalities shall use, nor permit its property owners, or any of them, to use the collecting sewers constructed within its limits, or any of them, for any purpose other than that of sanitary sewers.

9. That in order to accomplish the purposes of this ordinance, and of the laws of New Jersey in pursuance of which it is made, said municipalities, and each of them, shall do or cause to be done any and all things which they or it may by law be authorized to do, and which will advance or tend toward the accomplishment of the said purposes, or any of them without delay.

10. That in the event of any disagreement between the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, the Borough of North Plainfield and the Borough of Dunellen concerning the accomplishment of any of the purposes hereof, the matter or matters in dispute shall be referred to three (3) arbitrators, one of whom shall be chosen by each of the said municipalities through their governing bodies. In case two of such municipalities each choose an arbitrator, and the other of said municipalities should neglect or refuse so to do for the period of twenty days after being requested thereunto by either of the said other municipalities, the two arbitrators so chosen shall then choose and designate in a writing to be filed with the clerk of each of such municipalities a third arbitrator who shall thereupon have the same powers and perform the same duties as if he had been chosen by the municipality so neglecting or refusing to choose an arbitrator. In case the arbitrators so chosen shall not reach a unanimous decision as to the matters referred to them, the Chancellor of the State of New Jersey shall be requested to appoint two other arbitrators to meet with the three already appointed; a decision by a majority of the board of arbitrators so appointed shall be binding upon the said municipalities. In case the Chancellor shall fail to appoint such additional arbitrators within ten days from the date of such request, a majority of the arbitrators already chosen as hereinbefore provided shall select the said two additional arbitrators, and a decision by a majority of the board of arbitrators so appointed shall be binding upon the said municipalities and each of them.

11. That the Joint Meeting of the said municipalities provided for by the Act of the Legislature first above recited shall continue to exist during the full life of the works and improvements hereby authorized. The said Joint Meeting shall from time to time make suitable provisions for the proper apportionment of all costs, expenses and other liabilities herein mentioned between the said respective municipalities in accordance with the provisions hereof.

12. That the Mayor and City Clerk of the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall be and they hereby are authorized and directed to execute on behalf of the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield a contract with the said Borough of North Plainfield and with the said Borough of Dunellen for the uses and purposes above expressed; and that the said contract shall be executed in triplicate.

13. That all ordinances and parts of ordinances heretofore passed and inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repeated.

Adopted by the Common Council, May 5, 1913; approved by the Mayor, May 5, 1913.

PERCY H. STEWART, Mayor.

SUFFRAGISTS THREATEN TO INVADE BASEBALL'S REALM

Invasion of baseball's realm is to be tried by the woman suffragists this summer. In the hope of winning from the "fans" some of the enthusiasm they show for the national game to the support of the votes-for-women cause, suffragists are being urged to attend every baseball game, wearing the colors of the cause, and to distribute suffrage literature.

"Also be at the games when the men come out," it is urged, "for they will be good natured then and take your literature quite amiably." No mention is made of the possibility of gloomy days when the home teams go down to humiliating defeats.

Other lairs of the hunted male which the women will seek out during the summer are country fairs, horse races, balloon ascensions, excursions and moving picture houses.

SHAMROCKS TO GO SOUTH.

Next Sunday afternoon the Shamrock baseball team, of this city, will lineup against the South Plainfield nine on the latter's grounds.

GIRLS BOX IN CAGES AT DOVER HIGH SCHOOL

Dover, May 6.—Dr. Guy Otis Brewster, physical director of the Dover High School, is teaching the girl pupils of the school to box, and to protect them from injury he has devised a wire cage which covers their heads and the upper part of their bodies.

A public exhibition of boxing in this apparatus will be given for the first time by the pupils at the Tri-County Interscholastic League meet in Morristown, on May 30.

PLAINFIELD CLUB TO USE PARKER FIELD

Local Leaguers Will Stage Contests at City's Best Field.

Following the disposition of Crescent Oval to a real estate firm for the purpose of building, Manager Dorflinger, of the Plainfield baseball team has had to scour around for another site on which to stage his Central New Jersey League games, and has succeeded in securing Parker field, Plainfield's finest baseball rendezvous. Games will be played by the local leaguers at that place every alternating week, and on the intervening dates, Dorflinger will visit other towns.

The fact that such an excellent substitute for Crescent Oval has been chartered by Manager Dorflinger ought to tend to make baseball a great attraction here this summer. The stands at Parker field are uncovered and it is probable that Dorflinger will do something to remedy this defect before the league gets under way.

MOTORCYCLE RIDERS READY FOR THE BELL

As a forerunner of the fast approaching motorcycle racing season at the Brighton Beach Stadium-Motordome, which will be inaugurated May 30 and continue to September 15, twenty-five riders who will try to crush into the front ranks the coming summer reported to the management at the Brighton course yesterday. It was the first move in the motorcycle campaign and henceforth things will move rapidly until the season is under way.

These twenty-five got their first close view of the track they are to ride on next Saturday, when the preliminary trials to determine the capable riders will be held. Those showing ability or possibilities will be retained. All are confident they will pass muster when the test period comes.

The aspiring pilots who reported yesterday included Henry Hegerich, W. C. Hogan, Paul Obussomg, William Broome, Julius Stern, James Hicks, Jr., Percy Charles, Denis Hoportyan, Ray Baeam, Eugene Stern, B. Willett, Emory G. Stark, G. E. Merceir, B. Fozekas, J. B. Sibney, Burt Miller, Aug Pacuad, James E. O'Flaherty, Ben Schoenleber, J. Hardy, Martin Kessler, Pete Cronin, Harry Masdene, J. Ungerland and A. E. Challenger.

LOCAL THESPIANS ARE TO BE SEEN

Park Comedy Club Cast is Ready for the Curtain to Be Rung up.

AT PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"Her Lord and Master" This Year's Offering Will Be Produced Tomorrow and Friday Nights—Rattling Good Show.

The presentation of "Her Lord and Master" by the Park Comedy Club at the Plainfield theatre tomorrow and Friday nights will bring to a close the program of larger society events for the season. A glance at the cast, whose final dress rehearsal took place this afternoon at the theatre will prove at once that another success will be added to the long list of those achieved in the past by the well-known local amateur thespian organization. It is as follows:

Hon. Thurston Canning, Brown Rolston; Lord Nelson Stafford, Alson M. Abbott; Fred Stillwater, William T. Pelletier; Glen Masters, Robert H. Cox; Jennings, Henry C. White; Flash, John Valiant; Flunkey, Leslie R. Fort; Lady Helena Canning, Miss Edna P. Hopkins; Grandma Chazy Bunker, Mrs. Alson M. Abbott; Mrs. Stillwater, Miss Elizabeth Goddard; Kitty, Miss Blanche Buttfield; Indiana Stillwater, Mrs. Maxwell E. Perkins.

Many of the cast have appeared in previous club successes, including "The Henrietta," "The Magistrate," "The Old Master," "The Money Spinner" and "Facing the Music."

During the past year the club has been fully reorganized so as to broaden its scope, and it is now possible for one to join as either an active or as an associate member. The dramatic talent is chosen from the active membership, and associate members are given preference in the drawing for seats for the annual productions of the organization. There are now nearly forty active members and over eighty associate members. These are the officers of the club: President, Brown Rolston; vice president, William T. Pelletier; secretary, Dr. F. E. DuBois; treasurer and business manager, Alson M. Abbott; stage manager, Henry L. McGee. The stage committee consists of Mrs. Charles H. Lyman, Mrs. Harry L. McGee, Mrs. William T. Pelletier, Mrs. Brown Rolston and Mrs. Henry C. White. The executive committee is made up of Alson M. Abbott, Dr. F. E. DuBois, Harry L. McGee, William T. Pelletier, Brown Rolston, Henry C. White, Mrs. Charles H. Lyman and Mrs. Brown Rolston.

The club has been fortunate this year in securing the services of Eugene B. Sanger, of New York, the well known stage director, who annually directs the productions of the Princeton Triangle Club, Harvard Hasty Pudding Club, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology shows and the Baltimore Mask and Whig organization.

The hard work of the cast is emphasized by the sacrifices which the members have made in rehearsing not only several times a week, but every night during the past few days until they have now become perfect in their several roles.

The sale of seats for the production has been large, but there are many desirable tickets to be had at the box office of the theatre.

PURCHASED LIQUOR FOR BLACKLISTED MAN; JAILED

George Totten, of North Plainfield, when arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning charged with buying intoxicating liquors for Harry Bennett, of this city, who has been placed on the "black list," was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail. Bennett had taken the pledge and was prohibited by an ordinance of the city covering such cases from buying any intoxicants. Lately the police learned that Totten was purchasing stimulants for the black listed man. Evidence was secured and Totten was arrested by Detective Sergeant John Flynn.

SPEAKERS FOR THE SUFFRAGE LUNCHEON

Affair in Honor of Mrs. Colby to Be Held at Park Club Thursday, May 15.

The Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield has planned to give a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Everett Colby at the Park Club, Thursday, May 15, at 1 o'clock. The tickets will be one dollar and may be obtained from any one of the following persons: Mrs. Champlain L. Riley, Mrs. Edward F. Feickert, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Mrs. C. E. Ryder, Mrs. F. E. DuBois, Mrs. R. R. Dorr, Mrs. F O Ball, Mrs. Allan Cowperthwaite, Mrs. Maxwell Perkins, Miss Harriet A. French, Mrs. A. B. Jones, Mrs. Francis deLacy Hyde, Dr. C. deH. Krans and Mrs. H. C. White.

The speakers will be Miss Alice Carpenter, of New York, a member of the national committee of the Progressive party; Miss Louise Connolly, of Summit, whose ready logic and keen wit are already known here; Mrs. Frank Warner Smith, president of the Westfield Woman's Club, a fascinating speaker; Miss Alice Lakey, known in connection with pure food work; Mrs. Edward F. Feickert, president of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association, and Mrs. Maxwell Perinks, who has been asked to contribute a poem.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall will bring a word of greeting and Mrs. Everett Colby will tell something of the hopes and plans of the suffragists in New Jersey the coming season. No effort is being spared to make this a brilliant affair. Miss Harriet A. French is chairman of the entertainment committee.

PARK CLUB ELECTS BOARD OF GOVERNORS

William H. Williams, Alexander Milne and Albert D. Beers were elected members of the Board of Governors of the Park Club for three years, at the annual meeting of the club last night, and Samuel Townsend, chairman, H. D. Hibbard and Donald A. McGee were named as the nominating committee for 1914.

The officers of the club will be elected at a future meeting. Frank L. Sill is now president of the club. The annual statement of the treasurer showed the club to be in excellent financial condition.

HIS HORSE STOLEN.

George Forgerson, an express man of 111 Summit avenue, North Plainfield, has reported to the police of this city that a sorrel horse was stolen yesterday from his stable. According to the police the horse thief walked in Forgerson's barn and led the horse from the stable in full sight of other members of the family. He said George Forgerson had sent him after the animal.

PARENTS CONFERRED WITH THE TEACHERS

And Incidentally Heard School Board Head Tell of Proposed Big Addition.

A Parent-Teacher meeting was held in the Plainfield High School auditorium last night under the auspices of the High School Parent-Teacher Association, when more than 150 parents were in attendance. The affair was featured by an innovation introduced by the High School Parent-Teacher Association in the nature of a consultation between the parents and the faculty members. The members of the High School faculty, with the exception of two, took their respective places in their class rooms last night and conferred with the mothers and fathers of the children. These conferences offered the parent an opportunity to find out what the child was accomplishing in his or her school work.

Following the conferences the parents were entertained in the school auditorium with a musical program furnished by Leo Hirsh and an address delivered by William S. Tyler, president of the local Board of Education. He described in detail the new addition being built on the present High School structure for which ground was broked yesterday. The addition will be entirely fire-proof, the only wood will be that used in the trimmings, the entire foundation of the building being of a new fire-proof preparation. The new auditorium will be double the size of the present one as will also the stage, thus enabling the High School student body to present its annual performances in the school rather than in the theatre as is the custom at the present time. The auditorium will have a seating capacity of 100 persons and the stage will be fitted up with all modern improvements.

The present boiler room space will be converted into a swimming pool, and the heating and ventilating plant of the new structure will be placed in a separate building, thereby eliminating all fire danger. The additional space will afford room for twenty new class rooms including a modern domestic science department and an up-to-date gymnasium with all the necessary equipment for body development will be built under the new auditorium. This hall will have ample space to accommodate 100 pupils in gymnastic drill and will be lighted and ventilated by means of side windows.

When the addition is completed the entire Grammar School will be moved to the High School building combining the two under one roof until such a time as the size f the High School enrollment demands all of the room afforded. The new building will be ready for occupancy in the fall although it will not be entirely completed before January 1.

INJURED BALL PLAYER'S CONDITION IS CRITICAL

Frank Evans, who was hit in the head while batting in the Plainfield-New Brunswick baseball game last Saturday afternoon at Crescent Oval, is in a critical condition following the accident. While the injured ball player was reported as resting comfortably yesterday morning his condition took a sudden turn for the worse in the afternoon and he spent a restless night suffering severe pains in the back of his head and spine.

His condition was such as to cause grave anxiety this afternoon, it being feared that spinal meningitis would develop. The ball which knocked the Plainfield second baseman unconscious struck him in back of the left ear but the blow has now affected the back and other side of his head, the injury being far more serious than was at first thought.

CONVICTED INSPECTOR A METUCHEN RESIDENT

Ex-Police Inspector John J. Murtha, one of the four police inspectors found guilty of conspiracy in New York, yesterday, is a resident of Metuchen. Murtha removed to Metuchen bout a year ago. Several months ago he was appointed chief of police by the officials of that town, but when it became known that he was mixed up in the graft exposures that marked the Rosenthal murder trial Metuchenites rose up in arms against the appointment, with the result that Murtha did not assume the office.

MRS. CHARLES SNOWDEN.

Mrs. Joanna Snowden, aged 68 years, wife of Charles Snowden, died today at her home in South Plainfield, from apoplexy. She had been a resident of South Plainfield for many years and was a member of the Baptist church at that place. She is survived by a husband and two sons, Herbert and Lewis H. Snowden, the latter being foreman for the Wilson Stone Company at Watchung. The funeral will be held at the late home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. J J. Allen, of the South Plainfield church, officiating. The burial will be at South Plainfield.

TO GIVE DEGREE TO 200.

MISS CUMING BRIDE OF F. R. MORTIMER

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire Officiates at Ceremony at Home of Her Parents.

Miss Lillian M. Cuming, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Cuming, of Putnam avenue, and Francis R. Mortimer, also of this city, were married last evening at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed under a bower of palms and smilax by the Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, of which both the bride and bridegroom are members.

Miss Helen C. LaRue and Thomas Wilbur Cuming, niece and nephew of the bride, as ribbon-bearers, formed an aisle for the bridal party. Miss Marian Mortimer, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor, and Walter R. Cuming, brother of the bride, was the best man.

The bride's gown was ivory white charmeuse with train, trimmed with chiffon and chantilly lace, and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride roses. She wore a tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms. The maid of honor was gowned in yellow messaline trimmed with chiffon and she carried a bouquet of pale pink roses.

The wedding march and the music for the reception, which followed, was furnished by Arthur Mosher's orchestra and was a pleasing feature. The home was beautifully decorated with palms, dogwood and cut flowers, the color scheme being principally yellow and white. The bride received a large collection of gifts from relatives and friends. After a three weeks' trip through the Far West, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer will reside in their new home, 1029 Prospect avenue.

JOSEPH S. DUNHAM, JR.

Joseph S. Dunham, Jr., the eight months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Dunham, formerly of Plainfield, but now of New York, died last night. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at 402 Park avenue. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, will officiate and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

CONCERT BY CANTATA CHORUS.

The first concert by the Cantata Chorus of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church will be given at the church Tuesday evening, May 27, at 8 o'clock, when the cantata, "Daniel," by George F. Root, will be given. Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, the pastor, has been training a large chorus for the concert for several months.

FUNERAL OF C. H. BILYEU.

The funeral of Clarence H. Bilyeu was held at his late residence, 215 Stebbins place, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church, officiated. The burial was in Hillside cemetery.

WEST END CIVIC ASSN. GIVES ENTERTAINMENT

Miss Livingston, E. P. Ransom and E. J. Rice Provide Bill.

Miss Madeline Livingston, of New York, in a charming and highly entertaining act entitled, "The Girl at the Piano," lived up to her reputation as a musical artist of unusual ability last night appearing in the local Y. M. C. A. auditorium at the first annual entertainment of the West End Civic Association. Her impersonations of such stage celebrities as Miss Irene Franklin, Marie Dressler, Vesta Victoria and Ethel Barrymore were decidedly clever and drew hearty applause from her hearers. A talented musician on the piano, coupled with high-class vocal ability and dramatic experience while playing in the David Belasco companies, makes her a versatile entertainer which was demonstrated by the numerous encores she received last night.

Other artists that proved popular at the association's first entertainmen were Elmer P. Ransom, who gave a refined and novel treat in "Mystification," and sleight-of-hand, and Edward J. Rice, a monologist, who had the large audience in constant uproar by his clever imitations, funny stories and laughable expressions.

Barton K. Davis, J. Stephen Higham, Elston B. Davis, David Stolman and Thomas M. Muir composed the arrangements committee.

A. M. E. CHURCH SESSIONS ON AT ATLANTIC CITY

Rev. Littleton Sturgess, who has been pastor of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church on West Fourth street for the past two years, has been sent to the denominational church at Riverton, this State, and Rev. W. H. Hicks, of New Brunswick, has been assigned to the local church, the change to take effect this week.

This action was taken at the session of the New Jersey Annual Conference of the A. M. E. church held at Atlantic City, which came to a close Monday night. Bishop Evans Tyree presided. Bishop Coppins, of the fifteenth district was also present. The delegates from Mt. Zion A. M. E. church were Rev. and Mrs. Littleton Sturgess, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Maynard, Miss Warneta Moore, Miss Mary M. Jones, Mrs. Johanna Henderson, Miss Lillian and Miss Laura Frazee. The conference was reported to be the largest and best in its history. A banquet and reception was given to the Bishop.

The report of the "dollar fund" for the general treasury in support of churches was as follows: First district, $1,579.70; second district, $808.60; third district, $1,510.60, making a total of $3,898.90.

ARE PHONE RATES TOO HIGH HERE?

Democratic Club to Call Public Utilities Commission Attention to Conditions.

KENNEY'S STATEMENT

Paper Read Containing Facts and Figures as to Local Charges—Jury Reform Also Discussed Favorably.

Jury reform and telephone rates occupied the attention of the Plainfield Democratic club last night, David T. Kenney introducing the latter subject for discussion. After he had read a statement he had compiled, containing facts and figures regarding 'phone service and its cost, and his contentions were supported in brief speeches made by Howard Lapsley, Daniel J. Courain, R. A. Claybrook, LeRoy J. Ellis, Thomas Hughes and others. The club formally endorsed Kenney's statement and President J. O. Stevens appointed Kenney, Pearson, Ellis and Claybrook as a committee to lay the statement before the State Public Utilities Commission.

The discussion of jury reform was started by E. C. Pearson and after various members had spoken in favor of the measure championed by President Wilson and Governor Fielder, the legislative committee was directed to go to Trenton and work for the success of the movement. This committee consists of Pearson, Ellis and Calvin E. Brodhead. There was some talk of leasing larger quarters for the club but no definite action was taken.

Here is what Mr. Kenney said:

"I desire to call your attention to what I, and also a great many others believe to be the unreasonable high charges of the telephone, and am writing you this letter that you may make an investigation and comparison, and reason out the unjust high or low charges made by the New York Telephone Company to its subscribers and those who patronize it in the State of New Jersey.

"For instance, in Plainfield, N. J., a charge of three dollars and fifty cents ($3.50) per month, forty-two ($42.00) dollars per year, (the latest reduced priced), is made for a private wire telephone—whether you use the telephone or not. A subscriber is charged twenty-five cents ($.25) for being connected with a Jersey City or New York city telephone number. Whether they get the party they desire to speak to or not, the twenty-five cents ($.25) is charged. This I believe to be unfair. If by chance you get the party that you desire, the charge of twenty-five cents ($.25) is made for having the use of the 'phone for three minutes; if the three minutes are consumed in waiting for the party you wish to speak to, an extra charge is made. This also I believe to be very much too high for three minute service. I desire for your just consideration to make this comparison:

"A person may purchase a commutation ticket from the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey at the railroad station at Plainfield, N. J., where accommodation is provided, heat and shelter, be carried to New York as a passenger in well equipped trains, the railroad practically assuming personal responsibility for your safe arrival in New York and also your return to Plainfield, at the rate of twenty-six and one-sixth cents ($.26 1-6) for the round trip; while so far as I know, the Telephone Company does not even assume any responsibility for the transmission of messages, or whether you get the party that you want or not. If something is wrong they just curtly tell you 'Line out of order!' and they absolutely refuse to get a party that you want through a local neighbor or pay station.

"Another comparison. You may ride in the McAdoo tunnel system from Jersey City to New York for five cents ($.05), (straight single fare) while the telephone charge from Jersey City to New York is twenty cents ($.20) or four times as much, while the cost of the tunnel system is enormous as compared with the cost of a telephone cable.

"In practically all lines of business for furnishing the necessities of life, credit is established to the responsible. With the Telephone Company—it is limited. For instance, unless your telephone bill is paid on a certain date, the telephone service is discontinued, while the grocer, butcher or baker will deliver a pound of sugar, a barrel of flour, a pound of meat, or a loaf of bread—actual material—the sustenance of life, without rendering a bill in advance or compelling you to sign a contract. True the telephone is an invention that may be considered one of the wonders, but the steam-engine and the steamship that convey to us the necessities of life, were considered world wonders as inventions. Has not the Telephone Company entrenched itself well enough, gotten on

MOTOR CAR MANUFACTURERS AGAINST LOW DUTY

Twenty-seven American motor car manufacturers have joined forces to oppose the proposal of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives to have the duty on automobile chasses fixed at 30 per cent and the duty on automobile parts fixed at 20 per cent. They have chosen a Tariff Committee, which is composed of Henry B. Joy, president of the Packard Motor Car Company, chairman; John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland Company; Hugh Chalmers, president of the Chalmers Motor Car Company; W. C. Leland, general manager of the Cadillac Motor Car Company, and Charles Clifton, treasurer of the Pierce Arrow Motor Car Company, who had given out a statement to the effect that the import tax would greatly harm American industry.

WON'T LET CLERK QUIT PENDING REPORT ACTION

The New Providence Township Board of Education has declined to accept the resignation of the district clerk, Gustav A. Davies, until his annual report has been completed to the satisfaction of the board. The clerk and the board have been at odds for many months, and Davies decided to resign. He requested that his resignation be accepted to take immediate effect, though obliging him to write up the minutes of Monday night's meeting.

The resignation was laid on the table pending the presentation of the clerk's annual report. At the annual school election last March the financial report of the clerk was referred back to him by the voters of the township to be "completed, corrected" and presented to the Board of Education for its ratification.

Davies has prepared his report five times, he says, and on each occasion the board has declined to accept it. It is alleged that there is a difference between the financial balance of the clerk's account and the actual balance in the bank, according to the bank's figures.

There is now in Washington a band of women and children from St. Louis whose mission is to have created a national school for children, as a model, to revolutionize the teaching of children. The entire educational system will hinge upon the teaching of music by colors. From this central piont will radiate learning in mathematics, mechanics, languages, nature studies, domestic art, dancing, drawing, writing, reading and every other subject a child will need in after life.

The "inventor" of the new method of teaching is Mrs. Fannie E. Hughey, of St. Louis.

ONLY DEAD LAND ON WHOLE EARTH

South Polar Region Is So Described.

NOTHING CAN LIVE THERE.

Entire Antarctic Continent Is Barren and Lifeless, Save For Seals, Birds and a Small Insect, Says Scientist. Further Exploration Around Pole Would Be Useless.

The only entirely dead region of the earth. Thus is the land surrounding the south pole described by Sir Ray Lankester of England, who is recognized as an authority on subjects pertaining to the antarctic.

Sir Ray is director of the Natural History museum at London and as such had charge of all the specimens of animal life brought back from the south polar continent by Captain Scott's expedition on the Discovery several years ago.

He also has had official first hand information as to the results of all the exploration in that part of the globe.

In discussing the knowledge brought to light by the various expeditions Sir Ray recently declared there would be no use of further exploration within a thousand miles of the south pole. Any further facts brought out by such work would be of no scientific value, and their collection consequently would entail unwarranted perils.

Few Living Things.

"There is no living thing on the antarctic continent," he said, "excepting the seals and the penguins and a few other birds found on and near the coast line and a minute insect like the so called glacier flea, together with a few animalcules living in pools formed by the melting of ice in the brief summer and species of algae, mosses, lichens and fungi."

Flowers would grow at the south pole in summer if it were not for the mountains there, according to Professor Lankester. It is these mountains that make the south pole so cold.

The south polar area is an elevated mountainous land reaching 12,000 feet in parts, covered with perpetual ice in consequence of the elevation. Moreover, the antarctic continent is surrounded by the sea and is lifeless.

"There is a vast area of land around the north polar sea," said Sir Ray, "which is green with vegetation and dotted with brilliantly colored flowers in summer and yet is only 500 miles distant from the north pole.

"In the arctic region there are seals, white bear, walrus, fox, wolves, musk ox and many small mammals and birds which stray from the neighboring continental lands. There is abundant vegetation, including flowering plants, which find a growing place wherever land is exposed.

"So far as temperature is concerned, these flowers and plants would grow at the north pole itself were there any islands in that part of the frozen polar sea. In contrast to the low lying land around the north pole, the mountainous interior of Greenland is of high elevation and covered with perpetual ice and devoid of life.

Terrible Blizzards.

"The north pole is, in fact, a fair weather zone, while, on the other hand, the antarctic land is swept at all times of the year by blizzards of exceptional force and duration."

From the very beginning of life on the earth, it is asserted, the south pole has been an uninhabited region. No animals ever lived there. The deepest digging will disclose no bones of extinct creatures.

The antarctic continent is literally the only place on the whole earth where silence and mystery have existed from the first. It is regarded as very doubtful if there are any minerals near the south pole.

TO SELL OAK OF CHARLES II.

Historic Estate of Boscobel Will Be Auctioned In June.

Boscobel, the historic estate in Shropshire, England, on or near which King Charles II. is said to have hidden in an famous oak tree after the battle of Worcester, is to be sold at auction in June.

History has different versions of the hiding place of the royal fugitive. For a time it was believed he had secreted himself in the famous oak, but now it is generally accepted that he was hidden in Boscobel House itself, and tourists are shown the trapdoor in the floor through which he descended. The royal oak, although not the original tree, is still the object of veneration to travelers.

Boscobel House is about twenty-five miles from Worcester, where the battle was fought. On Sept. 3, 1650 when Charles II. was defeated by Cromwell in the conflict that ruined his hopes, he fled with some of his loyal followers, taking refuge at Whitehall. Then, so the story goes, he and Wilmot, one of his men, hid in the branches of the huge oak. It is certain that they went into Boscobel House later.

Filipinos Becoming Fans.

Missionaries and others returning from the Philippines report that the natives of the archipelago have taken to baseball with a fervor equal to that of the Americans. The game was introduced into the Philippines by American soldiers.

ANOTHER PASSING CASE.

It Proves That There's a Way Out for Many Suffering Plainfield Folks.

Just another report of a case in Plainfield. Another typical case. Kidney ailments relieved in Plainfield with Doan's Kidney Pills.

A. C. Lazzi, 44 Elm place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For several years I was annoyed by a distressing backache, together with pains through my kidneys. My head also ached severely and the kidney secretions were in bad shape. I went to several physicians and also took so-called kidney cures, but it did not seem as though I could get relief. As time passed and I did not improve I became discouraged. When suffering intensely, I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and I got a supply at Randolph's drug store. As if by magic, the pains and aches left and I improved in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills deserve the entire credit for restoring me to good health."

SHINING MARK FOR MINING SHARKS

In America last year over 20 million dollars was invested in fake mining stock!

But "hope holes" are not the only things Americans foolishly sink their "hard-earned" in.

Americans buy millions of dollars worth of "fake clothing," almost in full view of the real "article." "Fake Clothing" is made to fit a price.

Rothberg's clothing is made first and priced afterwards! Clothing made to fit a price, seldom fits a man!

If you don't KNOW clothing, you DO know the reputation of the store that sells it.

Buy reputation—you can't go wrong!

The public gets on to a store's curves very quickly.

And the store whose reputation is still whole, is a good one to cling to.

Therefore, we submit for your consideration the record of the Rothberg store.

AN ORDINANCE

To Provide for the Construction of a Further Addition to the System of Sewerage Already Constructed in the City of Plainfield.

WHEREAS, There has been constructed in said city a system of sewerage, and such action in relation thereto has from time to time been taken as is set forth in the several ordinances of said city relating thereto, and particularly the ordinances respectively entitled, "An Ordinance to Provide for the Construction of An Addition to the System of Sewerage already constructed in the City of Plainfield," approved November 6, 1907, and "An Ordinance to provide for the Improvement of Sewage Disposal Works, Beds and Appurtenances, of the City of Plainfield," approved April 4, 1901, to which several ordinances reference is hereby made for greater certainty; and

WHEREAS, In the opinion of the Common Council the public good requires that a further addition, as herein described, to the system of sewerage already constructed, should be now constructed in and for said city under the provisions of the acts of the Legislature in such case made and provided, and the Common Council has so determined and does hereby so determine, therefore

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the Common Council doth hereby direct and order that a further addition to the system of sewerage already constructed as aforesaid, be constructed in and for said city, under the provisions of the acts of the Legislature above referred to, with all the appurtenances required to complete the same, of the character, description, dimensions and material shown on plans adopted by the Common Council and filed in the office of the City Clerk, March 19, 1913, which said plans are entitled "Sewerage System City of Plainfield, N. J., Extensions - 1913," and according to such further plans as the said Common Council may hereafter direct, in and through the following described streets, avenues, property, lands and rights-of-way described, mentioned and referred to in this ordinance, to wit:

Woodland Avenue from Randolph Road to Chetwynd Avenue;

Chetwynd Avenue from Hillside Avenue to Woodland Avenue;

Hillside Avenue from Randolph Road to Chetwynd Avenue;

Watsessing Avenue;

Leland Avenue from East Front Street to Green Brook;

East Front Street from Emerson Avenue to Raymond Avenue;

Prospect Avenue from a point 953 feet east of Hillside Avenue to Woodland Avenue.

Sec. 2. That house connections shall be constructed from the above named sewers to the curb lines, as shown on the above mentioned plans.

Adopted by the Common Council, May 5, 1913; approved by the Mayor, May 7, 1913.

TRIS SPEAKER IS STILL MARCHING ON

A Summary of His Playing During First Two Weeks of the League Race.

Tris Speaker certainly has gotten off to a good start even if the rest of the Speed Boys haven't. During the first two weeks of the championship race the star outfielder of the Red Sox hit at a .437 clip and fielded faultlessly, playing in the same smooth manner that marked his work in 1912, when the Chalmers jury of baseball sharps voted him the most valuable American League player—a vote that carried with it a gift of a touring car.

That batting average of .437 and fielding percentage of 1,000 hardly does Speaker justice. Mr. Smoke obtained the batting credit by getting fourteen hits in thirty-two times at bat, but besides obtaining fourteen safties he worked the pitchers for twelve passes and reached first base on errors four times.

If at bats were calculated now as they were in the very early days of the national pastime, Speaker would have been charged with forty-five trips to the plate, and if the old time record of reached first base still was kept, the Texan's percentage would be .667. He got on the paths sixteen times on hits from April 10 to April 23 inclusive; twelve times on passes and four times on errors.

Until Walter Johnson fitted jackets of white on the Red Sox, Speaker had scored in every game in which he had played and in only two contests had he failed to make a hit. Walter Johnson and Byron Houck were the men who stuck ciphers into Speaker's basehit column and they also were the only pitchers who fanned him during the first fortnight's play.

Speaker's base running average at the end of the second week of the campaign was .500. He had executed four successful steals and been thwarted the same number of times when he started out on thieving expeditions. The backstop who stopped the Bostonian were Ira Thomas and Jack Lapp, the former having cut Speaker down three times when he tried to pilfer.

Tris had three assists from the outfield in his first ten games, figuring in two double plays.

These figures show just how valuable Speaker was to his team in the first two weeks of the season:

Actually at bat—45 times.
Reached first base—30 times.
Sacrificed flied—Once.
Runs batted in—Five.
Passes received—Twelve.
Times fanned—Twice.
Runs scored—Nine.
Hits made—Fourteen.
Bases stolen—Four.
Thrown out trying to steal—Four.
Putouts—Twenty-one.
Assists—Three.
Errors—None.
Double plays started—Two.
Men thrown out—Three.

RULES FOR BOYS.

Rules for building boys into strong men as formulated by the secretary of the New York Public Schools Athletic League are being followed by some ten thousand youths in the elementary grades many of whom are preparing for a big athletic meet to be held in the near future. These boys held up their right hands a day or two ago and promised to conform to the regulations. They are not to use cheap candy, greasy pastry, highly colored soda water and coffee. Moreover, they are asked to follow these rules.

Go to bed at 8 p. m., after a thorough wash.

Scrub the teeth and gums thoroughly.

Have your clothes and books ready for the next day.

Keep your bed room windows open top and bottom.

Rise not a minute later than 7 a. m. Take two minutes for drill and hygienic exercise.

Clean face and neck and scrub hands.

Finish with a cold splash all over.

Rub yourself hard all over.

Brush teeth and gums thoroughly.

No coffee. No tea. Drink milk, a little at a time.

Chew your food to a pulp.

No smoking.

Then look yourself over and ask yourself: "Am I clean from head to foot? Do I stand up like an athlete?"

These are good rules for all boys. Those who rigidly adhere to them will become fine specimens of physical manhood.

That good citizen, William S. Tyler, is abreast of the times. As president of the Board of Education, he gave a thorough and frank explanation of the purpose to spend $270,000 in making a large addition to the present high school structure, his remarks being directed to parents gathered at the high school last night. It was not many years ago that the average board of education conducted the people's business behind closed doors and held to a Vanderbilt principle, "The Public be Damned." As a recent Mayor of Philadelphia said, "Things are different now" and the difference is that what is the business of the people's servants is the business of the public itself. The people of right should know the why and wherefore of the expenditure of public funds. Mr. Tyler appreciates this fact.

When an attempt was made at the New Jersey diocesan convention of the Episcopal church to introduce politics by the presentation of a resolution favoring jury reform, the delegates gathered at Atlantic City yesterday raised their voices in protest. Religion and not politics is their mission and some denominational gatherings could learn a wholesome lesson in the attitude assumed by these churchmen.

Governor Sulzer champions progressive measures just as Woodrow Wilson did when he was a Governor but the difference between the two is that Wilson was diplomatic, magnetic, discreet and was a master mind as a political general. None of these qualities is possessed by Sulzer. Hence, he is as big a failure as Wilson was a success.

DR. HERRING REFORTS ON HIS CHURCH'S NEEDS

The question of holding instead of the Sunday evening service one at 4:30 or 5 o'clock in the afternoon is being considered by the members of the First Presbyterian church. A report was recently received concerning the change at the Crescent Avenue church and it is said that the attendance has increased three-fold as a result. Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, favors the change and it is likely that definite action will be taken soon.

Dr. Herring in making the suggestions of a change to his congregation presents as good reasons that as the streets of the city are poorly lighted many would doubtless be inclined to attend an afternoon service, while special services for children could be held at that time. Further commenting on plans for greater efficiency, Dr. Herring in his report to the church says among other things:

"Some one has said that the prayer meeting is the pulse of the church's life. If that is true, our church is anemic. We need more red blood in that service. I have been applying remedies. I believe that I have the treatment. Will you help me apply it? The treatment consists of three remedies, Bible study, prayer and testimony. I have heard some criticism of the first element of the remedy. Bible study—yes—some have said they did not like the study of the prophet Zachariah. I confess my amazement at the criticism. Perhaps, it is because I made that part of the service too long, but brethren, if I make it twenty minutes and open the meeting to you for testimony and prayer, you do not take part. You suggest several hymns and then the meeting closes.

"Some want an old-fashioned prayer meeting. The effective prayer meeting is the meeting that deals with present needs. I would like to see this service more effective than it is, and I am still feeling my way to make it so. Paul spoke of women keeping silence in the church. That advice was for his time, not ours. Women, the meeting is open to you for prayer and testimony.

"I have discovered that some of my people plan to see a good play on a Wednesday night, but hardly ever plan to come to the mid-week service, which should be an inspiration to their religious life."

Referring to the need for greater room for the Sunday-school work, Dr. Herring says: "The Sunday-school needs room. Friends, if you have not yet made your wills, just add something for the church and Sunday-school. Some of the loyal members of the church have passed away and have never given this a thought. If you have made your wills, add something for the Sunday-school to it in same way. But then before that, pledge something now. I don't mean cut your subscription in half and only give half to the church. Double your subscription to the church and give to the building fund of the Sunday-school. It is the feeder of the church. Let us make it all it should be."

THE CARNIVAL

A crowd considerably larger than that of the opening night enjoyed the attractions at Krause's Greater Shows, last night, now appearing at the West Front street and Grant avenue circus grounds under the auspices of the United Commercial Travelers, of this city. And the numerous early arrivals this afternoon on the scene of festivity and entertainment give promise to a monster gathering today. The general good order and entire lack of rowdyism, which marked the opening day, still predominates.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Smith, of Brook avenue, are parents of a son, born to them on Sunday.

ARE PHONE RATES TOO HIGH

its feet so to speak, so that it can now accommodate the public with reasonable charges, and bear certain responsibilities just as other individuals and corporations do?

"For installing a telephone extension in one's house—a little instrument worth about $3.00—one must way six dollars ($6.00) per year rent, for an instrument to furnish the Telephone Company with additional business."

Here Mr. Kenney read the following letter he had received from Harry C. Runyon, a local lawyer:

"'In reference to our recent conversation with regard to telephone extension in my office, the facts are as follows:

"'I had a direct wire station and desired an extension to the private office, and the Telephone Company quoted me a rate of six dollars per year. I asked a responsible electrician of our city what it would cost to install this extension and he advised me he would gladly put in the extension including the wire, station and connecting for $4.50, provided I would get the consent of the Telephone Company. This consent they refused to give, also advising me that if I connected with any other system but their own, they would refuse telephone service to my office.

"'The electrician advised me that he would make a fair profit at the price above quoted.'

"Again the injustice of charging for a telephone in the home for which you must pay whether it is in use or not, for instance, if you go on a vacation for one month of six months, but you must pay for the telephone or else it is taken out.

"Some time ago one could call a number in Lakewood, N. J., for instance, and ask for the party he desired to speak to. Now, if you do not get the party, you are required to pay what they call an "Inquiry charge" amounting to about half the regular charge.

"Referring to New York calls twenty years or more ago, a person in Plainfield could call a number, and without charge if they did not get the party they wished to speak to, so that we are not receiving as liberal consideration—at a time after the expiration of the basic patents—as we were when the patents were in force, so it now appears that monopoly has taken the place of the patents! Why is the above condition practiced today? Is it because the New York Telephone Company has so much business and such a monopoly that it can fix this rule arbitrarily? The great department stores or small shops will submit on trial or approval their various wares, bring them to your home, and leave them there on trial, at sometimes great expense to themselves in their desire to get a customer or purchaser; but the public appears to have no recourse whatever in respect to the Telephone Company, in fact not even the slightest accommodation without paying extra for a service they are paying what is believed to be an exorbitant price.

"Other comparisons I desire to make between corporations of the Public Utilities are: For example, the Public Service Corporation will furnish gas or electric meters without charge, and furnish through their extensive system, a necessity—fuel and light—and if you only burn fifteen cents ($.15) worth of gas in the month, that is all you have to pay for, and they are glad to get all the customers they can and take their chances as to the outcome, and in doing so the poor may have connections for gas as well as the rich.

"Again, as to the water supply company. In referring to the Plainfield Water Supply Company, water is furnished for one faucet in a dwelling house at the rate of six dollars ($6.00) per year so that the homes of all classes of people may be supplied with this necessity of life. When comparing the cost of a local water supply system as against the local telephone system, I venture to say that he cost of the water supply plant and system is much greater. At least the Plainfield Water Supply Company pay a tax of over $10,000 a year to the City of Plainfield, while the Telephone Company pay the city a tax of less than $5,000. While I do not know what the receipts of the local water supply company for the City of Plainfield and the Borough of North Plainfield amount to, I venture to say that the receipts of the Telephone Company are two dollars ($2.00) to one ($1.00) in favor of the Telephone Company.

"If the telephone is really a necessity, as the Telephone Company would have you believe, and practically all are agreed that it is a very convenient thing to have, for instance, a call for the doctor, why is it not a good thing for the poor man to have in his home if he could have it as cheap or even cheaper than he gets his water—a necessity of life?

"I have no doubt there are abuses practiced which are detrimental to the Telephone Company in party wire service, and in all fairness to them in this respect, it seems to me that the number of telephone messages should be limited for a certain price, say for instance five minutes to be the fixed time allowed for one call. Persons that talk continuously for ten minutes or three quarters of an hour should be charged according to the proper fixed price, so that those who use the telephone a great deal will pay accordingly the same as the person who uses a large quantity of gas.

"I thing it is no more than fair that there should be certain responsibilities placed upon the Telephone Company in making connections with the telephone number called for. For instance, if a wire is broken or a telephone out of order, it is not the fault of the subscriber; the Telephone Company should therefor have messengers just the same as the Telegraph Company in getting or endeavoring to get the party that is called to come to the nearest pay station 'phone. I make a comparison. If you send a telegram from Plainfield to New York, or any other place, they assume the responsibility of delivering the telegram, the sending of which requires more skill than the telephone, and deliver the telgram by messenger to the place of address, and keep a record of it.

"There are many more comparisons that can be made, really too numerout to mention, but I trust enough have been made to suggest to you further reasons why the New York Telephone Company should reduce their rates and bear certain responsibilities for making connections between the 'phones called for, if possible.

"It sems to me that the time is now at hand when this matter should be given proper consideration."

EDITOR HUGHES FORECASTS A BUMPER PEACH CROP

Editor George Hughes, of the New York Globe, who resides at Watchung, is known as the "Champ Peach Farmer of Jersey" by his newspaper associates in New York. Mr. Hughes during his spare time is devoting his efforts to the cultivation of a peach orchard.

A Daily Press man visited the farmer-editor Sunday and received a forecast that the outlook is bright for a bumper peach crop in New Jersey this season. Said Mr. Hughes.

"The crop ws considered excellent last season but bigger things are expected this summer. The compartively mild winter and balmy spring weather is responsible for the favorable outlook."

EAST ORANGE PASTOR COMMENCEMENT ORATOR

Rev. W. Warren Giles, pastor of the Reformed church at East Orange, has been secured by the Board of Education as the speaker for the commencement exercises of the Plainfield High School to be held at the First Baptist church on Thursday night, June 19. Mr. Giles was one of the speakers at a banquet given by the Dutch Arms at Trinity Reformed church a few months ago, and made such a favorable impression that efforts were made at once to engage him for the commencement exercises.

The 1913 graduating class of the High School is one of the largest in its history. Dr. H. M. Maxson is not prepared to announce the complete list of graduates until after the final examinations which will take place in two weeks.

BROKEN ENGAGEMENT STARTLES INDIA; PRINCESS DECLINES TO GIVE REASON

MAHARANEE OF BARODA

A profound sensation was caused recently in India by the sudden breaking off of the projected marriage of Princess Indira, only daughter of the reigning Gaekwar of Baroda, to Prince Jitendra, son of the Maharajah of Cooch Behar, which was to have been celebrated in Calcutta soon.

The Princess announced her decision to her parents and her affianced and left for England.

Elaborate preparations had been made for the ceremony, in which descendants of the two of the most prominent native rulers in India were to have been united. The reason for the step taken by the Princess has not been divulged, but it is understood that it is probably a question of caste.

Such an occurrence is almost unique among the ruling families of India, and it is said to be traceable to the Princess' unusual intimacy with English and American customs and life.

MIDDLESEX BOROUGH PROPOSITION HAS WON

New Brunswick, May 7.—The voters of Dewey Park (West Dunellen) Greenbrook, East Bound Brook and Lincoln, at a special election, yesterday, decided in favor of consolidating these communities into what would be known as the Borough of Middlesex. Of the 119 votes cast, 111 favored the proposition, three opposed and five ballots were rejected. The district involved had a registry list of 208 voters.

The idea of consolidating the above named places into a borough was for the purpose of securing a better government and many desired improvements. A meeting will be called for the latter part of next week to name candidates for the offices of mayor, five councilmen, tax assessors, etc.

Dunellen & Vicinity

The Salvation Army is planning an elaborate program for their two weeks' encampment in Wayside Park the last week in July and the first in August.

All local secret and fraternal societies have signified their intention of taking active part in the Fourth of July celebration. Manager Bogardus will book some fast aggregation to appear against his men in a baseball game to be played in the afternoon of the holiday. The athletic events will be arranged to prove attractive to the smallest boy as well as the oldest man. It is also probable that the suffragists will have a place in the line-of-march of the parade, which should prove a novel feature to local residents.

The Daughters of St. George, of Elizabeth, have engaged Wayside Park for a picnic and dance to be held Saturday afternoon and night, May 17. In the early part of the day athletics and baseball will be enjoyed. Dancing will follow in the afternoon and evening.

Members of the Board of Trade who started the movement of having grade crossings abolished in this vicinity, suggested the plan of having Muhlenberg Hospital take care of Dunellen's indigent patients, a contract for which will be signed in several days, and who stirred local people to enthusiasm over the proposed Fourth of July demonstration, are soliciting contributions toward paying the expenses of the latter event. J. Nev on Apgar is chairman of the finance committee and is directing the work.

Side shows and various stands where refreshments, etc., will be sold will be a few of the attractions of the Fourth of July celebration. At the meeting of the Council, Monday night, Mr. Jones, secretary of the celebration committee, received the consent of the councilmen to have these enterprises without further permits or licenses.

Members of the Missionary Societies of the M. E. church were entertained by Mrs. George T. Schenck.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church met this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. David Torrey.

In order to speed the intallation of the proposed joint sewer system the governing powers of Dunellen will arrange a meeting with the Mayor and Council of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Among the realty transactions that have taken place recently and recorded at New Brunswick are: J. N. Apgar and wife to Thomas Platt, Jr., lots 1 to 4, inc., block 23, map of Dunellen; Michael Cotignola to Vincent Cotignola and wife, lots 30 to 34, inc., block R, map of New Era Tract, Township of Piscataway.

The W. C. T. U. will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Miss Lizzie Dunham.

Mrs. William Whitman and family and Miss Ida Freeman have moved from New Brunswick to this place.

'Plains & Fanwood.

Irving Demilt, who was operated on for appendicitis at St. Vincent Hospital, Elizabeth, last Friday, is rapidly improving and will return home the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pence and children have returned to their home in Brooklyn, N. Y., after a week's visit with Miss Salee Kyte, of the borough.

Word was received at the local school yesterday afternoon that Garwood instead of Roselle would play here Friday owing to an error in the schedule. As neither team have lost a game to date and are out for league honors, the contest will be a hummer from start to finish.

The friends of S. Dana Townsend will be grieved to learn of the sudden death of his father from heart failure at his home in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Rosie Jahn has returned from visiting her daughter, Mrs. Rolland D. Tomlinson, of New York.

The names of the students from this district who will take part in the Union county contest to be held in Westfield have been handed to the committee in charge. Each grade has to have five contestants to be able to take part and several in the local school are barred on this account. Superintendent Krebs, of North Plainfield will be in charge at the contest.

Mrs. Andrew Decker and daughter, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., are visiting Mrs. Thomas Weller.

According to present plans the Parish House will be closed during the months of July and August. The baseball teams will be active, however, and the tennis court, now being laid out, will be extensively used.

Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, of Newark, are visiting friends in town.

Herman Frowery will soon begin extensiye alterations to his present hostelry.

Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, pastor of the Baptist church, will lead the regular weekly prayer-meeting tonight.

A special program of music will be rendered at the prayer service to be held tomorrow night in the M. E. church. Dr. H. K. Carroll, the pastor, will be in charge.

MEREDITH'S MANUAL FOR THE SCHOOLS

Commissioner's Handbook of Use to Those Engaged in Public Education.

Trenton, May 6.—A comprehensive manual, dealing broadly with high schools in New Jersey, was approved Saturday by the State Board of Education. The treaties were compiled by A. B. Meredith, of Plainfield, the assistant commissioner in charge of secondary education.

Besides giving all the features of the school law and regulations and rules of the board regarding high schools, the manual suggests a basis for high school curricula and school program; comments upon the present day practice in high school organization; outlines a program of studies for small high schools and considers high school graduates in their relation to State normal school, to teachers' certificates and academic credentials and to law, medicine and dentistry.

The chief points of difference between the rules approved Saturday and the old rules on high schools, include the fact that a definite terdminology has been adopted; that diploma values to be given manual and laboratory activities have been indicated; that all diplomas are to state the subjects taken by a pupil acquiring the necessary counts for graduation, and that with the discontinuance of the three-year course at State normal schools, the certificates of graduation from the three-year or partial high school has been abolished. Instead of this certificate, a pupil may receive a certificate of work accomplished.

The new rules emphasize that a pupil is entitled to a certificate for any work he may have completed in the high school. For example, if he were to finish but two years of a four-year commercial curriculum, his certificate would state the number of academic counts earned in each subject and the length of time taken to acquire the counts.

After observing that in accordance with the former rules governing high schools, local school authorities in conjunction with the county and city superintendents, have prepared and operated various curricula, the manual points out the different groups of pupils whose needs the high school have been aiming to meet.

These groups are described as follows: Those pupils who are seeking a general and liberal training, those who have planned to go on to higher institutions, including the normal schools, and those who have been making direct preparation for specific employment, particularly in the field of commercial life.

Some attention has also been given to industrial training, including home making. This industrial and domestic arts training has usually been a part of the general culture courses and not specifically vocational in character.

Vocational Function of School.

One chapter considers the present high school in its relation to these groups of pupils. The manual says the high school takes the pupil at one of the most educable periods in his life, and assits him in to find himself by testing his capacities and interests in a wide field of subject matter and activities. It is pointed out that the aim is not to specialize, but to afford an insight into general vocational principles.

After outlining a basis for organizing balanced high school curricula, the manuals says a high school should be large enough to warrant the establishment of varied curricula. It is regarded as a grave mistake for a small high school to attempt to carry out the program of a large school.

"It will be far better," continues the manual, "for a small school to organize a single curriculum which shall be well taught than to attempt to spread its energies over several curricula. An important element in the approval of a school is the quality of its work and not the extent of its curricula."

In the administration of secondary schools many practices sanctioned by experience are outlined. The following elements are deemed essential to a well balanced curriculum: English, social science, including history, mathematics and natural science.

The baseball players in the International League have formed a union which is to affiliate with the Baseball Players' Fraternity.

Sunday ball is being played in the Connecticut towns of the Eastern Association, which means nice money for the clubs in Jim O'Rourke's circuit.

"Smoky Joe" Wood, the Red Sox star twirler, is suffering from an injury to the metatarsophalangeal joint, whatever that is. Joe says he has a busted thumb.

The White Sox have shipped Catcher Gossett to the Highlanders. With Schalk and Kuhn producing the real thing behind the log Manager Callahan was unable to use Gossett.

Clark Griffith, the Washington boss believes that his peppery bunch of ball tossers will play the Athletics and Red Sox off their feet, and cop the American League pennant.

It is said that harmony in the team is the secret of the Cleveland Naps' fine showing this season. The Naps have cut out quarreling among themselves and are now out to win.

While the chances to fly a pennant in St. Louis this year are away outside, still neither the Browns nor the Cardinals are as punk as they were touted to be before the opening of the season.

Joe Cantillon's Minneapolis Old Settlers will soon discard their canes and liniment and show the American Association youngsters how the pastime was produced in the late sixties and early seventies.

The little Carolina League has turned out a number of stars in the past few years, and now comes Pitcher Ray, of the Winston-Salem team who recently pitched a no-hit-no-run game against Durham.

President Locke, of the Phillies, asserts that fifty per cent. of the major league clubs are losing money. The moguls should open the season earlier which would add more double-headers and likewise bargain matinees.

Corporation Notice.

PROPOSALS FOR COMBINATION AUTOMOBILE PUMPING ENGINE AND HOSE WAGON.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield at an adjourned regular meeting held April 21, 1913, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Monday, the second day of June, A. D. 1913, at 8 o'clock p. m. at the Council Chamber No. 149-151 North Avenue, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for furnishing the following, that is to say:

"One Combination Automobile Pumping Engine and Hose Wagon, with a pumping capacity of 900 gallons per minute, with the required water and nozzle pressure, to be tested by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, and to be in accordance with plans and specifications to be furnished by manufacturers."

Proposals to state point of delivery, and date on which apparatus can be delivered.

Upon receipt of bids or proposals the Common Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

Proposals should be endorsed "Proposals for Combination Automobile Pumping Engine and Hose Wagon."

By order of the Common Council,

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

By FRANCES MARSHALL

The Woman With One Dress.

There are two ways of dressing inexpensively. One is to have a good many clothes, of cheap material, and the other is to have one well-made gown at a time, and to wear that on all occasions until it is worn out. The one-dress method is perhaps preferable for the woman who lives in a large city, for the business woman, or for the traveler. The housewife in a small town will probably do better if she has a good many inexpensive clothes, and so will the young girl who mingles in a society where nobody patronizes an expensive dressmaker, and is not looked on as a virtue.

In a Big City.

In a big city, where an economical woman is likely to meet and mingle with persons who have much more to spend on their clothes than she has, the one-dress method has many advantages. In a well-made coat suit, a woman is appropriately dressed for church, calling, afternoon card parties, teas, trips to the theatre and the restaurants and for shopping. If she possesses a cheap and badly made street suit, in addition to several other dresses, she will never look very well, although she may sometimes feel that a thin silk, no matter how poorly made, is more appropriate than a suit for a card party.

The one frock should be of good material, and should be well made. If one is bought each year, a street suit, consisting of coat and skirt and matching waist, can be bought one season—a dark, conspicuous evening or formal afternoon frock the next. The suit should be so chosen that it will look well the second year, and will look fairly well the third; the frock, remodeled a little, will also serve for two or three years. In a few years the woman who goes on the basis that the one-dress plan is a good one will have a very serviceable and good looking wardrobe on hand.

The Coat Suit.

The coat suit, when it is to answer many calls, should be of moderately normal proportions. Unusual waistlines, sleeves, yokes and collars should be avoided. The coat should be semi-fitting, and the skirt should be neither tight nor loose. Such a suit will never be in the height of fashion, but, provided it is becoming, it will always be distinctive and good looking. It should be of some standard dark color—dark blue, black or a becoming shade of brown are always inconspicuous. In two years, when you are due to buy another suit, the old one will be ready for knockabout wear, still retaining a style and dignity never possessed by a cheap suit.

The same rules hold good of the evening dress which can only be renewed every two years. It should be of becoming color and cut, should avoid all extremes and should be of as good material as you can afford.

The one-dress method requires almost perfect fit; and if the clothes are bought ready made, an extra payment to have them well fitted is an economy.

Morning frocks, and a home-made housedress from time to time supplement the one-dress wardrobe sufficiently.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

These overalls for a small child are simple and easy to make and quaint and attractive in effect. Denim is a material much liked for such garments, but sturdy galatea, gingham and linen are in every way appropriate.

The overalls are simple, with side openings and a drawstring that adjusts them. The straps are attached to the back, crossed and buttoned into place at the front. The patch pocket will please the child.

For a four-year-old child a yard and a quarter of material twenty-seven inches wide will be required.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for children two, four and six years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7819, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Some Cookery Suggestions

SPRING GREENS.

EARLY vegetables are high, but if you live in the country nature offers many wild substitutes for them. Old fashioned country people tell you that dock, plantain, lambs quarter, sorrel and dandelion, if cooked like spinach, can scarcely be distinguished from it.

The sour, narrow dock is claimed to be excellent for the blood. Dandelion is recommended for stomach troubles.

Salads may be made with fresh young dandelion leaves or pepper grass.

A Novel Soup.

Puree of Sorrel.—Gather a half peck of the sorrel and clean it by washing through several baths of cold water. Then cut off the stems, the leaves only being used. Pour a cupful of cold water into a saucepan, add a teaspoonful of salt. Put this on the fire, and when it boils throw in the sorrel leaves, cover the saucepan and let boil for twenty minutes; then drain and chop fine. Press through a colander and place it again in the saucepan, adding a tablespoonful of butter a half cupful of veal stock, and salt and pepper to taste. Let it come to the boil and then serve.

Use On'y Young Stalks.

Poke On Toast.—Only the young shoots of the poke are available for this. They should not be over four inches long and with only a tuft of leaves at the top. If they are more mature they are likely to be poisonous. Wash and lay them in cold water for an hour. Tie them together to form a bundle like asparagus. Put into a kettle of boiling water and boil for three-quarters of an hour. Then drain, lay on buttered toast, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover with drawn butter and serve.

A Roadside Plant.

Wilted Dandelions.—Pick a quarter peck of the dandelions, wash, drain and shake until dry. Cut the leaves into small pieces. Beat an egg till it is light and then mix a half cupful of cream with it. Stir over the fire until it is thick. Then add a piece of butter the size of a walnut, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, salt and pepper to taste. Put the dandelions into this and stir over the fire till they are wilted and tender.

Anna Thompson.

The Woodman Cut the Trees Down.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Hill That Became Level.

JACK and Evelyn were waiting at daddy's elbow. "It's time for us to have our story," they said.

And so daddy began: "Once on a time there was a handsome big hill. The hill was very, very proud of itself and used to look down on everybody else.

"It said to the tall trees which grew on its sides: 'You should be very glad that I allow you to grow here and draw your food out of my soil. You would die if it were not for me.'

"The trees whispered to the woodman, and the woodman came and cut them down and sent them away. Some became the masts of ships, and some were built into houses, while others were used in various other ways.

"And because the trees were gone the sun shone down fiercely on the head of the hill, and the little plants and the grasses that grew there complained. The hill answered: 'You should be very glad that I allow you to grow on my sides. You should learn to be more humble. Grass is only grass, but I am a hill.'

"And by and by all the grass and all the plants died off, for the sun beat down on their heads so hotly that it scorched them, and the storms beat on them so heavily that they broke them down and the heavy rains washed them out by the roots.

"Then the hill stood out quite bare and uncovered. The sun burned it until its sides cracked and crumbled, and when the rain fell it washed the soil down grain by grain until the hill saw itself growing smaller and smaller, for the tall trees that had soaked up the rain and the little plants and the grasses that had held it together with their roots were gone.

"Then the hill began to be frightened. When it asked the trees and grasses and the plants to come back and grow on its sides they answered that they could not because all the soil had been washed away.

"The hill said, 'Well, when all this loose earth is gone and I stand out a mass of rock the rain can't hurt me.'

"But the rain gathered in the hollows and cracks of the rocks. When winter came it would freeze there. When warm weather came the ice in the openings would swell in melting, and the rock would be broken and cracked. Then when the spring freshets came rushing down the hill's sides the water would pick up the broken pieces of rock and grind them one against the other until they were crushed to sand. Then the water washed the sand away.

"Summer and winter this went on until the hill was washed level and every one had forgotten that ever a hill stood there."

PRINCETONIAN BANQUET.

Princeton, May 7.—Invitations have been sent out for the annual banquet of the Daily Princetonian which will be held at the Princeton Inn next Monday night. The list of guests includes all of the letter men, the Senior Council, the debaters, Phi Beta Kappa men, and a number of other Seniors who have been prominent in the activities of the university. President John Grier Hibben, of the university, will be one of the speakers and J. M. Beck, formerly assistant attorney general at Washington, and Professor Stockton Axson, of the department of English in the university, will deliver addresses. William Merril Chester, business manager of the Daily Princetonian, will act as toastmaster, and Truman Parker Handy, formerly editor-in-chief of the Princetonian, will speak in behalf of the outgoing board. James Bruce will respond for the incoming editors, and there will be representatives present from the Harvard Crimson, Yale Daily News, Cornell Daily Sun and the Pennsylvanian.

SENATOR STONE IS 65.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—William J. Stone, the senior senator from Missouri, received the congratulations of his colleagues in the upper house today on the occasion of his sixty-fifth birthday anniversary. Few of the national lawmakers enjoy a wider acquaintance than does Mr. Stone, who came to the Senate ten years ago, after having served three terms in the National House of Representatives and four years as governor of Missouri. Mr. Stone has long been an influential factor in Democratic national councils. Even those who have found most fault with his statesmanship are ready to concede that he is a past master of the game of politics. In the early days of Senator Stone's political career his opponents in Missouri dubbed him "Gumshoe Bill," and the nickname has stuck to him ever since.

WEDS TITLED ENGLISHMAN.

St. Louis, Mo., May 7.—Sir Wilfrid Peek, a typical young Englishman of title, with a passion for globe-trotting and big-game hunting, today claimed a St. Louis girl, Miss Edwina Thornburgh, for his bride. The wedding took place this afternoon in the First Presbyterian church and was a most brilliant affair. The Rev. Dr. W. J. McKittrick, pastor of the church, officiated. The bride had her sister, Mrs. John H. Holliday, as matron of honor, and two of Sir Wilfrid's sisters were among the bridesmaids. Arthur Benyon, of London, acted as best man. Following the ceremony at the church a large and brilliant reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. William C. Stribling.

BASEBALL MANAGERS ARE PAID $40,000

New York Has Two Expensive Leaders in John McGraw and Frank Chance.

With John J. McGraw and Frank Leroy Chance guarding the city walls and opposing all invaders, New York can consider its interests fairly well protected for the next campaign.

It isn't often that a single city can boast of two baseball leaders drawing $40,000, or thereabouts, a year in the way of salaries. Not often, at least.

Nor is it often that any one city can look to a pair of managers who within the last ten years have gathered in eight pennants between them and in the off years have managed to finish within the fight only a stride or two from the wire.

These comparative records show fairly well the quality of Manhattan's managerial talent for 1913.

McGraw—Four pennants, second three times, third twice, fourth once.

Chance—Four pennants, second twice, third once.

McGraw has led the Giants ten years. Chance has carried the Cubs forward for several seasons. A matter of eight pennants out of seventeen starts is about as bulky a pennant average as anyone would care to land.

Through the last ten years only three managers have carried the flag fight to the wire in the older league, finishing 1, 2, 3 in turn. They were Chance, McGraw and Clarke, and now of the three New York has two at the front of her two clubs.

The value of a manager is shown in the fact that while McGraw, Chance and Clarke have been forced to rebuild their machines and to discard old talent, they have always kept in the race, whatever their material.

Of the 14 Cub regulars from 1906, Chance last season had only four left, and yet stuck to the pace to the finish.

McGraw has only Mathewson, Ames and Wiltse left from his 1905 team, and yet while keeping in the race all the time, built his machine back to a pennant winnter canter for 1911 and 1912.

McGraw has already planted his standard high in New York. It may take Chance a year to get his bearings, but the ex-Cub leader has shown that he can build up a team and can keep said team going at top speed most of the way.

With this pair in charge New York fans are sure to live warfare straight across the campaign and the most interesting season ahead they have ever drawn.

GRAND OPENING OF CENTRAL LEAGUE AT PARKER FIELD SATURDAY AFTERNOON

A small but highly cultured mob will invade the sacred convines of the Queen City next Saturday afternoon and a special dispensation will be requested of all operators of money-makng schemes not familiar to the back woodsman of today to "lay off" these visitors who will be easily distinguished by the fact that they hail from High Bridge. They are fellow citizens of one Jack Torpey, who, in days of yore, was a prominent figure on local ball diamonds where he was noted for clouting them where "there wasn't." Torpey is the burly individual who is making that guffawing noise along the borders of the startled Central New Jersey League with his threat to make the other managers and their outfits look like so many novices.

They are coming to Plainfield and will go from here to Parker Field Saturday afternoon for the purpose of opening the Central New Jersey League race with Manager Ernest Dorflinger's combination. When the surprising John and his troop of rip-snorters arrive here they will be greeted by the blare of a brass band which Manager Dorflinger has chartered for the opening occasion and everything is in readiness to give the Brigadiers the time of their lives (including a good drubbing). Torpey's astonishing leaguers have a loyal band of cohorts which is expected to trail them to this city next Saturday afternoon and High Bridge has asked for the reservation of 100 grandstand seats (if there are as many available) for the opening contest and the local pilot has tended to this little matter with much alacrity.

More than likely John's admirers will bring along a few lines of floral tributes to add to that now practically insoluable mystery: "What becomes of the flowers given to ball players and managers?"

The High Bridge delegation has announced that it will march direct from the trains to the scene of the battle where they will disport themselves during the preliminary warm-ups at the expense of the local ball tossers. Their exact malefactions after arriving at Parker Field are not mentioned in the advance notices, but the flowers are a safe bet. In addition to being handed a beating, the Columbus of the catcher's realm and his followers from High Bridge will be given an opportunity to show the Plainfield fans the calibre of ball the Central New Jersey League will put forth this season (the fact that Plainfield is due to win will not hinder the opposition from playing half way respectable ball).

Torpey will be accorded a grand reception by the local fans; for he has a whole raft of admirers in these parts, many of whom remember him from the time when he used to cavort on local diamonds. The showing he has made while playing with High Bridge during the last couple of years where he is heralded as the king of the diamond sport has won him a host of friends and these will accompany him to this city Saturday afternoon.

Just as an example of the spirit prevalent in the little burg of High Bridge, the employes of the factories threatened to strike if they could not have Saturday afternoon off in which to follow up the games. So rushed are the factories that the men will have to report to work at 4 o'clock in the morning in order to get their day's work in before game time, but they will do it all the same. That's what is termed real spirit. Too bad other towns along the circuit do not have the same stuff. Mayor Williams, of High Bridge, and Mayor Stewart, of this city, will be at Parker Field, the latter throwing the first ball on the field of play. Manager Dorflinger's brass band will also add greatly to the ceremonies connected with the opening of the organization.

METUCHEN ENTHUSIASTS FORMING A GOLF CLUB

Plans for a golf club in Metuchen have been completed and under an efficient committee, have been made most attractive in every way. Circulars for membership have been distributed to all athletically inclined regardless of age or sex. The annual dues for a man will be $15; for a woman, $7.50. Charter members will not be taxed an initiation free, but after organization all new members will be.

The course laid out will be nine-hole; beginning play at Rector street over the Niles Welch property, to the Daniels property, to the Pennsylvania Railroad property and around and back to Rector street, making an attractive course, admirably adapted for golf. A meeting will be held at the Metuchen Club house Saturday evening, when all interested are requested to be present. Committee, Messrs. W. Wilson, H. Baltz, F. S. Hay, R. C. Burr and J. Powers.

DODGE TO PLAY HERE.

Leslie Dodge, the crack semi-professional baseball player, has been signed by Manager Ernest Dorflinger of the Plainfield baseball team, and will hereafter be seen in a local uniform. He will play in the game at Scotch Plains next Sunday afternoon against the nine of that place.

MILLER LEAVES MONDAY.

Katz Miller, the local ball player, who has been signed by the Danbury club, of the New York and New Jersey Interstate Baseball League, to play the outfield for that aggregation, will leave for that place Monday morning to take up his new duties. Miller will play with the Plainfield baseball club Saturday afternoon for the last time in the game with High Bridge.

CANADIAN LEAGUE STARTS.

Ottawa, Ont., May 7.—The Canadian Baseball League inaugurated its regular season today, with Hamilton playing at Guelph, Peterboro at Berlin, St. Thomas at London and Ottawa at Brantford. The league officials predict the most successful season in the history of the organization. To all appearances the eight teams are more than usually well balanced, and in consequence a close and interesting pennant race is expected. A schedule of 112 games will be played. The season will close Labor Day.

LEAL JUNIORS WON.

Captain Oron Dale and his aggregation of Leal School junior ball-tossers handed an 18 to 10 walloping to the Boys' A. A. team yesterday afternoon. The features of the game were Stevenson's heavy hitting and Ball's twirling, the latter fanning eight of his opponents.

S. S. TEAMS TO CLASH.

Two of the most likely aspirants for the Sunday-school Baseball League title will meet on the Myrtle avenue grounds Saturday afternoon in a pre-season contest. This will be played as a practise contest between the First Baptist and Hope Chapel teams and the contest will undoubtedly be a fast one as both teams have many speedy baseball artists enrolled among their number.

LOCAL WOMEN ON STATE TEAM.

Mrs. N. P. Rogers, of this city, was one of the eighteen players on the New Jersey women's golf team which was defeated on the Oakland Golf Club course yesterday afternoon by the New York team, the latter rolling up a score of 32 to 11. This was the first of a series of women's golf matches, and the Nassau system of scoring was used.

GIANTS AT KENNILWORTH.

Next Sunday afternoon the Royal Colored Giants, of this city, and a band of rooters will go to Kennilworth to play the team of that place. The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock.

CENTRAL NEW JERSEY LEAGUERS MET AND SUBMITTED SEASON'S ROSTERS

Everything is now in readiness for a grand opening of the Central New Jersey baseball league which is scheduled to take place next Saturday afternoon, final arrangements being completed at a meeting of the organization held in the Kensington Hotel last night. Eddie Hoagland, of the Bound Brook baseball team, which withdrew from the league at the last meeting, was on hand last night and while he made no definite statement, is probably contemplating applying for admittance. Since Hoagland took his former step, he and Manager Newhouse have secured suitable playing grounds for the team and they will announce tonight whether or not Bound Brook will be represented in the organization. At present Bound Brook has a number of players in sight but a number more are needd, of which Manager Dorflinger, of the Plainfield team, kindly offered to secure to enable the team of that place to enter.

Should Newhouse's crew decide to take out a franchise, the organization will be greatly benefited by the move as the Bound Brook team has always proven itself an excellent drawing card and a six team circuit would be much better than a four. This would necessitate the securing of a sixth contestant and Flemington and New Brunswick were mentioned in that connection. Dave Driscoll is said to be contemplating entering his aggregation in the league as a New Brunswick nine but the New Brunswick delegate could not be present last night so nothing definite could be done concerning the matter.

The schedule will start with four teams next Saturday afternoon unless two other teams enter before that time and then these two aggregations will be the participants in a third contest. At Parker Field, in this city, Plainfield and High Bridge will fight it out and at Somerville Dunellen will play. Special arrangements have been made in connection with the two openings, Mayor Stewart having consented to pitch the first ball out in this city and the Somerville authority will probably do likewise. Umpires were assigned for the two games with Jack Dalley officiating at Somerville and George Wilcox at Plainfield.

The four teams that will play Saturday afternoon entered their baseball rosters and among the players are some of the fastest playing semi-professional ball in the State. The league will have the following enrolled:

Plainfield—Randolph, Stewart, Garretson, W. Stallings, Williams, Bergen, Craig, Dorman, Miller, Doyle, Moran and Dodge.

Somerville—Torpey, Kraft, Wiltse, F. Hickey, Grimes, Conti, Cunningham, Nolan, G. Frentz, Porter, Matto and Metzler.

High Bridge—Hand, Frederickson, Apgar, J. Walton, Sinclair, G. Walton, J. Alberts, Scully, Anderson, H. Alberts.

Dunellen — McLaughlin, Dixon, Barnes, Martin, Coyle, Giddes, Lindbloom, Wolf, Montross, Schott and Frezza.

TRINITY BASEBALL PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Church Boys Will Turn out a Speedy Amateur Aggregation This Summer.

What will probably be the fastest of local amateur baseball teams is being rounded among the Sunday-school members of the Trinity Reformed church and the practice held yesterday afternoon at Hope Common was most encouraging to those who are pushing the movement, a wealth of good material answering the call for tryouts. Enrolled on the Trinity athletic roster are many former diamond stars who have announced their intention of "coming back" and they are working hard to iron out the kinks resulting from a prolonged lay off, by hard work. Drills will be held regularly from now until the opening of the schedule which will include games with all Sunday-school and amateur nines in this vicinity.

The Trinity team was one of the prospectve candidates for a franchise in the Sunday-school baseball league earlier in the season but the officers of that nine decided to limit their playing to an independent schedule and as a result the Trinity ball team will lineup against local or visiting combinations every Saturday afternoon. Following the completion of the High School and college baseball season, the Trinity nine will be greatly bolstered by the addition of players who have had experience in those circles. Harold Schenck, of Rutgers College, is one of the stars who is expected to don a Trinity uniform after the college season ends, while several High School players from both the local and borough High Schools are due to enter their names as candidates for the team. The manager is now open for games which can be booked at any time.

MIKE MURPHY GETS AN AUTO FROM OLD GUARD

Mike Murphy, Pennsylvania's veteran athletic trainer, has received word that an automobile is on its way to Philadelphia with the best wishes from his old friends of the Detroit Athletic Club. Mike made his debut as an athletic coach at the Detroit Club, and many of the fast friends whom he made while there have taken this means of displaying their affection for their former trainer.

Mike's health is still such that he has to make his trips to Franklin Field to look over the track men in a machine, and this fact prompted the Detroit friends to make such a gift. It was back in 1890 that Mike coached at the Detroit Club, and he was overjoyed yesterday when he received news of their demonstration of esteem.

PRESIDENT LYNCH RULES UMPIRES WITH IRON HAND

President Thomas J. Lynch, of the National Baseball League, announced yesterday that he had dismissed Umpire C. B. Owens for violation of the rules of deportment. The violation consisted in entering a gambling resort. In making the announcement President Lynch said:

"Umpires in the National League by their deportment on and off the ball field are supposed to add dignity to their positions as representatives of the league. They are backed up by the President in the discharge of their duties; and in order to gain and hold the respect of the players, the press, and the public it is most essential that their conduct at all times be above reproach.

"Mr. Owens, by his actions, has forfeited the right to the protection afforded him by the President of the league, and for the good of the game he is discharged."

GIRL ATHLETES HELD INDOOR TRACK MEET

Final Session of Gym Work Marked With Competition at the Y. W. C. A.

An innovation in feminine athletic circles was introduced at the Y. W. C. A. last night when the evening gymnasium classes ended a most successful season with a track meet consisting of events especially adapted for competition among girls. Miss Marion Mair proved herself a competitor of no mean ability taking the all around championship and pennant that goes with the honor with a total of thirty-nine points annexed during the evening. Miss Ellen Doughty was second and Miss Jessie Stewart third, these two members excelling in specialties.

The affair took the form of a social event, refreshments following with the awarding of prizes. This event marks the closing of the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium season for the usual summer recess and it will re-open again in the fall with renewed activity.

The summaries follow:

Marching and facings—1st place, Ellen Doughty; 2nd place, Marion Mair; 3rd place, Jane Crawford.

Floor work by commands—1st place, Jane Crawford; 2nd place, Jessie Stewart; 3rd place, Mabel Douglas.

Vertical rope climbing—1st place, Clara Hallard; 2nd place, Marion Mair; 3rd place, Ellen Doughty.

Balance walking up ladder—1st place, Marion Mair; 2nd place, Ellen Doughty, 3rd place, Edith Wickett.

Shot-put—1st place, Jessie Stewart; 2nd place, Marion Mair; 3rd place, Ellen Doughty.

Squat sit, forward hop—1st place, Ellen Doughty; 2nd place, Marion Mair; 3rd place, Edith Wickett.

Wheel-barrow race—1st place, Ellen Doughty and Marion Mair; 2nd place, Jessie Stewart and Jane Crawford; 3rd place, Christine Murray and Mabel Douglas.

Baskets from foul line—1st place, Marion Mair; 2nd place, Margaret Hawkins; 3rd place, Mabel Douglas.

Greatest number of baskets in succession—1st place, Marion Mair; 2nd place, Margaret Hawkins; 3rd place, Clara Hallard.

Standing broad jump—1st place, Jessie Stewart, 6 feet 10¼ inches; 2nd place, Ellen Doughty, 6 feet 1 inch; 3rd place, Marion Mair, 6 feet.

Running broad jump—1st place, Jessie Stewart, 9 feet 3½ inches; 2nd place, Ellen Doughty, 8 feet 11¾ inches; 3rd place, Marion Mair, 8 feet, 9 inches.

Running high jump—1st place, Marion Mair, 4 feet, 6 inches; 2nd place, Ellen Doughty, 4 feet, 5 inches; 3rd place, Jessie Stewart, 4 feet, 4 inches.

Marion Mair, first place with 39 points, winner of pennant; Ellen Doughty, second place with 29 points; Jessie Stewart, third place with 22 points.

BASEBALL NOTES.

The Detroit team has signed his contract; so look out for the Tigers from now on.

Poor pitching seems to be the trouble with the Cincinnati Reds, as the team looks pretty good otherwise.

Joe Kelley's Toronto team, International League champions, have had pretty tough picking since the season opened.

Manager Evers, of the Cubs, has quite a nifty pitching staff and one that looks capable of going the full distance.

The Providence Club has released Pitcher Jensen to New Haven, Outfielder Sheer to Youngstown and Pat Duggan to Hartford.

ROYALS WANT GAME.

No baseball opponent has been secured by Manager Pete Simmons, of the Royal Colored Giants, for next Saturday afternoon and he would like to hear from some game booker in this vicinity having that date op

STAR PLAYERS ALL SHAPES AND SIZES

Small Man at a Disadvantage in Many Sports but Not in the National Game.

Baseball players come in all shapes and sizes. The player on the average is between five and six feet in height and weighs from 140 to 200 pounds. He is fat, lean, stocky, angular—in fact, he may come in any old build. While a small man is at a disadvantage in many other sports, perhaps football most notably of all, this is particularly untrue of baseball, and it has proven often that the size of the player makes little, if any, difference in the national game. Lajoie, Wagner and Cobb, perhaps the three greatest players who ever donned a spiked shoe, happen to be big men, but this is the exception to the mighty good rule that size makes very little difference in baseball. If you happen to be prejudiced in favor of either long or short players a glance over the four teams recruited from the National and the American leagues and then determine which one you would wager on in a season's schedule of play. The teams compose the tallest and shortest players in both of the leagues in all of the positions.

National League.

SAIL ON WORLD TOUR.

Boston, Mass., May 7.—Nearly three score of bright boys, members of the Boy Achievement Club of America, sailed from this port today on a trip around the world. The youngsters, who formed a fine and healthy looking party and attracted considerable attention, were selected by prize competition from the boys in many large cities between San Francisco and Boston.

A BIT ROUGH BUT—

When the cave man wanted help or a wife he strode forth, tapped one on the head, and dragged him or her to the tribal habitat.

Civilization has placed certain restrictions and limitations about us which prevent this beautifully simple method.

But it has given us the Press want ad, which costs but a few cents, and no physical effort.

NEW EXPLOSIVE AT LOCAL QUARRY

Costly Preparation Being Made at Smalley Crusher for a Huge Blast.

WONDERFUL INVENTION

Drilling Giant Bores for Blast to Take Place Late in Season—No Danger to Property in the Neighborhood.

For several days a giant drilling machine placed atop the Watchung mountain has been boring holes at Newton B. Smalley's stone crusher plant and the progress of the work has been watched with much interest by people in the neighborhood as well as many from Plainfield. When the job is completed there will be five deep bores, each measuring six inches in diameter and in depth respectively 50, 75, 100, 125 and another also at 100 feet.

It may be several months before the great holes in the rock are drilled through and as may be supposed the cost will be very large. But former Mayor Smalley, in explaining the purpose yesterday to a representative of the Plainfield Daily Press, said that the expense was a secondary matter for what was desired was to prevent any possible danger from blasts and that this would be accomplished by the use of a new explosive.

For several days Jules Levy, of Belgium, has been at the quarry making preliminary arrangements for the great blast. He represents a Belgium company, which has a plant for the manufacture of the explosive, called "Praeposit," on the road between Metuchen and New Brunswick.

This is an entirely new innovation in the field of blasting agents, inasmuch as this new discovery can be handled with absolute safety, and the results obtained from the use of same are entirely new and distinct in their character. Although it is used for blasting of every kind of rock, it is especially recommended on account of its peculiar easy lifting and heaving qualities in cases where the main objects is to avoid the demolishing of the rock, the obtaining of maximum explosive power, and the elimination of the danger which has heretofore existed in blasting. The tendancy of the powder is to strike downward and, being very slow in its action, it thereby prevents shattering.

In Europe "Praeposit" is not shipped under the rules governing the transportation of explosives but is carried on express and passenger trains under the same regulations as other commodities. The quarry owners who witnessed the blasting with Praeposit were well satisfied with the results and were also convinced of its great strength as well as its absolute safety in handling. The writer had the pleasure of viewing the demonstrations at various quarries and was much impressed with one blast in particular when 18,000 cubic feet was moved two inches from its bed with one charge. This was done with 25 per cent. less "Praeposit" than any other powder heretofore used. Numerous other blasts were made with excellent results. From practical experiences and from opinions gathered from amongst the quarry owners, "Praeposit" is the ideal explosive for quarries to use on account of less of this explosive being required to accomplish results desired and preventing shattering of valuable granite and being possessed of absolute safety qualities.

Although manufactured in the State, this will be the first time that "Praeposit" has been demonstrated in New Jersey. The cost to the Smalley quarry will be several thousand dollars but as it is absolutely harmless, the former mayor considers that it is money well spent. The new explosive breaks the rock by forming a gas and it shoots downward. All other forms of explosive strike upward and necessarily hurl the rock to some extent.

Praeposit cannot be exploded by impact, jar, concussion or mechanical interference and it develops an expansive force greater than that of any other explosive. Neither can it freeze, nor does it deteriorate in storage. It contains no nitro-glycerine, picric acid, chlorates or gun-cotton. When ignited in its container, Praeposit burns quietly but becomes a powerful explosive only when properly placed and tamped in a drill hole.

EVANS BETTER TODAY.

The condition of Frank Evans, who was hit in the head by a baseball at Crescent Oval last Saturday afternoon, is reported as being slightly improved this afternoon, although the injured man still suffers great pain. The symptoms of spinal meningitis which were so prominent yesterday, have subsided, and he is resting more comfortably today.

NO STATE SCHOOL FUND FOR WARREN TOWNSHIP

J. Brognard Betts, assistant State Commissioner of Education, has notified the Board of Education of Warren township that the township's share of the State school funds will be withheld this year because it has failed to comply wth the State law in providing adequate school accommodations, and the amount will not be paid over until such accommodations are provided.

Owing to a difference of opinion among the voters of the township as to the kind of a school to be built nothing has been done. Already two elections have been held, and each time the proposition to appropriate money for a new building has been defeated. Some want to erect a two-room structure, while others favor a building large enough to accommodate all of the children in the township. It is expected that another election will be held in the near future when it is hoped that a favorable decision will be reached.

THE PRESS CARRIER BOYS ARE CIRCUS MAN'S GUESTS

Through the courtesy of the manager of the Krause Greater Shows, thirty-four carrier boys employed by the Plainfield Daily Press, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lynch, had the time of their lives for two solid hours last night when every show on the carnival grounds was, thrown open to them. This group of real, live young Americans was enthusiastic over the good time accorded them and are still enlarging upon the experiences of the evening. The boys saw the horse with a part of a mile of main, the petrified mermaid, the Trip to Mars coupled with a rapid descent, the big dog and pony circus, and the many other tented attractions which were crowded to their capacity last night and extra performances had to be given in order to accommodate the large crowd of novelty seekers that thronged the tented city.

The general verdict of thousands who wended their way to the big illuminated carnival grounds where the bands play real music was that these shows have the cleanest and best line of shows, concessions and free acts ever seen in this section and the carnival spirit of good times reigns supreme.

Miss Elma Mier, in her high and fancy diving act, proved the big sensation of the evening as she has done all the week through her grace and diving. Her specialty is diving from the lofty height of seventy-five feet into a small tank of water only four feet deep and as her act is made in the open view of thousands of spectators it has already asserted its genuine popularity. Many Plainfielders who saw "Mermaida" when she appeared at Proctor's theatre marveled at her skill in the water, but few knew that she had a sister who was even more highly talented. Miss Mier is a sister of "Mermaida," who is known as the "diving venus" and the two female amphibians come from a family that has become famous through feats of its members scored in the water in every part of the country.

HERE'S AN INCIDENT OF A LOVERS' ROMANCE

Miss Elizabeth Duff, a member of this year's graduating class of the training school of Muhlenberg Hospital, underwent an operation at the institution this morning for appendicitis. Her condition is reported to be favorable for a speedy recovery. It was only recently that Miss Duff was nursing Frank McInerney, Jr., of Lenox avenue, following an operation for appendicitis, and a few days ago their engagement was announced, the wedding to take place in June.

Miss Duff will complete her training course at the hospital in five days, and she is hoping that no complications will arise to prevent her from taking part in the graduation exercises on Thursday night, May 22, or from making arrangements for her wedding in June. Miss Duff's home is at Port Richmond, S. I.

PARENTS MEET TO PLAN FOR SOCIAL

Will Be Held in June for Jersey Boys' Camp Leaders at Mrs. Condict's Home.

A conference and reception will be given for the benefit of the leaders appointed to take charge of the work in the Y. M. C. A. State boys' camp this year under the auspices of the parents of the campers of this city on the lawn at the residence of Mrs. G. Herbert Condict on Central avenue, Saturday afternoon, June 14. Arrangements were made for the affair at a meeting of the parents held in the Y. M. C. A. this morning and Mrs. Phillip S. Suffern is the chairman in charge of the affair, the first of its kind ever given in this city. It is planned to have all of the State camp directors and leaders in attendance on that occasion and opportunity will be thus afforded to hold a final conference of the officers before the camp convenes for the summer.

There are about thirty leaders commissioned for camp work each year, chosen from the active members of various associations, most of whom are college graduates, and they give their services for the furtherance of the boys' work during the summer in this manner. The conference planned for this city will give the leaders an opportunity to confer with their fellow workers and receive any instructions that Charles R. Scott, who is camp director, and C. Wm. Bingeman, of this city, his assistant, have to offer pertaining to the transportation and preliminary arrangements necessary to the opening of the season.

A social in charge of the Plainfield parents will follow the business session and the parents will be formally introduced to the men who will come in contact with their boys during the summer. Mr. Bingeman returned home last night from a visit to the camp and he reports that the equipment is in the finest kind of condition for the opening and that several new features have been added. He further stated that he expected this to be a banner year in the history of the camp and that the Plainfield delegation would be the largest ever sent out from here.

PUBLIC SCHOOL PUPILS AT MUSICAL FEAST

An exhibition of the work being accomplished in the Bryant School in the way of musical instruction will be given for the benefit of the parents and friends of school children in the auditorium of that school tonight, a representative number of the school children taking part in the vocal program that has been arranged. Charles L. Lewis, supervisor of music in the local public schools, will have charge of the affair and Mrs. Lewis will act as pianist. The program as arranged by Mr. Lewis consists of the following numbers:

"Welcome to Springtime," and "Vocal Polka," by the chorus, composed of members of the student body; "Slumber Boat," "Over the River" and "Just Waking Up," by grade 1-A, of which Miss Phelps is teacher; Christmas songs, "If You're Good," "Holes in the Stockings" and "Way Up North," by grade 1-B, of which Miss Kate Marsh is teacher; "Indian Lullaby," "Jack Frost" and "See-Saw," by grade 2-A, of which Miss Lucia Wood is teacher; "The Moon's Lullaby," "The Little Children of Japan," and "The Naughty Mouse," by Miss Weed's class.

Part two—"The Woodpecker," "Boating" and "Milkweed Seeds," by Miss Whitton's class; "The Spring Has Come," "An Open Secret," by the chorus; shadow march by Russell Johnson; two part songs, "Drops of Dew," and "Over Yonder," by Miss Thorn's class; "Jolly Wood-cutter" and "Pussy Willow," by Miss Cowen's class; song, "I Once Had a Sweet Little Doll, Dears," by Miss Marjorie Searing; "May Song" and "The Swallows' Return," by Miss Cooper; "Morning Songs," and "The Moon," by Miss Klem's class; flower songs by the chorus; "The Nobody Man," "The Owl and the Pussy Cat," and "Quadrilles," by the chorus.

BINGEMAN HOME FROM CAMP.

Boys' Secretary C. William Bingeman, of the local Y. M. C. A., returned from Lake Wawayanda in northern New York State last night, following a three days' inspection of the State Boys' Camp, which will open June 21 for the season. Mr. Bingeman is the assistant camp director and he has been putting the equipment in readiness for the reception of the campers, a large number of which will go from this city.

WEISS' DAY OFF DUTY.

Chief of Police George Weiss, of North Plainfield, is enjoying a day off today. This is one of the two days each month that the borough official has a rest.

TO REMOVE THEIR WORSHIP HOUSE

Will Friends' Society Locate Their Meeting Building Near Church Street?

SOME ARE OPPOSED

Change of Location Would Permit of Straightening East Third Street Line—It's Only Talk as Yet, But Change May Be Made.

Plans for the proposed removal of the Friends' meeting-house on Watchung avenue to the society's property on East Second street near Church street in anticipation of the erection of a Federal building on Watchung avenue, are being revived although nothing definite has been decided upon. The society owns a tract of land on East Second street the width and depth of which is large enough for the old meeting-house.

In case the structure is removed the city would undoubtedly take steps to approve its proposed plans of changing East Third street, where it runs into Watchung avenue. At present that street ends abruptly, which has been shown to be very bad for heavy travel. Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett some time ago prepared plans providing for a sweeping curve in the street similar to the letter "S," which would facilitate travel, it is said, and minimize the possibility of collisions between autos and other vehicles with the trolley cars which pass very close to the corner.

There are members of the Religious Society of Friends, however, who are opposed to removing the meeting-house, and unless there was a unanimity of opinion in favor, it is doubtful whether the change would be made at present. At one time the city was considering plans for the erection of a city hall at Watchung avenue and East Third street, but the price of the land was thought to be prohibitive.

Recently government representatives were in Plainfield getting additional data regarding the site for the new Federal building and there is a belief that the work of construction may be started this year now that the desired appropriation has been made by Congress. Plans for the structure have been ordered made, it is said, and Harry C. VanEmburgh, civil engineer, made a complete survey of the land, giving a minute description of the same in compliance with orders from Washington.

LEAL'S ANNUAL EVENT; BASEBALL AND SMOKER

Attractive invitations have been issued for Leal's alumni smoker to be held at Truell Hall, Saturday night, following a game of baseball on Crescent Oval in the afternoon between the alumni and school teams. The success of last year's affair resulted in a decision to make the gathering an annual one. There are five hundred alumnis of Leal's School scattered throughout the country, three hundred of which live within striking distance of these gatherings.

The invitation reads: "We are going to have a smoker and as a smoker there will be few like it ever held in Plainfield in point of attendance, enthusiasm, good-fellowship and Leal spirit. There will be numerous stunts pulled off and there will also be much mirthful melodious music by that famous colored merry minstrel, 'Boots' of Princeton fame.

"Are you going to be the only one of 300 in this part of the country that is not going to show up? We want you to be there, and you owe it to 'Pop' Leal—to the school—to the alumni—but principally you owe it to yourself to be there and yell 'present,' when the roll is called."

The ball game in the afternoon will "be some game," too. The lineup of the alumni will be as follows: Albert Tilney, c; George Dupee and Will T. Glenney, p; Will Doane and Charles Lyman, 1b; Wm. Schoonmaker, 2b; Morris J. Dumont, 3b; Ralph Schoonmaker, ss; Edward Daniel, lf; Geo. Schoonmaker, cf; Owen Fleming and W. Lester Glenney, rf. "Cliff" McGee, president of the association, will be present as a reserve pitcher, although he has informed the committee that he does not usually pitch for small teams. If any pitcher's name is omitted from the lineup it has been an oversight and they are requested to be present just the same. The alumni appreciate the fact that Crescent Oval has been reserved for this game, for after Saturday it will be cut up into building lots.

Leal School lineup: Stewart, ss; Dickerson, 3b and p; Nash, c; Dale, rf; Faber, lf; Lyon, cf; Stevenson, 1b; Shepherd, p; Cook, 2b; substitutes, Howard, Schneider and Voorhees.

MADAME HOMER TO GIVE FINE PROGRAM

GIRL'S BODY IN POND; BELIEVED SUICIDE CASE

Short Hills, May 8.—The body of Ada Hoffman, a servant employed by Mrs. Frank L. Lawrence, was found in a pond on the estate of Stewart Hartshorn, Wednesday. Her clothing was disarranged, and this led many to think she was murdered. The police authorities believed she committed suicide. She was to have married Gustave Mailtize, of Union Township, on next Saturday.

The body was discovered by Miss Stella Jonkoski, who was walking along the railroad tracks near the railroad station. She notified the police authorities and the body was identified by Mailtize. The girl departed from the Lawrence house Tuesday night at 9 o'clock, saying she was going to visit her sister in Springfield, a short distance away.

SOLDIER'S MONUMENT.

The committee appointed to consider plans for raising a fund with which to erect a soldier's monument in this city, will meet tonight in the Frost building. The movement is one result of the complimentary dinner given to Fire Chief Doane last week, when several veterans who were present introduced the subject. It was the unanimous opinion that there should be such a monument in Plainfield. It is expected that there will be present representatives of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R. The idea is to place the monument in the triangle opposite the Crescent Avenue church.

JAMES BURNETT HURT.

James Burnett, aged 50 years, employed in the foundry at the Pond Machine Tool Works, was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital about 9:30 o'clock this morning with a crushed foot, the result of a heavy casting falling on it. The most severe injury was to the big toe on the foot and it was found necessary to amputate it at the first joint. Burnett resides at 953 South Second street, and is unmarried. He has been employed at Ponds some time. It is expected that he will be able to return home within a short time.

IN DISTRICT COURT.

District Court Judge Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., today decided there was no cause for action in the suit instituted by the F. L. C. Martin Automobile Co., against Lucius Koons, of West Seventh street, to recover a claim of $166.50 covering alleged amounts due the plaintiff for a motorcycle and storage charges. The case was tried in the District Court about ten days ago.

WINFIELD SCOTT POST MEMORIAL DAY PLANS

Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., is preparing for its annual observance of Memorial Day, when the customary parade and public exercises will be held at Reform Hall. The detail comprises I. L. McVoy, William Hand and H. Craig Smith.

Committees will look after the details as follows: Hall, N. C. Pennington, Edward VanderWeg, Isaac E. Huston; speaker, William C. Smith and H. Craig Smith; appropriations, William C. Smith and H. Craig Smith; music, Dr. J. F. Berg; flowers, H. B. Green.

The parade will be held in the morning and it is understood that some of the boy scouts will turn out on that occasion. Various details will visit the cemeteries and decorate graves and in the afternoon exercises will be held at Reform Hall.

PLAINFIELD AWAITING TWO BOROUGHS' ACTION

Now that the Common Council has adopted on final reading the ordinance providing for the building of the joint sanitary sewer, nothing further can be done until North Plainfield and Dunellen take similar action. In the case of the latter two communities sixty days must elapse from a given time before their governing bodies can act on the ordinance, and then arrangements must be made for holding elections. North Plainfield is planning to hold its election in June.

The joint sewer proposition progresses slowly because of so much legal detail, and when the three municipalities have complied with the law they may find themselves confronted with an injunction which could hold them up for an indefinite time. Aside from the original protest, nothing further has been heard from Piscataway township, but it is not at all likely that its officials are asleep. Their legal representative is keeping in close touch with everything that is being done, it is said.

A large tract of land, adjoining the Darling farm in Piscataway township, where it is proposed to locate the joint sewage beds, was recently acquired by a land development company and it is said is now being cut up into building lots. What effect this would have on the plans of Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen cannot be stated at present. While the State Board of Health has given the municipalities permission to go ahead with their sewage plans, there is nothing to prevent the courts from holding the improvement up, it is declared.

FREEMAN STRAIT MAY HAVE HIS OWN GOODS

The replevin suit brought by Freeman Strait against Horace Codington and Constable Sidney Wood, of Warren township, was tried before Judge Isaac P. Runyon in the District Court, Somerville, yesterday, and resulted in a victory for the plaintiff. Mr. Strait was given possession of his goods, which were held by the defendants, since the time he was dispossessed from a farm in the township.

When Mr. Strait was dispossessed, some of his goods were removed from the premises and others were left there. He wanted to get all that belonged to him, but claimed that he was restrained through the action of both Codington and Wood. The defendants in the action were instructed yesterday to allow the plaintiff possession of his goods. The suit was the result of another one which involved possession of the farm occupied by Mr. Strait under the terms of a lease. J. Henry Crane, attorney, of this city, represented Mr. Strait for W. L. Hetfield, Jr., who was called away, whiler W. V. Steele was counsel for the defendants.

PLEADINGS SECURED RELEASE.

William Cratsley, of North Plainfield, who was sentenced by Mayor Clark to spend four days in the borough lock-up when arraigned for drunkenness, was released yesterday, after serving a day and a half. Pleadings on the part of the prisoner's father and his promises to do better in the future led to his release.

HER RASH DEED WAS NOT FATAL

Wife Poured Scalding Water Over Frank Berlinker, but He Will Recover.

WAS WOMAN INSANE?

Ignorant of Her Offense She is Apparently Normal Now—Victim Being Restored to Health at Muhlenberg Hospital.

Frank Berlinker, forty years old, of Oak Tree, who was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital the early part of this month suffering from burns about the face and hands sustained when his wife, while in an irresponsible condition, poured boiling water over him as he slept, will recover without undergoing a skin-grafting operation as was at first thought necessary to save his life.

According to the hospital authorities, Mrs. Berlinker left her bed in a room on the second floor of her home shortly before 5 o'clock on Friday morning, May 2, and tip-toed to the kitchen on the first floor. Making a fire in the cook stove she heated a kettle of water to a boiling point. Returning with the receptacle to the bed where her husband slept, it is said, she poured the boiling water over him, inflicting severe burns.

Mr. Berlinker sprang from his resting place and in a half blinded condition ran to the first floor and summoned neighbors who in turn telephoned for the hospital ambulance.

It is thought that Mrs. Berlinker was in a semi-insane condition when she committed the rash act. Observations during her visits to the hospital seem to indicate that she is now, undoubtedly in normal condition, although she apparently is ignorant that she caused her husband's injuries.

GUILTY OF MURDERING HIS FATHER-IN-LAW

Flemington, May 8.—Sylvanus Souders, who was put on trial here on Monday for the murder of Herbert Quick, his father-in-law, on last March 21, was found guilty of murder in the first degree yesterday morning. Half an hour later Souders was sentence to death in the week beginning Monday, June 16. The defense introduced no witnesses.

Quick was a veteran of the Civil War and lived in Bunn Valley. He owned two valuable farms. His body was found on Easter Sunday, March 23, lying face downward in a pool of blood on the kitchen floor.

ALLEGED AUTO HIRE.

Miss Anne L. Seward, of 1010 Plainfield avenue, appeared as defendant in a suit tried this morning in the District Court before Judge Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., for a bill of $91, which the plaintiff Frank L. C. Martin, president of the F. L. C. Martin Automobile Co., claimed covered the expenses involved in trips taken by the former to South Orange in his hired cars during the year 1910. Miss Seward swore on the witness stand that although she made frequent trips to the Oranges and other nearby cities in automobiles she never went to South Orange in any of Mr. Martin's machines. The taking of testimony was completed at noon and Judge Hetfield reserved decision. The defendant was represented by Asa F. Randolph and George W. Anderson. Martin B. Stutsman was counsel for Mr. Martin.

GIFT FOR SHERIFF.

Elizabeth, May 8.—Sheriff William H. Wright, who is celebrating the forty-eighth anniversary of his birthday today, was given a surprise at the court house, this morning, when William N. Runyon, of Plainfield, on behalf of a number of friends, attaches of the sheriff's office, presented him with a gold watch charm in the form of a locket. On one side there is a diamond and inside are engraved the names of the donors, Under Sheriff Robert Kirkland, Deputy Sheriffs George Peek, James Clark, James Crann, Thomas Carey, Henry Harris, Edward Sherwood and Alexander D. Ayers.

NEW SPRING STYLES SEEN AT MEADOW BROOK MEET.

LEFT TO RIGHT: MISS NANCY G. STEELE, MRS. ALBERT Z. GRAY, ——, MISS MARY PYNE, MRS. OGDEN L. MILLS AND MR. ASHDEL H. BARNEY—MRS. ALEXANDER D. B. PRATT, AND MISS MURIEL WINTHROP.

The recent Meadow Brook Steeple Chase Association meet, held at Belmont Park, Long Island, N. Y., was attended by the largest crowds that were ever seen on one of the world's greatest racecourses. Society from all over the country attended, and some of the best known horses were entered. The above is a scene on one of the last days of the meet. Because of the beautiful weather summer styles that were being reserved for a later date were displayed by some of the ladies present, and the whole scene was an announcement of an early summer season.

SECRETARY BRYAN ADDRESSING THE SENATE AT SACRAMENTO

ANOTHER BASIS FOR SENATOR PROPORTION

Representation According to Classification of Counties is Suggested.

Trenton, May 8.—In connection with the plan of changing the representation in the Senate, a novel proposition has been made which may be submitted to the Legislature before the fight over the constitutional convention is settled. This proposal is to give the counties a material representation according to their classification. This plan would give the first-class counties, which are Hudson and Essex, three Senators each; the second-class counties, which are Bergen, Atlantic, Camden, Burlington, Cumberland, Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth, Morris, Passaic and Union, two Senators each, and all the other counties one Senator each. The counties then with one Senator would be Cape May, Gloucester, Hunterdon, Somerset, Salem, Sussex, Ocean and Warren. This would raise the membership of the Senate from 21 to 36, but would still keep the control of the body in the hands of the smaller counties. If any such provision were enacted the Senate Chamber would have to be entirely remodeled because at present it accommodates only twenty Senatorial desks, there not even being a desk on the floor for the President.

The possibility of a provision in a new constitution for the election of Senators according to population is the cause of the contest over the constitutional convention question. South Jersey is strenuously opposing a constitutional convention with delegates elected according to population, because this would mean that four or five populous counties of New Jersey would control the convention. These counties do not resitate to declare that the Senate should be a body with popular representation, and the fact is well known that if Hudson, Essex, Bergen and Passaic counties should control the convention that would vote into the proposed new constitution an article creating senatorial districts in the State and providing for the election of Senators according to population. This would give Essex and Hudson counties three or four Senators each, while most of the South Jersey counties would be grouped in one or two Senatorial districts with only one Senator to represent each district. This explains the bitter opposition of South Jersey to the Hennessy constitutional convention bill.

It is not believed that North Jersey will accept the new proposition to give counties Senatorial representation according to classification, because if any change be made they will insist upon the popular representation which will give them control. The outlook is that there will be another bitter fight in the extra session on the constitutional convention question.

JAPAN'S AMBASSADORS DISREGARD OF ETIQUETTE

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, May 8.—Disregarding the customary usages of diplomatic etiquette which provide that representatives of foreign powers shall call on the Secretary of State at his office, Viscount Chinda, Japanese ambassador, today visited the Secretary of State at the latter's residence and there presented to him a formal protest from Tokio against the Webb alien land law of California.

MAN EXISTS AFTER DEATH IN FORM OF GAS, IS CLAIM.

German Scientists Assert Unusual Discovery.

Man exists after death in the form of gas endowed with intelligence. This is alleged to be the discovery of two Germans described as scientific spiritualists. They are Messrs. Math and Zaalberg Van Zelst.

The Germans constructed an apparatus by which they might measure the spirit superman whom they have christened the "man force."

The experiments are stated to have shown that the "man force" is not what can properly be termed "soul" as it was amenable and responded to physical tests. On the other hand, it is not a body, as it is invisible. It is therefore defined as a gaseous composition.

In 1904 the Germans were told by the spirits to make two air tight cylinders and to cover the outer and inner sides of these cylinders with sheets of tin. The spirits stated that they would be able to penetrate the cylinder and would be kept there by the tin.

Attached to the cylinder was a highly sensitive recorder, and it is from records made that the scientific spiritualists state they have found that—

The records were made by a limited being.

The being had intelligence since it took part in the experiments.

The being was gaseous, as it obeyed the laws which govern gases.

The density of the body was equal to that of air.

DEADLIEST GUN INVENTED.

Frenchman Designs Weapon Which Throws Light on Object.

A French inventor has made a frightful addition to the efficacy of the revolver. A small but powerful electric light is attached to the mechanism of a pistol of ordinary size. By use of lenses and mirrors the glare of the circle of light which the lamp throws is bright enough to be clearly seen in daylight against so light an object as a light colored suit of clothes. Now, the center of the circle of light, marked by a black spot, by arrangement of the lenses is exactly the spot where the bullet will strike. Thus all one has to do is to place the black center of the blazing circle of light over the heart of an adversary and pull the trigger.

At night the light is shockingly strong. Experiments with the new weapon show that perfect greenhorns, who have never used a revolver in their lives, can shoot far more accurately than experts using an ordinary pistol. Up to sixty yards one cannot miss a small bullseye, day or night, while extremely accurate shooting is possible up to 100 yards. The lamp arrangement adjusts automatically by levels to distances.

HE INVENTS BOXING ARMOR.

Physical Director Provides Means to Avoid Injury.

The manly art as a part of the regular course of study in connection with the physical training branch of the schools of the United States was discussed in the annual convention of the National Physical Education association in Newark, N. J., recently.

Six hundred delegates witnessed in the First Regiment armory interesting demonstrations of a device designed by Dr. Guy Otis Brewster, director of physical training of the public schools of Dover, N. J.

Eight husky young athletes selected from the Dover high school gave an exhibition and displayed Dr. Brewster's system. They used all the strength and skill of which they were possessed in landing right and left swings, hooks, jabs, uppercuts and cross counters, but all without the slightest injury to each other.

This was because the combatants were armor clad. Each wore a mask and body screen made of steel wire mesh, with thick felt shock absorbers and adjusted to the head and breast in such a manner as to resist impact from whatever angle.

URGES NAVY FUND FOR DIKES

Clergyman Declares Warship Money Would Stop Floods.

The government could save millions of dollars and many lives each year the Rev. Tobias Schanfarber of Chicago told his congregation recently at the K. A. M. temple, East Thirty-third street and Indiana avenue, if the money spent for warships were spent in building dikes.

"It is an appropriate time to build defenses about our cities," he said.

"The government spends millions of dollars each year for warships and coast defense. If half that amount were spent in the protection of inland cities that are subject to floods the saving would be more than the money invested."

CHURCH FIFTY YEARS OLD.

Jersey City, May 8.—Every member of the congregation of the Lafayette Reformed church is interested in the preparations for the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of that church, which is to be celebrated with a week's services. The opening commemorative service will be held next Sunday evening, when Rev. J. R. Duryea, of Grace Reformed church, of Brooklyn, will occupy the pulpit at the morning service, and Rev. Cornelius Brett, of the Bergen Reformed church, will conduct the evening service. Monday evening these three clergymen of Newark will make addresses: Rev. J. F. Folsom, of the Clinton Avenue Presbyterian church; Rev. William Young Chapman, of the Roseville Presbyterian church, and Rev. George P. Dougherty, of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church. Tuesday will be the evening of the Sunday-schools of the church. Rev. W. Stockton Cranmer, of the First Reformed church, Somerville; Rev. Jasper S. Hogan, of the First Reformed church, New Brunswick, and Rev. Thomas Travis, of Montclair, will be the speakers. The church societies will have their night Wednesday. The officiating participants that evening will be Rev. W. Warren Giles, of the First Reformed church, East Orange; Rev. Isaac W. Gowan, of the Grove Reformed church, North Bergen, and Mrs. Gowan. Thursday will be social night, when a musicale and reception will be the feature. At the closing service, to be held Sunday, May 18, Rev. William I. Chamberlain, of New York, will be the preacher.

LOCOMOTIVE LABORATORY.

Urbana, Ill., May 8.—A two-day program of exercises was inaugurated here today in connection with the dedication of the locomotive laboratory, railway engineering laboratory and mining engineering laboratory, three buildings recently erected in a group at the University of Illinois. As a result of the increased facilities afforded by the new laboratories it is expected that the State university will soon take rank among the best technical institutions in America. The practical side of railway transportation in every detail is to be taught at the university. The new transportation building cost $200,000 and contains what is declared to be the finest laboratory in the world for testing locomotives. In the testing plant a locomotive can be run under conditions which may be varied at will. Problems of hauling power and coal and steam consumption may be easily investigated. Engine friction, which cannot be determined in ordinary road tests, may be easily tested in the laboratory.

MYSTIC SHRINE TO GATHER AT DALLAS

Imperial Council Will Convene on Monday—35,000 Visitors Expected.

Dallas, Texas, May 8.—The annual meeting of the imperial council, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will be held in Dallas next week, beginning Monday, and it is estimated that 35,000 or more visitors will be in the city. Every section of the country will be represented.

Monday will be devoted to the reception of the visitors and to sightseeing trips about the city. Tuesday will be featured by the morning parade of bands and patrols acting as an official escort to the imperial officers to the place of meeting of the imperial council. At night the big spectacular Shrine pageant will take place, following which the delegates will be entertained at a Mexican dinner and vaudeville show at the Fair Grounds.

Wednesday the patrols and bands will assemble for battalion formation and exhibition drills for rich prizes to be awarded by the executive committee. Late in the afternoon there will be a barbecue and a grand spectacle illustrating pioneer days in the Southwest. A reception and ball will be given Wednesday night.

The last half of the week, following the close of the imperial council sessions, will be devoted by many of the delegates and their families to a grand 1,000-mile tour of Texas. Galveston, Houston, Waco, San Antonio, Austin and other of the principal cities will be visited.

An army of decorators is already at work dressing up the downtown section of Dallas in anticipation of the coming of the Shriners. The night illuminations will be among the most brilliant ever seen in an American city. From all the trolley support wires along the leading thoroughfares are being hung immense Shrine emblems of the scimitar and crescent. The emblems are painted in white and gold and on each side illuminated by incandescent lights. On each side of the emblems will be suspended American, Texas and Shrine flags.

STATE BOARD DEFINES SCHOOL BUILDING STORY

Trenton, May 8.—Meeting at the offices of John P. Murray, Tuesday afternoon, the building committee of the State Board of Education adopted an amendment to the code defining accurately in what circumstances a basement shall be considered as constituting a story of a school building. The rule applied was that when a basement is six feet above grade, it shall be regarded as a story.

The new rule will have a particular bearing upon a situation at Lambertville, where plans have been prepared for a new school, to cost in the neighborhood of $65,000. The plans were disapproved by the State Board upon the ground that the proposed building was a three-story structure and, therefore, must be of fire-proof construction.

This ruling was attacked by the Lambertville School Board, upon the ground that the basement of the proposed school should not be counted as a story under the rules of the Board. It was then disclosed that the rules upon this point were indefinite, and the committee on buildings was authorized to correct the omission. By the decision reached Tuesday, the Lambertville school must be of fire-proof construction throughout, in order to meet the new requirements of the State Board. This will necessitate a considerably large expenditure than had been provided for and, owing to a peculiar situation existing in Lambertville, may further delay the construction of the new school, of which the city is admittedly badly in need.

PROSPEROUS SONS OF NORWAY.

New York, May 8.—The annual pilgrimage of Scandinavian-Americans to the fatherland, which this year promises to reach unusually large proportions, was inaugurated today with the departure of a party for Norway. The party included about sixteen families, all residents of North Dakota, where they evidently have prospered, judging by the fact that they chartered a private car in which to make the trip from the West to this city.

WEDS LONDONER.

New York, May 8.—St. Matthew's church, in West Eighty-fourth street, was the scene of an international wedding this afternoon, when Miss May George Falconer, a member of a family that has long been prominent socially in New York, became the bride of Francis Tatam Sanford, of London. The ceremony at the church was followed by a reception at the Home Club.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will preach Sunday evening on the theme, "The Most Dangerous Sign of the Times." All parents are especially invited to be present.

NIECE OF COLONEL THOMPSON MARRIED TO NAVAL OFFICER

Miss Dorothy Garrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grenfil Blake Garrison, of New York, and a niece of Colonel Robert M. Thompson, was married yesterday afternoon to Ensign Walter Vincent Combs, U. S. N., attached to the ticut. A brilliant reception followed at Colonel Thompson's home. An unusually attractive setting was provided for the wedding, which specially was one of the important events of the spring. The ceremony took place within a bower of flowers and palms and the bridegroom and his attendants, with one exception, were in uniform.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with point lace and a court train. Her veil of point lace, which had been worn by her grandmother, was held by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried lilies of the valley and white orchids. Miss Stella Beehler, of Annapolis, was the chief attendant. She was in green charmeuse with pink satin and wore a large picture hat of blue and green. She carried apple blossoms.

Plainfield, N. J., May 8, 1913.

Beginning with the Rosenthal case, District Attorney Whitman has secured the conviction of fourteen grafters and murderers directly or indirectly connected with the New York police department force. These include four inspectors, one captain, one lieutenant and three patrolman and a lawyer. Five of this group have been sentenced to death and the others have either been sentenced to the penitentiary or are about to be. Truly this is a great record for a prosecutor who has had every obstacle placed in his way, even to getting no help from the Mayor and Commissioner of Police and at the same time to having the police force doing everything possible to defeat his purpose.

Mr. Colby has now earned the disgust of the regulars and the enmity of the other wing of the Republican party.—Elizabeth Journal.

From a newspaper that pretends to favor the amalgamation of the two parties, not the Republican and "the other wing," but the Republican and the Progressive, this comes in poor grace. It is even worse, for Colby declares that he never uttered the assertions attributed to him and no matter how much the Journal may disagree with his political opinions it cannot deny that he is an honest man and his word is to be believed.

That idea of the Board of Trade to have its members agree not to advertise in small magazines not having any real value as publicity mediums is an excellent one. Programs are the worst form of this abuse for they cost the merchants a lot of money from which they get absolutely no return. The trick is for a customer to solicit the advertisement and the merchant feels that he is compelled to give up fearing that he may lose the customer's trade.

Apparently the State Motor Vehicle department and the local police authorities throughout the State are not using the necessary degree of vigilance in enforcing the law against speeding automobiles. This laxity has permitted the foolhardy and reckless speed-maniac to turn our great highways into race courses. Not only are the costly roads being seriously damaged by this practise, but numerous lives are in constant jeopardy.

Plainfield is being well advertised at the Real Estate Show at the Grand Central Palace in New York, enterprising townsmen having subscribed a fund sufficient for a booth there. There is still a better way of giving desirable publicity to this ideal commuters' community and it is for all to be boosters. You can't say too much for Plainfield.

When 5,000 citizens gather to cheer Haywood and other indicated leaders of the I. W. W., when they are placed on trial, surely it is a reproach to Paterson. A letter addressed to "Hades" was once delivered to Paterson. No mistake was made as to the proper destination.

Militant suffragists who will not even stop at possible murder are enemies of society and are not fit to be at large. Some of these monsters placed a bomb in St. Paul's cathedral, London, and it was there while services were being held. Life sentences at hard labor would be a mild punishment for such women.

The contributing editor for Saturday's issue will be Miss Mabelle G. Phillips, agent of the Plainfield Charity Organization Society. She will discuss a subject of vital importance not only to Plainfield, but to the whole country.

At Perth Amboy yesterday, two scoundrels were fined $45 for giving a one-year old babe a drink of port wine. We don't think highly of that sort of justice. The offenders deserved about five years in prison.

Soon Plainfield will take its place on the list of progressive municipalities that have "safe and sane" Independence Day ordinances in force. The city should have been on the list years ago.

WALTER JOHNSON'S PITCHING FEAT

Washington Club's Twirler Had Record of 86 Consecutive Shut Out Innings.

Two pictures belonging to Wallace Childers Baer, third-sacker of the Walla Walla team, showing the great Caldwell-Weiser game of 1907, in which Walter Johnson was in the box for Weiser, are nailed on the "dope" board at Bade's cigar store, in Walla Walla, Wash., and they recall the great battle when Walter Johnson had the first run scored off him after 86 successive innings.

The contest was one of the greatest ever played on a diamond in Idaho. Johnson had been winning everything down at Weiser, and he had allowed so few hits and mowed down so many that he was beginning to attract attention all over the country, and Spokane, of the Northwest League, was after him hot and heavy.

Not a run had been scored on Johnson in the previous 76 innings, and in order to beat Weiser the Caldwell sports imported six players from the Northwest League. One of them was Higgenbotham, who had made an enviable record with Aberdeen that year and who was regarded as the greatest twirler in the Northwest. "Spec" Harkness, now with the Portland Coast Leaguers, was also in the game and played at first for Weiser.

The game was played at Caldwell, and attracted people from all over the State. Special trains were run from Huntington and Boise, and between 6,000 and 7,000 persons crowded into the field.

One of the spectators was Cliff Blankenship, Washington backstop, who had been sent to Weiser to land Johnson. Blankenship had been in Weiser for a week, but no one knew who he was, and he witnessed the famous game from the bench. Johnson had been tipped off to the Washington Club by an Idaho mining man, and as Blankenship was laid off with a bad leg, he was sent out as a scout with orders to bring Johnson back.

The contest was a pitchers' battle from the start, and with both twirlers getting gilt-edge support, not a run had been pushed over the plate at the end of the ninth. This made Johnson's 85th consecutive inning without a run against him. Neither team scored in the 10th and Weiser was blanked in the first half of the 11th.

Johnson had allowed but two hits and had struck out 19 men, while Higgenbotham had allowed Weiser three hits and had whiffed the same number of batters. After two were down a Caldwell man got to first on an error and stole second. And a moment later he was on third when a pitched ball got through the catcher's hands.

There was no telling how many innings Johnson would have gone without being scored upon had not the next batter got a fluke hit through the infield and the runner scored from third. The game ended 1 to 0, in Caldwell's favor.

The next week Blankenship took Johnson to Washington and Higgenbotham was bought by the Chicago Nationals. Johnson lost his first game and wrote back to Weiser that if he had had his old team behind him he could have won easily. The sports in Weiser had the details of every contest he pitched that fall wired West after the game.

DETECTIVES WATCH BRANDT.

Former Schiff Valet Under Surveillance at Bemidji, Minn.

Foulke E. Brandt, sentenced to thirty years' imprisonment in New York on a charge of having assaulted Mortimer L. Schiff, to whom he was valet, and pardoned not long ago by Governor Sulzer, has recently been the object of a mysterious surveillance by detectives at Bemidji, Minn., where he is employed in the office of a lumber company. The appearance of the sleuths caused certain residents of Bemidji to suspect that a plot was on foot to return Brandt to prison, and the first two detectives were told to leave town. They departed. The hint was dropped by friends Brandt has made since he began working in Bemidji.

One of the detectives, a Pinkerton named Wood, is reported to have worked under the direction of an eastern law firm. Wood trailed Brandt everywhere. He left suddenly. He was replaced by Detective Bergkeller, who also left town hurriedly. The third detective appeared a few days later.

Brandt is doing his work faithfully and is gaining friends daily. Senator Nelson was instrumental in obtaining a pardon for him, and State Insurance Commissioner Preus of Minnesota obtained him his position at Bemidji

PREACHES TO EIGHT RACES.

Pastor In New York City Has Cosmopolitan Congregation.

When the Rev. R. F. Y. Pierce celebrated the fifth anniversary of his pastorate at the Second Avenue Baptist church in New York city a few days ago he received congratulations in eight languages. In his congregation are Chinese, Magyars, Italians, Greeks, Poles, Slavs, Swedes and Americans.

So large have the different divisions of nationalities in the church become that it is now proposed to have assistant ministers who will be able to speak the various languages and to take charge of members of the eight races. Fifteen thousand dollars is now being expended in building operations to accommodate the various groups.

The Second Avenue Baptist church recently employed physicians and dentists to look after the health of members of the congregation, especially the children. These men either speak the language or have interpreters.

The church is supported by the Baptist City Mission society.

"DOG POLICEMAN" IS DEAD.

Jack Walked Beats of London Patrolmen as Inspector.

Jack, the London "dog policeman," officially registered as "police constable 999," is dead. He was run over by an automobile recently while faithfully discharging his duties, and the best of surgical and medical treatment failed to save his life.

Jack was a lively little fox terrier. At one time he belonged to an elderly woman, but the life he led was too slow for him, and he attached himself to the police, refusing to return to his old home. He took upon himself the duties of inspector, patrolling the "beats" to see that the policemen were attending to their duties. They always knew when Jack would turn up, for he was regular and punctual in his inspections, whether he elected to be on day or night duty. Fires were his chief delight.

DA GAMA'S DESCENDANT FREE

Notable Portuguese Woman Found Not Guilty.

Senhorita Constanca Tellos da Gama a descendant of Vasco da Gama, the celebrated Portuguese explorer, who discovered the passage to India around the Cape of Good Hope, was recently acquitted by a court martial at Lisbon before which she was tried on an accusation of conspiring against the Portuguese republic.

The case excited intense interest throughout Portugal on account of the ancestry of the accused woman, her wealth and youth and her devotion to relieving the sufferings of royalist prisoners incarcerated since the revolution.

Another woman and a priest who were tried at the same time as fellow conspirators were found guilty by the military court.

BLOWN AWAY ON A MATTRESS

Doctor Was Borne Through Air From Bed to Sidewalk.

The peculiar phases of the recent storm in Indiana were illustrated in the death of Dr. Ernest L. Moore at Terre Haute. The great wind smashed against his office when he was asleep.

Through the falling timbers and in a shower of plaster the wind carried the physician to the sidewalk and deposited him with the mattress on which he had been sleeping at the edge of the gutter, which was full of rushing water.

There the rescuers found him and took him to a house, where he died.

WOMEN FOR POLICE FORCE.

May Serve at Topeka Under Direction of Author Sheldon.

Women will serve on the police force at Topeka, Kan., if a plan now under consideration is carried out. And as a further novelty in police administration the new mayor has appointed the Rev. Charles M. Sheldon to reorganize the department.

Dr. Sheldon is the author of the book "In His Steps." It is proposed in the plans outlined for Dr. Sheldon's guidance that college men also be tried out on the force.

THREE PARISHES ENGAGE IN EUCHRE CONTEST

The second of a series of euchre games in the series of the Holy Name Society tournament now being conducted under the auspices of the societies of the St. Mary's, St. Joseph's and St. John's churches, was played in Social Hall last night, the St. Mary's team acting as hosts. The entire series includes forty-five games divided up into three periods of fifteen games each.

The second set, which was played last night, resulted in St. Mary's annexing eighteen points against the fifteen and twelve made respectively by St. John's and St. Joseph's. The defeat of the St. Joseph's team so handily, was a thing not looked forward to by the large delegation of euchre enthusiasts who are following up the tournament, as this team has heretofore been one of the liveliest contenders. The manager of that entrant said that he would have a stronger set of players to contest the next set, however, and expects to regain lost ground and win the title.

A final meeting to play the third of the series will be held at Social Hall Wednesday evening, May 14, the same three teams being the contenders on that occasion. The contests last night were all closely contested and the second of the series served as an interest producer, as it brought the standing of the three teams more nearly on a par and each has a chance to win out in the finals.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council and read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. McMURRAY, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., May [illegible], 1913.

AN ORDINANCE

Regulating and Prohibiting the Sale and Discharge of Fire Arms and Fire Works.

WHEREAS, The Common Council of the City of Plainfield deems it advisable in the interest of the public health, therefore

Be it ordained by the City of Plainfield, by the Common Council, do enact as follows:

Sec. 1. No person or corporation shall within the limits of the City of Plainfield use or discharge any cannon, gun, revolver, or pistol, or firearm of any description whatever, loaded with shot or ball or slugs, provided that this section shall not apply to any militia [illegible] in the [illegible] of the federal government while on duty or to the [illegible] in defense of [illegible] property [illegible] or expressly authorized by [illegible] or [illegible] of [illegible].

Sec. 2. No person or corporation shall [illegible] to sell, [illegible] to sell, or offer for sale any fire works of any description, except any [illegible] shall be placed in the City of Plainfield [illegible] by permit of the Mayor issued as provided in Section [illegible] of this ordinance.

Sec. 3. No person or corporation shall within the limits of the City of Plainfield use or discharge any fire cracker, torpedo or fire works of any description except Roman Candles not over fifteen balls, Mines not over fifteen inches in length, triangles not over twelve inches, Colored Fires, Fire Crackers not over two and one-half inches in length and not over one-half inch in diameter, and torpedos not over three-quarters of an inch in diameter, nor be set off and discharged upon private property on the Fourth day of July in any year, unless said day happens to be Sunday, and in such event then on the fifth day of July between the hours of 8 o'clock on the morning and 12 o'clock midnight, but at no other time, and provided also, that the Mayor may, at his discretion, upon written application made at least twenty-four hours before the time when said [illegible] is to occur, issue written permit for the display and discharge of fire works by properly qualified [illegible] at any time and place to be specified in such permit, such permit when expressed shall entitle the person or persons specified therein, but no other persons, whether to use, set off, discharge and display the fire works therein referred to at the time or place therein specified and at no other time or place except such as may be written consent of the Mayor endorsed upon said written permit subsequently to the issue thereof, be specified and fixed.

Sec. 4. No person or corporation shall within the limits of the City of Plainfield, set in motion any toy or other balloon containing a lighted torch or burning material of any kind.

Sec. 5. No person or corporation within the limits of the City of Plainfield shall sell or expose for sale any toy cannon, toy pistol, fire crackers, torpedos, or fire works of any description, except Roman Candles not over fifteen balls, Mines not over fifteen inches in length, triangles not over twelve inches, colored fires, fire crackers not over two and one-half inches in length and not over one-half inch in diameter, and torpedos not over three-quarters of an inch in diameter, and paper pistols capable of exploding small paper caps only, provided also, that nothing in this section shall prohibit or interfere with the sale of fire works intended to be used exclusively in connection with an exhibition for which a permit has been issued by the Mayor provided that the purchaser shall upon such sale exhibit to the seller such permit [illegible] to the Mayor.

Sec. 6. Any person or corporation violating any of the provisions of sections 1, 2, 3 or 4 of this ordinance shall for each offense be punished by a fine not exceeding $50 for each offense. Any person or corporation violating any of the provisions of section 5 of this ordinance shall, on conviction be punished by a fine not exceeding $100 for each offense.

Sec. 7. The ordinance entitled "An Ordinance Regulating and Prohibiting the Discharge of Fire Arms and Fire Works," approved June 20, 1910, and Section One of the Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance Concerning Fire Arms and other Dangerous Weapons," approved April 9, 1895, as amended, and all other ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

PROOF OF POWER EFFICIENCY

The best proof that Central Station Electric Power is efficient is furnished by the large number of such installations that are giving satisfaction in every particular

We have installed power drives in all sorts of shops and factories to meet all kinds of demands for power, ranging from a fraction of one horse-power to upwards of 5,000 horse-power in a single installation.

We are supplying power to men whose business it is to know all about electrical power, and if they realize that our service is more economical and more efficient than any they could provide for themselves, why cannot we do as well for you?

We can give you the service you require and at the price which, we feel confident, will save you money. Let us study your problem and give you the facts.

900 PER CENT. STOCK DIVIDEND DISTRIBUTED

Council Bluffs, Ia., May 8.—The action of the stockholders of the Continental Oil Company of Iowa, at their annual meeting here today, in indorsing the proposal to dispose of its business and assets to the Continental Oil Company of Colorado, paves the way for the slicing of one of the juciest dividend melons that has ever been distributed by any corporation in the United States. According to the terms of the sale the stockholders of the old Iowa corporation are to receive ten shares of the Colorado company's stock for each share now held.

The Iowa company was incorporated in 1834 and has done a very profitable marketing business since that time. On December 31, 1906, the book value of the company's stock held by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey was placed at $1,301,516, but since that time it has been estimated that the liquidating value of the shares is approximately $2,400 each.

This concern, like most of the other former subsidiaries, is believed to have expanded considerably since the dissolution of the Standard Oil Trust, and it has been deemed wise to increase the capital stock to a figure more nearly representing the company's assets. The laws of Iowa are such that it would be difficult to increase the capital of the old concern and therefore the problem has been solvd by the incorporation of a new company in Colorado. The proposition to exchange one share in the old company for ten shares in the Colorado company virtually amounts to the distribution of a 900 per cent. stock dividend to the stockholders of the Continental Oil Company of Iowa.

KING ALFONSO'S VISIT TO PARIS EXPLAINED

Referring to King Alfonso's coming trip to Paris, Conde de Romanone the Premier, in an interview, recently said:—

"The King's trip to Paris is the cherished project of my predecessor, Señ Canalejas, and one of the features of his programme which I promised to fulf on coming to power. The King has long desired a meeting with the Frenc President, once the treaty between France and Spain on Morocco was signe as it was considered this would crown the diplomatic work and demonstra Spain's friendship for France, her good will and determination to co-opera in the mission in Africa which the interests of civilization have intrusted t the nations.

AMERICANS TO BE LIKE THE INDIANS

Facial Features of the Race Changing.

EXPERTS DESCRIBE TREND.

English Physiognomists Tell How High Cheek Bones, Coarse Black Hair, Immobility and Other Aboriginal Characteristics Are Coming In. Other Races Affected.

English physiognomists assert that Americans as a nation are going back to first principles in the matter of facial appearances. In other words, instead of progressing in the line of Anglo-Saxon beauty they are gradually but surely beginning to look like Indians.

Not only are they becoming to look like Indians as a race, but the residents of each section of the country are taking on the facial traits of the particular tribes that originally roamed over the territory in which they were born.

The physiognomists in question in commenting upon these changes say in substance that the American face is steadily changing; that it is a curious fact that the typical American face is becoming to resemble more and more closely that of the original resident of the same land. The Indian's high and prominent cheek bones, lank hair, thin lips and impressive expression are some of the noticeable changes that are being brought about.

They assert that the American blond is now passing into history and that in a few years the wire haired, beardless individual will take up the center of the stage as the distinctive American type.

Other Nations Changing.

The future cartoon of your Uncle Samuel, according to their figuring, instead of being the fine old gentleman with the slippery elm cud hidden away in his cheek, the long hirsute draperies on his chin and the rosy face that reflects all there is in good nature and Yankee humor, will be replaced by a solemn individual of copper hue, with as much expression in his face as a pan of milk and with hair that suggests barbed wire. Why all this change they know not. Suffice it to say that such is the decree.

Not only are Americans changing in type, but so also are the Japanese, the New Zealanders, the French, the Italians and even our British cousins themselves.

The change in the Japanese is due, so they say, to the change of diet. Where formerly every visit to the table was met with a bowl of rice, now pork chops, butcher's tenderloins and veal cutlets breaded greet them.

After several years of experimenting Japan decided to put meat on the daily diet of her navy, with the result that where the experiment was made the lucky ones who were chosen for the test began to sprout in two directions, up and across. It was noticed that the men of the ships where beef was served grew about three-quarters of an inch on the average. Throughout the island empire entrees and roasts have been taken up, with the result that the Jap generally is growing to be a taller individual.

United States consuls report that local tailors complain that since the introduction of meat there has been a general demand for more cloth in making clothes. Another noticeable change that has been brought about is the condition of their hair. Heretofore their hair has been as upright and as bristly as a galliwog's, but now it is becoming as smooth and lank as the average American's. Hair oil and hair brushes, as a result, have become standard articles of sale through the country where only a few years ago the former was generally thought to be something to drink and the latter was mistaken for a petrified animal of porcupine order.

"Bottle" Nose Coming.

New Zealanders are taking on the "bottle" nose, not as a fashion, but because changes are also coming about down there. The "bottle" nose is the style of nose that spreads across the face rather than stands out from it, sometimes referred to by physiognomists as the "squat aquiline." This nose is typical of the New Zealand aborigine, the Maori.

The dapper little Frenchman heretofore known for his raven hair and mustaches and imperial of the same hue will in the future break out as fair, as large and as husky as the Oles, the Yons and the Svens of the north. No longer, of course, according to the physiognomists, will he be seen draped in his balloony panties on the field of honor seeking "revanche" in the jeu d'epee, jumping about like the little wooden object that as children we used to push up and down a stick. Instead he will come lumbering on to the selected place a mass of muscles, with tawny hair, ready to do battle in support of his good name with a club or some other such weapon.

The Cavalieris of Italy will no longer be the same dark objects that they are today, but instead will play a close second in the matter of physical makeup to their French cousins across the border. That is, they, too, will be husky blonds with pale blue wall paper eyes.

Dish Washing Helps.

Dish washing is tedious—no one can gainsay that, and no one can prevent its being so. But dish washing need not be a bugbear if it is rightly done.

To begin with, the kitchen or pantry ought to be light, with plenty of sunshine streaming over the sink. If it is dark, the matter cannot be helped, and many cannot expect an ideal kitchen. But every housekeeper with a bright kitchen should appreciate her blessings.

The next requisite to happy dish washing is something with which every dish washer can provide herself—plenty of hot water. If you have not a plentiful supply of it always at your command, you certainly have plenty of cold water; and at little cost and small expense of labor you can make it hot. If you have no hot water on tap, keep a big kettle or a small boiler of water always on the stove—not for tea; water for tea should always be freshly boiled, of course. But keep it on hand so that you will have plenty, not just one or two pans full, at dish washing time. This is in case the stove in your kitchen contains a coal fire. If you has a gas stove enough water to make it possible to be lavish with it can be heated after each meal for a very small fraction of a cent.

The Rinsing.

Dishes washed or rinsed in very hot water need little drying, if they are thoroughly drained. There is a wire dish drainer which costs very little and helps a great deal. It has a wire basket in the centre where the silver is put to drain; and a big outer space for dishes. The drainer makes the task of drying dishes comparatively easy, as they shed most of the water they bring from the pan before the towel touches them.

A long-handled dish mop, made of string, and a wire soap shaker make it possible to handle very hot water without blistering or reddening the skin.

Drying.

Next in importance to the supplies and implements which make washing and draining of dishes easy comes a good supply of towels for drying them. Whether they be made of linen or cotton, or whether or not the same kind of towels be used for glass and silver as are used for dishes and pots and pans, they should be plentifully supplied and spotlessly clean.

They can be washed each day; or they can be put in the clothes hamper each day, after they are thoroughly dried in the sunshine or before the fire, and fresh ones can be substituted for them. However often they are washed, they should be boiled once a week to bleach and purify them.

Put them over the fire in a basin of lukewarm water, to which borax is added in the proportion of a tablespoonful to every two quarts of water. Boil them half an hour, rinse them in hot and then in cool water, and dry them out of doors.

Some Cookery Suggestions

GREEN PEPPERS WITH RICE.

RICE and green peppers go together very well, and they may be combined to make very attractive dishes.

Fortunately green peppers may be had almost all the year, and they are not expensive.

Rice Balls In Pepper Rings.—Prepare rice balls as in ordinary cases. Then take some nice green peppers, cut them in rings a quarter of an inch wide and arrange the rice balls inside the rings. Serve garnished with sprigs of parsley. The pepper rings are not to be eaten. They afford an ornamental way of serving the rice balls.

Peppers With Meat.

Rice and Green Peppers With Mutton.—Take two cupfuls of steamed or boiled rice, half a cupful of milk, a tablespoonful of butter, a teaspoonful of flour, two green peppers and an eighth of a teaspoonful of salt. Rub the flour and butter together until they are smooth, add to the hot milk and let it boil until thickened. Open the peppers, take out the seeds, mince the peppers very fine and then add to the milk sauce. Serve with roast mutton or with any meat you prefer.

Green Peppers Stuffed With Rice.—Take six green peppers, remove the stems and seeds. Take two pounds of meat boiled tender. Chop it fine, add to it a half cupful of canned tomato, two small onions, a cup of boiled rice chopped fine. Add a few olives, a tablespoonful each of vinegar and sugar and salt and pepper to taste. Fry the mixture lightly in butter, then take from the fire and fill the peppers. Dip them in batter and fry in hot fat.

A Piquant Viand.

Rice Pepper.—Take a pound of rice and wash it well in cold water. Boil in one quart of water for twenty minutes. Add salt. Strain through a sieve and let cold water run on it. Fry four strips of bacon very crisp. Add chopped onion, one red pepper chopped fine, six large tomatoes, skinned and chopped fine. Put all into pot with rice and let cook slowly three hours until it is all dry and each kernel of rice is red and can be separated with a fork.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Story Of the Swan Knight.

The Knight Said Goodby to Elsa.

THE story hour was at hand, and Jack and Evelyn took care daddy did not forget it. Mother was playing very softly on the piano in the next room.

"She seems to like that music," Evelyn said. "She plays it more than anything else."

"Does she?" daddy smiled. "They played that piece on the big organ in the church when mother and I were married. I'm glad she likes it."

"It's a pretty nice piece. Is there any story to it?" Jack asked.

"Well, yes; there is quite a story. It's taken from a music story written by a very great musician called Richard Wagner. He did not make up anything but the music. The story had been told over and over in Germany for hundreds of years. He made it over so it could be sung with his music.

"The story was about the swan knight whose name is Lohengrin. Princess Elsa, a lovely young girl, was in great trouble. Wicked people who wanted to get her out of the way had said that Elsa had killed her young brother, the prince of the country. The body of the prince had never been found. All that was known was that one day the lad went out and was seen no more. If Elsa were dead her uncle, who was married to Ortrud, a wicked enchantress or witch, would have been prince. It was Ortrud who made all the trouble.

"The lovely Princess Elsa was to be tried for the death of her brother. She was in despair when down the river came floating a beautiful boat drawn by a swan. In the boat stood a knight wearing shining armor of silver and with a white plume on his head.

"This was Lohengrin, the swan knight, and when he stepped on shore he said that he knew that Princess Elsa did not kill her brother and that he was ready to fight any one that said she did.

"Lohengrin proved to the people that Elsa was innocent. Then he asked her to marry him. The march which mother plays is the one played for the wedding of Lohengrin and Princess Elsa in the music story.

"Only one thing Lohengrin made Elsa promise, and that was that she would never ask who he was or from whence he came. But Ortrud worked on Elsa until she asked her husband the forbidden question. Then Lohengrin told Elsa that he must go back to his home. Very sadly he bid her farewell. The swan boat again came down the river, but when it reached the shore the swan became a young man—the prince, Elsa's brother, whom the wicked Ortrud had changed to a swan. Then Lohengrin got into the boat and sailed away, and he never came back, for Elsa's disobedience had broken the spell that made it possible for a fairy knight to stay with mortals."

Portrait Party.

Get common wrapping paper, a light brown or white, and cut into squares a foot and a half each way. Put up a sheet across a door and have the light from a lamp arranged so that the shadow of a person's head will be reflected on the square of paper.

A guest is to be placed sideways so that the outline of the face will show on the paper. With a heavy pencil or a crayon draw the outline or profile. One guest at a time is brought into the gallery, and the name is put on the back of the portrait.

When all have been taken an assistant helps cut out the silhouettes, which are pasted on black paper and pinned up like a portrait exhibition. The guests are provided with pencils and paper and write down who they think is who. A prize is provided for the one who guesses the most correctly, and, if the hostess wishes, a consolation prize may be awarded.

Handy Desk.

If one does not feel like buying a desk a small table covered with rep to match the wall paper will answer as a good substitute. Shelves should be placed under the table and a valance plaited around the edges to cover them. A very good piece of leather colored rep would be in good taste, and the blotter pad could be bound with real leather. It would not require a large outlay for sufficient material to make a very dainty desk.

Omit Soap.

Do not use soap in cleaning paint. Soapsuds usually fog the polish and make the furniture look dingy. One tablespoonful of coal oil to a washpan of water applied sparingly with a moistened cloth will usually take the fog from any fine piece of furniture, even the piano. Do not use too much water on any painted, stained or varnished surface. Coal oil used alone will fog the wood, and too much of it used and left on will make the finest polish dull and sticky. Every particle of the oil should be either rubbed in or wiped off.

My Timid Parents.

My own life as a child was under the shadow of timidity; I was denied the activities of a child's life, the chance a child should have to develop self-reliance and a strong and able body; a swift acting mind, and a mental standpoint of quiet courage in danger. I was denied by love, by anxiety, by a vicarious timidity which came from the undue importance placed on their child by two of the most loving, and—I say it with all respect—most unwise parents a girl ever had. They saved themselves suffering and mental anxiety, by denying me the normal pleasures of a healthy girlhood. Now I am suffering, because the timidity they engendered in me is now mine, not only for myself but for my children.

But I have learned to see that if I am timid, I need not be a coward, and that because I suffered that my parents might be saved worry, is no reason why my children must be denied that I may be saved worry.—Pictorial Review.

Child Welfare In Other Lands.

France has passed a law which requires that the paternity of an illegitimate child must be traced and the father compelled to aid in its support. This places the responsibility equally on man and woman, and is a step far in advance in child protection.

The Japanese Kindergarten Union has already appointed a representative to the Third International Congress in Child Welfare to be held in Washington, D. C., in April, 1914.

The Home League.

The Home League is a campaign which a magazine is conducting for the enactment of juster laws concerning women within the field of their family relations. Its purpose is to find out what the Law of the Home is and to make it what it ought to be. Any person in sympathy with such a purpose may secure literature by writing William Hard, New York city.

Any person wishing to help becomes a member by signing the Home League Pledge, which entitles him to receive from the magazine due notice and information concerning any proposed change in the law, particularly in his own State, that has to do with the home; he at the same time pledges himself to write three letters one to the legislator who introduced it, thanking him; one to the chairman of the committee of the Legislature to which it has been referred recommending its consideration, and one to the man who represents his district in the legislature, asking him to vote for it. These three letters to be sent by him only if he approves of the purpose of the proposed law and of the way in which it attempts to accomplish its purpose.

There are no dues connected with membership, nor any other obligations than the ones described above.

The first definite object of the Home League is to secure joint guardianship of children in all States where it does not exist, removing the legal discriminations against women as mothers and introducing exact equality between mothers and fathers in regard to their children. New Jersey is not in the front rank in this respect.

Children's Gardens.

Erasmus Schwab, the founder of the school garden movement, in Austria, wrote: "A hundred years hence it will seem inexplicable that for centuries there could exist among cultured nations, public schools without school gardens, and that in the nineteenth century communities and nations in generous emulation could furnish the school with all things dictated by common sense and profit and care, except in thousands of cases, an educational medium that should suggest itself to the mind of even the common man.

"The school garden will exert a powerful influence upon the heart of the child and upon his character; it will plant in the child the love of nature, inculcate the love of work, a generous regard for others and a wholesome esthetic sense. The school garden as Austria is carrying it out, is a nursery for practical knowledge and a noble enjoyment of home nature for the culture of the understanding, for better morals and higher prosperity of the people; it is an ideal thought but united with realism and aiming at full life in all its relations."

C. F. Hodge says: "Cultivation of the soil is basal to civilized life. To educate children without it is to relapse to barberism. To have every child during ten years own and care for a garden, however small, would do more than anything else to empty our prisons."

For the Children

Master Bud Stillman at His Favorite Pastime.

© 1913, by American Press Association.

Like most boys of his years, Master Bud Stillman is fond of exercising in the open air. Bud is the son of James Alexander Stillman, the New York financier, and consequently does not lack equipment for the games he prefers. Roller skating is a hobby of Bud's, and during the rather cool weather that has prevailed in New York this spring he has availed himself of the asphalt walks in Central park to practice various feats on wheels. The artist snapped him while he was coasting on one skate, not much of a feat, most boys and girls will say, but Bud is enjoying his outing and perhaps does not consider that he is doing anything wonderful. Exercise is good for young people, whether on skates or simply in shoe leather.

The Blushing Tree.

Among the many wonders of the vast Florida swamps there is nothing more surprising than the blushing tree. It actually blushes when the rain falls upon it. The mysterious and beautiful glow of color which it assumes in a rainstorm baffles description.

When the cool rain drenches a tree a changing of color is noted. Gradually, yet unmistakably, the green hue gives way to pink. In a few minutes the green fades from sight. Only in a few half hidden spots beneath lower branches and on its trunk is there a tinge of green to be seen. The tree is as pink as the cheek of a healthy girl.

After an hour or more, when the shower passes over, the wonderful tree assumes its familiar green once more. As it is changing back to emerald the spectator suddenly realizes the secret of the phenomenon. Certain tiny insects and not the tree itself change. These peculiar parasites are possessed of the power of chameleons.

Guarding King George.

Though the days have gone by when the monarch was protected during the hours of slumber by an attendant sleeping in a bed drawn across the door of his bedchamber, King George of England is by no means left unprotected during the night. Not only is the outside of the palace guarded by soldiers and detectives, but several night watchmen pace up and down the corridors through the hours of darkness. They are shod in thick felt slippers, so as not to wake the royal sleeper, and one of them is always near the king's room until his majesty is called by his valet in the morning.

Every door and window in the place is frequently examined, and it would be impossible for any intruder to get in without his presence being discovered in a few minutes.

Conundrums.

In what place did the cock crow when all the world could hear him? In Noah's ark.

What word is there in the English language from which you can subtract twelve and leave ten? Pretentiousness.

Why is the soul like a thing of no consequence? Because it is immaterial.

Why is ambition like a weathercock? Because it's a vain thing to aspire.

Why is a young lady like a very bad batsman? Because she comes out at her first ball.

Why is a jailer like a musician? Because he fingers the keys.

When are a flower and a beefsteak alike? When rare.

Why the Turk Wears a Fez.

The Turk's devotion to the fez rests on a religious basis. If the namaz (form of prayers) is rightly performed the forehead must touch the ground. The brim of a hat or the peak of a cap would prevent this.

ONE-HIT, ONE-RUN GAME FOR SPENCER

Little N. P. H. S. Heaver in the "Come-back" Role at New Brunswick.

The North Plainfield High School baseball team did the "come-back" stunt yesterday afternoon by defeating the New Brunswick High School nine at the latter place for the second time this year. The final score was 7 to 1. Both teams played good ball and gave their respective pitchers good support. The boroughites made but five misplays while their opponents chalked up four. Spencer pitched for North Plainfield and allowed but one hit, that one being of a peculiar nature. He pitched good ball and was well supported in the pinches.

Taylor's triple to the railroad track was the feature of the game as was the fielding of Kator.

Through the courtesy of W. L. Smalley, Alexander Milne and Edward Kenney, the team made the trip to New Brunswick in automobiles.

OPEN DATE FILLED.

Manager Newton Spencer, of the North Plainfield High School baseball team, has filled next Saturday afternoon, which was an open date on the schedule, with the team of Union High School. The game will be played on Hyde Oval.

POWER YACHT FOR WESTERN YACHTSMAN.

119 FOOT POWER YACHT FOR MR. CHARLES W. FOSTER OF CHICAGO

Within a week after the launching of the new steam yacht Vixen, for Mr. J. D. Archbold, president of the Standard Oil Company, at the works of the Gas Engine and Power Company, one could see on the same ways, in frame and with plating well under way, the new twin screw steel gasolene yacht ordered by Mr. Charles W. Foster, of Chicago, for delivery July 1. The yacht is from designs by William Gardner and Charles L. Seabury. As shown by the illustration the yacht will be very pleasing in appearance and an able sea boat with high free board. Length over all, 119 feet; length on water line, 112 feet; beam, 17 feet, and draught, 5 feet. The construction is of steel, with a mahogany deckhouse and mahogany exterior trim.

"MAC" SAYS

Chance's Yankees and Dunning's North Plainfielder's won a game of ball yesterday afternoon. Is there any significance in the double triumph?

Newton Spencer, the N. P. H. S. pitcher, is one of the few twirlers who twirls better ball on a rival diamond than he does at home. Yesterday the little borough'ite held the New Brunswick batters to a single hit and that one was of the freakish variety made by the first man to reach the rubber, and last week he tossed a marvelous thirteen inning battle at High Bridge.

On the other hand, Spencer was bumped severely by P. H. S. last Saturday afternoon, forcing his retirement from the mound.

Jack Riffert, a former Plainfield High School baseball star, is now playing right field for the Swarthmore College nine. In yesterday's game when his team was defeated by Villanova by a score of 14 to 3, the former Plainfielder scored a run and one put out.

Plainfield baseball players appear to be getting their share of beanings and cracks while at the bat this year. Of the P. H. S. troupe Sminck is suffering from a sprained wrist, Grisley sprained his ankle in the interscholastic game last week and Carty tried to break the force of one of Denny's speedy slants with his forward tusks in a practice game. N. P. H. S. also has several cripples, the most prominent being Dunning, who is carrying a bad finger as the result of being hit with a ball thrown to the initial sack.

Frank Evans is probably the most seriously hurt, as the result of being hit in the head Saturday.

Manager Dorflinger, of the local baseball team, is busy making preparations for the opening of the local league season next Saturday afternoon at Parker Field. Somerville, a brass band and several notables will be among the attractions.

That new City League opens up Saturday afternoon, too. Wonder how the outlaws will come up in the opener?

We may not had any basketball in so long that it really begins to look as though the court artists had called off hostilities to give baseball a show.

Trinity church is the latest addition to the Sunday-school baseball ranks. Those in charge promise a fast team and are busy arranging a schedule.

Here's a new ways to save a repute. For fanning twice in yesterday's game against Ray Keating of the Yankee staff, Ty Cobb, the slugging member of the Detroit club, came across with the information that he had sore eyes and walked off the field, not to return that day. Looked more like sore head.

PRELIMINARY SESSION.

An organization meeting of the Spicer baseball team will be held in the company's offices tomorrow night following the City League meeting which is due to be held at the same place. A number of good ball players have been signed by the factory management and a good team will start in the league Saturday afternoon.

CITY LEAGUE MEETING.

A final session of the City Baseball League magnates, previous to the opening of the league race Saturday afternoon, will be held in the offices of the Spicer Manufacturing Company tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. All managers are requested to be on hand as business of importance will transpire at the gathering.

ATHLETIC LEAGUE TAKES IN COUNTY

Plainfield Sunday Schools May Be Represented in New Organization.

At a meeting of the temporary officers of the Sunday-school Athletic League at the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. last night it was decided to invite all Sunday-schools in Union county to become affiliated with the organization. This decision will make the league one of the strongest of its kind in the State and is sure to increase the interest attending the various meets.

A constitution and by-laws to be submitted at the next general meeting which will take place some evening next week, were drawn up last night. The present temporary officers are a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and director and permanent incumbents to these chairs will be chosen when the delegates convene.

Sunday-schools having under consideration the advisability of entering the league are advised to make immediate application. Preparations for various tourneys and athletic leagues will be started as soon as the mechanism of the organization begins to wear off its newness and as a Sunday-school must be registered with the league for a certain period before its team will be permitted to compete, "getting in line" quick seems to be the proper procedure.

RUNS BATTED ACROSS BY BIG LEAGUERS

Lewis, of Boston, Leads the Roll in This Novel Compliment With Eleven.

During the first two weeks of the American League championship season, Duffy Lewis, of the Boston Red Sox, drove in more runs than any other player in the junior organization. The Speed Boys' left fielder batted in eleven counters, nine of the tallies being registered on safties and two on sacrifice flies. Two other Johnsonites—Joe Jackson and J. Gladstone Graney, of the Naps—reached double figures in batting in runs, each man having hit in ten tallies. Tied for fourth place in the timely hitting list are Moeller of Washington, Johnson of St. Louis and Baker of Philadelphia, each man having driven in eight runs. Napoleon Lajoie, during the first fortnight of play, sent seven of his team mates to the Bureau of Registration and Tris Speaker, who won the Chalmers American League trophy last year, five.

Up to last Wednesday, Lewis had been Boston's timeliest thumper. Graney or Jackson, Cleveland's; Moeller, Washington's; Johnstone, St. Louis'; Baker, Philadelphia's; Collins or Borton, Chicago's; Moriarty, Detroit's, and Crge, New York's. The record of the American Leaguers who batted in five or more during the first fortnight's play are appended:

DRISCOLL A MAGNATE IN NEW BALL LEAGUE

Former Plainfield Captain Will Direct Affairs of New York Club.

With the magnates in the United States League seeing nothing ahead but success, the opening games of the organization will take place on next Saturday afternoon.

The Brooklyn and New York teams will open away from home, the former sharing the honors with Washington in the Capitol City, while the New York club will be seen in action with the Newark combination.

The other two engagements scheduled for the opening day are Baltimore in Lynchburg and Philadelphia in Reading. The owners in all the cities report great interest in the new league and enough money has been subscribed to carry the teams through the first season's schedule.

This week James A. Timony bought the Brooklyn franchise, and in turn sold his franchise of the Newark club to Leo Groom, who formerly headed the Brooklyn club.

Work is being rushed on Bronx Oval, which will be the home of the New York club, for the opening contest on May 21. The Brooklyns will be the opponents of the New Yorks on this occasion. Dave Driscoll, who has been identified with baseball for a number of years, will direct the affairs of the New York club.

MOVE FOR RECIPROCITY.

Washington, D. C., May 8.—In response to a call issued by the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, many representative manufacturers and producers of New England, the Atlantic States, the Middle West and other sections met in the capital today to formulate an amendment to the tariff bill to give President Wilson power to negotiate trade agreements with foreign nations upon articles which it is proposed shall be placed on the free list.

EARLY FUSILADE WON FOR LOCAL BALLISTS

Sminck's Twirling Thereafter Disposes of the Somervillians Who Fail to Score.

A parade of runs in the first inning totaling up to ten before the merry-go-round was stopped, sewed up the baseball game played at Parker Field yesterday afternoon between Plainfield and Somerville High Schools, the home boys coming out in the van with a count of 12 to 0, a big majority of the counters tripping across the rubber in the first round of the go. P. H. S. batters landed on the delivery of one Kershaw, who has been making things hum during the season in the Somerset county seat, for a supply of bingles that went to the four corners of the playing area in the first stanza, and from then on the Plainfielders remained on the defense contented with their supply of registering tallies, and held the Somervillians scoreless during the whole nine rounds.

The dose of kalsomine was due to some extent to the brilliant heaving of Sminck, the boy with a world of steam, but who at times lacks control. He was in top notch form yesterday, however, and held the hits to three, all of which were scattered and the runners easily disposed of before they reached the scoring station. He was nobly supported in the field by the other eight members of the red and blue contingent, who made but a single misplay behind him. Shifts in the Somerville lineup after the disastrous first inning, seemed to bolster the aggregation to some extent, but they were a weak bunch of hitters when faced with Sminck's cross fire delivery and could not connect when hits meant runs, (which they seldom did).

BROTHERHOOD CELEBRATES.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 8.—A national celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip was held in this city today. The Brotherhood is an interdenominational organization, having twenty-three evangelical denominations identified with it. Its objects are embodied in the statement that "Any man can belong to the Brotherhood who will promise to pray daily for the spread of the kingdom of Christ among men, and to make an earnest effort each week to bring at least one man within the hearing of the Gospel." The organization has chapters not only in the United States but in Canada, Great Britain, Japan and Australia.

HOME

The average man spends half his life at Home. That takes into account the nights at the club, at lodge, at the theatre, or sitting up with a sick friend. It also takes into account the fellow who sees home often enough only to establish a voting residence. He is balanced off in averaging up by the man who spends a good deal more than half his life at Home. The Newark Sunday Call has figured this all out and says that the statement that more than half of life is spent at Home cannot be disputed. If there is any doubt about it, keep a time schedule for a week or so. The Average Women? Bless you, three-quarters of her life is spent at Home! And that includes the working woman, too, the real NEW WOMAN.

Home shapes up as a pretty big proposition, considering all that. The world realizes it, too, for most of the world's efforts go toward providing homes. Right down at the bottom of things, you come up against that great big reason for it all—"Home."

There was a poet who said that Home was not merely four square walls. That was the absolute truth. Home is what you make it, whether you call it palace, villa, flat, cottage or hut. Some people can make a hall bed-room more homey than others can with a $300,000 marble mansion. It is wholly up to the individual. But as half a life-time is to be spent at Home, it is worth trying to make it a success. A real homey Home is life's biggest success.

The poet's four square walls idea, however, should not be taken wholly at its face value. Most truths should not. There is always that little exception to the rule lurking in the background. Accept the truth, but also dig out that little exception and digest its meaning. Then you will get the full value out of the truth. Four square walls do not make a Home. But they help. The better those same walls are the better chance of making a successful Home. Be careful in choosing a setting for the jewel—the home jewel. Remember that you must use that setting half your life. Pick some thing that will wear. See that it is good. That means be careful in choosing your abode. Whether it be a house, a flat or a room, choose it carefully. Whether you buy or rent, remember you are selecting a setting for the biggest thing in life—Home.

The Plainfield Daily Press

thinks a lot about Home. That is natural, for Homes form its destination when it leaves the presses ready for distribution among its thousands of readers. The Daily Press likes to take part in home making and it does all it can to further that end in what it prints. It can aid you in selecting your setting for your Home—the dwelling, whatever form it may take.

The owner of a house who wishes to sell or rent the house goes to an agent—if he be wise and wants results. The agent gives publicity to the owner's desire, attends to the troublesome incidental business, and accomplishes the desired results.

The agent has the assistance of another agent—a very powerful agent for this sort of work. This other agent is the RELIABLE NEWSPAPER, the newspaper that reaches the kind of people the owner would want to sell or rent to. The DAILY PRESS is such an agent. It reaches this desirable clientage and is used by responsible agents. Look at the names of the agents who advertise real estate for sale or to let and note the high character of these advertisers. their agent because it reaches the kind of people They, in turn, have chosen the DAILY PRESS as they want for clients.

Choose your home setting carefully. Study the For Sale and To Let advertisements in the DAILY PRESS. Make notes of what appeals to you, write to the agent or the owner, and inspect the property. You are dealing with established business concerns who can aid you in this big work of Home-Making. They, the agents, are seeking your patronage because you are the kind they want dealings with—the kind who can be reached through the DAILY PRESS.

Copy for These Classified Advertisements is received until 1:30 each afternoon. Minimum charge is 10c.

LEAL PLAYERS ARE DEFEATED BY PINGRY

Elizabetheans Roll up Counters to Win in Three Big Sessions at the Bat.

Three disastrous innings in which the Pingry School boys rolled up a total of eleven runs at Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon, defeated the Leal School team, of this place, who could push across but three counters in their effort to counteract the big difference. Four runs in the first, three in the third and another quartet in the eighth put the game on ice for the Elizabethians, who clouted the offerings of Shepherd for eleven lusty bingles. From the third to the eighth innings the local boys put up a tight fielding game, preventing the Pingry athletes from scoring, this spasmodic feature being prominent in all of the private school boys' contests this season.

Shepherd, who has done the bulk of the box work for Leal's this season, was on the mound again yesterday and at times showed flashes of the winning stuff. Eight errors by the local boys helped the home players to run up the score and they took advantage of everyone of the slip ups to score runs.

FEAR THE FLY.

If flies were feared as is bad water there would be little typhoid.

THE DEATH'S HEAD

Not the kind you usually see—sightless and harmless—but alive and all seeing. The fly is one of the busiest workers in the animal kingdom, AND HE IS WORKING FOR OUR DESTRUCTION. The only way to destroy the fly is to starve him.

Screens in the windows prevent crape on the door.

MONTH'S DAIRY INSPECTIONS.

Trenton, May 8.—The division of creamerica and dairies, of the State Board of Health, in the course of the month, that ended April 10, inspected 400 dairies. Of these inspections ten were made in Essex county; fourteen in Bergen; fifty-nine in Hunterdon; thirteen in Morris; thirty-one in Passaic; three in Sussex and two in Union. Of the total number inspected 221 were found to be above the sixty per cent. mark, while 174 fell below. The sale of milk from seven dairies were prohibited. The division of food, drugs, water and sewerage reported 173 stream pollutions and 102 reinspections, with thirty-seven pollutions found abated. Notices to cease pollution numbered 175.

WOULD ARRANGE STARS OF FLAG

Rhode Island Veteran Perfects a New Design.

GROUPING HAS MEANING.

Symbolism of Original Thirteen Preserved and Addition of New States Indicated by Readjustment of Field. Work Was Begun When New Mexico and Arizona Were Admitted.

Every time a new state has been admitted to our Union the problem of rearranging the stars of the flag has come up.

The artistic arrangement of the stars never has been easy, and the steady growth of the nation has complicated the task. Whether the number of states is odd or even, the perfection of an artistic design has been almost impossible.

There are now forty-eight stars in the field, arranged mathematically in six rows of eight stars each. The plainness and unattractiveness of the design from an artistic standpoint are obvious, but improving on the arrangement is not an easy job.

Captain Henry K. Potter of Providence, R. I., believes he has perfected a design which is symbolic throughout and at the same time lends a greater beauty to the field of stars.

A Different Field.

Captain Potter has been at work on the rearrangement ever since the admission of Arizona and New Mexico to statehood added the forty-seventh and forty-eighth stars to the field. The grouping of the stars at that time seemed meaningless to him.

He objected to the mathematically obvious arrangement of six rows of eight stars each on the ground that it was lacking in symbolism suggestive of the growth of the nation.

The flag which he has had made to supply that lack has thirteen stars grouped in the center for the thirteen original states. About them in a circle are twenty stars representing the states admitted between the formation of the Union and the civil war.

Then in each of the outside corners and on the upper inside corner of the flag are groups of four stars each, with a group of three at the lower corner next the staff, making the total of forty-eight.

Although he doesn't expect it to be so recognized officially, Captain Potter deep down in his own heart looks upon the center star of the inner group of thirteen as representing Rhode Island, a state which he describes as having been "first in more things than one in this country."

A Soldier Many Years.

That opinion may be due in part to the fact that he is a lineal descendant of Roger Williams in the seventh generation and has served Rhode Island as citizen and soldier all his life.

He was eighty-two years old when he undertook the symbolic arrangement of the stars, and probably nobody was more familiar with the flag and its many changes to keep pace with the growth of the country than he.

He has served under it in peace and war as a Rhode Island militiaman and volunteer since 1851, when he joined the state's crack regiment, the First Light Infantry. He is now the senior captain in his veteran corps and able to parade on anniversaries.

On his eightieth birthday he received a letter from President Taft congratulating him on his years and his record of service.

REASON FOR SCOTT TRAGEDY.

Faulty Rubber Washers Said to Have Caused Explorer's Death.

It is now known that the death of Captain Robert F. Scott and three of his companions, after they had discovered the south pole and were returning northward, was due to a shortage of fuel oil. Food supplies at the various stations along the route were intact, according to W. Bruce, who is a brother of Lady Scott and was second in command of the Terra Nova antarctic expedition.

On his return to England recently Bruce said the loss of fuel oil was chiefly due to evaporation, which occurred through the deterioration of the rubber washers of the oil drums. The extreme cold is supposed to have caused the washers to become faulty.

RUBY FOUND IN BOILED EGG.

New Jersey Boy Gets Valuable Gem With His Breakfast.

When a young son of J. H. Randlett of Hammonton, N. J., opened a boiled egg recently while at breakfast, he noticed a dark object in the cup. He found it to be a small stone and took it to a jeweler, who pronounced it a ruby of considerable value.

Rubies of small size and of slight value have occasionally been found in New Jersey gravel pits.

Swiss Girl Is a Prodigy.

Olga Cerasa, a twelve-year-old girl who came from Switzerland two years ago, is considered the brightest pupil in the Denver public schools. She speaks five languages, is an excellent singer and can draw illustrations for the stories she sometimes tells other pupils at her teacher's request.

S. R. STRUTHERS PASSES AWAY

Venerable and Highly Respected Resident of City Goes to His Reward.

AGE SEVENTY-FIVE YRS.

Civil War Veteran, Prominent in Church Affairs—Wife and Sister Survive Him—Funeral Services on Monday Afternoon.

Stephen R. Struthers, aged 75 years, a well-known resident of this city for the past thirty-seven years, died yesterday afternoon at his home on Central avenue, near West Front street, from complications, incident to paralysis causing his end. He had been in failing health for several months and his death was not unexpected.

Mr. Struthers was born in New York city June 26, 1838. He spent his early life in the city and for twenty-six years he held a responsible position with the Manhattan Banking Company of Wall street, New York. He still held that position when he removed to Plainfield thirty-seven years ago, but gave it up a little later to take a position as bookkeeper with the Edison Company, of New York. After resigning that position he held several different positions in this city, until a few years ago he retired from active business.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, Mr. Struthers then residing in New York, enlisted in Co. B, of the Seventh Regiment, for nine months. He then re-enlisted in the Fourteenth Regiment of Yonkers, N. Y., serving several months, when he again enlisted in another New York regiment, serving the best part of the time from 1861 to 1865 as a private. He always retained his interest in the Seventh Regiment and was a member of the Society of Ex-Members of the second company of the regiment and as long as his health permitted attended the meetings and social gatherings of his regiment.

After coming to Plainfield, Mr. Struthers joined Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., in which he took an active part, having served in the various offices of the post. He was particularly active in interesting the school children in Civil War history and every year it was his delight to speak at the various public schools.

Mr. Struthers was a member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church and a regular attendant at the services. He and Mrs. Struthers were among the founders of Hope chapel Sunday-school and for a number of years had Sunday-school classes there. Both were talented in music and they were members of the Plainfield Choral Society. He was one of the oldest members of the Asbestos Club, comprising all well-known citizens who have retired from business.

Mr. Struthers was married thirty-nine years ago, two years before coming to Plainfield. There survives a wife and one sister, Mrs. Chauncey Holt, of Orlando, Florida, and several nephews and nieces residing in New York city.

The funeral service will be held at the Crescent Avenue church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, to which friends, including the members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and the Women's Relief Corps are invited. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie will officiate and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

Friends of Warren Townley furnished him a pleasant surprise last night at his home in Grandview avenue, the occasion marking his birthday. The affair was arranged by Miss Emily Pleydell and Lester Chandler. Games were played throughout the evening and dancing was enjoyed preceding the serving of refreshments. Those present were the Misses Grace and Mabel Townley, Dorothy Krewson, Aileen Chandler, Lena Mobus, Magdalen Layton, Marjorie Burtis, Marian Avery, Edna Green and Emilie Pleydell; George and Warren Townley, Hoyt Tomkinson, Edson Day, Clarence Roddy, David Levitz, Oscar Dilts, Raymond Pasch, Martin McDonough, Horace Bunker and Lester Chandler.

FIGHTS ASSESSMENTS.

New Brunswick, May 9.—Morris Abrams, of Plainfield, who has a shoe store at 326 Burnett street, this city, was the only one to appear before the State Board of Taxation here today to fight for a reduction in the valuation of his property. Several other appeals had been set down for a hearing, but no one appeared and the appeals were dismissed. Decision was reserved on Mr. Abrams' appeal.

—Neuman Bros. will have for tomorrow's trade 500 quarts of fancy strawberries, 300 bunches of fancy Jersey asparagus, fresh peas, green and wax beans, hot-house cauliflower, cucumbers, tomatoes and summer squash. ***

NEW TARIFF IN EFFECT BY AUG. 1 WILSON EXPECTS

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, May 9.—President Wilson is supremely confident of the passage of the tariff bill by the Senate without material amendment. It is believed in close adminstration circles that the President has the situation in the Senate with its slender majority of six as well in hand as he had it in the House. It is said that he has reduced the proposition to a counting of noses and has absolute knowledge of what the result must be. The President expects the bill to become a law by August 1.

SPENT 50 CENTS WEEKLY UNTIL AFFINITY APPEARED

Howard Breese, of this city, was arraigned before Judge W. G. DeMeza in the city court this morning to answer a non-support charge, preferred by Overseer-of-the-Poor Henry L. DeForest. The complaint was pressed on behalf of the defendant's wife, who appeared in court with her two month's old baby in her arms. Finding the defendant guilty of the charge, Judge DeMeza ordered him placed under a substantial bond to pay his wife $7 a week. In default of this he will be committed to the county jail.

According to the story of the complainant, Breese has been paying attention to a Miss Lena Noroskie, of Somerville, and documentary evidence was presented in the form of a letter which it is alleged Breese sent to the young woman. The letter was full of endearing terms.

Mr. and Mrs. Breese were married in November, 1911, according to the testimony and out of his week's wages of $16.50 he gave his wife $16 every week. Following an argument the couple separated. Last week Breese returned to his wife, remaining a short time. An effort was made this morning to get the couple to live together again, but the husband refused to accede to his wife's entreaties.

Judge W. L. Hetfield represented Breese, while his son, W. L. Hetfield, Jr., was counsel for Mrs. Breese.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY HOMEOPATHS OF STATE

Officers were elected yesterday by the New Jersey State Homeopathic Medical Society at its second-day session in the Hotel Montclair, in that town, as follows:

President, Alfred W. Westney, Atlantic City; vice presidents, Charles H. Church, Newark; C. W. Perkins, Princeton; F. P. McKinstry, Washington; recording secretary, Rudolph F. Rabe, New York; treasurer, Llewellyn E. Hetrick, Newark; censors, Biddle H. Garrison, Red Bank; B. S. Hadley, Mt. Holly; A. W. Bailey, Atlantic City; Horace Ivins, Trenton; C. F. Adams, Hackensack; board of trustees, one year, Dr. Church; two years, Dr. Perkins; three years, Dr. McKinstry; four years, Dr. Hopkinson; five years, Frank P. Ekings, Paterson. Dr. Ekings is the retiring president.

Under the general subject of "Clinical Medicine and Pathology," papers were read yesterday morning by Drs. James F. Ackerman, of Asbury Park; Carl A. Williams, of Passaic, and Frederick M. Dearborn, of New York. Discussions were opened by Drs. J. L. Seward, of Asbury Park; H. C. Reynolds, Passaic, and M. L. Marten, Orange.

Illustrating his talk with stereopticon views, State Entomologist Thomas J. Headley Wednesday night described the house and salt marsh mosquito, and told of the work now in progress to rid the State of the pest. He emphasized the importance of drainage and the use of oil on breeding pools, or the filling in of such spots.

Unable to be present, Mayor Ernest C. Hinck sent a letter welcoming members of the association to Montclair. This was read by Dr. Herbert W. Foster, of the mountain town. Dr. Roy Upham, of Brooklyn, was to have lectured on "Colon Diognosis" Wednesday night, but he was unable to attend.

At the opening session the president, Dr. Frank P. Ekings, of Paterson, appointed Dr. Wallace McGeorge, of Camden, as a nominating committee.

The legislative committee's report showed tht the Homeopathic School of Medicine is represented on the State Board of Health. Changes were made in the constitution providing for a board of trustees.

SCUTARI ABLAZE.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Vienna, May 9.—Fire broke out in the bazaar of the Fortress of Scutari this morning and fanned by a high wind rapidly assumed huge proportions. It is reported here that the Montenegrins started the blaze when leaving the city in revenge for being compelled to evacuate it.

F. O. BRIGGS DEAD, AN EX-U. S. SENATOR

Distinguished Jerseyman Passes Away at His Home in Trenton.

Trenton, May 9.—Frank Obadiah Briggs, who served one term as United States Senator from New Jersey, retiring last March, died last night at his home in this city. Soon after his term of office expired he was stricken with a complication of ailments, but his condition was not considered critical until early yesterday.

Mr. Briggs was born at Concord, N. H., in the year 1851. As a boy he attended the Concord schools and in 1866 he went to Phillips-Exeter Academy, remaining a pupil there until 1868. In that year there was considerable discussion among politicians as to who should receive the appointment to a cadetship at West Point and he was chosen as the compromise candidate for the examination.

Entering the Military Academy, Mr. Briggs soon became well known for his prowess as an athlete. After his graduation in 1872 he was appointed a second lieutenant and served with the Second United States Infantry for five years. Resigning from the army, he came to Trenton to live and became associated with the John A. Roebling's Sons Company, of which he finally was elected treasurer. Soon after moving to Trenton Mr. Briggs married Miss Emily A. Allison, daughter of Colonel Thomas S. Allison, who was Secretary of the State of New Jersey from 1851 to 1861.

Mr. Briggs' rise in political life was meteoric. For thirty years of his residence in New Jersey he held no public office, except that of a member of the State Board of Education. In 1899 there was a demand for a "business administration" by the citizens of Trenton. Parties were forced to go out of their reguar ranks for candidates for Mayor, and the Republican party nominated Mr. Briggs. He was elected and served until 1902.

Three days after his term as Mayor expired, Mr. Briggs was appointed State treasurer of New Jersey, to fill an unexpired term, and upon the expiration of this term he was elected to the office, serving until 1907. In 1904 he was elected chairman of the Republican State Committee of New Jersey, and except for a short interval held this office ever since.

In 1907 Mr. Briggs was elected United States Senator from New Jersey to succeed J. F. Dryden, in the campaign for whose re-election Mr Briggs had taken an active part. His term of service expired last March and although he was a candidate for re-election he was defeated by Senator Hughes in the Democratic landslide which swept over this State.

Since his retirement from the Senate Mr. Briggs had devoted his attention to his business. He was known as a man who talked little but who accomplished much and his presence will be greatly missed among the Republicans of New Jersey. Mr Briggs was a member of the Masonic order and of the Odd Fellows. He leaves his wife and one son, Frankland Briggs, who is a lawyer with offices in Newark.

2 ATTEMPTED TO PICK FORMER MAYOR'S POCKET

Former Mayor G. W. V. Moy, while boarding a passenger train at Elizabeth for Plainfield this morning, narrowly escaped having his pocked picked by two light-fingered gentry. The strangers, who were dressed in the latest fashion, first began operations on the station platform and failing in their purpose, followed Mr. Moy to the platform of the train.

While Mr. Moy was trying to enter a coach he was jostled about by the two men until he realized what they were trying to do. Again failing, the strangers made a quick exit from the train and disappeared without getting Mr. Moy's money. Harry Dreier was nearby at the time and witnessed the incident, but was unable to render any service to Mr. Moy. The Elizabeth police were notified by Mr. Moy upon his arrival home.

JAPS INTEREST CABINET.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, May 9.—The cabinet meeting discussed the California and Japanese situation but no statement was issued relative to the Webb bill or the Japanese protest. The meeting was called one hour earlier than usual to permit Secretary of State Bryan to catch a train for New York.

Bertram F. Tallamy, of West Front street, who has been detained at home by illness for several weeks, is able to be out again.

Lewis E. Waring, of West Seventh street, who has been attending the horse show in Washington, this week, where he acted as one of the judges, expects to return home the first of next week.

MRS. REED HEADS KING'S DAUGHTERS

Encouraging Reports Mark Annual Meeting of City Union—Officers Elected.

FINANCES EXCELLENT

Mrs. A. M. Most as Treasurer Announces a Balance of $770—What Has Been Accomplished During the Year is Related in Detail.

Officers were elected, reports presented and plans for the coming year discussed at the annual meeting of the City Union of The King's Daughters held yesterday afternoon in Vincent chapel of the First M. E. church. There was a large attendance of members and eleven of the fifteen circles comprising the union, renewed their annual pledges and made encouraging reports of work accomplished during the past year.

Mrs. Frank W. Jones, the retiring president, was in the chair, and the devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, in the absence of Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, who was called away.

Following a most excellent report of the secretary, Miss Elsie Suffern, which reviewed in an interesting way the work of the year, Mrs. A. M. Most, the treasurer, gave her report showing that there is a balance of $770.87 on hand, which was encouraging to the members. The expenses of the past year have been quite heavy. It was reported that during the past six months 1,881 children had been cared for at the Day Nursery, despite the fact, as Mrs. Bird, the matron, explained, that there had been a prevalence of children's diseases, such as measles, mumps, etc. During the summer this work will be continued as usual, and the diet kitchen will be opened in June. It is planned to combine the summer camp work at the Nursery, except in the case of very sick children.

Two minute reports were received from all the circles, showing that outside of the direct support given to the King's Daughters' work, the members have accomplished a great deal in caring for special charitable objects. All of the circles with the exception of the Daughters of the Cross, Immanuel, Whatsoever and Little Workers for Little People, who have yet to hold annual meetings, renewed their pledges as follows:

Benevolent Band, $150; Brightside Circle, $30; Charity Circle, $200; Cheerful Workers, $100; Cup Bearers Circle, $75; Golden Rule, $25; Loyal Daughters, $200; Silver Cross, $100; In His Name, $35; Unity, $75. Following the business meeting, the trustees, representing each circle, met and elected these officers for the coming year:

President, Mrs. Charles A. Reed; first vice president, Miss Margaret Mead; second vice president, Mrs. Orton G. Dale; recording secretary, Mrs. Stuart H. Patterson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Emerson E. Parvin; treasurer, Mrs. Anna M. Most.

Mrs. Frank W. Jones, who has been the president for the past five years, was given a hearty vote of thanks for her untiring efforts in behalf of the work. She succeeded Mrs. Reed in the position and now that the latter has returned to Plainfield to live the city union is very glad to welcome her back to her former position.

NEW PHOTO FIRM.

P. Frank Stone, the East Front street photographer, has disposed of a half interest in his business to Hablet Luckey, of West Front street, and the new firm of Stone & Luckey will conduct the business on a more extensive scale in the future. The firm has leased rooms on the second floor of the building, directly back of G. W. V. Moy's law office, where other branches of the business will be conducted.

Y. M. C. A. MOTION PICTURES.

The following program of motion pictures will be shown at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon and evening: "Current Events No. 18, Pathe Weekly," "The Lady in the Mouth," "Derby Days in the Churchill", and a comedy film entitled, "Too Much Parcels Post."

MONS. PEDEFLOUS TO QUIT THE BUSINESS

Mushroom King to Sell His Famous Hotel After 25 Years of Activity.

Pedeflous' Hotel, the widely-known hostelry on the Warrenville road, famous for its mushroom dinners, is soon to change hands. Henri Pedeflous, the proprietor, has decided to retire from an active business career of a quarter of a century and will sell his hotel and mushroom farm comprising 20,000 square feet, with an additional 7¼ acres of available land if desired.

There is perhaps no better known hotel in the eastern part of the country than Pedeflous'. For the past twenty-five years it has been patronized by people from all parts of the country, attracted there chiefly by the famous mushroom dinners which were made a specialty of by Mr. Pedeflous. His mushroom farm is considered one of the finest in the world.

Mr. Pedeflous is a native of France, where he first learned the art of growing mushrooms and was chef in some of the leading foreign hotels. After coming to this country for a time he was a chef at Delmonicos, and the New York Athletic Club and other clubs in New York. Twenty-five years ago he purchased the farm on the Warrenville road and ever since it has been patronized by people of wealth and prominence. Mr. Pedeflous intends to live a retired life, after selling his property.

THIS JOLLY TAR WAS GIVEN SURPRISE PARTY

William L. Day, a jolly tar of the U. S. S. Nebraska, having been granted a furlough, is exercising in "land legs," in this, his home town, and he was tendered a surprise last night at the home of his parents, 58 Race street. The rooms were tastefully decorated with American flags.

The evening was spent playing games. Misses Lillie McDonald, Pearl Drew and Annie Ritzer gave piano selections and the honor guest, Daniel Buckley, a sailor on the U. S. S. Arkansas, performed the "sailors' hornpipe," as 'tis done at sea, much to the delight of those present. Mrs. Day was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Bertie McDonald and Mrs. Edward Demarest.

Among those present were Misses Pearl Drew, Lillie McDonald, Grace Warnock, Stella MacDonald, Selina Carnwell, Annie Ritzer and Anna and Lucy Kunz; John Williams, Westie MacDonald, Roy Vroom, Harry Myers, Daniey Buckley, Seymour and Edson Day and Edward Demarest.

Mr. Day's vacation will be ended Saturday, when he will report for duty.

MYSTERIOUS MAN IS HELD AS HORSE THIEF

Metuchen, N. J., May 9.—A man of mystery is now in the Middlesex county jail charged with being a horse thief. He is posted as A. P. Chant, is well dressed and tall.

A horse and buggy were stolen from David Kenny, of the Jamesburg Reformed School, on October 23. A notice of the theft fell in the hands of a Bridgeton carriage dealer, and he said he had bought the outfit from Chant. Not until November 14 was he located. Then a letter came from Baltimore announcing that he was ready to put through the deal for the $51,000 farm. He was arrested when he arrived at Metuchen and has been in jail ever since.

WILSON IN OIL.

Trenton, May 9.—When the members of the Legislature assemble again today they will be invited to inspect an oil portrait of President Wilson, painted by Henry Harrison, of Jersey City. The portrait of the President will be offered to the State for a consideration, and should its purchase be decided upon it will undoubtedly be given a place in the executive chamber, where there is already a large collection of paintings of former Governors of New Jersey.

SILK WORKERS WIN STRIKE.

Summit, May 9.—The strike of the local silk workers is at an end, the employers granting increased wages of twenty-five to thirty-five per cent. Chief of Police Brown brought the contending forces together. The strike began eight weeks ago. Besides increased pay the company granted an eight hour day and recognition of the local union.

Miss Cosette Bratton, teacher of English in the seventh and eighth grades of the North Plainfield Public School, is ill at her home on East Fifth street.

TELEPHONE CO. EMPLOYES GET AN 8-HOUR DAY

Beginning June 1 all the employes of the New York Telephone Company in the New Jersey division will be placed on an eight-hour day, and will receive nine hours pay. These concessions on the part of the company are voluntary. The announcement was made to the employes this week. The employes have been and are now working nine hours a day, and the reduction of one hour a day while continuing pay at the old rate, was an agreeable surprise to the army of people employed by the company.

GREAT TESTIMONIAL FOR CHARLES PARKER SEBRING

Representatives of various societies and clubs in the city which plan to give a reception and dance in honor of Charles P. Sebring, at Sebring's auditorium, Friday night, May 16, met last night and completed the details for the affair. The reception which will be given on the anniversary of Mr. Sebring's birthday, will include an attractive program of instrumental and vocal music, followed by dancing.

Prof. Buckley, of Bayonne, will furnish the music and the following will respond to toasts: Newton B. Smalley, Robert Murray and Andrew E. Kenney. The Watchung Fire Company will attend in a body. The following comprise the committee: William McCullough, James Comiskey, William Sullivan, John Caufield, Robert Hamilton, John O'Keefe, Charles Faraero, Vincent Meaney, Tony Parreti, Frank Donnelly, Walter Hoffman, William Maboney, Martin Whalen, Jr., Daniel McCormick, Henry Bryniarski, Edwin Kenney, James Whalen, James Clinton, Chas. Collins, Michael Fitzsimmons, Michael Harrington, James McCarn and William Rafferty.

ONE HUNDRED RECEIVE GOLDEN EAGLE DEGREE

The degree team of Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, of this city, upon invitation of the Chester, Pa., Castle, conferred the degrees on a class of one hundred men, last night, and was highly complimented for its work. The initiatory team has, perhaps, the finest equipment of any Castle in the State and it has attained a degree of efficiency that is more than State-wide. Following the initiation a banquet was served.

The team, which was accompanied by other members of Freedom Castle, left here at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and returned home about 2 o'clock this morning. The Chester Castle provided elaborate entertainment for the visitors, appreciating their willingness to travel such a distance and confer the initiatory work.

GOV. FIELDER TO SPEAK IN ELIZABETH MAY 20

Elizabeth, May 9. Two men who are candidates for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination will be the principal speakers at the annual dinner of the Elizabeth Democratic Club, to be held in the headquarters of the organization on May 20. They are Acting Governor James F. Fielder and Frank S. Katzenbach. Patrick Keelan, chairman of the committee on arrangements, announced today that the speeches of both the guests of honor will be of a non-political nature.

Governor Fielder's appearance at the Democratic dinner will be his first in this city at a partisan gathering since his candidacy for Governor was announced. He was invited to attend the organization meeting of the James F. Fielder League here Wednesday night, but sent a letter of regret. The league was organized with the following officers: President, James E. Lowden; first vice president, Dr. Charles H. Shlichter; second vice president, Abe J. David; third vice president, Dr. J. Edward Rayne; fourth vice president, Dr. William E. Boozan; fifth vice president, Captain William T. Cox; secretarties, Rudolph J. Sailer, David McCandless and William Hurley; treasurer, Dr. Thomas F. Higgins; sergeant-at-arms, Morris Siegl.

MEN'S CLUB ENTERTAINS.

A successful progressive euchre, attended by thirty couples, was given under the auspices of the Men's Club of the Heavenly Rest church last night. The affair was arranged for the friends and relatives of the members and a social hour followed.

On more than one occasion the Plainfield theatre has held a capacity house for an advertised Broadway success that could not compare with "Her Lord and Master," Martha Morton's comedy in four acts, as produced last night by the Park Comedy club players. Persons unacquainted with the cast would never for a moment have suspected that they were simply local young society folks whose only appearance behind the footlights is when the club gives its annual performance. To tell the whole truth it was the first time that more than one of them had played a part in local theatricals.

The plot is good, the cast is better. There is not a dull moment from the time the curtain is rung up on the first act until the show is ended and the cast is brought to the foot lights for the last time to bow their thanks to the genuinely appreciative audience for its hearty and prolonged applause. It is the familiar plot wherein a petted and spoiled American girl marries into an old English family but the play differs from others of its kind in that the self-willed girl finds herself wedded to a man truly British in his feeling that a man is master in his home. The scene opens on Mr. Stillwater's game preserves and model farm in the West. Lord Nelson Stafford and his nephew, Rt. Hon. Thurston Ralph Canning, Viscount, are guests of Mr. Stillwater and his family which includes not

PLANNING FOR REUNION OF EVANGELICAL BODIES

Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, as chairman of a committee of the general conference of the Seventh-Day Baptist denomination, on Thursday attended a meeting of the joint commission on faith and order, representing twenty bodies of evangelical christians. The meeting was held at the Hotel Astor, New York, the session lasting from 10 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

This was the first meeting of the commission and only preliminary measures were taken looking towards a World Conference some time in the near future, when all christian bodies shall have had an opportunity to unite in this movement.

GRAFTING POLICEMEN GET JAIL SENTENCES

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, May 9.—Justice Seabury at the Criminal term of the Supreme Court this morning sentenced former Police Inspectors John J. Murtha, Dennis Sweeney, James E. Hussey and James F. Thompson to serve one year in the penitentiary and pay a fine of $500 each. The former inspectors were found guilty on a charge of conspiracy in obstructing justice and suppressing evidence in connection with police matters.

MONUMENT TALK.

Since the movement was launched, at a testimonial dinner tendered Fire Chief T. O. Doane last week, to erect a monument in this city as a memorial to the New Jersey soldiers who fought in the Civil War, a number of citizens have interested themselves in the cause and as a result suggestions for the erection of an appropriate monument have been submitted to the committee. Conspicuous among these was one offered by Charles Hand, which at present appears to be the most acceptable. Mr. Hand suggests a concrete structure, similar to the Washington monument at the National Capitol, though a miniature in design, with a wide base and tapering to a point at the top. A meeting of the committee was called for last night but nothing was done.

ELIZABETH DEMOCRATS FORM FIELDER LEAGUE

Elizabeth, May 9.—Supporting Governor Fielder for re-election, the James F. Fielder League of Elizabeth has been organized here with about twenty-five Democrats. None of the Democratic leaders attended the meeting but those persons present were enthusiastic and liberally applauded the speakers.

"Fielder was on the job for progress before Roosevelt knew there was such a thing," said William Mayo Atkinson, who declared that the Governor had always been aligned with the progressive forces of the State. These sentimeuts were seconded by James E. Lowden, chairman of the meeting, who told of Mr. Fielder's refusal to be "bossed" and spoke of his present fight for advanced ideas.

Mr. Atkinson called the meeting to order, and after the selection of Mr. Lowden as chairman, by-laws were adopted and the following officers chosen: President, Mr. Lowden; vice president, Dr. Charles H. Schlichter; secretary, Rudolph Sailer; corresponding secretary, William Hurley; financial secretary, David McCandless; treasurer, Dr. Thomas F. Higgins; sergeant-at-arms, Morris Sigel.

The honorary vice presidents chosen were Dr. William E. Boozan, William T. Cox, Abe J. David and Dr. J. Edward Rayne.

Former Mayor Francis H. McCauley, of Weehawken, made an address, in which he said that Mr. Fielder's record had been above suspicion in nineteen counties of the State, he declared, there was a healthy sentiment for the Hudson county man, as shown by replies received recently from Democrats throughout the State.

Speaking of Mayor H. Otto Wittpenn's candidacy, Mr. McCauley said that Wittpenn "had been too closely allied with machine politics."

"When Davis died and laid down the reins it was Wittpenn who took them up," said McCauley. "He is the head and front of the 'machine.'"

Surrogate John Egan, of Hudson county, and Lawrence Tonnele, of Bayonne, organizer of Fielder leagues throughout the State, were present.

STYLISH — RELIABLE

DISRAELI WAS A SUCCESS

John Bright once referred to Disraeli as a self-made man.

"And," he added, "he adores the mirror." Disraeli thought well of himself. Most men do who get on in the world.

Disraeli was a success—and as we have so often remarked, wherever you find success you find it well garbed.

Keep your eye on the big chance in life, but remember to occasionally keep an eye on yourself.

Cultivate the habit of looking in the mirror—make notice of your appearance.

"Clothes might not make the man, but they often make the opportunity that makes the man."

So spoke Benjamin Disraeli—and Disraeli was a succes.

CHURCH MAKES LEAGUE COMMERCIAL, HE SAYS

New Brunswick, May 9.—In an address on "The Epworth League as a Soul Winning Force," Rev. Sherman G. Pitt, of Bridgeton, at the opening of the New Jersey conference Epworth League convention, in Pitman Methodist church here, declared that official boards are commercializing the chapters in some places and because of this are killing the spiritual work. Whenever they have a sidewalk to build or some other improvement to make, he said, they had the league raise the money. This, the speaker argued, was interfering with the work of the league.

Mr. Pitt spoke of the spirit of the church toward the league work. If the church is cold and indifferent in showing its activity it would be strange, he said, to have the league on fire with evangelism.

The failure of a chapter to prosper, the speaker went on to say, is due to the workers in the chapter. The workers in such a chapter, he added, have not grasped what the league stands for or have not applied it to local conditions. He said they should make a community study. Failure to be plain was due to laziness, the speaker declared.

The sessions were continued yesterday with an address of welcome by Rev. H. P. Sloan and response by the conference president, Rev. Leon Chamberlain. An address was given by C. V. Williams, of Trenton, on "Prevention Better Than Cure in Combatting Sin Through the Social Service of the Church."

STRANGE LAWS WE MAY BREAK

President Wilson Violated One of Them.

SOME "FREAK" ORDINANCES

Walking Across a Street Between Crossings Is a Misdemeanor In Washington—Many Other Cities Have Unusual Provisions, Some Funny Ones, In Their Code Books.

President Wilson broke the law in Washington before he had been a resident of that city long enough to get acquainted with the peculiarities of its municipal code.

Of course he did not intend to do so, and what he did would not brand him as a malefactor of any degree in the average person's mind. He simply started to walk across a street between crossings and did not know until informed by a friend that he had violated one of the city's "freak" ordinances.

It seems strange that a city of magnificent distances like Washington should have an ordinance compelling the man who wants to step across the street to walk all the way to the corner in order to carry out that innocent purpose unless he has an automobile at his command to ferry him over.

Still not all cities can afford to make fun of Washington's ordinances, for where is the city without a freak ordinance on its books? It may seem difficult to match the oddity of this particular ordinance. For instance, suppose you were in the capital and saw your best friend or maybe even the congressman from your district tearing along the other side of the street. The most natural thing in the world, of course, would be for you to go over there and greet him, wouldn't it?

A New Measure.

If he happened to be walking very fast in the opposite direction you would run right across, dodging automobiles and wagons and everything else. Now, if a policeman were in sight he'd collar you before you got across, march you back the way you came and then hale you before a magistrate. For what? For attempting to cross the street when not at a corner. That is the new Washington ordinance.

Still this rugged law probably claims fewer victims than the one enforced in Wilkesbarre, Pa. If a man is caught spitting on the pavement there he is fined. Other towns have such a regulation, but Wilkesbarre actually enforces it. The police regularly arrest breakers of the ordinance. The officials of some other cities may indeed enforce the law once in awhile, but Wilkesbarre keeps the custom up and earns quite a revenue thereby.

A special constable does nothing but look out for spitters. It is a poor day when a dozen traveling salesmen are not initiated to the Wilkesbarre ordinance and made to dig up fines. Miners speaking no English frequently fall, and legend has it that some prosperous miners have paid the fine many times over without ever understanding what it is for.

Council's Oversight.

Only recently the council members of a New Jersey town passed an ordinance forbidding inhabitants from shooting off revolvers when fires broke out. Whether they could shoot them at other times wasn't specified. What other means of fire alarm were suggested is not remembered.

New York is not without its legal gems of unconscious humor. It must have been a humorist who suggested this paradox of the New York ordinances:

"No person shall ride upon the back of any vehicle without the consent of the driver, and when so riding no part of the person's body must protrude beyond the limits of the vehicle."

A Mysterious Law.

Another New York ordinance is more apt to be called mysterious than just funny. It forbids persons doing pantomimes, dances or play acting in windows facing the streets and higher up than the ground floor.

Thus, while it may be perfectly proper for a shop to employ a demonstrator in its show windows on the ground floor, the same demonstrator performing at a second story window would run some danger of arrest if perceived.

As few windows above the ground floor can readily be seen from the sidewalk, it is a puzzling question what now forgotten trouble caused the passage of this ordinance.

DRAMATIC ART AT COLUMBIA

MRS. AUGUST BELMONT

Forty teachers are taking a course at Columbia University in the teaching of dramatic art. Mrs. August Belmont, of New York, who is the leader in the development of this new subject, said:—"We are not attempting to create actors or to make recruits to the dramatic stage, but instead we want to develop the dramatic instinct and feeling of the children."

As the president of the Educational Dramatic League, Mrs. Belmont presented an outline of the work and aim of this organization, in which the Municipal League is interested. "We believe firmly that this branch of training is valuable to the child. The music school settlement has done wonderful work along the line of the development of dramatic instinct which all of us possess and which, with careful guidance, can be used for the benefit of all.

"Recently when I visited several reform schools for boys I found that the badness in many cases came from a misplaced dramatic instinct. This was my own discovery, and I am rather proud of it. Now if we could train that instinct we would surely have better boys."

KING NICHOLAS EXPLAINS.

Cettenje, Montenegro, May 9.—A new Montenegrian cabinet was formed today to take the place of the one that resigned when King Nicholas decided to evacuate Scutari. The Foreign Office immediately opened negotiations with commanding officers of the blockading International fleet and arranged to complete by Sunday the evacuation of Scutari which began yesterday. King Nicholas today in a speech to Parliament said that in the interest of general peace and to save Montenegro and the entire Serb nation he had been forced to give in to the Powers.

GOES HUNTING FOR ICEBERGS.

Destroyer Seneca Chases Terrors of the Seas to Blow Them Up.

The United States derelict destroyer Seneca departed from Halifax, N. S., recently on an iceberg hunting expedition. She carried guncotton with which to destroy the big masses of ice found in the paths of transatlantic steamships.

Before departing on the cruise the Seneca was informed by wireless that several big icebergs had been seen in the steamship lanes.

Panama Treasury Solvent.

The treasury of Panama, which was depleted when Belisario Porras assumed the presidency on Oct. 1, 1912, now has more than $196,000 on hand, according to a report recently made.

A WISE JUDGE.

Many times we have commented on the administration of justice in the local police court and naturally so for the sentences meted out by City Judge William G. DeMeza are just what they should be. It was only a day or two ago that this bright young lawyer, sitting on the police court bench, sent a man to jail for thirty days because he had purchased liquor for one on the blacklist. The prisoner was one George Totton and the habitual drunkard for whom he had bought the liquor was Harry Bennett. Totton got his just deserts and the punishment given him should be a lesson to others who are doing the same thing. The quality of mercy should not be known in cases of this sort.

CLEAN-UP LAW NEEDED.

In various parts of New Jersey, clean-up campaigns are being waged. The fact is, they are becoming quite fashionable and it is a healthy sign and speaks well for the communities engaging in the work. We need a clean-up day right here in Plainfield and particularly so in the business section. The backyards of many, many mercantile establishments are not only an eyesore but are a positive fire and health menace. It seems, though, that there are no ordinances to warrant the authorities to order a clean-up. Consequently, the building inspector, the fire chief and the health officer are powerless.

What is needed is not local legislation; it is a State law. Kansas has one and according to reliable information it is enforced. The women of that State obtained its enactment and are seeing that it is carried out to the letter. It is provided by that law that all back yards be continually kept in a clean condition. Once a year, on April 1, owners and tenants are compelled to clean-up their premises. On every property there must be a receptacle in which rubbish is placed and the refuse must either be burned or carted away at least once in every month. It would be well for New Jersey to copy the Kansas law.

A GOOD CREED.

As to the clean-up agitation, here is a good creed for which a Trenton newspaper is responsible:

"I will not allow rubbish to accumulate.

"I will not throw anything on the sidewalks or streets.

"I will not let piles of ashes or trash remain in the back yard.

"I will not mark or deface sidewalks, fences, buildings or public property.

"I will plant some grass and flower beeds.

"I will apply paint to fences, sheds and buildings.

"And when Trenton is cleaned up I will help to keep it so. And, moreover—

"I will try to brighten up myself by being optimistic and good natured.

"I will brighten up my home and spread good cheer among my neighbors.

"I will try to get pleasure as well as profit out of my business.

"I will try to promote the social, industrial and moral progress of my home town.

"I will try to make Trenton the best place in the world for my own home and for other people's homes.

Mayor Stewart is not acting too hastily in appointing the committee of five citizens to co-operate with the local Board of Assessors in revaluing property particularly in the business section. It is a difficult task that confronts him and we are glad to observe that he is carefully considering the matter. No matter what the complexion of the committee may be, there will be some to object as there always are, but we feel confident that his appointments will be good ones.

After the President has done everything possible to persuade California not to enact any legislation that might cause Japan to feel unkindly towards the Federal government, the Flowery Kingdom today, through its ambassador, sends a formal protest to the American government. But the Yankee knows a bluff and knows how to call it.

The Park Comedy Club players have never appeared to better advantage than they did last night when "Her Lord and Master" was the offering. It was a meritorious performance, the cast as a whole and individually, being particularly good. There should be a capacity house when the production is repeated tonight.

You will be interested, very much so, in the contributed editorial to appear in tomorrow's issue. Miss Mabelle Phillips will be the editor and her topic will be a live one and will be handled in a "live wire" fashion.

JR. O. U. A. M. ANNUAL MEETING ARRANGED FOR

Trenton, May 9.—At the May meeting of the State Board of Managers of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics held Wednesday in the rooms of the State Council in the Mechanics Building on East State street, final arrangements were made for the annual session to be held in Atlantic City next October. The officers' headquarters at this session will be at the "Seaside" Hotel, and the meetings will be held on the Steel Pier.

The order now has a membership of 60,380, embracing 313 councils in this State. There are 158 orphans being cared for by the association, living in every county in the State. A personal visit will be paid to all of these charges by the members of the board of managers, who will tour the State, beginning June 23. The next meeting of the board will be held on June 11.

The general executive board of the State Councils of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia, New York and the District of Columbia, will be held in Brooklyn on Wednesday, May 14. Reports recently compiled by W. H. Miers, secretary of the board, show that there are 313 councils in New Jersey, 151 in New York, 216 in Virginia, 169 in Pennsylvania and 16 in the District of Columbia, making a total of 864 councils in these States. This is a gain of 206 councils during the past year. In these councils there is a membership of 124,427, a net gain of 30,564 in one year. According to the report the financial worth of the order in the five States mentioned is $2,498,116.01, of which amount New Jersey has $1,351,826.42. During the past year there was $651,922 paid out from the reserve fund for sick and funeral benefits. New Jersey's share of this amount was $351,050.

KENTUCKY DERBY.

Louisville, Ky., May 9.—The greatest turf event of the year, and the richest Kentucky Derby contested, the thirty-ninth running of that event, at a mile and a quarter for the cream of the three-year-olds of America, will take place at Churchill Downs tomorrow, marking the opening of the spring meeting of the Louisville Jockey Club. Hitherto, the richest Derby was that of 1890 won by Riley, and worth to the winner $5,460. This year the event will be richer even than in the year that the son of Longfellow led his field home. The pick of the three-year-olds are entered in the event, but Hawthorne, the most phenomenal horse of the year, continues a decided favorite in the betting.

LAYER OF GREEK KING KILLS HIMSELF

ALEKO SCHINAS

Aleko Schinas, who assassinated King George of Greece on March 28 at Salonica, committed suicide recently by flinging himself out of a window of the police station in that city.

Schinas, who was a native of the town of Volo, Thessaly, killed the King by firing point blank into his back while he was walking along the streets of Salonica, accompanied by an aide de camp. He gave as an explanation of the crime that in 1911 he had applied for assistance at the King's palace and had been driven away by an aide de camp. A few days ago physicians examined Schinas and afterward announced that he was suffering from tuberculosis.

AUGUSTUS R. FISK'S RESIDENCE DESTROYED

Woodstock, Vt., May 9.—Fire, discovered near a new dormer window, which had just been completed, destroyed the residence of Augustus R. Fisk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Fisk, of Plainfield, N. J., Monday night. Fortunately, both Mr. and Mrs. Fisk were aroused in time to escape harm, and with the aid of nearby neighbors they were able to save the entire contents of the dwelling. The house is located just outside of the village of Woodstock and there is no adequate water supply with which to fight a fire.

The fire broke out in the middle of the night. Just what caused the blaze is not known, although there is a suspicion that the workmen may have been unconsciously responsible. The house was a small frame structure.

UNIVERSITIES BOAT RACE.

Boston, Mass., May 9.—Lovers of aquatic sports are looking forward with interest to the big triangular varsity boat race which is to take place here tomorrow over the Charles River course. The contestants will be the varsity eights of Harvard, Pennsylvania and Princeton. As a means to determine the rowing supremacy among the big Eastern universities the race is regarded as the leading event of the year, with the single exception of the Poughkeepsie regatta. Each of the three crews is reported in excellent condition and a close and interesting contest is expected to result.

PERSONAL.

FATHER NOT RESPONSIBLE.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

In your issue of the fifth inst., you say, "Edward Galbraith, the 20-year-old son of John Galbraith, arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza for being intoxicated and acting disorderly, the charge against him was preferred by his father." Your source of information was not reliable, as I did not prefer the charge against my son, neither did I know of his arrest until the next morning after it was made.

PEACE DELEGATES TOUR.

New York, May 9.—The international conference that has been in session here all week discussing plans for the coming celebration of the 100th anniversary of peace among English-speaking peoples concluded its meetings today. Following a farewell banquet at the Hotel Astor tonight the foreign delegates will leave the city tomorrow morning for a tour of the Eastern States. Two days will be spent in Boston, after which the distinguished visitors will go to Washington, where they will be received next Monday by President Wilson and the members of the cabinet. On Tuesday the delegates will visit Richmond, and on the following day they will be entertained in Philadelphia. From the Quaker City they will go direct to Chicago and then will return to New York by way of Detroit, Buffalo and Niagara Falls. The main body of the visitors will sail for England on May 21.

DECORATION DAY RACE THE GREATEST EVER

Entry List Promises to Be the Biggest Ever Sent in for Annual Road Race.

Plans are complete for the annual Decoration Day twenty-five mile handicap road race under the auspices of the Plainfield Cycling Club starting at 10 o'clock in the morning at Mountain avenue. The course will be to and from Mountainside and will be covered twice, the run being a straightaway. Jack Horner, the local club's secretary, is doing the promoting as usual and indications the that the entry list will be even larger than heretofore. This morning fifteen entries were received from the Bayview Wheelmen, an organization which has always proven a lively contestant for the handsome individual and team prizes offered. Among other entries received to date are sixteen local ones, four from Oreville, Pa., and four from Philadelphia.

The Plainfield Cycling Club has been running these races successfully ever since the first one was tried as an experiment five years ago. At that time bicycle racing was at a low ebb in this city and the club, then a year old, decided to run Decoration Day races as a successor to the defunct Irvington-Milburn race.

There were about seventy-five starters in the initial run and the competition was keen, as has been the case in all of the races since that time. The first road race was won by a three minute man in a driving finish. Local riders have always succeeded in getting a large slice of the prizes, some of which are offerd for local competition alone.

INSTITUTE DEMANDS NO CHANGE IN ROAD PLAN

Hackettstown, May 9.—The recent refusal of State Road Supervisor Robert A. Meeker to approve a proposed highway to the State fish hatchery here because of a reverse curve which he declared dangerous, has suggested, it is said, to the State Game and Fish Commission and State Engineer Meyers, a change in the location of the road. Rev. Dr. J. M. Meeker, president of Centenary Collegiate Institute, supported by the board of trustees, has made it known, however, that the old proposed route will be followed if the road is to cross the school farm without legal objection.

The school officials declare that it was agreed that the road was to follow the old Reese lane, owned by the school, in its course to the field on the school farm, where the objectionable curve is located. To eliminate the curve, it is said, the State officials considered going across land of former Mayor George W. Smith. Another cause of discussion between the State representatives and the school is the latter's refusal to sign a deed for the right of way across its lands unless it is specifically agreed that the road shall always be maintained as a public thoroughfare.

The school officials contend that they have already granted liberal concessions to the State for its fish hatchery in valuable water rights and ground privileges, and were to receive recognition of their requests. Should the State take land of the school for road purposes by condemnation, it would have to be kept open for public use, it is said. The Common Council has also learned that it cannot pass to the State the $1,000 voted by the people to assist in the proposed road construction unless it be used on a street deeded to the town as a public thoroughfare. Deeds are also to be demanded, it is said by the Common Council for a right of way from Warren street to the fish hatchery before any funds for road purposes will pass to the State.

Great Day Tomorrow for Women, Young Women, Girls

In the Lower Price Store on the Subway Floor

The Season's Outclearing of 600 Women's Suits at $10, $12.75, $17.50, $22.50

Many women wait for just such an opportunity as this which comes but once a season.

Every Suit in this Lower Price Store will be lowered in price tomorrow.

In addition we have taken about 300 more suits from our regular stocks in the Women's Salons of Dress on the Second Floor and changed their prices in order to make this a day for women to remember.

Styles and materials are the kinds which have found popular favor with women this season, and the colors are right for all summer long.

250 Women's Suits at $10
Were Earlier $15 and $18

Serge, Bedford cord and fancy mixtures; black, blue and gray tan.

1.25 Women's Suits at $22.50
Were Earlier $32.50 and More

Suits of material, style and workmanship such as these are new comers for the Lower Price Store. About fifteen styles of eponge, whipcord, fancy weave diagonals and fine serges—trimmed in many effective ways. Black, navy blue, tan and soft grays—in fact, all the season's best shades.

175 Women's Suits at $12.75
Were Earlier $18.75 to $25

Plain tailored and fancy styles of Bedford cords, checks, serges and diagonals. Black, blue, navy, tan and many light shades.

100 Women's Suits at $17.50
Were Earlier $27.50 and $30

Many of fine imported fabrics—eponge, men's wear serge, striped Bedford cords and mixtures in plain and light colors. Some plain tailored; others with draped skirts and trimmed collars and cuffs.

Shoes that are RELIABLE and WEAR-WELL are Rare at $3

Yes, there are such exceptional shoes.

$4 is generally regarded as the lowest price to pay for a good, comfortable, serviceable, durable shoe, which is also in good taste and style.

And as a rule this is absolutely true—with rare exceptions, which are so few and far between that the Wanamaker-Reliable for women and the Wanamaker Wear-Well for men stand out in brilliant contrast with all the rest.

These two groups of shoes are so complete that they will supply the foot needs of practically every man and woman.

For Women—high and low shoes, with high and low heels, in all leathers and in models for every occasion. Women who cannot find exactly what they want in this group are very few.

For Men—dressy shoes and sturdy shoes, high or low, with broad, medium or narrow toes, in all leathers and for every usual occasion.

These two $3 groups of shoes are the equal of many shoes that cost far more.

They wear as well and they certainly look as well as the average regular shoe of higher grade.

No one can say truthfully that a man or a woman wearing a pair of these Wanamaker $3 shoes is not well dressed.

They look what they are.

COMEDY CLUB'S SHOW

only his wife and beautiful daughter, Indiana, but also a thoroughly up-to-date mother-in-law, and a family friend, an acknowledged suitor of the spoiled Indiana, "Glen" Masters, a rough westerner. It is evident that the spoiled daughter, a breaker of hearts, takes more than an ordinary interest in her father's guest, the young viscount. Although less than half an hour before she accepts Canning's proposal of marriage she had agreed to be engaged to "Glen," "to see if she can stand him." The engagement to "Glen" lasts but a few minutes. Assured by the Englishman, that he will never allow her to rule him as she rules all others who love her but craving life in England for a change, she marries this man who believes in his ability to make her love him and at the same time to arouse her better nature. As a bride of a few months in the second act she has conquered the hearts of all those about her in her new life. An affected spirit of unselfishness and obedience has completely disarmed Lord Canning's mother whose heart goes out to th demure little American. The loving husband regards with anxiety what he feels to be only an affectation, and begs Indiana to stop her shamming. Lord Stafford, on his delayed return from America, regards the girl as a greater mystery than ever.

The unexpected arrival of Indiana's family on the scene is the cause of much confusion especially upon their introduction to Lady Canning, Lord Thurston's mother, an aristocratic English woman who looks upon "Grandma Chazy Bunker" as a disgraceful creature who neither looks nor acts in accordance with her dignified position as grandmother, while "Grandma Chazy" assures the elderly matron that if "she comes over to the hotel she will fix her up." A suggestion that Indiana and her husband join her family for a Sunday night of fun at one of the hotels is the cause of a serious rupture between the young people. Lord Canning assures his wife that the procedure would be entirely unbecoming to a man and woman in their position and forbids her going. The arrival of "Glen" upon the scene and a few words from him arouse in Indiana all of her old time self-will and she goes with him to join her family leaving a note for her husband, in which she instructs him to come for her. This he refuses to do, and sends word to her that the doors will be locked as usual, at midnight, and unless she returns by that hour she must remain with her family for the night.

Indiana returns at 1 o'clock in the morning to find herself locked out but is admitted through a window by a devoted servant. Her indignation is aroused by this time and she greets her husband with a storm of words, which once they are spoken she would gladly recall. The remainder of the night she spends outside his door, and in the morning he tells her of his plan to send her with her family to Paris and then to America while he goes to the North Pole. Realizing that she loves this man who is "Her Lord and Master," she begs him to take her back, which of course he does.

The professional stage misses a real star in Mrs. Maxwell E. Perkins. As "Indiana Stillwater" her acting was really immense; there is no other way to characerize it. The part was just suited to her for it brought out all her cleverness as a truly talented actress. Had David Belasco or one of the Frohmans witnessed her performance they would have been delighted. And Mrs. Alson M. Abbott, as "Grandma Chazy Bunker," lived up, yes, eclipsed, the excellent reputation she gained in previous productions of the Comedy club. A goodly share of the creditable production is due to her and to William T. Pelletier, another popular idol of the organization who appeared last night as "Mr. Fred Stillwater," "Indiana's" father. Henry C. White as "Jennings," and Alson M. Abbott, as "Lord Nelson Stafford," received much applause and deservedly so for they did some splendid acting. They too, are old favorites. As the Viscount, Brown Rolston was really fine. He had a leading part and happily so for he was simply great in it. Despite the fact that the part was not suited to her, the charming Miss Elizabeth Goddard, as "Mrs. Stillwater," the mother of "Indiana," should not be overlooked for admittedly she displayed unusual talent in a role which was exceedingly difficult. As "Kitty," Miss Blanche Buttfield was a pretty maid and John Valiant, as "Flash," looked and acted like a born valet. There was also some superb bits of acting done by Miss Edna P. Hopkins as "Lady Helena Canning," the sister of "Lord Stafford." At times she showed extraordinary ability. Robert H. Cox had a rather difficult part as "Glen" Masters.

These are the officers of the club: President, Brown Rolston; vice president, Wm. T. Pelletier; secretary, Dr. F. E. DuBois; treasurer and business manager, Alson M. Abbott. Henry L. McGee acted as stage manager, and Eugene B. Sanger, of New York, was the director. The stage committee consisted of Mrs. Charles H. Lyman, Mrs. Harry L. McGee, Mrs. Wm. T. Pelletier, Mrs. Brown Rolston, Mrs. Henry C. White. The executive committee is composed of Alson M. Abbott, Dr. F. E. DuBois, Mrs. Charles H. Lyman, Harry L. McGee, Wm. T. Pelletier, Mrs. Brown Rolston, Brown Rolston, Henry C. White.

The performance will be repeated tonight. There are plenty of good seats to be had.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS

"A Cluster of Carnations," will be the subject of the sermon in chalk by Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, tomorrow morning at the usual hour, and the following Scripture text will be taken as the theme for the regular sermon, "And he shall turn the heart of the children to their fathers."

Raymond C. Burdick will be the leader of the Christian Endeavor Society meeting and Miss Marion Worden will conduct the Junior C. E. Society meeting. An entertainment and tea will be provided Sunday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock in the church parlors by the missionary committee of the Woman's Society for Christian Work.

COLORED FOLKS RECEPTION.

A special musical program has been arranged for the weekly dance for colored people held under the auspices of the local Board of Education in the Washington School tonight and the chaperones will be Mrs. William N. Sandford and Mrs. Stephen H. Voorhees. The committee is composed of Mrs. J. C. Anderson, Mrs. Frank Kelso, Mrs. Harry Bizens, and Mrs. A. J. Lambert.

P. H. S. AT JERSEY CITY.

Plainfield High School ball tossers will go to Jersey City tomorrow afternoon to hook up with the nine of Dickerson High School. The aggregation representing that institution is a speedy one and the P. H. S. boys will have to go some to maintain their winning streak.

AT PROBASCO FIELD.

Hope Chapel will visit the new Probasco Field baseball diamond on Myrtle avenue tomorrow afternoon to engage in a battle with the First Baptist ball tossers. Both of these aggregations are entrants in the Sunday-school league this season and the outcome of the contest is naturally looked forward to with interest by league enthusiasts. The meeting of the Sunday-school teams is something unusual before the opening of the league race and it will afford those interested an opportunity to get a line on the respective strength of the league contenders.

Julius Spencer Morgan [arrow], who was frequently mentioned in the will of his late grandfather, J. Pierpont Morgan, is busily engaged in a line of endeavor far remote from that of finance. As captain of the Harvard freshman eight he is doing more solid work each day than many a laboring man, but the coveted honor of winning a place on the varsity eight is sufficient incentive to make him work even harder were he called upon to do so.

MANAGERS' PLANS FOR GREAT OPENING OF PLAINFIED'S LEAGUE BALL SEASON

Games have been played at Parker Field before and games will be played at that rendezvous again, but never will Plainfield fandom witness such an impressive exhibition of the diamond game as the one planned by Manager Ernest Dorflinger, of the local aggregation, to mark the opening of the Central New Jersey League race in this city. High Bridge will be the Plainfielders' opponents on that important occasion and Manager Dorflinger will put an almost completely new team on the diamond to represent this city in the send off affair.

Cliff Randolph, who in the days of yore, was a favorite with local fandom as a twirler, will appear in a comeback role and if his previous performances this season may be taken as a criteron, he ought to make a hit in more ways than one. Cliff will be opposed by Otto Frederickson, who pitched for Plainfield last year, and whose ability as a strikeout artist is well known hereabouts. It goes without saying that the Plainfielders will have to exert themselves to the limit in order to win out in the first game of the schedule with this cross fire artist throwing them over.

The baseball game will not be the only attraction, however, as Manager Dorflinger has secured Mayor Stewart's presence for the occasion together with a brass band which will liven things up, if the contest should by any chance become dull. Plainfield's leading official will toss the first ball out to the strains of music appropriate for the comeback test, as the mayor is an old time ball tosser and says that he is just as good as ever right at the present time. The two teams will face each other as follows:

PLAINFIELD.	HIGH BRIDGE.
Randolph, pitcher	Frederickson
Nelson, catcher	Hand
Garretson, first base	Apgar
W. Stallings, second base	J. Walton
Williams, shortstop	Sinclair
Craig, third base	G. Walton
Bergen, left field	J. Alberts
Miller, centre field	Scully
Doyle, right field	Anderson

The other two teams composing the Central New Jersey League circuit, Dunellen and Somerville, will hook up at the latter place, similar arrangements having been made for the opening of the league season at the Somerset county seat. Although Manager Bob Bogardus has not given out any official lineup this is the way his team will probably lineup at Somerville tomorrow afternoon, opposing the Somerville outfit:

DUNELLEN.	SOMERVILLE.
McLaughlin, pitcher	Kraft
Dixon, catcher	Torpey
Barnes, first base	Wiltse
B. Martin, second base	F. Hickey
Coyle, shortstop	Grimmes
Giddes, third base	Conti
Lindbloom, outfield	Cunningham
Wolf, outfield	Nolan
Montross, outfield	G. Frentz
Schott, outfield	Porter
Frezza, outfield	Matto, Metzler

Umpires—Plainfield, Frank Wilcox; Somerville, Rutherford Dalley.

Y. M. A. A. VS. MONROE AVENUE.

On the Centre street diamond tomorrow afternoon, the Y. M. A. A. baseball team will cross bats with the combination representing Monroe Avenue M. E. church in the Sunday-school League race this year. Vail, a local boy, will twirl for the athletics, while Lambertson is expected to do the backstop work. The Y. M. A. A. lineup follows: Vail, Brick, c; Lambertson, c; Conger or J. Huff, 1b; G. Huff, 2b; Brick, 3b; Mathews, ss; Chief Meyers, lf; F. Parrott, cf; H. Hann, rf.

MARTIN IN THE GAME.

Jack Martin finally got his opportunity to shine in a Rochester uniform yesterday afternoon in the game against the Baltimore Orioles after adorning the bench for some time past. In the game where Rochester won by a score of 16 to 5, Jack pounded out a hit, scored one run, one put-out and four assists without getting his usual error. Martin took Preist's place at short, the latter going to third base.

GAME AT HYDE OVAL.

Union High School has been signed up by Manager Newton Spencer, of the North Plainfield High School baseball team, to fill the open date on the N. P. H. S. schedule and the Elizabethians will appear on Hyde Oval tomorrow afternoon. It is probably that Captain Dunning, who has been out of the lineup with an injured finger, will be back at first in tomorrow's game.

PLAINFIELD HORSES ARE STILL WINNERS

Although Sport Has Died Locally, Racing Enthusiasts Still Own Fast Animals.

Although Plainfield race tracks have now become a thing of the past and the horse racing sport has declined rapidly as far as local competition is concerned, there are still some enthusiasts who follow the racing game that harbor their steeds in this city. Among the latter is Adam Blair, a lover of horses, whose name has been heralded throughout the country as the owner of some of the festest animals that ever traveled the saucer track. In speaking of the days when horse racing was a favorite diversion here, as well as in all of the suburban towns hereabouts, Blair reminiscently outlined the enthusiasm that prevailed in this city and told of the number of good horses owned by local horsemen.

One of the equines that brought fame to Mr. Blair was Aaron B., an animal that cleaned up $3,000 in prize money for its owner and failed but three times to bring home a slice of the stakes. This horse was one of the best money-makers in this vicinity and held a record of 2:14¼. Aaron B. was one of the stellar attractions at the Fair Acres Riding and Driving Park's track on Park avenue before that home of local horse racing was cut up for building purposes and served to bring hundreds of horse lovers to the park every Saturday afternoon. Following the passing of the Riding and Driving Club's grounds, the scene of horse racing was transferred to Westfield, but it had a short lived career at that place in which Aaron B. was once more the star performer, carrying off laurel after laurel. This horse was sold by Mr. Blair some time ago and is at present owned by a horse fancier at Carlyle, Pa.

Another steed that has been brought before the public and one that is still traveling some is Lester Harris' "Review Bells." This horse is at present in charge of Tom Brantingham, the well known local horseman, and during the last two years has won many races, setting up a mark of 2:15¼.

One of the trophies won by this animal is at present displayed in the show window of Sam Rothberg's store on West Front street and the trainer and owner are looking forward to the annexation of many similar prizes on the track this year, which is expected to be a banner one for Harris' pet. Johnny Osborne, of this city, is driving J. M. Hardy's "Star Patch," another horse that has been a lively competitor where the game is fostered. Among the other animals of racing fame in this vicinity are John G. TenEyck's "Reba Ambennitor," William Workendyke's "Tramway," a horse that was laid up with leg trouble last year but is ready to get back on the track once more this season entirely cured of the ailment: William Hutchin's "Beuna Vesta," of Westfield, with a mark of 2:22¼, and Abe Case's staked pacer of Flemington, "Susie Bell," in the 2:12 class. The latter horse has a mark of 2:08 on a mile track and 2:08¼ on a half mile track. Case also has a green pacer, "Edna Hamlin," placed in the slow stakes. Harry Stout, of Flemington, has purchased a pacer known as "J. F. L.," from John G. TenEyck, of Westfield, and expects the horse to set up a 2:10 mark this season James F. Lawless, of Metuchen, has bought the pacer "Kitty Mason."

LEAL NINE WILL TACKLE FORMER SCHOOLBOY STARS

Following their annual custom, Leal School graduates will get back in baseball togs tomorrow afternoon for the yearly tilt with the undergraduate team. Many diamond stars come back regularly for this important game and the contest, which will be played at Crescent Oval tomorrow afternoon, will no doubt be a hummer. Following the game the alumni will hold a smoker and reception at Truell Hall.

The teams will lineup as follows:

LEAL SCHOOL.	ALUMNI.
Shepherd, pitcher	Will Glenny
Nash, catcher	Tilney
Stevenson, first base	Doane and Lyman
Cook, second base	W. Schoonmaker
Dickerson, third base	Dumont
Stewart, shortstop	R. Schoonmaker
Faber, left field	Daniels
Lyon, centre field	G. Schoonmaker
Dale, right field	Fleming, Glenny

SPICER VS. SAURERS.

A star aggregation of ball tossers will represent the Spicer Manufacturing Company on the baseball diamond tomorrow afternoon in the last contest previous to the opening of the City Baseball League, in which this aggregation is entered and which gets under way next Saturday afternoon. Spicers will lineup against the Saurer team, another league contender, on the Clinton avenue field tomorrow afternoon, with a star cast, including pitchers: Dolan, of last year's Spicer team; Fleming, of the R. G. E. team in the Manufacturers' League last year; Campbell, who twirled for the Jewelers' League of Newark last season, and Hendricks, last year a heaver in the Manufacturers' League of Detroit; catchers: Compton, of last year's R. G. E. team, and Burns, who caught for the Jersey City team of the Central Railroad League last summer; first base: Thompson and Scott, both Spicer veterans; second base: Downs and Juno, shortstop, O'Loughlin; third base, Dolan; left field, Reick; centre field, Baldwin, a member of the Scotch Plains contingent, and right field, Mague and Hunt.

TO HELP COMMISSION.

Arrangements made by Manager Ernest Dorflinger, of the local baseball team, for the use of Parker Field alternating Saturday afternoons to stage Central New Jersey League games on, will prove advantageous to the local playground commission and all of those attending the game tomorrow will be helping to promote recreation work in this city as a certain per cent. of the proceeds goes to the commission. Those in charge of the financial end of the work tomorrow afternoon will be: Secretary Steele, of the local baseball club; George W. Wriston, supervisor of Parker Field, and Raymond Randolph.

READY FOR THE STRIFE.

The three crews which are to lock horns in the Harvard-Princeton-University of Pennsylvania rowing regatta on the Charles, Saturday, were encamped last night within a stone's throw of the course over which they compete. The Tigers arrived Wednesday night and Pennsylvania struck town yesterday morning clad in summer raiment, including new straw hats and brimful of confidence. The Crimson will average 172 pounds to an oarsman, while Pennsylvania will also weigh in that vicinity with the Princeton lads somewhat lighter. The three boats will have short workouts today.

Y. M. A. A. PRACTISE.

As a preliminary tryout before the game with Monroe Avenue, Saturday afternoon, Manager Conger will put his Y. M. A. A. aggregation through a stiff drill on the Centre street field tonight. All members who expect to get into the game will have to be on hand at the practise.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

By FRANCES MARSHALL

Day Before Housekeeping.

Mrs. Kendel, the famous actress, always kept house a day ahead of time. Today she would plan tomorrow's dinner and luncheon and breakfast, and order tomorrow's supplies. So, to some extent, she felt as care free every day as many housekeepers feel on Sunday, when they realize that all the day's meals and problems have been thought out on Saturday.

There was much sense in Mrs. Kendal's plan which might be applied to every housewife's problems. The reason Mrs. Kendal kept house in this way was that she had to dine at 6 o'clock so that she would be ready for the evening performance at the theatre; she rose late, because she went to bed late. Hence her day was short, and she found that her housekeeping went along more smoothly if she was always a day ahead with her part of it.

Adopting the Plan.

Each day plan the next day's work. If you find that the day's work takes less time than you had anticipated, do a little of tomorrow's work today, and so make tomorrow easier. In this work you will always have a delightful sense of getting ahead of the bugbear of daily tasks.

Each day plan the next day's meals. For instance, you take stock of the food on hand today. There is a leg of lamb, half gone, for dinner, and you calculate that there will be about a cupful of tomatoes left after the cream of tomato soup is made for today. So you plan to have mutton and rice soup tomorrow made from the mutton bone cooked with a cupful of rice, a little onion and parsley, and well seasoned; and you plan, too, to have macaroni with tomato sauce. You think beef stew would be suitable for tomorrow's meat course; so you order that to be sent the next morning. Perhaps, then, you decide to have cottage pudding with egg sauce. This will require four eggs; an omelet for lunch will take four more. So you order a dozen eggs, that they may be on hand when tomorrow's cooking begins. The baking powder is low, and you replenish that, and you make sure that you have potatoes and butter enough on hand.

This method of planning tomorrow's meals today really makes tomorrow's work easier. Who does not know the inconvenience of waiting for the grocer to bring eggs or butter or flour or baking powder for the cake which is baking? Or of waiting lunch because the vegetable man hasn't yet come with the lettuce, and, at the last minute, after the beds were made and the rooms were in order, and the furniture was dusted and the porches were cleaned and the dishes were washed and all the other things which cannot be done the day before were done, a vegetable salad was chosen for lunch as the dish that could be most quickly and easily prepared?

Its Drawbacks.

Of course, sometimes you will miscalculate. You will think that enough spinach will be left from todays' dinner to make into salad for tomorow's; or that the dessert for tonight will do also for tomorrow's lunch; and tomorrow you will awake to the fact that both spinach and dessert have entirely disappeared before ravenous appetites. But these miscalculations are few, and of little real importance.

Some Cookery Suggestions

SOME BEEF ECONOMIES.

THE cheaper cuts of beef may, if one knows how, be served in many tempting ways. The beef is quite as nourishing as the high priced cuts and affords one an easy way of curtailing the butcher's bill.

With a Tomato Relish.

Boiled Beef With Sauce.—Cut cold boiled beef in thin slices and arrange it on a gratin dish and cover it with a nice tomato sauce. Put the dish into the oven and let it simmer from eight to ten minutes and serve.

Hungarian Goulash. — Take two pounds lean chuck, two ounces salt pork, two cupfuls tomatoes, one stalk celery, one onion, two bay leaves, six whole cloves, six peppercorns, one blade mace. Cut beef in two inch pieces and sprinkle with flour. Fry salt pork until light brown. Add beef and cook slowly for about thirty-five minutes, stirring occasionally. Cover with water and simmer for about two hours. Form vegetables and spice into sauce. Cook in sufficient water to cover and rub through a sieve. Add some stock from meat and thicken. Add noodles to the meat broth in pot with meat. Serve meat on platter with sauce and noodles.

Served In Bread Cups.

Spiced Beef Liver.—Take one pound of liver, three slices of bacon, three tablespoonfuls of stewed tomatoes, quarter of a teaspoonful of cloves, quarter of a teaspoonful of nutmeg and salt and pepper to taste. Cut the liver into dice, wash and dry. Put the bacon into a frying pan and add the liver. Cook for about five minutes, then turn the liver into a stewpan and add a cupful of boiling water and the other ingredients. Cook slowly for about half an hour. Thicken with flour or cornstarch and serve in toasted bread cups.

With Sauce and Hominy.

Chopped Beet and Hominy.—For this put one and one-half pounds top of round steak through the meat chopper with a small piece of beef suet. Add one tablespoonful onion juice, one teaspoonful salt and one-eighth teaspoonful pepper. Mix lightly and shape like porterhouse steak. Put into shallow pan which has been brushed with drippings, place in hot oven ten minutes. Remove carefully on to hot platter and place in warm oven. Serve with a hominy and brown sauce border, garnish with sprigs of parsley or chopped parsley.

Anna Thompson.

The Bears Climbed Over the Fence.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Brothers Bear and the Strawberries.

"NOW, listen," said daddy to Jack and Evelyn, "and I will tell you a story about the three little bear brothers.

"Their names were Biff and Bang and Bunch. The three brother bears lived in a nice house hollowed out in the side of a hill. You would call it a cave. That is the kind of a house bears like to live in. They are warm and comfortable when it is cold.

"The three brother bears lived very cozily in their little cave house. The door was quite small, and so it was nice and dark when they wanted to go in and take a nap. In winter they slept very snugly till spring.

"In the spring, when they woke up, they were always very hungry. Then they were not particular what they ate.

"One day Biff came hurrying home. 'Oh, brothers,' he began, 'such a find! I know where there are some nice ripe strawberries!'

"'Oh, let's go and get some!' cried Bang.

"But Bunch didn't say anything. He was the youngest of the three bear brothers, and he just sat and listened.

"Biff told how fine the strawberries looked and smelled, and then he said they were growing in the garden of the brown cottage at the foot of the hill.

"'Brothers,' spoke Bunch at last, 'the strawberries in the garden belong to the people who live in the brown cottage. They planted and tended them. There are plenty of wild strawberries in the woods. They are free for every one. Let us eat the wild ones.'

"But Biff and Bang only laughed at Bunch. They said they were tired of wild strawberries. And that night they started out to get some of the ripe red strawberries out of the garden of the little brown house.

"They crept very softly through the woods, and when they came to the little brown house they were more careful than ever. Biff climbed over the fence first, and Bang flopped over after him.

"They stole up to the strawberries, sniffing at them longingly. Suddenly something rose from the midst of the strawberry patch. The something had a gun in its hands. The owner of the strawberry patch was watching his fruit.

"The bears reached home safely, but ready to drop with fright and weariness.

"'It serves you right,' said Bunch, 'for trying to take what didn't belong to you.'

"'We'll never go there again,' Biff said to Bang. 'I don't like the looks of that man.'

"'Nor I either,' Bang replied. 'Why, I believe he would have shot us if he could. Let him keep his old berries. I really think I like the wild ones best.'"

LONG BRANCH FIREMEN TO SHOW VAMPS "HOW"

Long Branch, May 9.—One of the features planned for the annual meeting of the New Jersey State Exempt Firemen's Association here May 21 is an exhibition by the local firemen of getting to a gre. The nine fire companies will answer to an alarm at Broadway and Second avenue. The streets will be in readiness for a dash to the scene. There will be a demonstration of hose connecting when the place is reached.

The details are in charge of the Public Safety Department, of which Thomas V. Arrowsmith is the head.

RUMMAGE SALE A SUCCESS.

The rummage sale being held this week at 119 Madison avenue, under the auspices of the Earnest Workers' Bible class of Grace M. E. church, is quite a success. A large number of useful articles have been contributed and disposed of at good prices. The sale will continue until tomorrow night.

—Mrs. Muggins—"I'm so worried about my husband. I'm afraid he isn't well." Mrs. Buggins—"What are the symptoms?" Mrs. Muggins—"He hasn't complained about a single thing for nearly a week."

—Book Agent—"Can I sell you an encyclopedia?" Wigwag—"No I'm going to marry a girl from Boston, so I don't think I'll need it."

This Firepot Doesn't Clog

SQUARE POT BOILERS owe much of their great heating power to the peculiar form of their firepots. These are round at top but square at bottom. Each time the grate is turned accumulated ash slips from them free and easy into the capacious ashpit below, leaving a live fire fully opened to fresh oxygen. This causes perfect combustion, minus clogging, choking and "dead fire."

Round firepots do not possess these advantages, nor can they give "results" as quickly.

Because of this complete combustion, SQUARE POT BOILERS use a minimum amount of coal and require little attention. Let the dealer nearest give you a demonstration.

TO RELOCATE DEPOT ON ONE OF THREE SITES

Elizabeth, May 9.—At a meeting of the special railroad committee and Pennsylvania Railroad officials at the City Hall plans were submitted for the relocation of the main station. The company offered to relocate the station in connection with its track elevation work, either in East Broad street, West Jersey street or near its present place.

The committee members favor the East Broad street location. This matter will be disposed of before the track changes are discussed further.

TELL NEW TOWNSHIP IT CAN HOLD ELECTION

Elizabeth, May 9.—Representatives of the new Hillside Township conferred with George Stewart and Frank Pfaff, members of the Union County Board of Elections, in this city, relative to the procedure necessary in electing officers for the township. They were advised that they could proceed to elect at once and were given instructions on the manner in which to carry on the election.

The County Board of Elections will organize Monday, with Mr. Pfaff, the new Democratic member, sitting. He is from Elizabeth and takes the place of Judge Robert H. McAdams. The other members are George Stewart, Elizabeth, Republican; Andrew McCardell, Plainfield, Republican, and Frederick Zior, Elizabeth, Democrat. Peter Tillman, of Rahway, is the clerk.

COUNCIL'S ERROR TIES HANDS OF WATER BOARD

New Brunswick, May 9.—Failure of the Common Council to take action upon the veto of Mayor John J. Morrison, of the resolution giving the water commissioners the privilege of spending $7,000 this year for extending water mains has tied up the work of the water department.

The Water Board originally asked for an $8,000 expenditure, but the Common Council to cut out work in Highland Park reduced the amount $1,000. The Mayor vetoed this resolution on the ground that the city contracted with the borough to serve water for ten years and the borroughites were entitled to have mains extended in order to furnish the water supply.

Council found it had acted through a misunderstanding and passed a new resolution covering the $1,000 amount, but failed to act on the veto. As a result the Water Board is without the right to go ahead with its work.

WANTS LIVE STOCK PUT ON THE FREE SCHEDULE

Jersey City, May 9.—The New York and New Jersey Live Stock Exchange has appealed to President Wilson and to Congress for an amendment of the tariff bill as it affects the importation of live stock.

The exchange members want the ten per cent. ad valorem provided for in the Underwood measure taken off because they maintain the exaction of such a tax would be an embargo in view of the dressed meat schedule.

A copy of a resolution adopted has been ordered sent to the President and to each member of Congress with a request that they use their influence to make live stock non-dutiable. The minute sets forth that a few large corporations control the foreign slaughtering establishments which the smaller packers, because of the cost, could not maintain, would be permitted to monopolize the import of live stock. Such a monopoly, the exchange points out, would be destructive of competition in the import and sale of meats and live stock.

COMPLEX HORSE DEAL IS SETTLED IN COURT

Jersey City, May 9.—Fully up to the reputation of horse deals for the intricacy of the details attending its completion, was the double "swap" of Israel Pfeffer, of Union Hill, and Simon Bender, a Brooklyn horse dealer, as aired before Judge Charles L. Carrick, in the First District Court here. Pfeffer originally owned a horse, but it was not good enough for his purposes, so he traded it with Bender for another horse and gave a note for $110 to boot. Before that note was due, Pfeffer returned the horse he had purchased from Bender and asked for a heavier horse.

In payment for this horse, Pfeffer gave a second note for $125. Later, payment on both notes were stopped and Bender then began suit for payment. Pfeffer offered Bender $125, claiming that the second transaction had wiped out the $110 note. When the trial came up Pfeffer alleged that he had tendered payment. After some delays, while Pfeffer found a receipt given to him by Bender, Judge Carrick settled the case yesterday, deciding that the first horse was not paid for until the $110 note would have been met. Judgment went to Bender for the whole amount.

SHEFFIELD SILVER PLATE
$1,972 Worth for $1,232

Beautiful Tableware priced one-third less than our regular prices and one-half less than specialty silver stores would be likely to ask you.

Sheffield Silver has heavy copper body and is heavily silver plated; some pieces are of nickel silver, heavily plated. Some have heavy relief borders and partly hand chased in an elaborate and exquisite design, including, in some instances, heraldic escutcheons.

This is the sort of silver our forefathers favored. It had a place in the mansions of long ago, and it is just as much treasured today as ever. This purchase of Sheffield Silver, ALL PERFECT AND STRICTLY HIGH GRADE, includes splendid reproductions of the exquisite antique, thread, pierced and grape designs.

This sale at such low prices affords an excellent opportunity for replenishing your town or country house, simplifying the wedding gift proposition, and will appeal to all lovers of the "Home Beautiful."

That you may make your selections easily we have arranged these beautiful products of the silversmiths in groups to meet the varied wants of our patrons.

HYDEGRADE WEEK
Great Exposition and Sale of the Widely Advertised and Highly Favored
HYDEGRADE DRESS FABRICS

We inaugurated this exhibition and sale of Hydegrade Dress Fabrics today with flying colors. The magnificent showing of these popular wash fabrics proved an immensely pleasing feature to the thousands of visitors to the store, and the buying at special prices was participated in by almost all who came to view the exhibit.

Such an array of Spring and Summer Frock Fabrics, fresh from the looms, presenting the very newest ideas of the designers, has not been seen in Newark before.

The high character of the goods, the wide variety, the exclusiveness of the designs and colorings, and the low special prices made for this occasion only was an attraction few could resist.

Remember that we continue the special price features tomorrow and all next week.

WED AGAIN, THOUGH EACH IS OVER 70 YEARS OLD

New Brunswick, May 9.—At the First Methodist church parsonage yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Susan Miller, a widow, and John C. Skillman, a widower, were married by Rev. Dr. J. Morgan Read. Both are over seventy years old and both lost their helpmates within a year by death. The bride is a great-grandmother, and the bridegroom a grandfather.

PRUDENTIAL EMPLOYS "UNCLE DAN" VOORHEES

Daniel S. Voorhees, who was the State treasurer till a few months ago, when he gave way to Edward E. Grosscup, has been appointed assistant superintendent of the real estate department of the Prudential Insurance Company. He succeeds Tysilio Thomas, who has resigned.

Mr. Voorhees has for many years been a leading figure in the Republican politics of the State. When he became State treasurer to succeed former Senator Frank O. Briggs in 1907, he was county clerk of Morris county, an office he had held for many years.

"Uncle Dan," as he was always known to his intimates and political associates, was always looked to by the Republican leaders of the State to keep Morris in the Republican column, and had always succeeded till the Wilson landslide in 1910.

Westfield.

Abel Jones and Frederick Hansen were fined Wednesday for riding motorcycles without proper licenses. Hansen, it was charged, had painted his license of last year to resemble a license for this year.

Announcement has been made of the marriage Tuesday of Miss Clara Hohenstein to Robert Hunter at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hohenstein, of Euclid avenue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. W. Hayes, of Madison, formerly pastor of the Methodist church.

Hunterdon County.

Mrs. Ruth Houston, of Newark, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Neilas, in Glen Gardner.

Mrs. John D. Hornby, of Glen Gardner, left yesterday for Asbury Park.

After spending a week in Newark, Mrs. Gussie Runyon and son, Nelson Runyon, have returned to their home in Glen Gardner.

The Star Junior baseball team of Glen Gardner will play the High Bridge team at Glen Gardner tomorrow morning.

After spending ten years in the West, John S. Connolly, arrived in Glen Gardner yesterday and is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Connolly.

High Bridge-Califon.

Henry Anthony, of Gladstone, is at Vernoy and Califon.

James Stevenson is making improvements to his property in Main street, Califon.

Mrs. Charles B. Cole, of Califon, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lance, near Anthony.

Rev. Albert Albertson has resigned the pastorate of the Mt. Lebanon Methodist church and will move his family to Pittsburgh.

Andrew Slater, ninety-two years old, is critically ill at the home of his son, Calvin Slater, at Mt. Lebanon.

Mrs. John F. Davis has returned to her home at Califon, from Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. William Philhower and Mrs. George W. Staples, of Califon, were recently at Westfield.

The High Bridge Reformed church club held a meeting, entertainment and supper last night. The speakers were Rev. Edgar Bruce Prince, of Bayonne, and Rev. John May, of High Bridge.

Miss Wyoma Gulick, of Califon, has recovered from illness.

The Bound Brook High School baseball team will play the High Bridge High School nine on the latter's grounds tomorrow afternoon.

URGING TRACKLESS TROLLEY.

Summit, May 9.—Some residents of the West Summit section are advocating the project of the Tri-county Trackless Trolley Company to run a line through that territory and on to Sterling, provided the municipalities through which the road would be built give the necessary franchises. An application for a franchise has been made to the Summit Common Council, but as yet no action has been taken. To go through some of the other municipalities permission must be obtained from the Board of Freeholders, but no request for a franchise has yet been made to that body. Should the road be built, it would, residents say, benefit West Summit, which is without trolley facilities.

SATURDAY IS BASEBALL DAY IN OUR CLOTHING DEPT.

Every boy in town is rooting for us. The little lads are enthusiastic over Plauts'. They won't let their mothers pass our store, because they know we are giving away bats and balls with purchases of suits, top coats and reefers. The little fellows knock around in them as boys will and yet the suits withstand the toughest wear. Even the boys are enthusiastic over them, because they are so much more distinctive in appearance than the clothing sold by the average store.

FAMILY IS ATTACKED BY SCARLET FEVER

One Child Dies and Parents in Ignorance Cry to See Loved Ones.

Stricken with scarlet fever, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill, of McCrea place, who contracted the disease while nursing their five years' old child, Wilhelmina, are ignorant that their daughter died yesterday and was buried this afternoon in St. Mary's cemetery. Another child, Nora, has also been taken ill and was rushed, this morning, to Muhlenberg Hospital.

The epidemic of disease in the Merrill household has brought about a condition without precedent in this city. Although the couple call repeatedly for their loved ones, the only persons allowed to see them is a nurse and a physician. The sad truth of their daughter's death is being withheld from them for fear that the shock may cause their demise also.

HUSBAND AND WIFE ARE NOW RECONCILED

Through the efforts of City Judge W. G. DeMeza and Chief of Police P. S. Kiely, a reconciliation has been effected between Mr. and Mrs. Howard Breese, and the husband was released from the city jail this afternoon after he had signed a paper in which he promised to reform his habits. The couple will return to housekeeping. Breese was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza yesterday on a non-support charge preferred by Overseer-of-the-Poor Henry L. DeForest on the complaint of Mrs. Breese.

The defendant was ordered held until he furnished a bond guaranteeing to pay his wife $7 a week. After spending several hours behind the bars, Breese grew repentant and promised to take care of his family by returning to housekeeping. According to the testimony at the hearing, Breese had been too friendly with a Miss Lena Noroskie, of Somerville, to which Mrs. Breese objected.

Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., assistant corporation counsel, represented the city in the proceedings.

At yesterday's proceedings Assistant Corporation Counsel Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., presented the city's case and the defendant was represented by District Court Judge Walter L. Hetfield, Sr.

"A RICE PUDDING."

An amusing two-act farce, entitled "A Rice Pudding," which has been in preparation by the Young People's Union of All Souls' church for several weeks, will be given Wednesday evening, May 14, in the Washington Public School. Following the play there will be dancing until 11 o'clock. Those in the cast are Mrs. C. W. Bradbury as "Mrs. Richards;" Miss Eva Selden as "Miss Marion Richards;" Miss Mildred McAuliffe as "Ellen O'Shaugnessy;" Harold A. Brownell as "Dr. Thwaite," and Frank Rimmer as "Mr. Richards."

"HER LORD AND MASTER."

Another enthusiastic audience witnessed the production of "Her Lord and Master' at the Plainfield theatre last night, the Park Comedy Club players giving a finished performance. Much favorable comment was prompted by the fine staging of the show and the committee on this feature, consisting of Mrs. C. H. Lyman, Mrs. Henry L. McGee, Mrs. W. T. Pelletier, Mrs. Brown Rolston and Mrs. Henry C. White, received a goodly share of praise. The costuming was also elaborate.

EVANS' CONDITION IMPROVED.

The condition of Frank Evans, the ball player who was severely injured by being hit in the head with a pitched ball at Crescent Oval a week ago today, has shown signs of marked improvement during the last two days and his full recovery is considered now to be merely a matter of time. The injured man's mother, who is a trained nurse, is attending him.

JAPS NOT CITIZENS.

Answer to a query—The United States Supreme Court has held that a Japanese is not eligible to citizenship. If a Jap settles in the United States with the intention of making it his domicile, his sons, born in this country, can become citizens.

DUNELLEN YOUTH FINED.

Frank Day, of Dunellen, arraigned this morning before Recorder John S. Campbell, of that borough, on charges of disorderly conduct preferred by Peter Ratti, proprietor of an ice cream parlor, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5.

DAILY PRESS' BIRTHDAY.

The Daily Press is twenty-six years old today, having been established on May 10, 1887.

PROPERTY IN BUSINESS SECTION TRANSFERRED

The flolowing property transfer has been recorded in the office of the county registrar at Elizabeth: Daniel M. Martine to Morris Abrams, southeasterly side of West Front street, corner of Morris Abrams' property $1. This is the property which Mr. Abrams, Harry Dreier and Jacob A. Fass propose to change into a moving picture theatre, provided the Common Council will grant a building permit.

It is understood that the promoters now plan to have the entrance to the theatre on West Second street, whereby all of the necessary exits can be provided and which will make it possible to use the frontage on West Front street for stores as a source of revenue.

UNION COUNTY C. E. MEETS IN RAHWAY

Garwood Receives Banner for Having Largest Number of Delegates Present.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Temple Baptist church, seventy strong, attended the Union County Endeavor Union meeting held in the Second Presbyterian church, Rahway, last night, in an effort to capture the county banner, but the society from Garwood with fifteen members, being practically the entire society, received the prize. The local society's percentage of members present was 70, the award being made on the basis of the society having the largest number of member at the meeting.

When the president of the Garwood society received the banner, he replied that he was ashamed to take it, in view of the fact that the Plainfield society with its large number present would get nothing for its efforts. The trip from this city to Rahway was made in a special trolley.

Addresses were made by Rev. F. W. Johnson, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church; Rev. Loyal L. Graham, of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. Mr. Merrill, of the Baptist church, all of Rahway. F. M. Anderson, of Rahway, was chosen as the president of the union for the coming year.

EDITOR WILL PREACH AT HOLY CROSS CHURCH

Plainfield church people will have an opportunity of hearing a clergyman of prominence in the Episcopal Church, who will preach twice at Holy Cross church tomorrow, the Rev. Herbert B. Gwyn, of New York city, editor of "The Churchman," one of the leading periodicals of the Episcopal Church in the United States. Mr. Gwyn assumed charge of "The Churchman" at the beginning of the year, and has already made a marked change and improvement in its general character. He is likewise a preacher of convincing power. Services will be held at 7:30 and 11:00 o'clock in the morning and at 7:45 o'clock at night.

Tomorrow is Whit-Sunday, the festival which commemorates the descent of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost upon the early church. It comes fifty days after Easter. The festival is mentioned by such early writers as Irenaeus, 185 A. D., and Tertullian, of about the same date. In the early church it was a special time for the baptism of infants. It is the last of the festivals in the church year which commemorate events in the life of Christ. It ranks with Christmas and Easter as a day of special observance, especially by the receiving of the holy communion.

LOUIS VANNEST GETS DECISION.

Louis VanNest, of this city, who was sued in the District court, Elizabeth, this week, by the Metropolitan Lumber Company, for $283.96, alleged to be the balance due on a car of lumber, was given a favorable decision by Judge McAdams. Mr. VanNest claimed that the lumber was not as represented and the court took his view of the case.

FORTY YEARS WED; COUPLE CELEBRATES

Mr. and Mrs. Peter N. Van Fleet Given a Surprise by Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. VanFleet, of East Front street, are today celebrating the fortieth anniversary of their wedding, and last night a number of their friends gave them a surprise in honor of the event. The affair was arranged by the women of a euchre club of which Mrs. VanFleet is a member, and the surprise was complete.

After congratulations, the guests enjoyed playing "Five Hundred." During the evening the couple was presented with silveware and cutglass and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. VanFleet were married in Elizabeth forty years ago by Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, now of this city but who at the time was pastor of a Presbyterian church in Elizabeth. Mrs. VanFleet was Miss Elizabeth La Forge, of this city. His home was at Readington. The couple took up their residence in this city where they have continued to live ever since. They have one daughter, Miss May VanFleet.

Mr. VanFleet is a carpenter by trade, having been engaged in the erection of many dwellings in this city and vicinity. More than a year ago while working on a structure in the West End of the city he fell and received injuries which have prevented him from working since that time. He recovered sufficiently, however, to be able to get about. Mr. VanFleet is one of the oldest members of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F.

PLAN OFFICERS' SCHOOL AT SEA GIRT CAMP NOW

Through an order issued by Colonel Harry P. Moorehead, through the command of General Collins, a camp of instruction for officers will be established at the State grounds at Sea Girt from June 2 to 7, inclusive.

The officers who desire to take the course of instruction at this camp will advise their commanding officers by May 25, who will immediately submit the names to the division adjutant. Officers whose names are not reported to the adjutant general by May 27 will not be permitted to attend the camp.

The officers attending the camp will do so as student officers, without regard to rank, and will report to the camp commander on June 2. Officers will not receive pay for any day, part of which he may be absent from the instruction. The service uniform, with campaign hat, will be worn. Each officer will have in his possession the following equipment: Saber, belt, shelter half, poles and pins complete, mess kit complete, haversack, canteen, rifle, cartridge belt and suspenders, bayonet and scabbard, bedding roll, blanket roll straps, cot, rain coat or poncho, watch, field glasses compass, note book, pencils, field message blanks and pad.

COLORED PEOPLE DANCE AT WASHINGTON SCHOOL

The weekly entertainment and dance at the Washington School, last night, under the auspices of the Board of Education, was attended by about one hundred colored people. A feature was the program of vocal music, there being solos by Miss Maize Mann, Miss Nettie Clay, Preston Clay and Henry VanBlake. E. F. Watson presided at the piano, acting as accompanist and also furnishing music for dancing. The solo numbers were much enjoyed and several encores were given.

The affair attracted a number of people interested in this work and among the guests were Miss Studley, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Jones, H. W. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Voorhees, Samuel Rothberg, Mr. and Mrs. Thad. Doane, Miss Holly, William M. Sandford, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, W. H. P. Veysey, Mrs. Harris and Miss Harris.

REV. E. M. NOYES TO PREACH.

Rev. Edward M. Noyes, of the Congregational church, Milton Centre, Mass., will occupy the pulpit of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow morning and afternoon, as the Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, the pastor, will preach at the Tome School, at Port Deposit, Maryland. There will be special exercises in the primary department of the Sunday-school, appropriate to Mother's Day, and in the junior and senior departments the exercises will be appropriate to Whit-Sunday.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m. 46 degrees; 11 a. m., 52 degrees; 12:30 p. m., 55 degrees.

SPICER'S EMPLOYES SEE PARDEE'S PLANT

Local Concern's Men Make Trip to Perth Amboy for Inspection.

Twenty-four employes of the Spicer Universal Joint Company, of this city, comprising the company's foreman, in charge of A. M. Morrell, A. W. Stone, J. C. Vail and George Lee, went to Perth Amboy this morning where they were entertained by the Pardee Company, manufacturers of steel products which are used by the local plant.

The trip to and from Perth Amboy was made in the Spicer company's motor truck and Mr. Morrell's automobile, and was for the purpose of inspecting the Pardee Company's plant.

The Plainfielders spoke in the highest terms of the courtesy of the Perth Amboy concern. The visitors were conducted through the open hearth plant where steel is manufactured by a recently invented process, the blooming and woollen mills and the Pardee Tile Works. In the tile works many fancy kinds of roofing used in architectural designs were exhibited, and in each department the Plainfielders saw the work from the raw product to the finished steel and were much pleased with their visit.

MOTHERS' DAY OBSERVED BY 7TH-DAY BAPTISTS

Special services in observance of "Mother's Day" were held this morning in the Seventh-Day Baptist church. Addressing the children, Rev. Edwin Shaw, the pastor, selecting as his topic, "A Cluster of Carnations," gave an inspiring sermon in chalk preceding the regular church services. "Sunflowers" was his subject at the latter service.

A delightful program of music and recitations was enjoyed by members of the Sunday-school, amid profuse decorations of dogwood and various colored carnations. Vocal solos were rendered by Raymond E. Titsworth and the women's quartet, composed of Mrs. William S. Hubbard, Mrs. F. A. Langworthy, Mrs. John B. Cottrell and Miss Helen M. Rogers, rendered appropriate songs. The balance of the program consisted of recitations by Elston Shaw, readings by Mrs. Ora S. Rogers, Dr. Henry M. Maxson and W. C. Hubbard, superintendent of the Sunday-school, and a short talk by the pastor, Rev. Edwin Shaw.

ROYAL ARCH MASONS TO MEET AT TRENTON

The Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons will meet in Trenton next Wednesday. Members of the organization will dine at the Hotel Sterling at noon.

The Grand Commandery Knights Templar will meet next Tuesday and the Past Commanders' Association will banquet Monday night. In attendance at the latter gathering will be visitors from New York and other jurisdictions.

SNEAK THIEF.

Mrs. Samuel Phillipo, of 214 East Fourth street, notified Police Chief Kiely this morning that a thief had entered her home and taken two small savings banks, containing the pennies placed away by her two children to buy their father a birthday present. Entrance was effected by forcing a cellar window while all members of the Phillipo family were absent.

SERVICES AT ST. STEPHEN'S.

There will be special services at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at St. Stephen's church, appropriate to Whit-Sunday. Rev. W. E. L. Ward, the rector, will be in charge, and preach. Cruickshank's "Communion Service in E flat" will be given and Miss M. A. Townley, violinist, will assist.

CONSTABLE CY HAD A SLEEPLESS NIGHT

Metuchen's Sleuth Just Kept Watch Over "Ham" and "Eggs."

Constable Smith, called "Cy" for short, but whose name is Cysalia Jones Smith, and who hails from Metuchen, rambled into the local police headquarters this morning accompanied by Recorder Barr, of the same place. They had made the trip from their home town by automobile and brought with them two dusky prisoners named Jas. Hammy alias "Ham," and John Chapman, known as "Eggs," both fifteen years old and who said they lived in West Third street, this city. They were arrested by "Cy" on charges of vagrancy and had told him that they ran away from home last Wednesday to seek their fortunes in foreign climes.

Constable "Cy" with a big club in one pocket and a muzzle loading horse pistol with which his great-grandfather may have shot Indians, fastened in his belt, assumed an air of importance although shivering slightly from the cold. His suit of clothes, (some one said he left his uniform at home because he was afraid the auto trip would make it dusty) was still moist, evidently because he was out all night.

Questioned by Chief Kiely, "Cy" said he had stayed up all night watching his young prisoners. The Metuchen sleuth explained that following his "catch" he communicated with Recorder Barr. The Recorder, who has placed many men behind the bars in his day, looked at "Ham" and "Eggs" over his specks, which threatened any moment to slide from their perch near the end of his nose. After inquiring their ages, solemnly said: "'Cy' 'tis against the law to lock such young boys up; I reckin' you'll have to stay up and watch them to avoid that."

Thus it was that Constable Smith, after placing "Ham" and "Eggs" behind the walls of his home, sat on his doorstep throuhout the darkness of the night and "stood watch" lest his charges escape.

"Why didn't you bring them to Plainefild last night," queried Chief Kiely.

"Gee, I never thought of that," Cy answered.

CUP WON BY REVIEW BELLS NOW BEING EXHIBITED HERE

Few of those who have seen the handsome silver loving cup on display in Sam Rothberg's window know that it is the winnings of a horse and one owned by L. B. Harris, a Plainfield fancier. The trophy was won by "Review Bells," owned by L. B. Harris, of West Front street, and driven by Thomas Brantingham, of Park avenue, in a race held under the auspices of the Hudson County Road Drivers' Association last fall. The cup was presented to Mr. Harris at a dinner held by the association in Jersey City last March.

"Review Bells" was invited to compete in the "Baden Exhibition Exercises" held at West Side Park track and ran against the best horses of the State driven by some of the highest class sportsmen. Tom Brantingham trained the Plainfield racer and has handled it most successfully for the past two seasons, ever since Mr. Harris has been its owner.

MRS. A. M. MIDDLEKAUFF DIES AFTER OPERATION

Mrs. A. M. Middlekauff, aged about 45 years, widow of E. D. Middlekauff, of 719 Carlton avenue, died this morning in the German Hospital Philadelphia, following an operation. She had been ill for some time, but had been at the institution about a week. Mrs. Middlekauff formerly lived on Rockview avenue, the borough, but after her husband's death she removed to this city.

Mrs. Middlekauff was born in California, where her mother still resides. Her maiden name was Miss Bailey. Beside her mother she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ernest S. Colling, of Cleveland, Ohio, and a son, Edison B. Middlekauff, who lives at home. The remains were brought to the late home on Carlton avenue this morning, where the funeral will be held, the announcement of which will be made later.

CHURCH SOCIETY ELECTS.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of Grace M. E. church at its annual meeting held Thursday at the home of Mrs. E. A. Vermuele, in Jackson avenue, elected these officers: President, Mrs. Charles Force, vice president, Mrs. E. A. Vermeule; second vice president, Mrs. C. C. Cain; recording secretary, Miss Emma Smalley; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. P. Stevens, and secretary of literature, Mrs. Virgil Heath.

BILL TO PAY SALARIES OF OUSTED SMALL BOARDS

State House, Trenton, May 10.—Assemblyman Griffin, of Union, introduced a new bill in the Assembly yesterday for the payment of the salaries of the members of the small boards of freeholders in Union and other counties affected by the adverse decision of the Supreme Court.

It also provides for the payment of the salaries of the officers appointed by the small boards. It is a stronger bill than was before the regular session, Mr. Griffin said, after introducing it.

The measure provides that the present freeholders must pay the salaries, and also provides that the members of the small boards and their officers may sue for the amount if the freeholders do not pay these claims.

JOHN FRITTS STARTS IN MAIL'S MARATHON

Records Fall — Kolehmainen Running Well—Distance 12⅜ Miles.

New York, May 10.—Kolehmainen won the race; time, one hour, five minutes and 15 3-5 seconds. Harry Smith, Bronx Church House, second, time, one hour, six minutes, 14 1-5 seconds; Strobino, Paterson, N. J., third, time, one hour, six minutes, 36 2-5 seconds.

Jack Fritts, of this city, the well know long distance runner, was one of the starters in the Evening Mail's modified marathon which was sent on its ways at 1:28 this afternoon. The course started in the Bronx and ended at City Hall, a distance of 12⅜ miles. The first mile was covered by Kolehmainen in the world's record time of 4:26 4-5. The Finn also established a record for two miles of 9:5, twenty-three seconds better than last year's mark.

CLUBS LIQUOR PERMITS ILLEGAL HE ALLEGES

Alleging that there are a number of clubs in Elizabeth that are selling liquors under an irregular license Samuel Wilson, of the Anti-Saloon League, has written several letters to Mayor Mravlag, of that city, and Prosecutor Stein, asking that an investigation be made. In a letter to the Elizabeth officials, Mr. Wilson also mentions the name of a "Mattano Club, of Plainfield," that is apparently dealing in intoxicating liquors without authority, inasmuch as it has paid the Internal Revenue tax as liquor dealers but has not obtained a club license.

So far as known there is no club by that name in Plainfield, but Chief of Police Kiely says that there is such a club in Elizabeth, which has a large membership and is considered a highly respected organization. Chief Kiely says that the Elks Lodge is the only club here that has a license.

CADET MAJOR ROBBINS AND A MILITARY BALL

Rutgers' annual military ball will be held in the Ballantine gymnasium, New Brunswick, this evening, and promises to be the largest and most successful in the history of the college. Cadet Major Stanley Robbins, of this city, will have general direction of the affair, assisted by a large committee. All of the fraternities are holding house parties and this afternoon there will be a baseball game and track meet.

The Misses Bessie Alpaugh, Ruth Davie and Margaret Newell, of this city, are guests of Delta Upsilon and Miss Helen Crane, of this city, is a guest of Pi Kappa Alpha.

TO RENEW TREATY.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, May 10.—A despatch from Washington says that Secretary of State Bryan has instructed his subordinates to take the preliminary steps toward the immediate renewal of the general treaty of arbitration with Great Britain, which expires by limitation June 5.

JURY DISAGREES.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Paterson, May 10.—The jury in the case of Patrick Quinlan, the Industrial Worker of the World agitator, charged with inciting riot, came into court this morning and informed Judge Klenert that they had disagreed. The judge then discharged the jury.

POLICE INSPECTION.

Members of the Plainfield Police Department were inspected this afternoon in front of headquarters by Mayor Percy H. Stewart and members of the Police Board.

LIGHTS CONTRACT TO BE RENEWED

Councilmanic Committee Considers Agreement too Valuable to Surrender.

ITS RECOMMENDATIONS

To Advise Common Council Not to Change Terms of Contract Which Gives City Building Free Lighting.

Holding that the terms of the contract with the Public Service Corporation, which is still in operation is too valuable to have changed the Councilmanic lights committee at its meeting last night decided to recommend its renewal with the company and to compel the concern, if possible, to live up to its provisions in every detail. The committee feels sure, it is reported, that the city is not getting the service it is entitled to in the way of street lighting and steps will be taken to see that the contract is adhered to in the future. Among the things that it is proposed to compel the company to do, it is said, is to change the lamps oftener, paint the reflectors and maintain the required voltage.

The committee met last night with James Fairchild, of New York, a lighting expert, and he gave much useful information. A lighting engineer from New York will be engaged to look over conditions in this city and he will also inspect the company's old power plant on West Second street for the purpose of ascertaining its possibilities.

The company has said, it is claimed, that under present conditions with the system of lighting now used by the city it is not possible to give the best service and the engineer will investigate this matter to see whether such is the case. Former Corporation Counsel W. M. Stillman advised the city against giving up its present contract and making a new one, believing it to be too valuable. Besides he was of the opinion that the company could be compelled to furnish free lighting for the public schools and other city buildings. Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed is also strongly opposed to abandoning the present contract.

AGED MAN STRUCK BY A MOTORCYCLIST

Lester Dutcher of New Market, riding his bicycle at moderate speed past the postoffice of that town last night, accidentally struck 72-year-old Robert Pierce, of Dunellen, who is confined to his home with injuries about the head and body.

Mr. Pierce recently recovered from an attack of paralysis. He is being attended by Dr. Platt, who says the aged man will recover.

ANNUAL OBSERVANCE OF MOTHERS' DAY TOMORROW

Mothers' Day, celebrated the second Sunday in May, is a holiday of the heart and home.

It is a celebration for all nations, races, classes and creeds. It is in special honor of "the best mother who ever lived"—the mother of one's heart. And it also is intended that on this day named after "mother" (because of all of the many special days none pay her tribute either as a woman, mother or patriot), that the father, too, shall be shown the same filial gratitude for his goodness to his children, as the mother is shown. Mothers' Day is just as much a Fathers' Day as it could be if it were named after him. It is designed for family reunion, not for the separation of mother and father, or of the children from either in their observance.

Help to make it a great home-coming day, a day of family reunion and of uplift in the home and church and the individual lives of men and women.

PLANNING FOR EXHIBITION.

Rehearsals were started by the Y. W. C. A. Camp Fire girls for an exhibition of the organization's work which will be held some time in the near future, no definite date having as yet been set. It is planned to demonstrate the line of work being accomplished by the Camp Fire members and the exhibition will include examples of the different phases of the work. A meeting of the second group of Camp Fire girls will be held at the association tonight when first honors will be conferred on several members.

A DOG WHO HAS WON DISTINCTION AS A STEWARD OF A CANINE COLONY IN HAVANA, CUBA

OTHELLO WITH HIS FRIEND, OBISPO, THE FIRE HORSE.

PICTURES BY MRS. JEANETTE RYDER, BAND OF MERCY

CARRYING HIS RATIONS

OTHELLO IN FRONT OF THE FIRE HOUSE IN HAVANA

Mascots are as popular in Cuba as anywhere else. In fact, there is one in the "Magoon Fire House," or Centro de Perro, in Havana, which is so intelligent that the firemen there would not trade him for all the mascots in the world. Othello, as he is called, is a dog which came from somewhere some time ago; no one knows just where or when.

As a steward Othello has won special distinction. In the fire house are other mascots, many of them, over which Othello seems to be the acknowledged leader.

At ten minutes to five o'clock every afternoon Othello can be seen going from the fire house to the Cosmopolita Restaurant, where he will lie down in the middle of the sidewalk and wait until five minutes after five. At that time one of the waiters comes quietly and places a tray of meat scraps against one of the pillars and presently Othello rises leisurely, picks it up and carries it back to the fire house and distributes the morsels to the other dogs.

During the coming year the firemen believe that Othello will be pointed out to the tourists as one of the city's

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Martin A. Korff will conduct the Salvation Army service tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, his subject being "And the Angel of the Lord Stood in the Way For an Adversary Against Him." Mr. Korff will be assisted by a young people's orchestra of seven pieces.

Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, of this city, will preach at the Wilson Memorial chapel at Watchung at 10:45 o'clock tomorrow morning. His theme will be "Christ Our Example." All are invited.

James E. Church will address the Sunday-school of the Netherwood Reformed church tomorrow morning at the usual hour. Mother's Day will be observed and two new classes will be formed, one for men with H. J. Martin, teacher, and the other for women with S. O. Rush as teacher.

The Consistory of the Netherwood Reformed church will meet Monday night at the parsonage.

The Epworth League of Grace M. E. church will hold its annual services Sunday night, May 18, which will be featured by special music to be rendered by the choir and an address by the Rev. Dr. J. C. Chapman, of New York. The pastor, Rev. C. C. Cain, will preach at tomorrow's morning and evening church services. The Sunday-school will meet as usual.

Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will preach tomorrow morning on "Confessing Our Faith," and at night, "The Irrationality of Our Belief."

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will preach a special sermon tomorrow night to parents on the theme, "The Most Alarming or Dangerous Sign of the Times."

PERSONAL.

Miss Annie Ryan, who has been quite ill at her home on Steiner place, the borough, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Coddington and Joseph Moon, of this city, left this afternoon on an automobile trip bound for Philadelphia, where they will remain several days enjoying the sights in the Pennsylvania metropolis.

Albert Codington, son of former Judge W. R. Codington, has returned from a two weeks' fishing trip in Maine.

Mrs. M. Bird, of West Front street, has entered Muhlenberg Hospital to undergo a serious operation.

ASBURY PARK TO CHECK UP.

Asbury Park, May 10.—In special session City Council moved to reconsider the adoption of the report of the city assessment board on levies for street improvements in the west side, and decided to engage an expert accountant and a practical road buildr or engineer to check up the expenditure of some $48,000 in connection with the street work. Councilmen have finally admitted the possibility of "leaks" somewhere and have agreed on this method of investigation. The bills, however, have been paid.

HE HAD ATTIC FULL OF STOLEN BICYCLES

New Brunswick, May 10.—Casper Kubecheck, of Woodbridge township, near Perth Amboy, was sentenced to not less than one or more than three years in State's prison yesterday, following his plea of guilty of larceny.

There were two indictments against Kubecheck, one for stealing an automobile lap robe and another for stealing a bicycle. His counsel, Edmund R. Hayes, said the man admitted taking the robe but didn't recall taking the bicycle.

Probation officer Mac Williams said he had investigated the case and the facts as he gathered them were that the man's wife went to the Perth Amboy police and complained that her husband had beaten her. The police told her they were unable to act because the beating had occurred in Woodbridge township.

"Well," said the woman, "he is a thief, too. He has a lot of stolen bicycles in the house."

The police then made a search and found four bicycles in the attic, all of which had been stolen and were recovered by their owners. The man cofessed to the police that he had stolen seven wheels. Judge Daly sentenced the man on the charge of stealing the robe and suspended sentece on the other charges.

HERBERT McDONALD MISSING.

Rahway, May 10.—Herbert McDonald, thirty-three years old, of 132 Main street, this city, has been reported to the police as missing since Monday morning, April 28. At that time McDonald left his family, consisting of a wife and three boys, the oldest six and one-half years and the youngest eight months, to go to work. Mr. McDonald was employed by the International Motor Co. as a demonstrator. His wife says there was no reason why he should leave home with the intention of staying away.

LOSES CONTEST OVER FARM.

Trenton, May 10.—Objecting to an admission made in camera by Henry D. Phillips, a lawyer of this city, Vice Chancellor Backes has filed an opinion dismissing a bill by which Mr. Philips sought to establish a resulting in his favor in a farm to which his cousin, Jennie F. Phillips, holds title. The testimony given by Mr. Phillips and his cousin at the hearing was diametrically opposite. Miss Phillips maintained that she had purchased the farm in dispute and Mr. Phillips that she merely held it in trust.

TO LICENSE CATS.

The other night a cat crawled down a sewer pipe in North Plainfield and made such a racket that people living in the neighborhood could not sleep. The Board of Health took notice of the incident and has ordered its attorney to draw up an ordinance providing for the licensing of cats and the disposition of unlicensed midnight disturbers. Sleepless nights means impaired health and the Health Board will not stand it. The Ladies' Reading Circle is expected to make a protest.—New Brunswick Times.

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., May 10.—The Canadian and British members of the Committee for the Celebration of the 100th Anniversary of Peace Among English-speaking Peoples will arrive in Washington Monday and will be received by President Wilson and his cabinet.

Secretary of State Bryan has accepted an invitation to speak at the second annual banquet of the Pan-American Society of the United States, which will be held in New York Thursday night. It is expected that Mr. Bryan will, in his address, give further public intimations of the policy of the State Department in regard to the Latin-American republics.

Lawyer John N. Anhut will be placed on trial in New York Monday on an indictment charging him with bribery in connection with an attempt to liberate Harry K. Thaw from Matteawan Asylum. Thaw will appear in court to testify in the case.

A court-martial will meet at the New York Navy Yard Monday to try Captain Roy C. Smith, commanding the dreadnaught Arkansas and regarded by navy officers generally as one of the most efficient officers of the navy. Captain Smith is charged with improperly risking his vessel, which ran on an uncharted reef off the southern coast of Cuba last February.

In connection with the annual commence at the University of California the honorary degrees of LL.D. will be conferred next Wednesday on Secretary of the Interior Lane and Col. George W. Goethals, chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission.

The attention of Presbyterians throughout the country will be centered on Atlanta, where the general assemblies of the Presbyterian church, North, South and United, will meet at the end of the week. It will be the first time in their history that the three general assemblies have met in the same city at the same time.

Other gatherings of note that will be held during the week include the Southern Baptist Convention at St Louis and the Northern Baptist Convention at Deroit, the child-welfare conference of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' Association, which will meet in Boston; the International Conference of the Y. NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

The big mine strike in Spain has been settled.

Thirteen States of the Union have boiler inspector laws.

More than 800,000 women are employed in the industries of the United States.

More than 1,000,000 persons are employed in the textile mills of Great Britain.

Organized labor has twenty-four representatives in the State Legislature of Ohio.

The Steel and Copper Plate Printers' Union has obtained an increase of 20 per cent. in wages at Pittsburgh.

The next convention of the Seamen's International Union will be held in Seattle, Washington, beginning next Monday.

About 12,000 employes in the independent iron and steel mills in the Youngstown, Ohio, district have received a 10 per cent. increase in wages.

The creation of a minimum scale of wages for women has been demanded by the Chicago City Council as a much needed weapon against the social evil.

Porto Rico labor unions demand a law for compensation for injuries and hurts received by workmen in the course of their work, a law plain and precise in its provisions.

Washington rumors say that President Wilson will get much of his advice on labor reforms from Interstate Commerce Commissioner Franklin Lane, who is an expert on the subject.

The Chicago Federation of Labor has turned down the plan of its legislative committee to form a powerful labor lobby at Springfield to work systematically for legislation safeguarding the interests of labor.

FOR HIGHER WAGES.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Chicago, May 10.—Employes of the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago Railroad will ask a general increase in wages. The three-year agreement expires tomorrow.

OFFERS TO SELL TO COLORED MAN FINE HOME

Caldwell, May 10.—The "honeymoon colony" in the fashionable section of this town called "The Cedars" is all a-flutter today over the report that H. M. Schmidt, who lives at 72 Westville avenue, was negotiating to sell his home to a colored man.

Schmidt, who is connected with a New York life insurance company, moved into the colony about a year ago. Soon he tried to sell his house. According to neighbors, he advertised first in Brooklyn that the residence was desirably located for consumptives. Next he offered it to colored people.

It is said that the deal for a sale to a colored man has progressed to the point where the prospective purchaser has paid a deposit. Schmidt has been visited by a number of the property owners of the neighborhood but they have been unable to swerve him from his purpose, according to their reports.

SHRINERS IN DALLAS.

Dallas, Texas, May 10.—The thirty-ninth annual conclave of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, the first ever held in the Southwest, will be ushered in here tomorrow morning with religious services in the Scottish Rite Cathedral. Bishop Garrett will preach the sermon. For the next four days Dallas will be given over to the visitors, who with their families and friends are expected to number many thousands. Among the special features of entertainment which the Dallas Shriners will provide for their brethren will be a grand longhorn barbecue at the Fair Grounds, banquets, vaudeville shows and band concerts. For the visiting ladies there will be receptions, luncheons and automobile rides about the city. A grand tour of Texas will follow the close of the gathering.

PEACE DELEGATES.

Washington, D. C., May 10.—A hearty welcome awaits the Canadian and British commissioners for the celebration of the Ghent Treaty centennial when they come to this city the first of the week to pay their respects to President Wilson. J. Brown Scott, secretary of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and Henry F. MacFarland, former president of the commissioners for the District of Columbia, are at the head of a local committee that is arranging for the entertainment of the visitors.

STYLISH — RELIABLE

DISRAELI WAS A SUCCESS

John Bright once referred to Disraeli as a self-made man.

"And," he added, "he adores the mirror." Disraeli thought well of himself. Most men do who get on in the world.

Disraeli was a success—and as we have so often remarked, wherever you find success you find it well garbed.

Keep your eye on the big chance in life, but remember to occasionally keep an eye on yourself.

Cultivate the habit of looking in the mirror—make notice of your appearance.

"Clothes might not make the man, but they often make the opportunity that makes the man."

So spoke Benjamin Disraeli—and Disraeli was a succes.

IT IS SERIOUS.

Some Plainfield People Fail to Realize the Seriousness of a Bad Back.

Mrs. Anthony Wahl, R. F. D. No. 1, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I had such distressing pains in my back that I could hardly stand and it was out of the question for me to stoop. I was all crippled up and I knew perfectly well that my kidneys were the cause of the trouble. A neighbor recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to me and on her suggestion, I used them. They gave me almost immediate relief and three boxes changed me from a chronic sufferer to a healthy woman. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally when a cold settles on my kidneys and they act as a preventive of any serious trouble. You may publish this account of my experience for the benefit of other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

WHAT CHRIS SAYS.

Chris Hill, a publicity agent for the Trenton Fair, invaded Plainfield yesterday and posted pictures showing that the annual show prepares early for its exhibition. Chris says that the Trenton show is going to be bigger and greater than ever and will make the Allentown show look like a small potato in comparison.

HOME

The average man spends half his life at Home. That takes into account the nights at the club, at lodge, at the theatre, or sitting up with a sick friend. It also takes into account the fellow who sees home often enough only to establish a voting residence. He is balanced off in averaging up by the man who spends a good deal more than half his life at Home. The Newark Sunday Call has figured this all out and says that the statement that more than half of life is spent at Home cannot be disputed. If there is any doubt about it, keep a time schedule for a week or so. The Average Women? Bless you, three-quarters of her life is spent at Home! And that includes the working woman, too, the real NEW WOMAN.

Home shapes up as a pretty big proposition, considering all that. The world realizes it, too, for most of the world's efforts go toward providing homes. Right down at the bottom of things, you come up against that great big reason for it all—"Home."

There was a poet who said that Home was not merely four square walls. That was the absolute truth. Home is what you make it, whether you call it palace, villa, flat, cottage or hut. Some people can make a half bed-room more homey than others can with a $300,000 marble mansion. It is wholly up to the individual. But as half a life time is to be spent at Home, it is worth trying to make it a success. A real homey Home is life's biggest success.

The poet's four square walls idea, however, should not be taken wholly at its face value. Most truths should not. There is always that little exception to the rule lurking in the background. Accept the truth, but also dig out that little exception and digest its meaning. Then you will get the full value out of the truth. Four square walls do not make a Home. But they help. The better those same walls are the better chance of making a successful Home. Be careful in choosing a setting for the jewel—the home jewel. Remember that you must use that setting half your life. Pick some thing that will wear. See that it is good. That means be careful in choosing your abode. Whether it be a house, a flat or a room, choose it carefully. Whether you buy or rent, remember you are selecting a setting for the biggest thing in life—Home.

The Plainfield Daily Press

thinks a lot about Home. That is natural, for Homes form its destination when it leaves the presses ready for distribution among its thousands of readers. The Daily Press likes to take part in home making and it does all it can to further that end in what it prints. It can aid you in selecting your setting for your Home—the dwelling, whatever form it may take.

The owner of a house who wishes to sell or rent the house goes to an agent—if he be wise and wants results. The agent gives publicity to the owner's desire, attends to the troublesome incidental business, and accomplishes the desired results.

The agent has the assistance of another agent—a very powerful agent for this sort of work. This other agent is the RELIABLE NEWSPAPER, the newspaper that reaches the kind of people the owner would want to sell or rent to. The DAILY PRESS is such an agent. It reaches this desirable clientage and is used by responsible agents. Look at the names of the agents who advertise real estate for sale or to let and note the high character of these advertisers, their agent because it reaches the kind of people They, in turn, have chosen the DAILY PRESS as they want for clients.

Choose your home setting carefully. Study the For Sale and To Let advertisements in the DAILY PRESS. Make notes of what appeals to you, write to the agent or the owner, and inspect the property. You are dealing with established business concerns who can aid you in this big work of Home-Making. They, the agents, are seeking your patronage because you are the kind they want dealings with—the kind who can be reached through the DAILY PRESS.

PATRIOTISM.

Patriotism or civic pride is a quality which even the least heroic of us desires to possess. Love for one's country, one's state and one's town is an old fashioned virtue which even the most radical have not attempted to decry and the little thrill which goes with the sight of our old red, white and blue emblem is still, we believe, "a sign of grace." Enthusiasm for any noble cause is no less a thing. Let the children learn to venerate the flag; therefore, let the national holiday be observed with all unction, though with a minimum of life and limb sacrificed if possible. Let us even listen still with patience while orators declaim concerning the superiority of our city, our state and our nation. It will be ages perhaps before the rank and file will respond to such a lofty conception of patriotism as Baroness von Suttner has so eloquently advocated; a fatherland of the nations. But the Brotherhood of man is too old as a cry and too new in practice for us to consider theoretically here.

The natural question arises what practical ways are open today for the truly patriotic to show their devotion to country. War, which was once a practical opportunity for heroism, now, in this country at least, is much too infrequent for a steady job. (It might still suit many of the army of the unemployed who are "looking" (?) for work!) Exploration, like golf, is a bit too expensive for democratic uses. Politics, with or without women suffrage, gives promise of ample opportunity still for heroic service. The men who represent us in our city council, at Trenton and Washington, often do so at a sacrifice of time, money and even health which is fully as noble and many more times beneficent than the soldiers' self sacrifice. Self sacrifice, however noble, is rather a costly and even wasteful process for the state. There was surely little profit in sending our most patriotic, strong and able young men to the front to be shot. We are still paying the interest on that investment to the widows and successors, unto the third and fourth generation, of those young men (vide, the every increasing Pension List). The principal, the lives and the possibilities of those young men, will never be repaid, is a dead loss to the nation.

Fortunately for the nation and for the race there is a newer, we fear a more hackneyed, word in use today than sacrifice; it is conservation. We hear of the conservation of forests, of mines and of all natural resources, and the greatest of these is, surely, human life. Here we find then an opportunity for patriotism which is great enough for our ablest leaders; the rise and fall of the death rate being vastly more important to the nation than the question of one or two battleships. Here also, in a crusade for the conservation of human life, we find opportunity for patriotism of every man, woman and child.

Perhaps we reformers, a foolish band, are responsible for the ennui and distaste which good people sometimes express for movements against tuberculosis, against the house fly, against white slavery, against poverty, against that latest terror of darkness, the long hat pin. What good person here would fail to give us a hearing if we told him we were engaged upon a project to make Plainfield a healthier, happier place to live in? Instead of which perhaps we terrorize him with "every time you ride in a street car you risk contagion from tuberculosis!" True, of course, but how unlikely if the good person be a fairly healthy one. What we workers against tuberculosis have perhaps failed to make clear is that the little germ called tubercle bacillus (T. B. for short) is not our sole concern in life. What we are really interested in is the conservation of human life, lowering the death rate, making our city the healthiest city and our country the healthiest country. That is our idea of patriotism in these days.

Because the scientists have told us how to combat the T. B. which, small as it is, kills one in every ten of us, we are leagued together in Plainfield and elsewhere to fight tuberculosis. About five years ago the league here began its active fight. We built a camp and for about three years treated eight, only eight, persons at a time. Some of them gained twenty to thirty pounds and each gained on an average twelve pounds. More than that, they learned how to live in the open air with plenty of plain good food. More than that, they proved to us and to our legislators in Trenton that tuberculosis treatment didn't mean Denver or Arizona, but that we could treat it right here. More than that, with the help of the Elizabeth League, one of our members persuaded the Legislature to pass a tuberculosis law which is still the model in this and other countries. Before this law went into force our county Freeholders began to build Bonnie Burn. The work of the league's little camp was done and it soon closed.

But Bonnie Burn is already full; an addition is about to be made. What shall the league do now? Why, begin at the beginning, or near it, and teach the little children how to live in the open air and with plenty of good plain food. The open air class for delicate children—not tubercular children, they must not go to school—opened last week on Muhlenberg place. Here the doctor, the teacher, the league's nurse and a housekeeper are teaching twenty, only twenty, children how to get strong, how to reduce the death rate, make Plainfield a healthier place, make our county the healthiest county. These twenty children are learning patriotism then in the simplest, most practical way. More than that, they are, we hope, teaching patriotism to all the community. It is a crusade in which all can join, first, by trying to be healthy, secondly, by helping to make health the common heritage of all.

FACTS AND COMMENT ON NEW YORK NEWS

New York, May 10.—In December of last year Samuel Kalisch, living at West Eleventh street, in this city, was arrested upon a requisition of the police authorities of San Francisco, charging him with embezzlement. He was held in jail for nearly a month, was finally extradited to the authorities of California and sent to San Francisco to be tried. At the trial it was found that he was not the right man and he was promptly acquitted. Now Kalisch has begun a suit for $100,000 damages for false arrest against the city of San Francisco. The most peculiar feature of the case is the method by which Kalisch was caught in the meshes of the law without really being the guilty man.

The Samuel Kalisch whom the authorities in San Francisco wanted had embezzled $800 from a Mrs. McCarty in San Francisco. In an effort to trap him the daughter of the victim wrote a number of tearstained love letters addressed to Samuel Kalisch, which were sent to different big cities throughout the country. One of these letters fell into the hands of the New York Kalisch, while he was in Chicago. Although he had never heard of the writer of the letter, he became interested in her and wrote a letter to her, giving his New York address and asking her to send him her latest photograph and arrange for a meeting. It was this letter which led to his arrest and the mistake was not found out until Kalisch was confronted with the writer of the decoy letter.

Now they are after the Sheriff of New York county. Under the fee system in vogue for more than a century the Sheriff of New York county has enjoyed a magnificent income which in recent years has reached and even exceeded $30,000 a year. After all these years it occurred to the Commissioner of Accounts of the city, that the Sheriff received too liberal a compensation for his not too strenuous duties and he sent a report to Mayor Gaynor setting forth these facts and recommending a change in the system. In view of the fact that the Mayor of New York, whose duties and responsibilities are considerably greater than those of the Sheriff, receives a salary of only $15,000 a year, the Commissioner of Accounts suggests that $12,000 a year would be an adequate salary for the Sheriff. He recommends that the annual salary of the Sheriff be fixed at that amount and that in the future all fees collected by the sheriff's office be turned over to the city. The report also contains various recommendations, including one to abolish the county jail and transfer it to the Sinking Fund Commission to be sold or used for other purposes. Strange to say the present incumbent, Sheriff Harburger, has expressed himself strongly in favor of the plan suggested in the report of the Commissioner of Accounts.

The commitee in charge of the arrangements for the suffrage pageant at the Metropolitan Opera House last week had quite a strenuous time in arraigning for all the details, but their task was lightened by the fun they derived from their work, or at least from some portions of it. For one feature of the pageant, forty-nine mere men were needed. As these men were to appear in abbreviated classical costumes and were to serve a decorative purpose, it was considered essential that the men selected should be really ornamental. The committee advertised for perfect specimens of physical manhood and judging from the countless number of letters which arrived in response to the advertisement it seemed that the "perfect men" of the whole world were holding their convention in New York at this time and that all of them, or nearly all, were anxious and eager to display their manly beauty in the service and to the glory of the suffrage cause. Many of the letters were exquisitely funny and strongly appealed to the sense of humor of the members of the committee.

After fifteen minutes' deliberation a jury in Justice Platzek's branch of the Supreme Court returned a verdict of no cause of action in the $50,000 suit of Evelyn Goddu against John Lawrence Bogart, an engine manufacturer. The nature of the suit was rather unusual and the trial attracted a large number of spectators. Miss Goddu, who is about 35 years old, claimed that Bogart, who is married, had induced her to abandon in 1906 a physical culture and painting instruction business on Fifth avenue on the assurance that he would support her for life. She was earning $200 a week net at that time, she said. After repeated disagreements, she testified Bogart ceased to provide her with funds.

The workmen excavating the ground for the foundation of the new building of the National Biscuit Company, at Tenth avenue and Fifteenth street, unearthed the charred hulk of a big sailing vessel in a fair state of preservation. The unexpected find greatly puzzled the workmen, the contractors and everybody connected with the building operations and even the reputed experts concerning the city's history were unable to clear up the mystery of finding a big schooner buried in the ground far from the banks of the river. Since then an investigation has been made which established the fact that at one time, more than a hundred years ago the Hudson River extended to the point where the hulk was found. Close to the old hulk remnants of a pier were found and it is believed that the schooner was burned to the waterline while at the dock and sank, never to be raised. In later years the river bed was narrowed by filling in and the hulk of the schooner and the remnants of the dock were covered with earth.

A rather interesting suit has been begun in the Chancery Court at Trenton, N. J., by ex-Senator Mitchell B. Perkins, of Beverly. By this suit Mr. Perkins seeks to compel the Public Service Corporation, now in control of the lines of the old Camden and Trenton Traction Company to transport him, his wife and his children free over the lines. Some years ago the Senator granted the right of way over some property of his to the old Camden and Trenton Company, in consideration for which he, his wife, and all of his children save one, were to ride free. When the system passed to the Riverside Traction Company the other child was included in the contract. Lately the Public Service acquired the line and refused to give the transportation, holding that to do so would be a violation of the public utility law. Corporation lawyers and others are greatly interested in the suit and are awaiting the decision of the court in this case with more than ordinary interest.

"BANDIT" WEBB'S TRIAL.

Chicago, Ill., May 10.—Robert Webb, leader of the gang of motor bandits which terrorized Chicago for many weeks, is to be placed on trial again Monday for the alleged murder of Detective Peter Hart, who was shot and killed while attempting to arrest the leader of the gang. In the first trial of the case the jury disagreed.

PHIPPS INSTITUTE DEDICATED

Philadelphia, Pa., May 10.—An interesting program of exercises accompanied the dedication today of the new Henry Phipps Institute of the University of Pennsylvania. The institute, which was presented to the university two years ago by Henry Phipps, has for its object the study, treatment and prevention of tuberculosis.

"DIVORCE SUNDAY" IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Ill., May 10.—At the suggestion of the Illinois Divorce Commission the pastors of many of Chicago's leading churches have agreed to observe tomorrow as "Divorce Sunday." The observance will consist in the preaching of sermons dealing with the evils of hasty and ill-considered marriages and the increase in the number of divorces.

IDAHO WELCOMES ALIENS.

Boise, Ida., May 10.—The prohibition of alien ownership of land in Idaho ceased to exist today, by virtue of the action of the last Legislature in repealing the restrictions that heretofore have prevented Japanese or other aliens from acquiring lands in this State. The repeal bill was passed on the ground that outside capital was needed to develop the State.

Dunellen & Vicinity

The Fourth of July celebration committee at its meeting in Borough Hall last night, discussed in detail the big civic and patriotic demonstration to take place here on that holiday. Although the program in full was not decided upon, it is assured that eminent public speakers will be on hand to make open-air addresses following a parade in the morning. Baseball games, athletic exhibitions in which several Olympic heroes will take part, fireworks, side shows of various descriptions and a galaxity of performing animals, will be among the attractions. J. Newton Apgar, chairman of the finance committee, reported that donotions to finance the event are not coming in as fast as was expected, a considerable amount has been collected however.

The Middlesex County Board of Freeholders, which inspected the local streets Thursday, have submitted a report, in effect, that the roads and highways of the borough are in excellent condition. Considering the small amount of money expended in this department, the report of the Freeholders is a compliment to the street committee of the Council.

Special services will be held tomorrow in the M. E. church in observance of "Mothers' Day." The pastor, Rev. Dr. W. A. Knox, will preach an appropriate sermon.

Rev. J. Edgar Washburn, of Rahway, will address the Sunday-school pupils of the M. E. church on Sunday, June 1. The Rahway minister is an accomplished and forceful speaker and his remarks are sure to be of decided interest.

Members of the local Board of Trade have been urging the extermination of the fly by personal canvas of the residential district.

St. John's Lyceum, an organization connected with St. John's Roman Catholic church, have abandoned their headquarters in the Michael A. Gallagher building, in Washington avenue, for the summer. They will return, however, in September. In the meantime all meetings will be held at the rectory.

Mrs. Robert L. Price has been entertaining her sister, Mrs. William P. Dunn, of Stelton.

The regular prayer-meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist was held last night.

G. Wesley Blaine, a member of the local Board of Education, is detained at his home with a sudden attack of illness. Dr. Thomas Hogan, another member of the board, is nursing a broken left arm. The incapacitation of these men prevented the holding of a meeting of the board scheduled for Wednesday night.

Bound Brook.

Rev. T. Alexander Cairns, of Newark, will occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian church tomorrow morning in the absence of Rev. C. J. Culp, who has gone to Richmond, Ohio. The Christian Endeavor will meet at 6:45 p. m., leader, Miss Mildred Brokaw; topic, "Love Not the World." Miss Augusta Rugen will lead the study class.

"Service of Trials" will be the subject of Rev. Harold E. Green's sermon tomorrow morning at the Reformed church. In the evening he will speak on "Practical Christianity."

Miss Mary Rutt, of Bloomsbury, N. J., is spending a few days with Mrs. William H. Alpaugh.

Mother's Day will be observed in the Congregational church tomorrow. It is suggested that all who attend the morning service wear white carnations, the emblem of the day. These may be left with the ushers at the close of the service for distribution to the sick and shut in.

The funeral of Mary Anna, wife of Charles Housell, was held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Praster, of South Bound Brook, yesterday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Harold E. Green. Interment was made in the Bound Brook cemetery. Mrs. Housell was 28 years old and leaves one daughter, Clara, aged five years. The bearers were Mr. Britton, Irving Swayze, Edward Conlon and her brothers, Elmer, George and Claude.

Plains & Fanwood.

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior League was held yesterday afternoon in the Parish House. Miss Elizabeth Babcock, president of the society, presided. Following a short business session a general social time was held and refreshments were served.

The largest attendance of the year featured the meeting of the Lend-a-Hand Society held yesterday in the Baptist church.

The Town Committee is contemplating oiling the streets of the township and yesterday a gang of laborers were cleaning the local thoroughfares of all superfluous dirt in preparation for the application of the fluid.

DISCUSS RECREATION PLANS AND NEEDS

Congress of Playground Associations in Session This Week at Richmond.

Richmond, Va., May 10.—The seventh annual cogress of the Playground and Recreation Associations of America is in session here. Representatives from all over the United States are attending the meetings and many notable papers have been presented by the leaders, both men and women, interested in the nation-wide recreation movement. Letters were read from President Woodrow Wilson and former President Theodore Roosevelt highly commending the playground and recreation movement. Both regretted their necessary absence. Each emphasized the fundamental national importance of supervided play.

Of especial interest at this time was the paper presented by Lee F. Hammer, director of the Recreation Department of the Russell Sage Foundation, who said, "In that dangerous time of the day, from 6 to 11 p. m., occur eighty per cent. of all the offenses against society," thus emphasizing the need for evening recreation centers, in schools, churches, parks and playgrounds. He further stated they must be attractive with live people in charge. He suggested a wide program, consisting of games, athletics, dances, dramatic and literary clubs, choral societies, civic conferences, mothers' clubs, cooking, sewing and millinery classes, lectures, story telling and quiet rooms for games, reading and letter writing.

Rev. J. J. Curran, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., said the manner in which people spend their leisure time has come to be regarded as a vital community concern. Dance halls, he described as "Vestibules of houses of ill-fame." Cheap dramatics, pool rooms and other forms of "commercial recreation" he pictured as indicating popular needs which should be met by wholesome community activities. Vice, he said, is caused less by low wages than by improper or inadequate recreation.

Not "playgrounds" alone, he continued, but a broad recreational program is the basic need in every community. This should include civic pageants and festivals, dramatics, supervision of moving pictures, dance halls and other "commercial recreation," wider social uses of schools and churches and parks, organization of street play, and the development of appropriate recreational activities in industrial establishments and in the various charitable, correctional and social agencies.

Otto T. Mallery, secretary of the Board of Recreation, Philadelphia, favored a distinct recreation commission for all cities. George W. Ehler, of the Department of Physical Training, University of Wisconsin, argued for a regular city department of recreation similar to the health, fire, charity and police departments. All speakers agreed that there must be a competent "Supervisor of Recreation" in charge and employed throughout the year.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

This is the last week of this season's entertainment at the New York Hippodrome. On Saturday night, May 17, the curtain will go up for the last time on the three spectacles, "Under Many Flags," "Gypsy Life" and the "Circus Maximus." Immediately after, the dismantling of the whole production will take place. All the costumes and properties will be stored away and the scenery chopped up into kindling wood. Particular attention is, therefore, called to the fact that beginning Monday night there are twelve more chances to see the wonderful creations of Arthur Voegtlin and his co-workers embodied in the splendors of this year's show. Over two million people have witnessed this year's production, which is an increase of seven-five thousand over last year.

H. H. Frazee opened his new Longacre theatre on Thursday evening, May 1, when "Are You a Crook?" had its metropolitan premiere and met with tremendous success. The offering, which is the joint work of William J. Hurlburt and Frances Whitehouse, is a new farce in three acts, which locales in a fashionable Long Island estate and the Washington square rooms of a young Gothamite. The story concerns a charming young girl (played by Miss Marguerite Clark), whose frequent visits to Crook plays obsesses her with a penchant to idealize the gentleman burglar, in quest of whom she complicates the affairs of several families and upsets the campaign of a dishonest politician in three acts of rapid farcical satire. In addition to Miss Clark, Mr. Frazee assembled a cast of unusually notable players, among whom are Joseph Kilgour, George Fawcett, Elita Proctor Otis, Scott Cooper, Ivy Troutman, Percy Winant, Marion Ballou, Elizabeth Nelson, Harry Stockbridge, Lester Barfoot and Malcolm Long. It is a whirlwind success and is one of the season's greatest, judging from box office receipts.

Governor Hughes

Had the laws changed making it possible.

Governor Sulzer

Has had it carried into practical effect for the benefit of all the people.

When a Bank Failed

formerly a Receiver was appointed to dispose of the assets. A few individuals with plenty of ready cash obtained the bargains and made the money.

Governor Hughes had the law changed and the State of New York Banking Department takes charge of and liquidates all failed Banking Institutions.

Governor Sulzer's administration has ordered that if there are to be any opportunities for making money from the assets of failed Banking Institutions, all the people should be given an equal chance.

The Banking Department of the State of New York realize perfectly that such a large tract as 2000 separate lots of the Morris Park Race Track cannot be sold without sacrificing their value.

5,000 PRESBYTERIANS WILL MEET IN ATLANTA, GEORGIA, THIS MONTH

THE REV. DR. MAITLAND ALEXANDER

REV. DR. SAMUEL S. PALMER

The eyes of the Presbyterian world will be turned toward Atlanta, Ga., from May 15 to the end of the month. The three largest branches of Presbyterianism will hold annual assemblies at the same time in that city. Simultaneous meetings of these bodies never have been held before.

There will be 5,000 Presbyterians officially in Atlanta. They will represent all parts of the country and the foreign mission field. The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, to which almost all churches in the vicinity belong, will meet in the Baptist Tabernacle.

Who will be the next moderator is causing much speculation. The list of candidates includes the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, of First Church, Pittsburg; the Rev. Dr. Samuel S. Palmer, of Broad Street Church, Columbus, Ohio; the Rev. Dr. William D. McKibbin, president of Lane Theological Seminary, Cincinnati, Ohio, and the Rev. Dr. Frederick W. Hinitt, of Danville, Ky. In the lead are Drs. Alexander and Palmer. Dr. Hinitt is being put forward in place of the Rev. Dr. Aquilla Webb, of Louisville, Ky., who recently was in a railroad accident and will not even be able to go to Atlanta. The retiring moderator is the Rev. Dr. Mark A. Matthews, of Seattle, Wash.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. Evarts C. Conover, of the Temple Baptist church will address the Baptist Young People's meeting at the Ebenezer Baptist church tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock.

Rev. Gabriel R. Magaire, of this city, gave his lecture on Africa at St. James' M. E. church, Elizabeth, last night.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Netherwood Reformed church will hold its monthly meeting at the parsonage Monday night.

Rev. Leif Huseby, of the Unitarian church, Elizabeth, will preach in All Souls' church tomorrow morning in exchange with Rev. Arthur E. Wilson.

UNVEIL STATUE OF CARL SCHURZ

Imposing Ceremonies in Honor of Publicist at Morningside Heights, New York.

New York, May 10.—With an interest stimulated by the fact that their famous fellow-countryman was a citizen of the world, as well, and that the event has a world-wide interest, thousands of German-American citizens of New York this afternoon witnessed the impressive ceremonies of the unveiling of the statue of Carl Schurz, who, forced to flee from his native land because of his revolutionary activities, became a citizen of the United States, and in his adopted home rose to positions of the highest distinction, serving in turn as minister to Spain, as a soldier in the Civil War and as United States senator from Missouri, in addition to being a brilliant journalist and for half a century one of the most tremendous campaigners in American politics.

The statue occupies a commanding position overlooking Morningside Park and surrounded by the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, St. Luke's Hospital, and the buildings of Columbia University. The memorial was designed by Karl Bitter, assisted by Henry Bacon, the architect who designed the Lincoln Memorial monument soon to be erected in Washington. The bronze full-length figure of Schurz stands on a large granite pedestal. It is a nine foot statue showing Schurz in the long coat that he wore so often. The pedestal bears reliefs in polished granite, and the inscription:

Carl Schurz
Defender of Liberty and Friend of Human Right.

Two large granite seats extend on either side of the statue, and at each end is a bas-relief containing allegorical figures representing the principal activities of Schurz—his work in behalf of the Indian and the negro, and his contribution toward the advancement of the human race.

The unveiling ceremonies were preceded by a parade of Civil War veterans, State militia, and German societies. Mayor Gaynor and other invited guests reviewed the procession from a stand erected near the monument. The unveiling ceremonies were of a simple but impressive character. Joseph H. Choate, chairman of the committee which erected the memorial, presided, and the principal speakers were Ambassador von Bernstorff, Congressman Richard Bartholdt, of Missouri, and Borough President McAneny.

Many guests of distinction occupied seats on the stand. Among them were Andrew Carnegie, Oscar Straus, Charles Francis Adams, Horace White, George Haven Putnam and Dr. Abraham Jacobi. Several generals who fought in the Civil War with Mr. Schurz attended the ceremonies and there were also representatives from Hampton Institute, toward which part of the Schurz Memorial Committee's $93,000 fund will be devoted, and from Missouri, which sent Mr. Schurz to the Senate after the Civil War.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council has fixed the twenty-seventh day of May, A. D. 1913, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 140 North avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., as the time and place for Elliot T. Barrows, Daniel J. Courain and Frederic H. Andrews, the commissioners appointed by the Common Council pursuant to the ordinance entitled: "An Ordinance for the Laying Out and Opening of Kensington Avenue from the southerly side line of Prospect Avenue to the northeasterly side line of Park Avenue," approved November 6, 1912, and the resolutions of the Common Council in the premises adopted May 5, 1913, to meet and proceed with the discharge of their duties and hear all persons interested in the premises, and make their estimates and assessments under said ordinance and said resolutions and the statutes in such case made and provided.

The street to be laid out and opened to extend from the southerly side line of Prospect Avenue to the northeasterly side line of Park Avenue, the centre and side lines of which street, as well as the width thereof, being particularly described in said ordinance, and shown on map therein referred to and on file in the office of the City Clerk, entitled "Map Showing proposed Laying Out and Opening of Kensington Avenue from Prospect Avenue to Park Avenue, City of Plainfield, N. J., September, 1912."

The lands, real estate and appurtenances intended to be taken for such purposes include all that part of the several properties now or formerly of Central Park Realty Co., Agnes R. Bird, Fred Bird, Margaret Vail, Caro Bird, Jonathan Clawson and George E. Sovereign, which lies between two lines drawn parallel with the above mentioned centre line of Kensington Avenue as proposed to be laid out and opened, and thirty feet distant therefrom, one on the easterly and one on the westerly side of said centre line, as shown on said map and said ordinance, to which reference is hereby made for a more detailed description.

By order of the Common Council,
JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

By FRANCES MARSHALL

The Soup Garden.

No French woman thinks the day's menu is complete unless soup is served once. If she be very poor, soup forms the main course of the heartiest meal she prepares; if she order an elaborate meal, soup takes a relatively unimportant place, as it does in most American homes. But it is always in evidence.

There is much sense in the French woman's ideas on soup. It is an easily prepared — comparatively speaking, at least—easily digested and inexpensive dish. As warm weather comes on the heavy stock soups of the winter seem too rich for constant fare; and vegetable soups suggest themselves as an alternative. Many can be made from odds and ends of left-over vegetables—spinach, asparagus, peas, lima and green beans, corn and many other summer delicacies. But a soup garden of vegetables near the kitchen door will prove an ever-helping source of inspiration to the housekeeper. When the green grocer has nothing but shriveled peas to offer you, you can go to your soup garden and pull up half a dozen fresh, bright carrots, in the pink of condition for cream carrot soup. When the lettuce in the shops is withered, you can pull half a dozen heads for lettuce puree. When a cold day makes heavy soup desirable you can gather a handful of "soup greens" to add to the stock pot, or cut enough okra for broth.

The planting and nurturing of this soup garden, too, will form a pleasant ten-minute-a-day diversion.

What to Plant.

A bed six feet square could be made to supply vegetables for the whole summer's soups—after they have once reached the stage when they can be used. A lettuce bed, two by three feet, where seedlings could be transplanted to head, or where seeds could be thickly planted, and thinned out leaf by leaf, which is really almost as good for soup as head lettuce, could occupy one corner. Two tomato plants could be set next the lettuce in a space of the same size and parsley seed, soaked for twenty-four hours, could be planted as a border on two sides of the tomato bed. A six-foot row of carrots, and a six-foot row of onions, each running the entire length of the bed, would take up another two feet of width. Another row could be devoted to okra and turnips—about three feet of each. Still another row could contain three pepper plants—sweet green peppers—and a little sage, thyme and summer savory.

A soup garden of this size could be easily kept free from weeds and supplied with moisture in ten minutes energetically spent early every morning; and it would be the source of many steaming dishes which would bring refreshments, nourishment and appetite on warm summer days.

Some Cookery Suggestions

POTATO SOUPS.

POTATO soup is easily made, and the materials for making it are available the year round. It is economical and if not served too often in the same form will be relished by the family. Milk dumplings added to potato soup are very nice and make of it quite a substantial dish.

Two Simple Soups.

Plain Potato Soup.—Boil six large potatoes until soft, season with salt, pepper and butter, press through a colander. Then add one and one-half pints of milk, the juice of large onion and a little celery salt. Stir all to a cream, then beat for ten minutes. Before serving add a half pint of milk and some finely chopped parsley.

Cream of Potato Soup.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of mashed potatoes, two cupfuls of boiling milk, one tablespoonful each of butter, flour and chopped parsley, one teaspoonful of grated onion, one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of white pepper.

Put the potatoes into the top of double boiler, add the hot milk and onion. As soon as it boils add two cupfuls of boiling water, the salt, pepper, butter and flour, which have been rubbed together. Stir until creamy. Add the parsley and dust with a little paprika.

These Are Nourishing.

Puree of Potatoes.—Take sufficient potatoes to yield two pounds when peeled. Peel and wash, then cut into thin slices and dry on a cloth. Place two ounces of butter in a clean enameled saucepan. As soon as it melts add the potatoes, together with a large onion peeled and thinly sliced and a small teaspoonful of minced parsley. Fry slowly for a quarter of an hour, stirring continuously in order to avoid burning. Then add three pints of stock. Draw the pan to the side of the fire and simmer slowly until the vegetables are thoroughly cooked and quite soft. Then rub through a hair sieve into a clean vessel and return to another saucepan. Thicken with one ounce of flour and one ounce of butter kneaded together. Add a cupful of hot milk and pepper and salt to taste. Make very hot, pour into a heated soup tureen and serve with fried crusts handed separately.

A Milk Soup.

Potato Soup With Milk.—Take two large potatoes, one onion, one ounce of butter, one quart of water, one ounce and a half of crushed tapioca, half a pint of milk, salt and pepper. Peel the potatoes and cut them in pieces. Put them, with the sliced onions and butter, into the boiling water. Cook till tender, pass through a sieve, return to the pan and when boiling sprinkle in the tapioca. Boil fifteen minutes, stirring occasionally. Add the milk, let boil up once. Season to taste.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Lively Buntie Had to Reform.

The Cat Played With String.

THE children said, "Now, daddy, it's time for our story."

"And what am I to tell you?" daddy asked.

"Tell us about little Buntie," suggested Jack.

"Yes," urged Evelyn; "we haven't had a story about pussies for a long time."

"Well," agreed daddy, "I'll begin by saying that Buntie got her funny name because she was so fond of playing with strings. She was named after a funny young lady in a play who also was fond of strings.

"The strings would have done little harm perhaps if Buntie had just kept to them. True, sometimes Buntie's fond mistress would find the cat coughing violently and with an end of pink twine hanging out of her mouth.

"Then Buntie's mistress would hurriedly pull the piece of pink twine up and up out of Buntie's little throat until the other end was reached. Buntie would give a sigh of relief and hurry off under the sofa or into some dark corner until she got over her surprise.

"After a time Buntie learned not to swallow long strings, but that was not until she learned to chase dogs.

"There was a hungry little dog who sometimes came around the kitchen door looking for scraps who first taught Buntie to chase dogs. Perhaps at some time this dog had been chased by a cross cat and so was afraid of all cats afterward. At any rate, whenever Buntie came out the dog would yelp and fly home, and Buntie enjoyed chasing after it.

"One day a saucy little fox terrier came along with his master. The dog trotted up through Buntie's yard, and the cat saw him.

"Buntie started to chase the dog, but the fox terrier turned on her with a fierce bark. The fox terrier wasn't the kind of dog that ran away from cats.

"Buntie saw the dog was in earnest and made a mad rush for a tree. She never stopped till she reached the very top limb of the tree, and there she sat and meowed and meowed until Buntie's folks paid the little boy next door a quarter to go up the tree and bring her down. They thought Buntie couldn't get down by herself.

"Buntie just looked at the little boy scornfully when he got to the top of the tree. She seemed to say, 'Yes; it's such as you who keep dogs to scare poor cats out of eight of their nine lives.'

"Then Buntie calmly walked down the tree alone, and since then Buntie has quit chasing dogs.

"When they come into her yard she flies up on one of the wide windowsills, where people in the house can see her and come to her aid."

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

Draped evening coats make the smartest possible summer wraps. This one is designed for small women and young girls. It can be worn equally well for afternoon affairs.

It is very simple in the Kimono style that is a pronounced favorite, and it may be plain or elaborate as the drapery on the back is used or not. The sleeves can be made long with cuffs or a little shorter and open. There are many attractive materials used for wraps of this kind, and any pretty crape or soft silk would be appropriate.

In the illustration a dull old blue charmeuse satin is trimmed with one of the new silks known as the stained window design or the kind of coloring familiar in such glass.

For the sixteen-year-old size the coat will require five yards of twenty-seven inch material, with three-quarters of a yard for the back drapery and three quarters of a yard for the collar and cuffs.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls of sixteen and eighteen years of age and for small women. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7816, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

HINTS ON FASHIONS IN THE METROPOLIS

Some Suggestions to the Woman Who Would Be Gowned Correctly.

New York, May 10.—The weather conditions are by no means favorable for the display of spring styles. Frequent rains and a chilly atmosphere are apt to put a damper upon the most eager desire to blossom out in the wonderful new creations which the genius of the fashion designers has wrought for the use of their fair patrons and the delight of the latters admirers. Yet, after all, there are many opportunities to observe and study these new creations, either in the models shown at the more exclusive shops and ateliers, or upon the persons of the fashionable women who congregate at various public and social functions.

Dresses draped, and gowns with pretty short tunics of lace or embroidery, or gracefully draped skirts simulating panier effects, are the most agreeable and interesting models seen. Lawns and soft muslins, with large or small patterned designs, either conventional or floral, seek general approbation. Lace, embroidery and embroidered tulle or net are employed as trimmings, the open neck at time ornamented with an upstanding Medici collar of lace, net, or soft illusion tulle completing the up-to-date and charming effect.

Very pretty old-time cretonnes, particularly quaint in design, striped and flowered, mostly of the Louis Seize and Directoire periods, form delicious little vests or loosely fitting waistcoats that will be particularly pleasing with the new tailor-made suits of plain woolen goods in grays of different shades, especially muraille, mastic, or grissouris. Green in many pretty shades, dark or light, Persian, Empire, cabbage, lettuce, tillenil, or apple, combined at times with black or brown, make novel costumes when the colors are properly arranged and duly proportioned.

The three-tiered or ruffled skirt which is one of the leading novelties of the season, will have many followers when women choose their summer frocks. This model looks best in the supple satin or silk, preferably silk, and the crepe effects will be good also. This skirt, with three volants of equal length but widely different width, makes a very dashing dress for either a stout or a slim woman. The first volant coming from the waist band is quite full, the second less so, and the third, which begins below or at the knee, only allows one enough space to step in. So the fleshy woman can conceal her largeness with the ruffle near the waist, and, by contrast with that about the feet, succeed in looking very graduated or slim indeed as to size.

The aim of some of the designers seems to be to make the figure large and round about the hips, and to have the outline come to almost nothing at the knees. Some dresses just finished show that result, and as the effect is considered quite successful, it is quite probable that this innovation will eventually bring about a change in the present silhouette, the straight up and down figure.

When the matter of line is considered, the important question of making the most of one's beauty resolves itself into the right crossing of lines. The skirt is an excellent means of exploiting this idea, for it shows drapery to every possible variation of the crossed line. One of the most noticeable and artistic trimmings is shown in an overskirt of chiffon which is applied in crossed lines over a foundation of charmeuse. Straight widths of the chiffon are attached to the back of the skirt, then crossed and curved around the hips and, after being crossed in front, the ends disappear beneath the girdle.

On the bodice the crossed lines have unlimited possibilities. The front fastening affords great opportunity for bringing the effects on the first idea. The surplice effects lend themselves to many different ways of giving a crossed-line effect. Long, straight revers are added to the fronts and if of a contrasting color will emphasize the fashionable line. Pipings, bands of Bulgarian embroidery, beading, frills of lace and any application of color will give accent to the good idea.

On the crossed fronts of the majority of blouses a one-sided trimming is generally the rule. There will be a row of buttons on one side, a row of either simulated button-holes or bound buttonholes balancing on the other side. Ribbon velvet can be passed through slots down one side, while an entirely different decoration can be carried out on the opposite side. Then, again a band of hand embroidery will form a side decoration down one edge of the front with a blank space on the other side. These are just a few of the variations of a very important idea in decoration that has been recognized in all ages in the field of art.

When the great question of the sash and girdle comes up for consideration there is a decided emphasis placed on crossed lines. The soft ribbon, after being wound a time the waist, is curved and crossed a any place that is in need of this note of color. The tunic is another part of the costume which can be used as an effective place for the crossing of lines. The examples are everywhere noticeable and a leniency is the chief characteristic, which promises the right and becoming crossing of lines for all women.

Tailored suits have bolero or eton jackets and broad girdles of a contrasting color. Buttons are much in evidence, and those of porcelain ivory, tortoise shell or enamel are most favored.

Striped materials are extensively used for street costumes. A Paquin model of gray and brown ribbed material has a modified bolero jacket, with revers, collar and cuffs of brown and white checkered silk.

Neckwear, guimpes, girdles, hosiery and gloves, parasols and shoes are all painted from the dye pots of the far East. The woman who loves brilliant plumage will have no difficulty in satisfying her taste this season.

Artistic pleats, scarf draperies and sash girdles aim to consign the small waist to the past and preserve the graceful natural lines of the figure.

Silk is more popular than ever but the weaves having rough surfaces like crepe de chine, crepon and tussore are particularly lovely. Rep and silk moire are preferred to liberty and taffeta silk.

Brocades and silk damasks are used extensively by the couturiers to fashion evening and afternoon costumes. Small, discreet patterns are superseded by bold designs which resemble those used for the damask curtains and furniture of grandmother's time.

Cotton crepon will be much used during the summer. The manufacturers have succeeded in obtaining wonderful colorings and weaves in this fabric.

Evening wraps are developed of corded silk, chiffon or heavily beaded net or chiffon. The handsomest models are draped about the knees and fastened over at the side with a single button or ornament.

FLORENCE FAIRBANKS.

—The average clergyman knows more about a surplice than he does about a surplus.

—It's all right to let well enough alone if you are not ambitious to get to the top.

For the Children

Czarevitch of Russia Playing In the Snow.

© by American Press Association.

Grand Duke Alexis Nicholaievitch heir apparent to the throne of Russia (czarevitch is the Russian for crown prince), is very much like other little boys of his age. Of course he doesn't have the opportunity for fun that just ordinary boys have because he is more or less confined. It wouldn't do for him to run at large and join a group of companions in the street. He might be kidnaped, or perhaps something worse might happen to him. The young prince will be nine years old next July. Awhile ago it was reported that he had been wounded by a bullet, but now it appears that he was only suffering from an accident. American boys need not envy the little prince his grand titles and great wealth. They are very much better off in their freedom to play with their companions. The czarevitch's picture was taken while he was playing in the snow at Tsarskoe Selo.

Traditions of the Rose.

The Syrians regard the rose as an emblem of humanity. The Chinese plant the flower above graves, and in the Tyrol it is said to produce sleep. Germans call the rose of Jericho the Christmas rose, and it is supposed to divine the events of the year if steeped in water on Christmas eve. It is said in Persia that there is a certain charmed day in which the rose has a heart of gold. Another tradition relates that there is a silver table on a certain mountain in India and on this table lies a silver rose that contains two beautiful women who praise God without ceasing. In the center of the rose is the triangle, the residence of God.

It is said that if a white rose bloom in autumn an early death is prognosticated, while an autumn blooming red rose signifies marriage. The red rose, it is said, will not bloom over a grave.

In England as well as in France it is said that beauty and rosy cheeks will come to the maiden who will bury a drop of her blood under a red rose bush.

Queer Cough Remedy.

Whooping cough is whooping cough the world over, but some races have the queerest cures for it you ever dreamed of. The gypsies, for instance, feel certain that a dormouse roasted and eaten will bring relief, while in a certain section of England ignorant people will pull several hairs from the head of a child ill with whooping cough, roll them up in a bit of meat and give the latter to a dog to eat, believing that in this way the disease will pass from the child to the animal.

Now, what would you think of your good, kind family doctor if he gave you such treatment as that when you were "barking your head off" and strangling and choking in painful efforts to catch your breath?

WITH THE BOXERS

Jess Willard will have to go some when he stacks up against Gunboat Smith at San Francisco, May 17.

By Jimminy, Atlanta fans will witness a Jim Dandy muss when Jim Flynn and Jim Savage clash May 12 —not.

Gilbert Gallant, who recently won a decision over Battling Nelson in Boston, is after a match with Joe Rivers.

Al Palzer, who recently underwent a surgical operation in New York, will not be able to box again till next Fall.

Numerous friends of Champion Kilbane believe that he got the worst of the decision in his bout with Johnny Dundee. But the best of the critics have to admit that Johnny made a fine showing against the champ.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

BASEBALL NOTES

Some of our noted baseball experts declare that the Athletics are lucky. Sure they are lucky. All good ball teams are lucky.

Ralph Glaze, the old Dartmouth pitcher and later with the Boston Americans, is now managing the Beaumont team in the Texas League.

If the annual baseball series between Harvard and Yale is a tie the odd game will be played on Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, June 21.

It looks as if the team that Hugh Duffy has placed in Portland will be able to do its share in making a hot race in the New England League.

Washington has a great outfield this season. Milan Moeller and Shanks form a trio of gardeners that can hold its own with the best of them.

From all accounts "Chance Day" at Chicago, May 17, in honor of the former Cubs' boss, will be the last word in the "welcome to our soap factory" thing.

Evidently the Newport News Virginia League team intends to open the regular season some time at a later date. They lost the first ten games of the season.

If the National League schedule allowed the Cubs to play the Reds every day, Johnny Evers would still be sad, because he is unable to play against the Highlanders.

Prof. E. M. Lewis, acting president of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, is a former major league pitcher. He was a member of the Boston champions of '97 and '98.

Outfielder Mann, recently purchased by the Boston Braves from Buffalo, is showing the real big league stuff. His batting and fielding has been quite a help to the Braves.

The Detroit pitchers have been forced to live a miserable life on the field of battle this season. Even Mons. Dubuc has been slammed and likewise walloped to a fare-thee-well.

Pitcher Cy Falkenberg, of the Naps, has a new alibi. In a recent game Manager Birmingham asked Cy the reason for so much wildness. "I'll tell you," replied Falkenberg confidentially "I let them get on so that I could warm up throwing to first."

For several years past the Cleveland Naps have curled up and withered after making a real fight for the pennant. But Manager Birmingham says the old doings of the Naps are off and that they will "turkey trot" up yonder and stick there.

LOCALS AT CARTERET.

Manager Leo Ayers will take his All-Plainfield team to Carteret Sunday. The team will leave here on the 12:30 trolley for Sewaren from where the auto-bus will be taken to reach Carteret. Owing to Evans being injured, and Bergen, Williams and Garretson all playing with Plainfield at Scotch Plains, Manager Ayers has been forced to change his lineup. Lou Dixon will catch, Johnny Dixon will pitch, Harriman will play first base, George Miller second, Bill Hobson short and Bill Coyle third. The outfield will be composed of Savage, Jaeger and Ayers.

—The leopard cannot change his spots, in which respect the girl who freckles has a decided advantage.

MACAY ARMY AVIATION CUP.

The Mackay Army Aviation Cup, a large silver trophy, which will be presented to the War Department by Clarence H. Mackay through the Aero Club of America, was completed by Tiffany & Co. recently and will be forwarded to the department immediately. The cup will be competed for by the military airmen of the United States army in a series of reconnoissance competitions. The first competition of this series was held at College Park, Md., on October 29, 1912, and was won by Second Lieutenant Henry H. Arnold, of the Twenty-ninth Infantry.

The cup is solid silver, thirty inches in height, and stands on a block of Circassian walnut. The width is also thirty inches. On the rim at the top of the cup are the figures of four women holding in their outstretched arms four small aeroplanes of the biplane type, representing flight. The entire silver piece is finished off in a French grain finish. On the walnut base are twenty silver shields, in which the name of winner of the trophy for each succeeding year will be engraved. The cup and base together weigh 40 pounds. Inscribed on the cup is "The Mackay Army Aviation Cup, presented by Clarence H. Mackay, 1913."

"MAC" SAYS

B-r-r-r-r. This is kind of a cold send-off for the Central New Jersey League race. Wonder if it will have any effect on the calibre of ball played this afternoon? Freddy will have to reduce the amount of saliva on his moist ball or it will be frozen pretty stiff by the time it arrives at the batter's station.

Plainfield @ Scotch Plains tomorrow afternoon. Good bad blood always the issue when these two rivals clash and the contest tomorrow promises to be no exception.

Those pessimistic fans who were looking forward to the return of Jack Martin to play with the Plainfield team should glance at the Rochester box score of yesterday. Martin sent the starkler in cold frost.

The pattering sound in the chase is Bob Bogardus creeping over the remains of Jack Torpey after the Dunellen contingent has spent an afternoon in Somerville. According to Bob, the Somerset county seat will be absolutely devoid of baseball after the first game with Dunellen.

With Warry MacLaughlin working like he did at Scotch Plains last Sunday, Bogardus ought not to have a whole lot of trouble in curing the trick.

In these days of horseless wagons and wireless telegraphy we also have diamondless ball teams. Some of the local playing fields have games scheduled on them this afternoon and managers seem to be having trouble in locating playing fields.

After this afternoon Crescent Oval will go into disuse. Plainfield thus loses its oldest and most frequented ball park. Leal Alumni will play the final game there against the undergraduates today.

Peter Simmons and his merry gladsomers go to Kenilworth tomorrow afternoon to play the nine of that place.

Rutherford Dilley is anxious to start work as an umpire in the Central New Jersey League, demonstrating how easy it is to become anxious.

Slowly but surely the league magnates are realizing that they have to cater to the public. Umpires are now equipped to wear white raiment so as not to be better targets. Wonder if the new fashion will be set in the Central League?

RITTER ON THE MOUND.

Ryan Ritter, the former Plainfield pitcher, played part of a game Thursday with the Baltimore Club against Rochester. Pitchers Johnson and Bergold were knocked out of the box in the fifth and Ritter went to the mound, relieving Ritter. The Rochester team won by a score of 16 to 5.

MILLER'S LAST GAME.

Katz Miller will appear for the last time this season on a local base ball diamond (provided he makes good) this afternoon in the Plainfield-High Bridge game, for he leaves on Monday to join the Danbury team of the New York and New Jersey Interstate League. Miller's friends in this city can see nothing ahead but success for the little outfielder who is considered one of the best outfield guardians in this vicinity.

VETERAN VS. RECRUIT AT SCOTCH PLAINS

Warry McLaughlin Will Oppose Russell Stewart There Tomorrow Afternoon.

Two of the greatest rivals in this vicinity will come together in a baseball game at Scotch Plains tomorrow afternoon when Plainfield meets the team of that place for the first time this season. Whenever these two aggregations face each other, a good game is always the issue, the enthusiasm brought out on both sides making the contest an interesting one. Plainfield, guided by Ernest Dorflinger, and Scotch Plains with Joe Alberts at the helm, are prominent figures in local baseball circles every year and the announcement of the meeting of the ancient rivals is always greeted with a ready response from the large bands of cohorts that follow in the footsteps of each combination.

The game this year promises to be no exception, especially if Plainfield is successful in winning that initial Central League clash from High Bridge this afternoon. Scotch Plains was originally entered in this league but Alberts decided to limit his team's playing to Sundays and this resulted in the withdrawal. Scotch Plains' success against the Royal Colored Giants last Sunday afternoon, when Warry McLaughlin displayed some real class in twirling, assures the Plainfielders of a hard run for their money, while Scotch Plains will be equally as hard pushed by the visitors. It will be a case of Stewart vs. McLaughlin, or veteran vs. recruit. Stewart will have to go the limit in order to counteract the experience of Warry while the latter will be fighting against a youngster with all the blessings of youth.

The rest of the team will take the field as follows.

Plainfield—Williams, ss; Dodge, 3b; Stillings, 2b; Bergen, lf; Nelson, c; Garretson, 1b; Miller, rf; Dornan, cf; Stewart, p.

Scotch Plains—Baldwin, cf; Gray, 2b; J. A. Alberts, ss; Frenz, 1b; H. Alberts, lf; Hard, c; Winter, rf; Wall, 2b; McLaughlin, p.

WHO USES HYDE OVAL?

Two teams are scheduled to play at Hyde Oval this afternoon, but whether or not a double header will be played remains to be seen. In view of the fact that N. P. H. S. had an open date on its schedule for this afternoon, the manager of the Trinity church team signed up a game with the Presbyterians to be played on the borough diamond, but Manager Spencer has since scheduled a game with the Union High School team, so N. P. H. S. will use the diamond also.

MARTIN REDEEMS HIMSELF.

Jack Martin got into the game again at short stop for the Rochester team of the International League yesterday and played a star game. The local player smashed out a two-bagger and a single, stole two bases, scored one putout and two assists, registered two runs and managed to get his usual error. Rochester won from Baltimore 6 to 3.

STAGE TRIP FOR N. P. H. S.

North Plainfield High School baseball players, together with a large delegation of rooters, will go to Bernardsville Monday afternoon to play the High School team of that place. This is one of the season's games always looked forward to by the borough players and their supporters as the stage trip entails a large amount of merrymaking.

LAREW WILL MANAGE SPICER BALL TEAM

Plans Made by That Aggregation for Opening of New City Baseball League.

Rufus Larew was chosen as manager of the Spicer Manufacturing Company's baseball team for the coming City League season at a meeting of the team held in the offices of the company last night, and Larew started immediately to get things in shape for the opening of the league season next Saturday afternoon. It is a significant fact that the Spicer manager is also president of the new City Baseball League which starts operations in this city May 17. He succeeds C. C. Thompson, who piloted the aggregation on the diamond last year. The new manager will act as a temporary captain until a Board of Directors to take charge of Spicer athletics is chosen, and has time to judge who has qualified as a leader.

It has been proposed to rent club rooms for the Spicer Athletic Association in this city and a committee was selected at last night's meeting to complete the details of this transaction and a report will be received at the next meeting which will be held the latter part of the month. The Spicer athletes are planning a busy season on the ball field and in other lines of sports and expect to make things hum around the league circuit.

PROGRAM OF ATHLETICS CARDED FOR TOMORROW.

BASEBALL.

Tomorrow afternoon:
Plainfield vs. Scotch Plains
(At Scotch Plains, 3:30 o'clock)
All Plainfields vs. Carteret
(At Carteret, 3:30 o'clock)
Royal Colored Giants vs. Kenilworth
(At Kenilworth, 3:30 o'clock)
Shamrocks vs. South Plainfield.
(At South Plainfield, 3.30 o'clock)
Netherwood A. C. vs. Lenox A. C.
(Newark, 3:30 o'clock)

SHAMROCKS PLAY TOMORROW.

The Shamrocks will travel to South Plainfield tomorrow where they will play the baseball team of that place, the first of a series of three games. Smith and Ward, who will do in points for the Shamrocks, will be ably supported by Tavnor on first, Miner on second, Hamilton on short and Crook on third. McDonnell, Stites and Kane will cavort in the outfield. The Shamrocks will leave the postoffice on the 1 o'clock bus.

P. H. S. HAS SECOND TEAM.

A uniformed reserve squad is representing the Plainfield High School on the baseball diamond this year and games are being played with other school nines. The second string men went to Somerville last week and won from the Somerset county aggregation and it is likely that several other similar contests will be arranged.

PLAINFIELDERS AT NEWARK.

A strong baseball team, representing the Netherwood A. C., will travel to Newark tomorrow afternoon to play the Lenox A. C., of that place. The Netherwood team will take the field as follows: Mitchell c, Schinkle or Denny p, Hoffmaster 1b, Trotter 2b, Moore ss, Luthman 3b, Mullin lf, Renzel cf, Stebor rf.

P. H. S. GAME THIS MORNING.

The game between Dickinson High School and Plainfield High School was played this morning at Jersey City, Manager Sattels changing the time for the game, which was originally scheduled for the afternoon. A large number of rooters accompanied the local aggregation on its trip.

—To overlook, day after day, classified ads that were practically written to and for you—that is enough "bad luck" for any one person.

FIRST DEFEAT HANDED TO FANWOOD SCHOOLBOY TEAM

Heavy hitting defeated the Fanwood Township Public School baseball team yesterday afternoon in their scheduled game of the Union County League, the team of the Garwood Grammar School pounding out an 11 to 9 victory. The contest was staged on Thorpe's Field and was close and exciting from start to finish, the visitors winning in an eleventh hour spurt that carried the Plains boys completely off their feet for the time being.

George Venitgie, although he twirled a sterling game, was forced to accept defeat, the ragged support accorded him tossing the game to the wings. Brittan, of Garwood, was the whole show at the bat, getting a three bagger and a single out of four trips to the plate. Parrot was another star performer, accepting five chances at short without a slip. The teams lined up as follows:

Fanwood Township—Jesperson cf, Barrett rf, Carona lf, Whall 2b, Auen 3b, Galetto 1b, Parrot ss, Venitgie p, Carter c.

Garwood Grammar School—Gunny cf, Sargent rf, Burns lf, Washburn 3b, Heffrey 2b, Mosoler 1b and p, Schriont 1b and p, Stolz ss, Britton c.

BY-LAW COMMITTEE REPORTED.

The by-law committee of the new City Baseball League met at the Spicer factory last night for the purpose of drawing up a set of rules and regulations for the governing of the organization this season. A set of rules were submitted and will be published Monday.

ROYALS AT CARTARET.

Pete Simmons and his Royal Colored Giants will play the Kenilworth team at that place tomorrow afternoon. These two aggregations are old rivals and as this is their first meeting of the season the contest is naturally looked forward to with much interest.

OVERWHELMING VICTORY.

Leal's Juniors defeated the Whittier Grammar School team at Crescent Oval this morning by a score of 31 to 20. The game was overwhelmingly one-sided, the Leal boys completely outclassing their public school rivals.

WAS DECK HAND, IS NOW THE BOSS

LAWRENCE V. HANLON

Rising from the position of a deck hand, Lawrence V. Hanlon, of Staten Island, N. Y., has recently been made superintendent of the ferry boats which ply between New York city and Staten Island. His position is an important one, inasmuch as thousands of commuters travel on his boats daily.

In taking office Mr. Hanlon has realized an ambition he has cherished for more than twenty years. He was born on Staten Island and twenty-eight years ago entered the service of the old Staten Island ferry as a deckhand. Later he became a ticket chopper, then gateman and finally pilot on board one of the boats. When the ferry was taken over by the city he was made assistant superintendent, a post which he held until recently, when he was appointed superintendent after a competitive examination.

UNIQUE STRIKE OF PUPILS IN PITTSBURGH'S PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Scenes Unprecedented in America Attended Demonstration Against Superintendent.

Streets Paraded by Children, Effigies Burned and Police Called to Quell Disorder.

SCENES without a precedent in any American city attended the strike of Pittsburgh school children to force the removal of S. L. Heeter as superintendent.

The troubles back of the unusual strike extended over several months. In the first place, in his tenure of little more than a year Superintendent Heeter made changes in the schools and thereby incurred the disapproval of many of the teachers. So indignant were members of the teaching corps that they attended mass meetings and protested against his retention in office.

The cause immediately back of the strike was charges made against Heeter by two young women, one of whom was a nurse employed in his household, and the failure of the school board to take what the public considered proper cognizance of the charges. There was a demand for Heeter's removal, but the board retained him.

Pupils in practically every school in what is known as Greater Pittsburgh went on strike at the beginning of the general demonstration. Greater Pittsburgh includes what formerly were Allegheny and several districts not originally a part of the incorporated city of Pittsburgh.

Many of the children were urged by their parents to stay away from school, the parents feeling that Heeter was unfit to remain at the head of the schools.

Hanged In Effigy.

Heeter was hanged in effigy, and many street parades of school children were held all over the city. Thousands of children marched through the streets downtown, on the north side, in Lawrenceville, Bellefield and Bloomfield and calls for police were frequent.

Signs bearing the words, "Heeter Must Go," "Kick Heeter Out," "We Want a Clean Man at the Head of Us" and even more inflammatory lines were carried by the marchers. Cow bells and noisemaking instruments of all kinds were carried. Many more effigies of Heeter were burned.

A squad of policemen went to the Fulton building and dispersed a crowd of about 500 men and women waiting to get a view of Superintendent Heeter one afternoon. After the police had forced the crowd to move away Heeter left the building for lunch.

The first arrest of striking school children took place in front of the public safety building when patrolmen locked three children in a cell charged with violating a city order. The arrests were made on orders issued by the assistant superintendent of police, who announced that all children who refused to disperse would be placed under arrest. The three prisoners were at the head of a parade.

Later in the same day seven boys were arrested in Larimer avenue. They were at the head of a parade of about 400 children, of whom half were girls. They were lodged in a police station.

On one occasion 4,000 children marched in the downtown north side streets. Traffic was blocked, and police captains called the policemen in that vicinity into the police stations to be held there in reserve for an emergency.

Many women standing on the street corners urged the children to remain away from class. The children made a demonstration outside the schools. Their shouts drowned the teachers' voices in their efforts to conduct classes.

A General Strike.

The strike became general the second day. In some of the schools more than half of the pupils remained away from their classes, and in other schools the attendance suffered greatly.

Reserves were called from various patrol stations to the schools where the actions of the pupils threatened to become riotous. On the south side mothers stood on the street corners and urged their offspring to strike and cheered other children as they made demonstrations against Heeter.

About thirty boys of the upper grades refused to go back to the Forbes school at Forbes and Stevenson streets. The boys carried signs of all descriptions, among them being "Down With Heeter," "We Do Not Want Heeter," "Heeter Must Go" and "Strike, Children, Strike While the Iron Is Hot."

The boys flaunted the signs into the faces of all the children entering the school and told them not to go back.

Two hundred boys and girls from Tenth ward school No. 1, East street, north side, marched from their school over the streets of the north side and through the downtown thoroughfares, carrying banners and singing their slogans.

Some of the boys carried a banner six feet square, on which was painted: "Kick Heeter Out! Come Along!"

While marching through the streets the children sang:

Stand him on his head,
Stand him on his feet;
Heeter, Heeter, must be beat.

March to Office.

The boys and girls from the Tenth ward school marched over to the Fulton building, in which are the offices of Superintendent Heeter. Several of the boys attempted to break into the Fulton building, but were stopped by the employees of the building and two patrolmen.

Two mounted policemen appeared on the scene and ordered the marchers to move away.

At least 40,000 pupils remained away from school the third day of the strike.

In many instances parents served notice on the teachers that they had no intention of returning their children to the school while Heeter was allowed to remain at the head of the local school system.

The board of education played its trump card when it caused notices to be served on the parents of all children who have remained away from the school sessions, informing them that prosecutions under the truancy law would be started unless all pupils able to attend returned to their respective schools. Little heed, however, was paid to the admonition.

Bishop Regis Canevin of the Roman Catholic diocese of Pittsburgh, who was named as one of the committee to conduct the investigation into the charges against Heeter, refused to accept the appointment. No reason was given by Bishop Canevin for his declination to act as one of the committee.

Mass meetings were held in several parts of the city, to take action toward forcing the board of education to heed public opinion and rid the school system of Superintendent Heeter. Speakers at the different meetings attacked both Heeter and the board of education.

Riot at School.

A small sized riot occurred at the Letach school, on Bedford avenue, one morning when the session opened. A gang of "strikers" gathered in front of the school and called all those who entered "scabs." Finding their taunts had no effect, the "strikers" began pelting the other pupils with stones. One large rock struck Harold Hornmaker, a lad of fourteen years, on the head, causing a serious wound. A call was sent in for the police, but by the time they arrived the "strikers" had fled.

The threat of the school board to send truant officers after all pupils who did not return to their classes was met with derision by the older pupils in the high schools. The pupils retorted that they would remain away from school until Heeter was thrown out of office.

It developed that in several schools the teachers not only failed to maintain discipline, but abetted the strike and marched with the children.

In the crowds that attended the mass meetings in various parts of the city were many teachers and school visitors. In several instances the school visitors presided over and addressed the meetings.

Several verbal attacks were made on the school board because of its proposal that the charges against Superintendent Heeter be investigated by a special committee of citizens. The speakers declared the appointment of such a committee was unnecessary and censured the board for what they called its attempt to shift an unsavory problem to the public.

Fire Creates a Stir.

Considerable excitement was created one morning in the vicinity of north Morningside school, not far from Superintendent Heeter's home, on north Negley avenue, when fire was discovered in the building. It was instantly declared that a few of the more rabid juvenile strikers had adopted the methods of the London militant suffragettes.

It was soon learned, however, that the fire was the result of an explosion of a tinner's gasoline heater on the roof and that the damage was slight. The tinner, John Baus, was burned about the face and hands. He was rescued from his perilous position by firemen.

So many and so numerous were the minor outbreaks arising from the general disturbance that the police could not keep track of them all. Hardly an hour passed without the report of some disturbance due to the strike.

The press of Pittsburgh gave columns of space to the unusual strike, some of the most powerful papers siding with the strikers and their parents.

The attention of the whole country was attracted to the unique situation. The spectacle of the school board resisting the demands of citizens, of policemen guarding the superintendent's home by night, of children of all ages marching through the streets like so many revolutionists and of mass meetings being called to demand Heeter's removal was so unusual that its full significance could hardly be felt outside the immediate zone of action.

Various industrial organizations have from time to time threatened to call their children from the schools on strike to win a point in an economic struggle, and classes in many schools and colleges have "gone on strike" because they thought certain discipline should not be enforced.

The strike at Pittsburgh, however, was the first demonstration of its kind and magnitude ever seen in the United States, and the point at issue also was unusual.

PLANNING A ROBBERY.

This London Thief Was Quite Deliberate In His Preparations.

This story of an elaborately prepared crime was told by Sir Robert Anderson when he was connected with Scotland Yard, London. A criminal marked a millionaire as his quarry and rented a bedroom near the railway station from which the rich man took the train for town. Well dressed and well groomed, the criminal took his seat in the same compartment, attracting notice only by his aparent desire to remain unnoticed while he dealt with the papers he carried in a stylish hand bag.

One morning after a few such journeys he gave vent to his annoyance at having forgotten his keys. A stranger sitting in the opposite corner politely offered him his bunch in the hope that he would find on it a key to open the bag. But none of them would fit the lock. At the suggestion of the stranger, who, of course, was an accomplice, the millionaire then produced his bunch of keys, and a few seconds sufficed to enable the thief to take a wax impression of the key of the rich man's safe.

A few weeks later the millionaire's safe was rifled, and before the crime was discovered the thief was across the channel with his rich booty.—Liverpool Post.

DAINTY COBWEBS.

How Spiders' Fine Spun Threads Compare With Human Hair.

It is hard to realize how small a spider's web really is. A famous microscopist once made some interesting comparisons of a cobweb with human hair.

"I have often compared the size of the thread spun by full grown spiders with a hair of my beard," he says. "I placed the thickest part of the hair before the microscope, and, from the most accurate judgment I could form, more than 100 of the spider's threads placed side by side could not equal the diameter of one such hair. If, then, we suppose such a hair to be of a round form it follows that 10,000 threads spun by the full grown spider, when taken together, will not be equal in substance to the size of a single hair.

To this, if we add that 400 young spiders at the time when they begin to spin their webs are not larger than one full grown one and that each of these minute spiders possesses the same organs as the larger ones, it follows that the exceedingly small threads spun by these little creatures must be still 400 times slenderer, and consequently that 4,000,000 of these minute spiders' threads cannot equal in substance the size of a single hair."

A Playful Prelate.

Dr. Magee, who was for a brief period archbishop of York, was once induced by a friend with whom he was staying to go and hear a certain preacher. Asked afterward what he thought of the sermon, Dr. Magee answered that he thought it was rather long. "Yes," agreed his host, who was a great admirer of the preacher, "but there was a saint in the pulpit!" "And a martyr in the pew!" was the doctor's prompt return. The same prelate in giving advice to a newly appointed suffragan said, "They will send for you to open churches, cemeteries, schools, vestries and cloakrooms, and to unveil windows and clocks, and it may be that eventually they will want you to open an umbrella!"—London Mail.

Little Things as an Index.

"Here," said an observer, "was a machine upon which appeared the name plate of the manufacturer; a small and not essential feature, but this plate had been set on true, and then the screws by which it was held in place had all been turned up until the slots in their heads all showed in precisely the same position, alike, uniform.

"Whoever put this plate on made a nice, finished job of it, and I should be inclined to think that a shop that had such pride in even the minor details of its work would do good work throughout."—New York Sun.

Had Four Legs Anyhow.

Chollie had decided to give up the sporting life and settle down to farming and was now buying a cow.

"Now, here's a cow," said the agent, "that I can highly recommend to you. She has won several prizes at our county fair, and"—

"Reahlly?" said Chollie, looking the animal over admiringly. "Er—trotting or steeplechase?"—Harper's Weekly.

Genius.

At his villa in Biarritz Sarasate, the great musician, was once called a genius by a famous critic. But Sarasate frowned and shook his head.

"A genius!" he said. "For thirty-seven years I've practiced fourteen hours a day, and now they call me genius!"

It Reminded Him.

"The dew is falling," she said. "Let us go in before it settles."

"Yes," he answered, but a worried look stole into his face. Little did she dream that with him many dues were falling and that he was utterly unable to settle.—Magazine of Fun.

The Result.

"What was the result of that popularity contest?"

"It spoiled the dispositions of a whole lot of fellows who thought they ought to have won the prize."—Washington Star.

Monday at GIMBELS Will Be Presented
A Remarkable Assemblage of Instruments in the

May Sale of New and Used Pianos

Extraordinary Values---on the Easiest Terms of Payment

This is the big semi-annual occasion when we make drastic disposal of all the used instruments that have been taken in exchange, and when we mark quick selling prices on models not to be continued.

It is the opportunity to buy standard Pianos, of known artistic quality, for as little as, or less than, you might be tempted to pay for the loudly exploited Pianos, of questionable quality, for which extravagantly exaggerated claims are made—while they bear stenciled names that you never heard of before.

You KNOW that no VOSE PIANO can be bought (new) for less than $360; hence you are positive of the bargain that this sale offers when you can buy a used Vose Piano for $175.

The list will show you many other names of Pianos of established reputation that can be bought at wonderfully low prices.

Every Instrument in the Collection Has Been Gone Over Most Thoroughly by Our Expert Repair Men and Tuners

Every Piano and Player-piano is in the best possible condition, and scores of them cannot be told from NEW, except upon close examination.

Then there are several fine groups of ABSOLUTELY NEW Pianos and Player pianos—secured at concessions because the styles of the cases are being changed. For instance:

Just 26 Strohber Player-Pianos
Regularly $450 Now $325 Each

An upright piano of delightful quality, equipped with the celebrated GULBRANSEN Player-action—one of the most artistic, most durable and easiest pumping actions made—used in many instruments selling at double this price. Here is KNOWN quality, of almost infinite superiority to the many nameless commercial actions that are being sold today. This is the HIGHEST GRADE NEW Player-Piano that has ever been sold at such a low price—just because these 26 instruments are all that remain of the earlier style of case—which many will doubtless consider quite as artistic as the newer style.

$325 Each, Instead of $450 EASY TERMS of Payment

Here Is the List of Used Player-Pianos (All 88 Note):

BROADWAY NEW YORK THIRTY-THIRD STREET

CENTENARY OF FAMOUS POSTMASTER GENERAL

Washington, D. C., May 10.—Officials at the General Postoffice today recalled the fact that this was the centennial anniversary of the birth of Montgomery Blair, the famous statesman, who as postmaster-general in Lincoln's cabinet was the author of a number of important reforms in the postal system, such as money orders, free delivery in cities and postal railroad cars.

Born in Franklin county, Kentucky, of a family that had long been among the most distinguished and influential in the South, Montgomery Blair was graduated at West Point in 1835 and saw active service in the Seminole war. Later he resigned from the army, studied law, and began practice in St. Louis at the age of 26. He was appointed United States district attorney for Missouri, and was elected mayor of St. Louis.

At the age of 29 he removed to Maryland, and three years later he was appointed United States solicitor in the court of claims. Because of the repeal of the Missouri compromise he left the Democratic party and was then removed from office by President Buchanan. Before this removal he had acted as counsel before the Supreme Court in the celebrated Dred Scott case.

In 1860 Blair presided over the Maryland Republican convention, and in 1861 was appointed postmaster-general by President Lincoln. He alone of Mr. Lincoln's cabinet is said to have opposed without qualification the surrender of Fort Sumter. He was an extremely efficient postmaster-general, but political complications in which other members of his family became involved, as well as his own medical personality, led to his resignation from the cabinet. His death occurred at his home in Maryland in 1883.

HEAD OF BENEDICTINES.

Rome, May 10.—Eighty abbots of the Benedictine order, including several from the United States, assembled in Rome today in order to elect a new abbot general who will have the direction of the affairs of the order throughout the world. The order was founded early in the sixth century by St. Benedict, who introduced monastic life into western Europe. No religious order has been so remarkable for extent, wealth and men of note and learning as the Benedictines. The order is said to have had 40 popes, 200 cardinals and several thousand archbishops and bishops. Numerous emperors and kings of long ago also belonged to the order. The Benedictines have never taken a prominent part in politics, but have produced many literary works.

SOCIALIST PARTY CONFERENCE.

Chicago, Ill., May 10.—The members of the Socialist party national committee are gathering in Chicago for the first representative Socialist conference that has been held since the appearance of the Progressive party and the establishment of the new political alignment. The conference will review the present political situation and discuss plans for the congressional and legislative campaigns of next year.

UNION COUNTY COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

In the matter of the application of John Burke to have mortgage cancelled. } Notice to absent defendant.

To ANNA DE CAMP, her heirs, executors or assigns, or representatives.

Take notice that you are required to be and appear before our Court of Common Pleas for the County of Union at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth on the sixth day of June 1913, at 10 a. m., to show cause why a certain mortgage now outstanding against property owned by John Burke, in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, given by Patrick Rafferty and wife to Alfred D. Cook and Robert H. Cook for $590, dated April 25, 1876, and recorded in Union County Clerk's office, May 24, 1876, in book 49 of mortgages for said county, pages 282, and assigned by said Alfred D. and Robert H. Cook to you, the said Anna De Camp, should not be cancelled of record.

The said mortgage covers property situate in said City of Plainfield, N. J., described as follows: Beginning at a point in the middle of West Sixth street, and corner of lot sold to John Keefe; thence running in a northwesterly course along his line one hundred and seventy-five feet to a stake and corner of James Keefe's line; thence running along his line in a southwesterly course parallel with West Sixth street thirty feet to a stake and making a corner in his line; thence running in a southesterly course parallel with the first line herein one hundred and seventy-five feet to a stake in the middle of West Sixth street; thence along the middle of West Sixth street northeasterly thirty feet to the beginning.

Being part of Lot No. 13 as laid out on a map of S. S. Parkhurst's land, and being the same premises conveyed to said John Burke by deed of James J. Burke, Joseph Burke, Michael Burke and Frank Burke by deed dated July 21, 1904, and recorded December 28, 1904, in Union County Register' office in book 442 of deeds for said county, pages 563, etc.

LEAL GRADUATES HOLD A REUNION

Eighty of the Alumni Have a Jolly Time at Smoker at Truell Hall.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Clifford W. McGee Acts as Master of Ceremonies and John Leal and C. D. Wardlaw Make Addresses.

The Leal's School Alumni Association held its annual reunion and smoker at Truell Hall, Saturday night, following its defeat of the school team in a baseball game on Crescent Oval in the afternoon. The reunion marked the thirty-first year of the school's existence and nearly every class was represented by one or more of the graduates, there being about eighty present, including John Leal and his associate, C. D. Wardlaw.

Clifford W. McGee, president of the association, was in charge of the affair, which was of an informal character. The grads spent the evening singing familiar school songs, during which refreshments were served. Mr. Leal and Mr. Wardlaw both addressed the gathering, their remarks being of a reminiscent nature. Mr. Leal had some pleasant things to say about his pupils of former days, while the graduates took great pleasure in cheering him. Mr. Wardlaw spoke more especially of affairs at the school during the few years that he has been connected with the institution.

During the evening a short business meeting was held, when the following officers were elected: President, Clifford W. McGee; vice president, Charles W. King; secretary-treasurer, W. Lester Glenney.

HOWARD SHARP DIES FROM HIS INJURIES

Popular North Plainfield Young Man Succumbs Following Operation.

William Howard Sharp, of 82 Somerset street, died in Muhlenberg Hospital, this afternoon, following a serious operation performed on his brain, which was necessitated at that institution yesterday, following an injury to his skull sustained in a runaway accident in the borough, February 14. Mr. Sharp has been in a critical condition ever since the accident happened, having been removed to the hospital on three different occasions for operations.

He was one of the best known young men residing in North Plainfield, having been educated in the borough public schools, where he took an active interest in both the social and athletic work, and was employed by Stonewall Jackson for twelve years as a driver. He was twenty-seven years of age and is survived by his parents, David W. and Elizabeth Sharp, and two brothers, Lloyd and Russell, at home. Announcement of the funeral services will be made later.

FUNERAL OF MRS. MIDDLEKAUF

The funeral service of Mrs. A. M. Middlekauff was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at her late home on Carlton avenue, the officiating minister being Rev. Dr. A. C. McCrea, of Jersey City, formerly pastor of the First M. E. church, this city. There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors. Miss Grace Carroll sang "Abide With Me" and "Peace, Perfect Peace." The burial was in Hillside cemetery.

SENTENCES SUSPENDED.

Goldson Young, of West Third street, arraigned this morning before City Judge De Meza, charged with fighting Saturday night on the carnival grounds at West Front street and Grant avenue, was given a suspended sentence of $20 fine or 30 days in jail. His antagonist, Edward Mercier, also received a suspended sentence.

CAMP BOYS REUNION.

Clinton Berrien, of Madison avenue, was among the thirty boys attending the reunion of Camp Mohegan, Lake George, at Silby's Hotel, Brooklyn, on Saturday night. C. B. Bachelor, formerly boys' secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., who had charge of the youths at the camp, was host and toastmaster.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 55 degrees; 11 a. m., 62 degrees; 1 p. m., 67 degrees.

LAWYER AS ORATOR FOR MEMORIAL DAY

S. S. Swackhamer to Speak at the Veterans' Exercises at Reform Hall.

S. S. Swackhamer will be the orator at the exercises to be held in Reform Hall on Memorial Day, under the auspices of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R. The announcement was made today following a meeting of the Memorial detail held Saturday night to further complete arrangements for the proper observance of Memorial Day. It is expected that this year's celebration will be more elaborate owing to the fact that it also marks the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg.

There will be the usual parade in the morning in which the veterans, Co. K and boy scouts of the city will take part. A brass band has been engaged for the occasion. The local cemeteries will be visited and the graves of departed soldiers decorated. The Post and band will also visit the cemetery at Scotch Plains, where exercises will be held.

In the afternoon the exercises will be held in Reform Hall. In addition to the address by Mr. Swackhamer a large chorus of school children will sing and the veterans will have a part in the program. The chorus is in charge of Mrs. John Manley, assisted by other members of the Women's Relief Corps.

MARSTON HAS LOW SCHOOLBOY SCORE

Pingry Golfer Returns a Mark of 75, in Qualifying Round.

The Eastern Interscholastic Golf Championship tournament, which began this morning at the Plainfield Country Club, attracted about twenty-five players from the various schools in this section of the country. The tournament opened with a qualifying round, the first sixteen players to qualify for match play this afternoon, 18 holes. Play will be continue tomorrow morning and afternoon, 18 holes, and the finals on Wednesday at 36 holes.

Mr. R. Marston, of Cranford, representing Pingry School, returned the lowest score of the morning, a 75. Philip Carter, of Pawling School, winner of last year's event, returned a score of 86. The field as a whole is considered strong and some low scores are now looked for in the match play rounds, as the players become accustomed to the course. The following qualified this morning:

M. R. Marston, Pingry School, 75; F. G. Robeson, Pawling School, 78; C. E. Weems, Lawrenceville, 85; E. B. Grier, Pawling School, 85; Phillip Carter, Pawling School, 86; W. Badhan, Lawrenceville, 89; W. R. Stearns, Pomfret School, 90; J. H. Lovett, Penn Charter, 90; D. Harris Pingry School, 91; C. H. Ogden, Lawrenceville, 91; J. Lummis, Pawling School, 92; R. E. Orgen, Lawrenceville, 94; J. H. Taylor, Penn Charter, 94; W. R. Buchanan, Pingry School, 99; D. Chambers, Pawling School, 101; F. A. Read, Pingry School, 111.

There will be a business meeting of the Congregational church society on Wednesday night, called by the building committee under the terms of the adjournment of the annual meeting. Stereopticon views showing the proposed new Sunday-school and social rooms, will be shown and a report of the bids will be presented. Every members of the church is urged to be present.

VINCENT ASTOR IMPROVED.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, May 12.—Vincent Astors' throat affection is not serious and is causing no worry, according to a statement made at the offices of the Astor estate today. It is probable no operation will be necessary as he has improved much today.

Y. M. H. A. ETERTAINS.

An entertainment was given last night in the Y. M. H. A. building in honor of the recently oragnized baseball team. A program of vocal and instrumental selections was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

RUNYON ELECTED TO HEAD SCOUTS

Prominent Worker Among Boys Will Direct Work of the Plainfield Council.

REPORTS SUBMITTED

Charles E. Rice Honored for Meritorious Work—New Names Will Be Added to Council by Special Committee.

Plans for an active season in Boy Scout work in this city were launched at a meeting of the local council held in the Y. M. C. A. boys' rooms Saturday, William N. Runyon, the newly elected president, starting activities that will spread scoutcraft through a wider field than it covers at the present time. Mr. Runyon's affiliation with the Plainfield scout work means that it will be carried on in a wider circle of influence and he has suggested that other organizations besides the churches, to which the movement is now confined locally, take the matter under consideration and start the formation of troops.

Reports from the scout commissioners showed that there are at present 100 active scouts in this city, of which eighty are uniformed; there are nine scout masters, four honorary scout masters, one prospective scout master and that the work is being taken up in several other Plainfield organizations at the present time. Watchung has already been combined with the local council and indications point toward the affiliation of several other suburban towns in the near future. Allen E. Beals, a scout master, submitted a complete report of the work and Charles E. Rice, of troop five, Wetumpka Sentinels, was awarded merits for firemanship and public health as Mr. Beals' reports suggested. A committee composed of T. G. Davis, C. W. Bingeman and William N. Runyon was appointed to make further additions to the council, several names having been suggested since the last meeting.

CAR JUMPED TRACK; TRAFFIC NOT AFFECTED

The main westbound track of the New Jersey Central, near Grant avenue, was blocked for nearly two hours this morning, when an empty gondola coal car pulled out a drawhead, and jumped the rails. The accident occurred about 6:35 o'clock and it was nearly two hours later before the track was cleared and opened for regular travel.

The accident did not hold up the traffic to any extent, as all westbound trains were switched over to track No. 4, thus being able to pass around the obstruction. The main westbound track was damaged some, but it did not take the wrecking crew long to make the repairs.

MARK LEES SUCCUMBS TO INFIRMITIES OF AGE

Mark Lees, an aged and well-known resident for many years, died of complications and infirmities of old age, on Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Naylor, 1001 West Front street. He was a resident of North Plainfield for a number of years, and was the sexton at Warren chapel while that place of worship was located on Chatham street. He was a member of the chapel and a faithful attendant at the services. Several years ago he retired from business.

There survives four children, Mrs. John Mowry and George A. Lees, of Perth Amboy; Mrs. George Naylor and Nathan Lees, of this city. The funeral will be held at the home of Mrs. George Naylor on West Front street, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

CLERICUS MEETS.

The Rev. Dr. H. H. Oberly, rector of Christ church, Elizabeth, made the chief address at the meeting of the Plainfield Clericus this afternoon at the home of Rev. Dr. William H. Neilson, 228 East Ninth street. His subject was "The Eastern Churches." He told in an interesting manner about the customs and habits of the religious people of the Far East countries.

CALL FOR TICKETS.

Unless called for by tomorrow noon, tickets reserved at the Plainfield theatre box office for Madame Homer's recital will not be held any longer but will be disposed of to any patrons.

Mrs. A. E. LaPorto, of Jackson avenue, has been called to Brooklyn, by the sudden death of her brother, John Van Patten.

GALAXY OF SUFFRAGISTS TO BE SPEAKERS AT MASS MEETING ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Miss Alice Carpenter.

Under the auspices of the Men's League for Woman Suffrage, a mass meeting will be held at the Plainfield theatre, Friday night at 8 o'clock, at which time several persons prominent in the "votes for women" campaign will speak.

Dr. William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, will preside. A nominal admission fee will be charged and there will be no reserved seats. As New Jersey is one of the campaign States, the question of suffrage is arousing more than usual interest.

Strong arguments in favor of suffrage will be presented at the meeting by Everett Colby, Senator Helen R. Robinson, of Colorado, and Miss Alice Carpenter, of Boston, and Miss Inez Milholland, of New York, who will answer questions.

1ST BAPTIST PEOPLE TO IMPROVE EDIFICE

Pastor Makes Appeal for Funds and $4,700 is Already Subscribed.

In response to an appeal made at the First Baptist church yesterday morning by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, the pastor, and L. V. F. Randolph, representing the board of trustees, all but about $300 of the $5,000 needed to make repairs in the church edifice, was subscribed. There was previously pledged about $2,000.

Among the improvements contemplated are new stained glass windows with outside guards, wall decorations, floor covering, inside vestibule, tower repairs and ornamentation, copper flashing and general repairs to exterior of building. Now that practically all of the money needed has been subscribed the work will probably be started soon.

AUTOS COLLIDE BUT NO ONE IS INJURED

An automobile traveling west on East Fifth street yesterday afternoon and a taxi-cab being driven by White Hall, colored, and going south along Park avenue, collided at the intersection of Park avenue and East Fifth street. The occupants of the taxi were Milton Mendil, of Holly Park, and three guests. The other auto was owned and driven by Edward F. Drake, of Poughkeepsie. The damage to the machines was slight and all the autoists escaped injury.

In attempting to avoid the collision, however, Hall drove his car into the iron fence surrounding the front of Mrs. Anna Boice's residence in Park avenue, and he and Mr. Drake deposited $12.50 each with Police Chief Kiely to pay for the repairing of the structure.

TYGARD'S INVENTIONS.

James W. Tygard, of South avenue, claims to have perfected a rotary engine which will solve the problem of the century, and which is the work of sixteen years of constant study and labor. He has also invented a railroad oil engine, which he declares will revolutionize railroad operation. Pictures of the two engines with Mr. Tygard and a story concerning the inventor appeared in Saturday's issue of The Newark Evening News.

ALL ARE INVITED.

All who are interested in the commission government movement are invited by Howard H. Williams, chairman of the committee, to attend a meeting to be held on Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the lecture room of the new library building. At that time steps will be taken to organize a league.

ALL SOULS' CHURCH CHILDREN'S SOCIAL

Enjoyable Entertainment Nets Neat Sum for Charity Organization Society.

The children's social held at All Souls' church, Saturday afternoon proved a great success. The program was creditably given. The audience, which included many friends from other churches, expressed cordial appreciation of the choice of ballads, as well as the violin selections and the dancing. There was a large attendance of parents and friends, as well as children, all of whom enjoyed the young people's work, and realized that much effort and practice had been expended by them to provide a pleasant afternoon.

After the program there was a jolly hour during which ice cream, cake and candy was served to all and souvenirs were distributed among the younger children and to those taking part in the entertainment. The silver offering covered all expenses and provided a substantial sum for the Charity Organization Society for the benefit of some child. The affair was arranged and the young people drilled by Miss Inez Tolles and Miss R. A. Lawrence.

The program follows:

Part I, My Old Friend John, E. Land and J. Legg; John Peel, old hunting song, T. N. Graves, 1820 English; Loch Lomond, Lady John Scott; A Highland Lad My Love Was Born, Robert Burns; Santa Lucia, Neopolitan, Scotch. Part II, Father O'Flynn, Old Air; The Low Backed Car, Samuel Lover; The Forest Fir, a Folk Song, 1799; Tin Gee-Gee, by request; solo dancing, Miss Dorothea D. Lawrence; violin duet, Ralph Slonim and Harvey Naylor.

Those presenting the program were as follows: Miss Eve Seldon and Miss Dorothea D. Lawrence, sopranos; Miss Madeline Durar, alto; Miss Inez Tolles, pianist; Ralph Slonim, violinist.

EDITOR IN THE PULPIT.

The meaning of Whit-Sunday, the festival which commemorates the descent of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost upon the early church, was explained yesterday morning by Rev. Herbert B. Gwyn, of New York, editor of The Churchman, before the congregation of the Holy Cross Episcopal church. His topic was, "What Does the Coming of the Holy Spirit to the Early Church Mean?"

FOR THE PARENTS.

The annual meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Franklin-Stillman-Whittier Schools, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the assembly room of the Franklin School. Following the business session there will be a musical and refreshments. Parents of pupils of these three schools are expected to attend.

PICK COMMITTEE ON ASSESSMENTS

Five Citizens Named to Cooperate With Board in Revision Work.

MAYOR SELECTS THEM

John G. MacLaughlin, DeWitt C. Ivans, Frank J. Hubbard, Armstrong Mulford and Thomas Hughes Are Appointed.

Mayor Percy H. Stewart has named the five men who are to comprise the tax committee appointed for the purpose of co-operating with the Board of Assessors in making a revision of the tax assessment throughout the city. The committee consists of John G. MacLaughlin, DeWitt C. Ivins, Frank J. Hubbard Armstrong Mulford and Thomas Hughes. Each has had extensive knowledge in the matter of property values.

Mr. MacLaughlin, who it is thought will be made chairman of the commission, has been employed in the real estate department of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, for many years, and is said to be one of the best experts in this section in appraising property values. DeWitt C. Ivins is a large property owner. Frank J. Hubbard is a county engineer and besides owning property, has received the benefit of the long experience of his father, Joseph A. Hubbard, who was a tax assessor in Plainfield for many years.

Armstrong Mulford for years has been engaged in the real estate and insurance business in Plainfield. Thomas Hughes, the fifth member, is also a large property owner.

It is the purpose of the commission to invite citizens to appear before it and express opinions. The impending increase in the tax rate for the coming year by sixteen points makes it necessary that there should be a revision of assessments, it being claimed that especially in the business section there has been no change made in a number of years, while it is admitted that there are properties in the residential section that are assessed too heavily.

PICK POCKETS ARRESTED IN AMBOY

Believed to Be the Ones Who Tried to Touch G. W. V. Moy.

Three men arrested in Perth Amboy, Saturday night, charged with picking the pockets of Axil Kruikebach, of that place, and securing $100, are believed to be the same men who tried to pick the pockets of former Mayor G. W. V. Moy at the Elizabeth station of the New Jersey Central last Thursday, and it is further suspected that they are the same men who were arrested in this city several months ago by Detective-Sergeant John J. Flynn and Roundsman Charles Flynn for attempting to pick the pockets of people riding on trolley cars.

The trio, who gave the names of Edward Casey, Edward Dowling and Frank Williams, were held in $1,000 bail for the grand jury. The men claim New York as their home.

Hearing of the arrest of the men, Mr. Moy, accompanied by Chief of Police Kiely, went to Perth Amboy yesterday, and the former identified Casey as being of the trio who made an unsuccessful attempt to pick his pockets. Harry Dreier, who was present when the men tried their operations on Mr. Moy, also identified the prisoners. It was Casey, in company with two other men, who are thought to be Dowling and Williams, who were arrested in this city on a charge of disorderly conduct on a main line trolley car. At that time, Casey and his two companions were fined $100 each by City Judge W. G. DeMeza.

MORE TROUBLE IN MEXICO.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Juarez, Mexico, May 12.—Noncombatants in the city of Chihahua have been warned to leave that city by Wednesday. Gen. Blanco Villa, leader of the Constitutionalists in the State of Chihuahua, has sent a notice to the city that the line to the border will be cut and the seige of the city will begin Wednesday.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY.

James H. Searing, of 403 Watchung avenue, celebrated the seventy-third anniversary of his birthday on Saturday and in the evening he was given a surprise party in honor of the event. The affair was arranged by Mr. Searing's daughter, Mrs. Charles Zimmer. During the evening refreshments were served.

PARK GOLF CLUB'S THREE COMPETITIONS

Play for Oakwood and President's Cups and a 'Goats' Contest Also.

The weekly competition for the President's cup and other events attracted a large number of players to the Park Golf Club Saturday and although a high strong wind was blowing over the course the majority of scores were low and creditable considering that the season has just opened. These scores were returned for the President's cup:

W. P. Taylor, 83, 0-83; U. G. Tingley, 107, 17-90; Royle T. Phillips, 110, 20-90; J. V. Beekman, 111, 14-97; Charles B. Morse, 110, 12-98; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 113, 6-107; Peter C. Sweeney, 116, 7-109.

In the "goats" competition, Dr. H. K. Carroll and W. P. Taylor, holders, defeated U. G. Tingley and Charles B. Morse, challengers, 7 up and 6 to play. The challengers for next week are H. H. Woodland and Royle T. Phillips.

In the competition for the Oakmont cup, J. V. Beekman defeated Peter C. Sweeney, U. G. Tingley defeated C. B. Morse, W. P. Taylor defeated Dr. H. K. Carroll, Royle T. Phillips defeated H. H. Woodland.

MANY ENTER RACE FOR HANDICAP CUP

Golf Sweepstakes and Dinner-Dance Other Events at Plainfield Country Club.

The qualifying round for the Spring Handicap cup was the chief event at the Plainfield County Club, on Saturday, and it attracted a large number of players to the golf course. The qualifying round was for both Classes A and B. In the latter class the first sixteen became eligible for the first round play, but in Class A all who entered qualified. The results:

Class A—H. E. Butler, 88, 12-76; H. R. Stockton, 85, 9-76; S. D. Lounsbery, 86, 9-77; R. S. Rowland, 84, 6-78; S. H. Patterson, 94, 15-79; W. Lester Glenney, 85, 5-80; A. M. Collens, 91, 11-80; Frank O. Reinhart, 86, 6-80; C. B. Morgan, 88, 7-81; H. D. Hibbard, 93, 10-83; S. T. Perrin, 105, 14-91.

Class B—C. M. Church, 99, 22-77; G. A. Bowman, 108, 27-81; W. W. Coriell, 108, 27-81; L. H. Gates, 105, 25-82; C. E. Lipscomb, 110, 27-83; W. F. Merrill, 110, 27-83; J. V. Beekman, 109, 26-83; A. W. Kleinecke, 109, 25-84; T. S. Wheeler, 110, 26-84; R. B. Corey, 112, 26-86; G. M. Holstein, 104, 18-86; R. C. Brown, 118, 27-86; C. C. Burke, 108, 20-88; T. D. Heed, 115, 25-90; Dr. F. E. DuBois, 108, 17-91; C. H. Detwiller, 116, 26-90.

There was also a golf sweepstakes, H. E. Butler with an 88, 12-76 and H. R. Stockton with an 85, 9-76 being tie for first place. Stuart H. Patterson returned a score of 93, 15-78. Others who took part in the event were A. M. Collens, G. . Bowman, J. E. Erickson, R. S. Rowland, L. A. Church, H. T. Eaton, C. M. Church and D. S. Rowland.

The weekly dinner-dance was enjoyed in the evening, a large number of the members remaining for this enjoyable feature of club life. Superintendent Eke was in charge of the arrangements which were complete in every detail.

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX.
(An imaginary one.)

A few of the openers:

Garretson got Plainfield's first hit of the season.

He also brought in the first run with his bingle.

Bergen scored the local team's first run of the season.

Williams was the first to strikeout.

Bergen was the first to draw a pass.

Bill Stallings got the first and only stolen base.

Craig made the first error.

Nelson was the first to sacrifice.

Nelson got the first extra base hit.

He was also the first to be hit by a pitched ball.

Randolph fanned the first man to face him.

Craig got the first putout, a fly.

Bill Stallings was credited with the first assist.

Moran coached at "first" base. (Joke.)

Frederickson seems to have a habit of hitting batters. He followed up his stunt of "beaning" Frank Evans by catching "Big Six" Nelson with a speedy one Saturday afternoon. He chose a better place to land on Nelson's frame, however, and the pellet did not do so much damage.

"Snapper" is the new nick name applied to Bergen by the fans. It is certainly an appropriate one and the donor deserves credit for his originality.

The "Pets" are the only players in the league who can boast of a nick name. Bogardus, Torpey and Sinclair are trying to invent the shortphrase variety for their aggregations. Why not help them along?

Cliff Randolph got a big hand from the crowd Saturday afternoon and followed it up by doing some real pitching. Cliff looks like a winner for Dorflinger if he decides to stay with the Plainfielders.

Probably no youngster in the game attracted more attention than did Garretson. This "long drink of water" was dubbed Hal Chase by the noisest of the fans.

Over 200 people witnessed the cold opener. Pretty good, huh?

Mayor Stewart is an old ball player and he showed that he had not lost all of his ability in heaving the pellet straight across the platter Saturday. He complained of a sore arm afterwards.

Magnate Steele braved the chilly blasts with a new Panama hat. He got home alive, too. Wonder what was wrong with the crowd?

Katz Miller's work in right field was one of the bright features of the contest. It was his last appearance here for some time (maybe). He enters league ball today at Danbury, Conn.

Sam Dorman's vaudeville tactics did not savor of real league ball. This youngster will have to cut out the rough stuff in order to pull with the Plainfield fans.

Captain Craig played his usual steady game at the third corner after his slip-up in the first inning, but amply redeemed himself with his fast work later on. Craig's big league coat made a hit Saturday afternoon. Wear it again "Howard."

The only thing that was missing at Parker Field was a press box. The playground makes a dandy playing field but a real "league field" cannot be such without a press box.

TRINITY'S NEXT GAME.

The Watchung A. C. will oppose the Trinity church ball tossers at Hope Common next Saturday afternoon and a good contest is looked forward to as both aggregations have been putting up a superior brand of baseball. Trinity will have a number of practices during the week during which the rough edges brought to light in the first game Saturday afternoon will be ironed out.

FOOTBALL MANAGER QUITS.

Jack Doyle has resigned as manager of the Holy Cross football team and will manage the Vikings, of Brooklyn, where he will get $100 for the season.

BISHOP SAYS WYOMING PEOPLE NEED RELIGIOUS AID

Rt. Rev. Dr. Nathanial S. Thomas, Bishop of Wyoming, speaking yesterday morning before the congregation of the Grace Episcopal church, urged that the church people of the East render all aid possible toward the enlargement of the Christian element in Wyoming. "The people of my State," he said, "do not value their spiritual condition as the people living in this section of the country do, and therefore in spreading the gospel of Christ we are confronted with a problem." Continuing, the speaker told of the work of the early missionaries to Wyoming and of the general progress effected through the present systematic work being carried on.

Services of a special nature were held in every department of the Grace church yesterday in observance of War-Sunday.

CENTENARY'S GRADUATES GATHERED AT A REUNION

Mrs. H. H. Pond, H. K. Tetsuka, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Evans and Miss Bertha Whitney, of this city, were among the two hundred graduates who attended the reunion and reception of the Centenary Collegiate institute held at the Hotel Astor, New York, Saturday afternoon, from 2 to 6 o'clock. The affair was marked by many pleasing features and all were glad of the opportunity to renew acquaintances again. During the afternoon a buffet luncheon was served.

Frank R. Baraitz, of Brooklyn was elected president for the coming year and it was decided to hold next year's reunion at the institute at Hackettstown. Miss Bertha Whitney and John R. Evans were members of the committee in charge of this year's reunion. Rev. Dr. G. H. Whitney, president-emeritus of the institute, unable to attend, sent an interesting letter which was read.

STYLISH — RELIABLE

CHANGE YOUR OPINIONS--- BUT KEEP YOUR PROMISES

When George III was harshly criticised for relieving Howe of the command of the British Army in America, he said: "A man may be allowed to change his OPINIONS but never his PRINCIPLES."

You may change your OPINION as to whether brown or black, or gray or blue is becoming to your form, but you can never change your PRINCIPLE that to save money on your clothes is becoming to your good sense.

ROTHBERG'S SPRING SUITS at $12, $15, $18 and $20

Are several steps beyond what you ordinarily expect at that price.

The "styling" is so different than in the usual run of ready-mades.

Suppose you examine our garments closely and see for yourself how the great value is stitched in.

Today would be a good time. A word to the wise is—Rothberg's.

AN ORDINANCE

AUTHORIZING THE "INHABITANTS OF THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD" TO UNITE WITH THE "BOROUGH OF NORTH PLAINFIELD" AND THE "BOROUGH OF DUNELLEN" TO JOINTLY PROVIDE, CONSTRUCT, MAINTAIN AND OPERATE A SYSTEM OF CONVEYING AND CONDUCTING THE SEWAGE FROM SAID MUNICIPALITIES FROM CERTAIN POINTS WITHIN SAID MUNICIPALITIES TO A POINT NEAR THE INTERSECTION OF GREEN BROOK AND BOUND BROOK IN THE TOWNSHIP OF PISCATAWAY; TO JOINTLY CONSTRUCT, MAINTAIN AND OPERATE SUCH PLANTS, WORKS AND STATIONS AS MAY BE NECESSARY FOR THE TREATMENT, RENDERING AND DISPOSAL OF SAID SEWAGE; TO FIX AND PRESCRIBE THE PERCENTAGE OF THE CAPACITY OF THE SAID WORKS OR IMPROVEMENTS TO WHICH EACH OF SAID MUNICIPALITIES SHALL BE ENTITLED; TO PROVIDE FOR THE APPORTIONMENT OF THE COSTS, EXPENSES AND OTHER LIABILITIES OF THE CONSTRUCTION, MAINTENANCE AND OPERATION OF THE SAID WORKS OR IMPROVEMENTS, AND TO AUTHORIZE THE MAKING AND EXECUTION OF A CONTRACT PROVIDING THEREFOR.

WHEREAS, Pursuant to the terms and provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled "An Act to authorize any two or more municipalities in this State to jointly provide, maintain and operate trunk or outlet sewers and sewage disposal plant or plants or a system of sewerage, and to otherwise act jointly concerning the collection, removal or disposal of sewage and make contracts in relation thereto," approved April 8, 1910, and the acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto and of all other acts of the said Legislature relating to the matters include herein, the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey, the Borough of North Plainfield, in the County of Somerset and State of New Jersey, the Borough of Dunellen in the County of Middlesex and State of New Jersey, and the Board of Health of the State of New Jersey, have approved certain sewer maps, plans, reports, estimates and statements concerning the proposed trunk for said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, the said Borough of North Plainfield and the said Borough of Dunellen shall agree to unite and jointly provide, construct, maintain and operate a system of conveying and conducting the sewage from the said municipalities from the points within said municipalities hereinafter designated to a point on the Darling Farm at or near the intersection of Green Brook and Bound Brook in the Township of Piscataway, in the County of Middlesex, and jointly construct, maintain and operate upon the said Darling Farm such plant or plants, works and stations as may be necessary for the treatment, rendering and disposal of said sewage therefore.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield by their Common Council do covenant as follows:

That the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall unite with the said Borough of North Plainfield and the said Borough of Dunellen upon the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth, for the following objects and purposes:

1. To jointly provide, maintain and operate a system of conveying or conducting the sewage from said municipalities from the points within said municipalities hereinafter designated to a point on the Darling Farm at or near the intersection of Green Brook and Bound Brook in the Township of Piscataway, and to jointly construct, maintain and operate upon the said Darling Farm such plant or plants, works and stations, with the appliances and appurtenances as may be necessary for the treatment, rendering and disposal of the said sewage. The sewer from the City of Plainfield is to be brought to a point in the City of Plainfield about one hundred and fifty feet southerly from the intersection of Green Brook and Rock Avenue. The sewer from the Borough of North Plainfield is to be conducted from a point at the junction of North Plainfield and near the southerly side of Rock Avenue and Green Brook Road. The sewage from the Borough of Dunellen is to be conducted from a point at the Borough of Dunellen near the intersection of Bound Brook Road and Clarremont Road.

The said system of conveying or conveying said sewage shall consist of a trunk sewer two (2) inch in diameter to be laid from a point at or near the intersection of Rock Avenue and Green Brook Road in the said Borough of North Plainfield, and extending thence in a westerly direction through the Township of North Plainfield, across Rock Avenue and Green Brook Road, thence along a point on the southerly side of Jefferson Avenue, in the said Township of North Plainfield, thence along Watchung Mountain, in the said Township of North Plainfield, thence through private lands along a line of said mountain to a point at or near the easterly line of the Cramer Farm about eight hundred and forty (840) feet more or less northerly of Green Brook Road in the said Township of North Plainfield, and thence through private lands to a point at or near the intersection of the westerly side of the Cramer Farm and Green Brook Road in the said Township of North Plainfield, thence in a southerly direction from the last named point on Green Brook Road to the said Bound Brook Road, thence along the said Bound Brook Road to a point on the said Darling Farm at or near the intersection of Bound Brook and Green Brook in the said Township of Piscataway, the said sewer to be laid at a depth of twenty (20) inches below the surface of the ground, and a branch sewer from the said Borough of North Plainfield to be laid from the beginning point of the said forty-two (42) inch trunk sewer in the said Borough of North Plainfield, through the said Borough of North Plainfield along the northeasterly side of Rock Avenue and across Green Brook to a point in the said Borough of Dunellen, thence along the said Rock Avenue and across Green Brook, thence through private lands and through said sewer Avenue in the said Borough of Dunellen to a point at or near the intersection of Bound Brook Road and Clarremont Road in the said Borough of Dunellen.

The said forty-two (42) inch trunk sewer shall be of reinforced concrete except where it is necessary to use cast iron, and shall be built with such culverts, siphons, manholes, or other fittings, appliances and appurtenances as may be found necessary for its proper construction, maintenance and operation.

All of the said twenty (20) inch siphons shall be of cast iron.

The said eight (8) inch force main shall be of cast iron.

The said plant, works or station for the treatment, rendering and disposal of sewage shall consist of a preliminary settling tank in two units, a sludge-drying bed, A sprinkling filter in two units, with double dosing tank, a final settling tank in two units with a small sludge pumping station, and a laboratory.

The said preliminary settling tank shall be constructed in two units of the Imhoff type. Each of these units shall be approximately five thousand (5000) square feet in surface area and about twenty-one (21) feet deep, and shall be divided into three double compartments. Each of said units shall be of ample capacity to provide for an average daily flow of two (2) million gallons of sewage in the upper or sedimentation compartment. The sludge compartment of the said tank shall have a combined total capacity for at least one year's storage of sludge, and shall be constructed entirely of reinforced concrete banked around the outside with earth, and shall be provided with a system of cast iron pipes for the removal of sludge.

The said sludge-drying bed shall be adjacent to the preliminary tanks and shall be approximately eighty-four (84) feet by one hundred and sixty (160) feet in size and surrounded with a low concrete wall. The said bed shall consist of about thirteen (13) inches in average depth of gravel, sand and gravel underlaid by a system of tile drains.

The said sprinkling filter shall have a total capacity of about one (1) and seventy-five (.75) one hundredths acres, with an average depth of filtering material of about six (6) feet. The said filter shall be surrounded with earth embankment covered on the inside with concrete and shall have a concrete and tile floor. Through the centre of each of the two units there shall be a reinforced concrete pipe gallery containing a main distributing pipe and a main collecting channel. The distributing system shall be of cast iron pipe with sprinkle nozzles of proper spacing and size to provide for evenly distributing sewage over the surface of the stone. Provision shall be made for properly dosing the beds by means of a double dosing tank and siphons.

The said final settling tank shall have two units, each of which shall have a total volume of about approximately twenty-hundred (2000) square feet, and shall be about sixteen (16) feet deep and similar in construction to the above mentioned preliminary settling tank. Adjacent to these tanks there shall be a pump house, similar in size and construction to the laboratory building hereinafter mentioned, containing a centrifugal pump driven by an electric motor, with proper connections to permit the pumping of sludge from the final settling tank back to the inlet of the preliminary settling tank. There shall also be an effluent sewer consisting of a double inverted siphon of twenty (20) inch cast iron pipe, running from said disposal plant under Green Brook and Bound Brook to the south bank of Bound Brook, and a forty-two (42) inch reinforced concrete sewer running from said last mentioned point into Green Brook at a point about four hundred and fifty (450) feet below the Bound Brook Road. The said double inverted siphons and said concrete sewer shall be built with such gate chambers, manholes and other fittings and appliances and appurtenances as may be found necessary to their proper construction, maintenance and operation. In connection with the disposal plant there shall be a properly equipped laboratory. The laboratory building shall be about twenty-two (22) feet by twenty-five (25) feet outside dimensions and built of brick with concrete foundation and slate roof.

The above system of sewerage shall be capable of being constructed throughout in accordance with the plans and specifications prepared and on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Plainfield, and in the office of the Clerk of the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, and a copy of which is now on file in the office of the Clerk of the Borough of Dunellen.

To construct, maintain and operate a system of sewerage herein provided for the joint use of the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, the said Borough of North Plainfield and the Borough of Dunellen in such manner as will render the most efficient service to the said municipalities, and to each of them, and to that end to keep the said system of sewerage in good repair and effective operation and to make necessary alterations, additions and enlargements thereto and therein to the needs of the said municipalities and each of them, may from time to time require.

2. That the proportion of the capacity of such system of sewerage and sewage disposal plant, to the use of which each of the said municipalities shall be entitled shall be as follows: Of the said two twenty (20) inch inverted siphons extending from the beginning point on the aforesaid forty-two (42) inch trunk sewer in the said Borough of North Plainfield along the northeasterly side of Rock Avenue under and across Green Brook to point in the City of Plainfield about one hundred and fifty (150) feet southerly from the intersection of Green Brook and Rock Avenue, the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall be entitled to seventy-five (75) per cent. and the said Borough of North Plainfield shall be entitled to the use of twenty-five (25) per cent. of the capacity thereof. Inasmuch as it is not contemplated that the said Borough of North Plainfield will make use for its said percentage of capacity of the said mentioned two (2) twenty (20) inch inverted siphons, said Borough shall have the right from time to time to rent its said percentage of capacity thereof to the corporations, individuals or municipalities that may require the use of said two (2) twenty (20) inch siphons or any portion thereof, under any contract or contracts which may be entered into by the Joint Meeting provided for in said act with such corporations, individuals or municipalities, and the Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall have the right to rent any portion of its said percentage of capacity of the said two (2) twenty (20) inch inverted siphons. The said Borough of Dunellen shall be entitled to the full capacity of the eight (8) inch force main above mentioned. Of the remaining portions of the said capacity of sewerage and sewage disposal plant, of every part thereof, the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall be entitled to the use of sixty-eight (68) per cent., the said Borough of North Plainfield twenty-five (25) per cent. and the said Borough of Dunellen seven (7) per cent. of the capacity thereof.

In case it shall happen that any of the said municipalities shall require for its own needs a greater percentage of capacity of the said system of sewerage and sewage disposal plant or of any part thereof, than is herein provided, shall upon obtaining the consent of the said Joint Meeting so to do, have the privilege of renting from either or both of the other municipalities its portion of the surplus capacity of said other municipality or municipalities for such period of time and upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon.

4. That the percentage of the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the construction, maintenance and operation of said system of sewerage and sewage disposal plant, in connection with the said works and improvement authorized by the Borough of North Plainfield and the Borough of Dunellen and the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall be borne by the said municipalities and the said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall pay the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the construction, maintenance and operation of said system of sewerage and sewage disposal plant in connection with the said works and improvement authorized by the said Borough of North Plainfield and the said Borough of Dunellen, which said total cost, expenses and other liabilities shall be apportioned between the said municipalities in the following manner: The said Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield shall pay the total cost, expenses and other liabilities incurred in connection with or resulting from the construction, maintenance and operation of said system of sewerage and sewage disposal plant in connection with the said works and improvement authorized by the said Borough of North Plainfield and the said Borough of Dunellen, which said

HOSPITAL'S STATISTICS FOR APRIL INTERESTING

While the report for the fiscal year, which will end May 31 next, will not show any one month of record-breaking service at Muhlenberg Hospital, by way of comparison of some of the more important features of the statistics for the month of April, 1913 and 1912, shows a steady consistent increase in the service, with each month showing capacity service. While more patients were admitted and treated in April of last year, there were more patients' days treatment and a larger service generally in April of this year.

The report for April of last year showed 39 patients remaining the first of the month, 107 admitted during the month, a total of 146 treated. April, 1913, shows 46 patients remaining the first of the month, 92 admitted, a total of 138 treated. April of last year showed 1,447 days treatment as against 1,332 for last month. Eighty-six patients were discharged last month, while in April a year ago 48 patients were discharged. The detailed statistics for the past month follow:

Patients remaining in hospital first of month, 46; patients admitted during the month, 92; total patients treated during the month, 138; patients discharged, 86; patients remaining at the end of the month, 52 [illegible] in the wards there were 744 [illegible] days treatment or [illegible] 45 [illegible] ward days or 32 [illegible] in the private rooms 157 days or 13 [illegible] 100 patients were treated in the dispensary total visits 263. The totaal number of patients treated in all departments was 238. The ambulance answered 15 calls during the month. A total of 73 operations were performed in the hospital during the month.

LEWIS CO. LOSE IN COURT.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press)

Washington, May 12.—In the Supreme Court of the United States today the Lewis Publishing Company, of St. Louis, lost its suit against the Postoffice Department. The decision was rendered in a case in which the company sought to have its paper "The National Woman's Daily," put on a par with other daily newspapers, so far as the mailing privilege was concerned.

DISAPPEARANCE CAUSES NATIONWIDE SEARCH

Caleb C. Hughes, Jr.

Mystifying circumstances surrounding the strange disappearance on April 13 last of Caleb C. Hughes, Jr., of New York, a student in the Jefferson Medical College, of Philadelphia, have led prominent citizens of New York to conduct a nationwide search to find him. Only one clew is in the hands of his family. Miss Lettie Gibbs, of Philadelphia, a school teacher, received a postal card from him the day following his disappearance, in which he wrote:—

"Notify Pop and Mom that I am held an unwilling captive. I don't know where I am. Fortunately I have an addressed envelope with me."

The card was postmarked Camden, N. J. His reference to the addressed envelope is interpreted to mean that in case he is killed this would be the means by which his body might be identified.

ORIGIN OF PORT AND STARBOARD

Where Recently Tabooed Naval Terms Came From.

LATIN AND TEUTONIC SOURCE

It Took Centuries to Evolve Them, and Their Histories Are Interesting. Great Britain's Navy Still Uses Them, and They Probably Will Not Become Obscure and Die Out.

Before Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels' love of simplicity the time worn, time honored nautical terms of "starboard" and "port" have fallen. The secretary has ordered the use of these two terms abolished on all vessels of the navy department. They are not clear enough, he says.

In these days, when things are called by their right names, left ought to be left and right ought to be right on sea as well as land. Henceforward helmsmen must accustom themselves to hearing the strange order, "Right your helm," instead of the usual "starboard" order. When they hear "left" they will assume that the man making the order really means "port."

Now that these famous old names are banished from the navy will they become obscure and die out? It is hardly probable that they will, at least for a long time for, besides the thousands of A[illegible] [illegible] to other names for left and right, the navies of other countries also use these terms officially.

Great Britain's navy uses them, and, besides having an old English origin, these words many years ago were used in the Latin and Teutonic tongues.

"Starboard" Is Older.

It took centuries of seafaring use in different forms to make possible the evolution of the word "starboard" in its present form. "Port," although quite an old nautical term, is not nearly so ancient as "starboard"—in fact, "port" first came into use as a substitute for "starboard's" old partner "larboard."

These two names, because of their similar sound, were very confusing. In stormy weather, when the wind roared and orders were called out, it was quite possible to mistake "starboard" for "larboard." For this reason "port" was substituted for the latter.

The left side of a ship had always been known as the "port" side because of the portholes through which the ship's merchandise was discharged at the ports where the ships docked. In the British navy "port" was substituted for the older term of "larboard" by an admiralty order in 1844. The United States navy did not make this change until 1896.

From Ancient Words.

These terms have become part of the language ever since the days of old England, when vessels were steered by a paddle or sweeps worked from the right side. The final part of the term was bord (board), which at that time meant the side of a ship.

The first part of starboard, known in old English as steorbord, meant "steer;" hence the steering side.

In the old English the left side of a ship was known as the baecbord, the backboard or the side of the vessel to the back of the steersman. The English sailors were not the only ones that used this term.

The Germans knew it as backbord and the French as babord. England itself did not keep this form in the language, but changed it to laddeborde or latheborde.

Along about the sixteenth century the word took the form of lerbord, leerebord or larbord, probably by assimilation to ster, steere and star-bord.

PREDICTS NOISELESS WORLD.

There Will Be Sound, but No Clamor, Harvard Otologist Says.

A noiseless world, minus all clamor, is the boon foretold for coming generations by Dr. Clarence John Blake, Harvard's well known otologist.

"The world of tomorrow," said Dr. Blake, "while not a soundless, will be a practically noiseless one. The campaign now being waged by welfare committees and other associations, both indoors and outdoors, means that as the work branches out so much nearer shall we be to a quieter and healthier state of [illegible]

"Noise—at least, loud noise—is needless. Impairment of the hearing faculties, aside from being caused by sound, is caused also by dust substances and injurious gases that come into contact with the mucous membranes in the nose and throat, thus distressing the organs of the inner ear and causing deafness.

"Occupations which may affect the ear are mining, stonecutting, engineering, stoking, metal industries, glass-blowing, manufacturing of bichromate of lead, dealing in old rags, horsehair and sawdust, matchmaking, flourmaking, diving and blowing of wind instruments. Mother-of-pearl cutting is the most dangerous of all to the hearing."

MEXICAN CONSUL RESIGNS; CONDITIONS IMPROVING

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press)

New York, May 12.—E. Martinez Sobral has resigned as Mexican consul general in New York, and his resignation has been accepted by the government. A. L. Jiminez, who has been vice consul general here for two years, has been appointed acting consul general. The following telegram from F. L. De Barba, minister of Foreign Relation in the Huerta Cabinet, was received by Mr. Jiminez. "The declarations of the President about the attitude of the United States, which has not yet recognized Mexico, have created a very favorable impression on the public opinion as they embrace the patriotic sentiments of all Mexicans. Published Statements about the lack of protection to Americans are untrue as the Mexican government maintains friendly and favorable attitude toward all foreign governments. I only wishes to emphasize that in all its relations there be observed the strictest principles of reciprocity. General conditions are improving rapidly."

NO CARS MOVING IN CINCINNATI.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press)

Cincinnati, May 12.—The first downtown disturbance in the street car strike took place this morning. The strike breaking crew on an Avondale car were surrounded and stoned, the crew deserted the car and left it standing in the roadway. This was the only car ran up to noon. Mayor Hunt said the company must arbitrate or be forced into receivership. A lockout of building trade workmen to the number of 6,000 by employers has been effective in suspending practically all building operation here.

THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"The Family Cupboard," a new play in four acts, will be produced by William A. Brady at the Plainfield theatre Monday night, May 19, for the benefit of the ushers. The story of the play concerns the household of Charles Nelson, a wealthy New York business man, whose wife, having acquired the "society bee," drifts away from her husband little by little until eventually he is compelled to seek companionship elsewhere. William A. Brady promises an exceptionally fine company of well-known New York players, headed by Miss Madge Kennedy and William Morris. Miss Kennedy will be remembered by Plainfield theatregoers for her delightful work in the title role of "Little Miss Brown," recently seen at the 48th street theatre, New York. Mr. Morris was among the most prominent players in David Belasco's production of "The Concert." Others of the cast include Olive Harper Thorne, Elsie Hitz, Teresa Deagle, John Bowers, Ray Bowden, George Pauncefort, Gertrude Siebold, Ned A. Sparks, Lenna Duer, Charles Stanley, Sidney Macy and Tom Lemonier.

ATTACHMENT PROCEEDINGS.

Elizabeth, May 12.—The trial of the suit of Mrs. Florence Lindsay, of Plainfield, to recover household goods attached by Mrs. Melissa A. Reeves, wife of Rev. John Reeves, owner of a property on West Front street, Plainfield, at one time occupied by the complainant, is on today before Judge Benjamin Vail in the Union County Court. William Newcorn, who was District Court judge in 1908, when the same parties were engaged in a legal action, now represents the defendant, while Winfield S. Angleman is counsel for the plaintiff.

PRIZE ESSAY JUDGES.

A committee composed of John DeL. Fergerson, Samuel E. Carter and Mrs. C. A. Markham was appointed this morning to act as judges for the Plainfield High School prize essay contest. This is an annual feature of the work in the High School English department, and all of the school pupils are required to submit essays on current topics.

32ND ANNIVERSARY OF CHURCH SOCIETY

Pastor Preaches Special Sermon at Chirstian Work Society Celebration.

The thirty-second anniversary of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church was observed last night when Rev. J. Y. Broek, the pastor, preached a special sermon appropriate to the occasion. The members of the society attended in a body occupying seats reserved for them in the front of the church. The quartet choir under the direction of Arthur L. Titsworth, sand special numbers, including a soprano solo, "My Redeemer," by Miss Etta Raybert, and two anthems.

Prior to his sermon, Rev. Mr. Broek referred to the splendid year of activities on the part of the society and heartily congratulated it upon its many accomplishments in behalf of the church and the spread of the Gospel. The pastor then took for his theme, "A New Commandment I Give Unto You, That Ye Love One Another," John 13:34.

"No Christian's duty is more emphasized than the exercise of love," said Mr. Broek. "Love is the greatest need of God's people. It is natural for us to seek our own and live for ourselves. The trouble with our social and economic conditions is that we are forgetting to put love into these relations.

"The love of Jesus will manifest itself in reverence, in esteem for the lowly, in confidential fellowship with our equals, in friendship with our inferiors, in confession toward the wretched and in pity for sinners. The commandment is the fundamental law of Jesus' Kingdom. It increases our power, beauty and influence as Christians. It wipes out selfishness, contention, strife, jealousy and is a supreme remedy for bitterness. This element of love is the distinguishing characteristic of Christ's followers, and must be actively practised among them. Love wins out, when all other methods fail. Sovereigns and kings have won their enviable place, not by the exercise of power, but by love. True Christians must stoop to conquer. Love to the brethren is the real evidence of discipleship. We ought to make the world feel and know that as Christians we love each other."

In connection with the service the annual report of the Ladies' Christian Work Society was presented. This report was the same as read at the annual meeting of the church recently, and published in the Daily Press.

Table Linen in the Laundry.

The laundress has much to do not only with the looks, but with the life, of the table linen. Linen that is well laundered lasts much longer than that which is put through strong bleaches, carelessly wrung through rough rollers, boiled in a poorly cleaned boiler and ironed thoughtlessly.

Regular drying out-of-doors generally keeps table linen white and clean, provided it is thoroughly washed. But occasionally it does become yellow, probably through lack of use. Yellowed linen may be made white if it is soaked in buttermilk. If the yellow tinge is very pronounced, allow the buttermilk to remain on the linen for several days, it will remove a slight yellow tinge in a day. After the buttermilk bath, wash the linen thoroughly, after rinsing it in clear, lukewarm water.

Fruit stains are the enemy of table linen from now on until cool weather returns—and forever, for the matter of that for as soon as fresh fruit disappears, jellies and jams and preserves reappear. When it is possible to do so, remove the fruit stain before it has a chance to dry, by immersing the stained linen in boiling hot water, or sreading it over a bowl and pouring boiling water from the kettle through the stain. If the stain dries before it is noticed, smear it with lard, and have no further fear, it will disappear as if by magic in the washtub. So says one who has tried this method and knows.

Ironing.

So much for the washing; the ironing is just as important to the looks and life of table linen. To begin with, the irons must not be too hot and the linen must be ironed until thoroughly dry. Next, the irons must be perfectly clean. They must be clean, of course, for all the ironing but starch and other stickiness on them cause especial havoc with table linen. A little salt sprinkled on a newspaper will help to keep the irons clean, if they are clean when the ironing is begun. Nothing but a hot, soapy bath will clean them if they once get really dirty.

The ironer of table linen who wants to make it look its best works with a small basin of water and a little wad of cheesecloth by her side. With the cloth wet in the water she moistens any creases or dry spots that appear in the course of the ironing.

Small fruit napkins, like any other fringed articles, should be shaken out as free from tangles as possible while they are still damp, and should then be brushed free from snarls with a soft brush kept specially for that purpose.

Out of the Laundry.

Here is a suggestion for lengthening the life of table linen which has really nothing to do with the laundry. The place where table napkins generally begin to show wear is on the creases and folds, and as they must be folded in these same lines indenitely, they grow more and more worn there. So, when they begin to wear on the folds, before the worn threads have broken, cut off an inch or so from two sides of the napkin. This method reduces the size of the napkin, but it brings the folds in entirely new places, and so saves the wear.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The soft round hat that can be used for tennis, golf, for traveling, for motoring and for all occasions of the sort is much in demand. The hats in the cuts are all of this order and exceedingly easy to make. There is really only one foundation given in the pattern, but it can be varied in so many ways that a number of hats result.

The soft crown can be either plaited or gathered and the brim bent to suit the fancy. Eponge is being used for the making of such hats, and linen, too, is a favorite fabric. The process of making is a very easy one, and it is necessary to join the ends of the brim and then apply the brim to the crown. The stitching keeps the brim firm and steady.

To make one of these hats in the largest size will require one and one-half yards of material twenty-seven inches wide.

This May Manton pattern is cut in four sizes, for women, misses, girls and children. Send 10 cents to this office giving number, 7847, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Some Cookery Suggestions

PORK CHOPS.

PORK CHOPS are nice served for breakfast with fried potatoes, hominy, fried mush or rice.

The chops should be absolutely fresh and should be cooked to a nicety—that is, they should be neither too rare nor yet burned.

Pork Chops With Potatoes.—Slice potatoes as for scallop, put in baking dish, season with salt and pepper and cover with water. Lay pork chops on top of potatoes and bake. The drippings from the chops will season the potatoes.

Chops and Vegetables.

Pork Chops With Tomatoes.—Put to boil two pints of water. When at the boiling point drop in one pound cornmeal by handfuls and stir all the time to avoid lumps. Let boil for ten minutes. Then put in plates to cool.

Fry one onion in lard until brown. Then put in three pork chops. When they are half cooked put in two tablespoonfuls of ketchup and a little later some tomatoes. Pour in some water when needed, also a teaspoonful of salt. Let boil fifteen minutes and then pour on the cool cornmeal and grated cheese. Serve hot.

Fried and Broiled.

Mock Fried Chicken.—Fry four pork chops until brown. Slice three medium sized onions and spread over chops in the same spider in which they were cooked and season with pepper and salt. Cover chops with boiling water, place cover on spider and simmer for one hour. When rightly cooked they taste like chicken.

Broiled Pork Chops.—Get the chops from the best end of the loin or from the leg. Remove the fat and skin, turn them frequently and quickly while broiling. Prevent the fat from falling into the fire, the flare of which is apt to impart a disagreeable flavor to the chops. This observation applies also to mutton chops. Sprinkle them with salt when nearly done and rub with a little fresh butter previous to serving. If for a side dish garnish with crisped parsley.

There Were No Handkerchiefs There.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — Boy Antony Plays a Joke On His Father.

JACK borrowed one of daddy's handkerchiefs. It was a nice new one, with the letters of daddy's name worked in the corner.

"Be sure you don't lose it," daddy said when he loaned it, and Jack had promised to be very careful.

"I think I shall have to tell you about Boy Antony and his daddy's handkerchief," said daddy.

"Antony was called 'Boy' because there were two other Antonys in his family. These were Grandpa Antony and Daddy Antony.

"Being quite small, Boy Antony's handkerchiefs were also small. For a little chap with a small nose they were quite large enough. But, oh, how Boy Antony did envy his father the splendid big 'hankies' which he used!

"'Why can't I have hank'chifs like daddy's?' Boy Antony would ask his mother.

"'Because little boys do not need large handkerchiefs,' she would reply.

"Sometimes when Boy Antony had used all his own clean handkerchiefs, which was generally only when he had a bad cold, his father would loan him some of his large ones. Boy Antony had been told he might borrow when in need. Sometimes he went back to the drawer so often that when his daddy went looking for a handkerchief there would be none there.

"Then Boy Antony's daddy would say very fiercely, 'Who has been taking my handkerchiefs?' And Boy Antony would answer, 'Why, I just borrowed a few.' His daddy would pretend to be very, very cross and chase Boy Antony all over the house.

"This was fun for Boy Antony, for he would generally end by offering to loan his daddy some of his own little handkerchiefs, and his daddy would laugh and take them and go to the store with a piece of the gay border sticking out of his coat pocket.

"One day Boy Antony thought he would play a joke on his daddy. There was a big pile of clean handkerchiefs in his father's drawer. Boy covered them up so that his daddy could not see them.

"That evening his daddy came home and went to the drawer to get a clean handkerchief. He looked in the corner where he always kept them; then he cried, 'Who has been taking my handkerchiefs?' Boy Antony laughed. Then his father rushed at him and began chasing him, but Boy Antony laughed so hard that his daddy soon caught him.

"Then Boy Antony said, 'Oh, look in the other corner of the drawer!' His father looked and saw all the handkerchiefs, and then he laughed too. 'The joke is on me this time,' he agreed."

The Square Pot Does It

THE form of firepot used in Square Pot Boilers is different from the ordinary type. It holds a larger body of fire and radiates more heat. Consequently it steams the boiler and heats the house in the fewest possible minutes, beating the best efforts of ordinary round firepots by a wide margin.

This principle of increased radiation gives normal results on comparatively little fuel. Hence Square Pot Boilers prove effective in this most important particular — maximum heat development from minimum coal supply. Look into this before you install a new boiler.

SAURER DOUBLE HITS AND RUNS, WINNING

Get Twice as Many of Each, Against the Spicer Baseball Combination.

Long hits that were carried out of the reach of the fielders on the wings of the stiff wind blowing across the Clinton avenue diamond Saturday afternoon, brought a 10 to 5 victory to the Saurer ball tossers in their scheduled clash with the Spicer team at that place. One big round, the eighth, when five counters were registered, sewed up the game for the Saurer team and they further strengthened their claim to superiority by adding two more in the next frame.

The twirling of young Dixon, a brother of the Dunellen catcher, was a prominent factor in the Saurer win, for this little moundsman had the Spicer men breaking their backs to hit his slow ball, which was helped along materially by a favorable wind (for it's an ill wind that blows nobody some good, or something like that). The losers got four hits, while the best the winners could do was to double that number, also doubling the runs.

Compton, O'Loughlin and Campbell did the stickwork for the Spicer team, this quartet showing up well considering the weather conditions that had to be contended with. The teams were even up in the race for fielding honors, each making a half dozen misplays, all of which were of the excusable kind, the fielders being hampered by the wind.

The score:

PITCHER DENNY FANNED 35 BATTERS IN ONE AFTERNOON

Denny's strong pitching enabled the Netherwood A. C. to score a 10 to 2 victory at the hands of the Lennox A. C. in Newark, yesterday afternoon, the local heaver mowing down twenty men who faced him via the three-strike route. This was the feature of the contest, Denny holding the Newark batters always at his mercy.

Moore, Luthman, Hoffmaster and Stebor were the leading hit gatherers, each getting a pair of the safe variety. After defeating the Lennox team, the Netherwoods played the Ironbounds, also of Newark, who they defeated by a count of 9 to 6, Denny continuing his strike-out work in this session, scoring fifteen in the second duel.

Two Central New Jersey cities were treated to their first exhibition of league baseball for the 1913 season Saturday afternoon, the Central New Jersey League starting on its season's trip in Plainfield and Somerville amid all the pomp and splendor that usually accompanies the curtain raising of a major organization. Special ceremonies prevailed in both towns, and each team was given a send off worthy of big league openings. When Mayor Stewart wended his way out on the Parker Field diamond at 3:45 a large crowd of baseball fanatics greeted him and the band let forth a peal that blended to perfection with the cheers from the grandstand when the Mayor sent the pellet fair and square over the plate, thus opening the lid on local baseball. Plainfield beat High Bridge with Otto Frederickson on the mound by a score of 5 to 4, while Somerville came out on the larger end of a 6 to 1 score over Dunellen in a weird battle on their home ground.

CONSISTENT FIGHTING WINS FOR THE PETS

High Bridge Plays Errorless Ball Behind Frederickson Who Is Hit Hard.

Amid climatic conditions far more applicable to football or arctic exploration than the national game of baseball, Manager Dorflinger's minions opened the Central New Jersey League race in this city Saturday afternoon, chalking up a 5 to 4 victory in their initial set-to with the High Bridge contingent. A brass band was there to help while away the time and when Mayor Stewart gracefully sent the brand new horsehide over the platter squarely into "Big Six" Nelson's mit, sounded a peal of martial music that announced the official opening of league baseball in the Queen City for the season of 1913. No sooner had the band started its ragtime and martial tactics than the Plainfield herd promptly set about its task of administering an opening spanking to the High Bridge crew. This was one of the extraordinary features of the inauguration, for it generally happens that the team for whom all the fuss is made, generally obliges by booting away the game. Not so with Dorflinger's herd of recruits, however, for everyone of the nine, displayed a superior brand of baseball and if the opening contest may be taken as a criteron, the local aggregation ought to keep well up in the running from now until the bunting is awarded.

Anticipating a struggle of great import, Manager Dorflinger sent the veteran Cliff Randolph to the mound to squelch the High Bridge players who had Otto Frederickson, of this city, as their heaving artist. Randolph did the "Come Back" part of the announced program, and did it to perfection, although he had to counteract a quartet of bad errors made behind him. Time and again he displayed his ability to dispose of harassing situations single handed, preferring to strike out a batter rather than to trust his supporters, although the latter battled valiantly against the hard hitting opponents.

Everything on the program for the afternoon was replete, except the weather, and the wind which was blowing half a gale, made it a matter of luck as much as skill for the infielders and outfielders to judge the balls that soared to lofty heights, and time and again the pellet was steered from its course and out of a fielder's reach on the wings of the howling wind. The large crowd of spectators that braved the weather suffered even more than did the players and those who remained at Parker Field the full nine innings were well nigh paralyzed when Miller caught a long twisting fly recording the final putout and it was a group of stiff-limbed left overs that wended their way toward the trolley car.

A more commendable fighting spirit than the one evidenced by the Plainfield youngsters in the first game would be hard to conceive of, for the visitors gained a discouraging two run lead in the first round, but from that point on the Dorflinger crew proceeded to sew up the contest by clean hitting, not a single error being made by Frederickson's fielders. The local manager had made gala preparations for the opening battle and in order that there might be no flaw in the amber, or a crack in the jade, the Pets fell on Freddy's offerings in the second, third, fifth and sixth stanzas for a sufficiency of counters to assure a victory. Frederickson yielded a total of seven bingles, one of them a two-bagger, while High Bridge could ply but a half dozen from Randolph's delivery, although a pair of these were two baggers. If any one individual outstarred another in the cold, chilly blast, it was Garretson, the new first baseman of the Plainfield team. This youngster handled a dozen putouts at the first station without a slip, many of the outs being recorded on low throws which he scooped out of the turf. Garretson also poled out a pretty bingle during his first sojourn at the bat, pushing across Plainfield's first counter of the season.

At short Williams looks like the real goods, having an iron throwing arm, but is unusually weak with the willow. For the visitors, Sinclair was easily the main attraction, making many pretty stops at short, and playing a clever all around game.

WEATHER AFFECTED DUNELLEN'S TEAM

Wind Plays Havoc With the Ball on Somerville Diamond and Bob's Team Loses.

Material furnished by Raritan, Bound Brook and Somerville brought together under the name "Somerville," represented that place in the opening of the Central New Jersey Baseball League, Saturday afternoon, when the Somerville team defeated Bob Bogardus' Dunellen clan by a count of 7 to 1. Erratic fielding, caused by the low temperature, was responsible for the Dunellen team's downfall. A high west wind swept the diamond almost continually, making good plays very difficult.

McLaughlin twirled for Dunellen and his heaving was of the top-notch variety, but the support accorded him was ragged. The veteran twirler allowed but five scattered hits and whiffed eight of the opposition, while Kraft, the Somerville moundsman was touched for eight bingles and fooled eleven of the Dunellen batsmiths on strikes. "Home Run" Wolf maintained his reputation for slamming them to the tall timbers.

Giddes did some good stick work getting four healthy swats, all safeties, and Dixon chalked up three of the one base variety. For the winners, Torpey and Porter welded the wagon tongue to the best advantage, getting two apiece.

N. P. H. S. TEAM RUNS AND CLOUTS AT WILL

Union High Aggregation Presents no Barrier for the Boroughites to Mount.

Every baseball stunt or shift ever pulled off on the diamond was tried by the North Plainfield High School team in its game with the Union High School ball tossers, Saturday afternoon at Hyde Oval. As a result of heavy and long clouting in which nearly everyone took a hand, N. P. H. S. was returned a victor by the overwhelming count of 22 to 2. Substitutes and shifts shattered the boroughites' lineup to a considerable extent but the weakest portion was plenty strong enough to outslug and outpoint the visitors who played like a group of novices.

Captain Duaning led the slaughter with a trio of hits, while Taylor, Conroy and Spencer came next with two apiece. A third addition of the Townley family entered the lineup Saturday and Substitutes Newkirk and Conroy were given tryouts during the nine chilly innings. Ten errors made by the visiting players aided materially in the N. P. H. S. run getting, misplays coupled with a volley of bingles resulting in an even dozen runs being recorded in the sixth stanza by the winners.

ANOTHER CLOSE ONE LOST BY Y. M. A. A.

Monroe's Come Out in the Van After Scrappy Session on Centre Street Field.

Spasmodic run getting, in which Monroe Avenue succeeded in holding the upper hand, forced the Y. M. A. A. combination to swallow another defeat Saturday afternoon playing on the Centre street diamond, this time the dose being administered to the extent of 16 to 15, or just one swallow to the credit of Monroe. The game itself was a repetition of the previous contests played by the Y. M. A. A. team this season, when it has been defeated by a margin of one and two runs after running the score up into double figures, and once more it fell to the lot of the Y. M. A. A. aggregation to accept the part of the vanquished.

The game was one of these spicy, scrappy affairs, the winners displaying at times, a poor exhibition of sportsmanship and had to be warned by the officials in charge of the encounter on several different occasions to shift their methods of attack. Cold weather had a bad effect on the fielding of both aggregations, especially the losers who chalked up fifteen misplays against the eight recorded to Monroe's credit. These slip ups aided materially in the run getting in which both contenders took an active part.

Green, a new man in the Y. M. A. A. lineup, was easily the star of the fray batting and fielding with afternoon marks of 1.000 per cent. in each department, and the appearance of Hadley in a Y. M. A. A. uniform was another redeeming feature of the clash. Both pitchers twirled masterful ball, Vail fanning nine batters his rival's club, but the latter was given better support than the losing moundsman, hence his success in the pinches. Conger, the Elizabeth lad, who has become a prominent member of the Y. M. A. A. cast was missed in Saturday's tray, he having taken a day off to run in the Barringer athletic meet held in Newark Saturday afternoon.

EXTRA INNING GAME WON BY CHAPELITES

Thorn's' Hit in the Tenth Brings Home the Bacon for Hope Contingent.

A red hot lick from the bat of Art Thorn, brought victory to the Hope Chapel baseball team in a ten inning battle on Probasco Field Saturday afternoon, the final decision reading: Hope 6, First Baptist 4. Tight playing with men on the cushions featured the contest, which was a brilliant one from start to finish, the teams being evenly matched and scored runs alternatively. Although the Baptist aggregation started off with a rush and registered two counters in the first session at the bat, the Chapelites came back in their regime and pushed a pair across the rubber tying the score. Hope took the van in the fifth and broke the tie in the seventh only to have First Baptist pull up with a brace of runs in the eighth tying the score and making what proved to be a ten inning affair.

In the eighth the prettiest piece of baseball of the afternoon was pulled off when Stine came to the bat with two men on the bases and a single needed to shatter the tie. There were two out at the time and Schott, the Hope twirler, displayed his mettle by disposing of Stine along the three strike route, "Hub" taking three healthy swings at the pellet. The hitting of Luthman and Thorn for Hope Chapel and Bailey and Banks for the losers were conspicuous factors in the ten innings of playing, this quartet of clouters wielding the willow to the extent of two hits each.

Both teams displayed ragged field work at intervals and some costly misplays were recorded on both sides, Overland being the chief offender on Hope Chapel, while Downs and Savage shared the Baptist guilt.

PLAINFIELD TRIMMED BY ALBERT'S CREW

Local Team, with Many New Faces, Treated to a Trouncing.

Pitcher Otto Frederickson got back at Ernest Dorflinger's Pets at Scotch Plains yesterday afternoon when the Netherwood heaver donned Scotch Plains' woolens for the afternoon and shot them across to a Plainfield team shattered by substitutions, winning out in a weird contest by a score of 12 to 6. Cold weather hampered the players greatly, many not having thawed out from the freezing they got at Parker Field the day before. Many errors could be traced directly to the high winds which swept the playing field and it was necessary to call the game several different times in order to allow a cloud of dust to make its exit.

Dorflinger sent Russell tSewart to the mound to do the heaving and he lasted pretty well for half the fray and then started to weaken, Scotch Plains landing on his shoots for lusty clouds which threatened disaster at the outset. So great did the bombardment get toward the end that he had to be relieved by Katz Miller, who until that time, was playing short. When the Plainfield team took the field yesterday afternoon, it would not have been recognized by the Plainfield fans who saw the game Saturday, the substitutions being many and varied. Billy Coyle, the clever little Dunellen short stop, played third base; Les Dodge, who will hereafter play regularly with the local outfit, performed at the keystone station; Katz Miller took charge of short and later sojourned in the pitcher's box; Cliff Randolph, Earl Moran and Eddie Montross took charge of the outer garden; while Bergen caught. Garretson, who was the only regular playing his regular position, put up a stellar article of baseball, repeating his work of the day before, and "Snapper" Bergen demonstrated that he can catch as well as play the outfield, for he held Stewart and Miller in big league style, his throwing to bases being a feature of the game.

Scotch Plains presented its regular lineup with Freddy on the mound, and aside from a stormy session at the start, the Netherwood lad pitched masterful ball. Plainfield started off in whirlwind style pulling across three counters in the first trip to the bat, but from then on Freddy held the local swatsmiths at his mercy, although at several different intervals batting rallies were started but never finished. Scotch Plains got into the scoring game soon after Plainfield had its big session and during the remainder of the contest scored at will, registering twelve counters, or just twice as many as the visitors. As usual, Hand's work benind the bat was a brilliant feature of the contest, while the rest of the 'Plains outfield performed in great style considering the adverse weather conditions.

The teams lineup as follows:

Plainfield—Stewart p and ss, Bergen c, Garretson 1b, Dodge 2b, Cayle 3b, Miller ss and p, Montross lf, Baldwin cf, DeNitzio rf.

Scotch Plains—Frederickson p, Hand c, Frentz 1b, Wall 2b, Gray 3b, J. Alberts ss, H. Alberts lf, Moran cf, Randolph rf.

Umpire, Corriell.

TRINITY SHOW REAL BASEBALL IN THEIR INITIAL STRUGGLE

A five inning game featured by lots of run getting was played at Hope Common Saturday afternoon between the First Presbyterian team and the recently organized Trinity church ball club, the latter winning after a close race by a score of 10 to 9. Although greatly hampered by the cold weather both teams put up a sterling brand of baseball, especially the Trinity aggregation which was playing its first competitive game. The runs scored came in spasmodic bunches and it was anybody's game until the final out was scored.

The contest had to be curtailed at the completion of five innings of play because of a late start, the two teams not being able to get the use of the Hope Common diamond until a pair of other combinations had finished their contest, they having assumed possession first. Those in charge of the organization of the Trinity club were greatly satisfied with the excellent showing made in the initial contest and the team bids fair to be a close competitor with any of the local amateur aggregations this spring and summer.

The brilliant fielding of McAfee at third base, and Harvey at the first station were features of the battle, while a flashy double play pulled off by Harvey and E. French savored of the real thing in baseball.

Score by innings:

Trinity	1 2 4 1 2—	10	13	3

Batteries — First Presbyterian, Newell and J. Lounsberry, pitchers, and Schenck, catcher; Trinity, Dilts Blenenger and Moore, pitchers, and L. French, catcher.

Leal School Alumni Aggregation Defeated Younger Set Saturday Afternoon.

Following their performance of last season, the Leal School alumni baseball team defeated the Leal School undergraduate nine on Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon by a score of 12 to 6. Will Glenny did the heaving for the graduate nine while Shepherd was the twirler sent to the mound by Captain Dickerson. Dumont and R. Schoonmaker demonstrated that they have not lost their batting eyes by walloping the pellet to the extent of three hits each, while Stevenson, Nash and Lyons were the chief hitters in undergraduate uniforms. A three base bingle from the bat of Nash was a feature. Cook's work at the second station was another bright spot.

SHAMROCKS ADMINISTER WHITEWASH TO HOME NINE

But five innings were needed to convince the South Plainfield A. C. ball tossers of the Shamrock A. C. team's superiority at South Plainfield yesterday afternoon, when these two teams met in their scheduled diamond battle, the visitors being ahead by the score to 10 to 0 at the time the South Plainfielders withdrew from the field. Up to the fourth inning the home players were not allowed a single hit or run by Hamilton, who twirled a stellar article of baseball while his teammates were piling up counters in every session at the bat. Taynor was once more the star bat weilder, greeting a double and two singles out of three trips to the plate.

MATCHLESS MAY - TIME BARGAIN FESTIVAL

L. S. Plaut & Co. inaugurate the most remarkable sale of Spring and Summer merchandise ever held in the State of New Jersey.

Everything with very few exceptions in this great store, known for its reliability as to honesty of statement and character of merchandise, will be sold either at specially reduced prices or at a discount of 10 per cent. from the regular prices. This discount of 10 per cent. will be deducted from the sales check.

We have planned this extraordinary event with the object of reducing our stocks of desirable Spring merchandise and at the same time introducing to you our splendid stocks of new Summer merchandise. Also to offset our wonderful May-time and Industrial Sale of last year, which took place during the time of Newark's noted Industrial Exposition and which meant so much to the public in the way of great money savings and demonstrating the supremacy of this establishment from a merchandising standpoint. We have made special arrangements to give prompt service by largely increasing our force of employees in order to handle the great volume of business which we anticipate and to take care of what we believe will be the largest crowds that have ever attended a sale in our city.

10% Discount For This Week

REMEMBER—THIS SALE IS FOR ONE WEEK ONLY, AND, IF YOUR PURCHASE IS NOT SATISFACTORY, MONEY WILL BE CHEERFULLY REFUNDED.

ANOTHER SCALP FOR P. H. S. BALL TEAM

Local High School Players Score Victory Over Jersey City High School Boys.

Slugging the ball like demons, the Plainfield High School baseball team scored a 14 to 4 victory over the Dickinson High School aggregation at Jersey City, Saturday. A feature of the game was the twirling of Matty Coughlin for P. H. S., this little heaver holding the Jersey City High School hitters to four hits, while his teammates were touching the two opposing pitchers for fourteen clouts.

Both teams fielded raggedly, no less than nine errors being totaled up during the afternoon. Captain Good, of the P. H. S. aggregation, led the batting with three bingles to his credit, while Carty, Davenport and Rosenson each got a pair of safeties.

WEST ENDS DEFEATED BY GARWOOD A. C. NINE

Playing their initial game of the season, the West End A. C. ball tossers, entrants in the new City League, were treated to a 14 to 2 trouncing by the more experienced Garwood A. C. combination at the latter place Saturday afternoon, the locals getting but six hits against the eleven garnered by the home stickeds. Three big innings, the first, third and fourth, sewed up the game for Garwood, for their total earnings in this trio of sessions were 14, or twelve more than the locals could maintain at the end of seven innings of play when the game was called.

But one error was credited to the Garwood team against seven made by the lossers. Although the initial struggle ended in a defeat for the West Ends, they are by no means discouraged an expect to make things hot for the other contenders in the City League which opens next Saturday afternoon.

"Do You Want to Use Your 1913 Car Next Year and the Next?"

IF YOU DON'T—if you're satisfied to buy your car this Spring, run it a year and take chances on its being sound next year or else "scrap" it—why, there are cars a-plenty to your hand.

AND YOU'LL GET PURE JOY—a lot of it—in the crisp, sun-filled out-of-doors your car will open to you this Spring and Summer.

BUT IF YOU PICK YOUR CAR as you do a bond or mortgage, for years and years of sure returns on your money, why then we've written this ad. for you. You're the man Abbott cars are built for.

FACT IS, IT'S BEEN ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY for us to build that kind of car. A car that'll serve you years long is the only kind on which we could issue the unique Abbott guarantee—"Guaranteed for All Time," without qualifications and quibbles.

STRIPPED OF TECHNICAL PHRASES that sound well in an ad., but don't mean an awful lot, here are some of the things we have done to make the Abbott the logical—no, the inevitable—car for the man who buys a car as a shrewd investment:—
